Blizzards romp over Jim Ned 16-7 in quest for district title

This year's battle between the Winters Blizzards and the Jim Ned Indians was simply a display of defense as it should be—at least from the Blizzards' point of view as they scalped the Indians 17-6.

Fans from both towns must have had some sort of premonition of things to come. Winters fans filled the new Indian stadium to capacity and stood all along the fence line. The Jim Ned bleachers had more than room to spare with fans who didn't have much to yell about except for a long TD run in the second half.

In the first half, the Blizzards held Jim Ned to only three yards total offense and zero first downs. In the second half, after the 91-yard breakaway score, Winters played keep-away with its ball-control wishbone offense.

"Defensively, we shut down what Jim Ned has been able to do in past games," said Winters head coach Robin Byrd.

The Big Blue Wrecking Crew limited Jim Ned to only three first downs and 129 yards total offense, with 91 of those coming on one run.

Winters got on the scoreboard first, driving 54 yards in five plays on its second possession of the game. Robert Silva ran a 24-yard sweep around right end for the touchdown. Robert Reed added the extra point kick and the Big Blue lead 7-0.

Soon into the second quarter, Kelly Thompson intercepted a Jim Ned pass but the interception was nullified due to a misunderstanding of two officials' flags, giving Jim Ned possession of the ball.

With 1:19 left in the first half, the Indians fumbled on the 25-yard line, and Chris McCaslin recovered for Winters.

Quarterback John Belew connected with John Biddix on a 14-yard pass to put the ball on the 11-yard line. Belew carried the ball to the 5-yard line but an illegal procedure penalty followed by an intentional grounding call moved the ball back to the 25-yard line.

With 30 seconds remaining, Reed made his farthest field goal kick of 41 yards to put Winters ahead 10-0.

The Winters defense continued to press on the kickoff when Blizzard Mark Deike blasted the Jim Ned runner, causing what appeared to be an obvious fumble that rolled at least three yards before being recovered by Winters.

However, the officials ruled there was no fumble and the Indians retained possession until time ended the first half.

Jim Ned finally saw a glimmer of the scoreboard when their running back Chris Kraatz broke off right tackle and raced downfield for a 91-yard touchdown.

A bad snap foiled the extra-point try so the Indians had to settle for just six points.

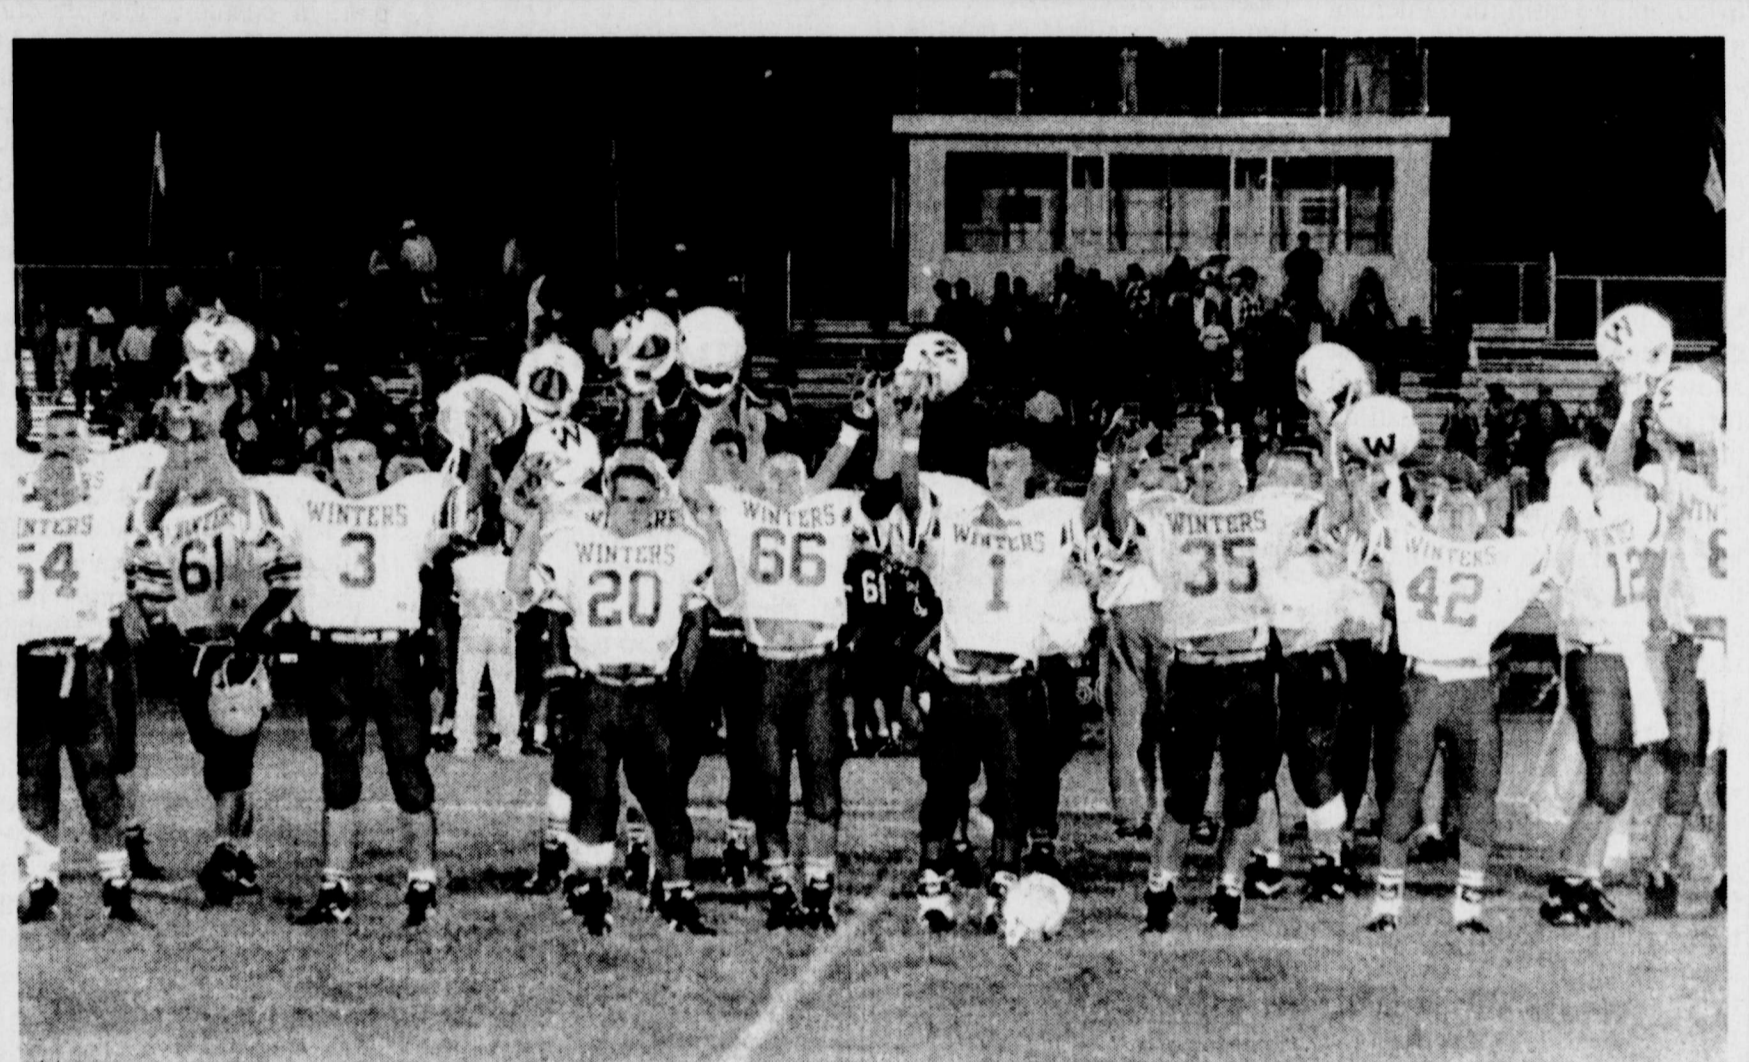

And they settled for the same six points for the remainder of the game.

On their next possession, the Blizzards put together a 12-play, 67-yard drive that took almost five minutes off the clock. With 1:31 left in the third quarter, Silva hit paydirt with a 6-yard sweep around right end. Reed was again on target and the Blizzards moved ahead 17-6.

The fourth quarter saw Winters keeping the ball for the final nine minutes and thirty-seven seconds, and the Jim Ned fans leaving the stadium. The loss was the first at home for the Indians since the new Jim Ned stadium opened last year.

Winters dominated the game statistically, outgaining Jim Ned 20-3 in first downs and 289-129

CELEBRATION TIME was in order as the undefeated Blizzards rolled over the Jim Ned Indians 17-6 Friday night. The Big Blue will face Stanton at Blizzard stadium this Friday at 7:30 p.m.

Say...It's That Time Again!

"Same song, second verse...." Most folks have pretty well memorized the cliches, "Spring forward...Fall back," oft quoted as we enter and leave Daylight Saving Time each year. On the other hand, if anyone does need reminding, we'll try here and now to get the message across. This time, we leave Daylight Saving. And that ending occurs at 2 a.m. Sunday, October 30, when we are to set back (to 1 a.m.) all timepieces, giving back the hour we lost last spring. It's more convenient for us to pretend the change comes about on Saturday eve just before we retire. There are also those of us who wait until Sunday morning and stay confused all day. At any rate, all wind-ups, digitals, and electricals should be reset this weekend. Got it? Also this safety tip: Be sure to check all smoke alarms and fire extinguishers.

Hospital employee honored

MARRENE RICHARDSON was recognized last Wednesday at North Runnels Hospital with a surprise reception for 25 years continuous service to the hospital and the community. Randall Boles, board chairman, and Larry Suit, administrator, presented her with a bouquet of flowers and an engraved plaque to commemorate the occasion. Ms. Richardson attended Mary Hardin Baylor University for two years and then enrolled in the School of Medical Technology at the Scott and White Medical Center where she received her designation as a medical technologist. She presently serves as the director of the hospital's laboratory and x-ray departments. She and her husband, Gene, reside in Ballinger.

Public hearing Oct. 27 for proposed county jail bond issue

With November elections just around the corner, voters will be making important decisions about leadership and major issues.

Once such issue affecting residents of Runnels County is the proposition submitted by the county commissioners for "the issuance of not to exceed $2,900,000 General Obligation Bonds to pay for the construction and equipping of a county jail."

To help citizens better understand the proposed bond, a public hearing will be held Thursday, October 27, at 7:00 p.m. in the county courthouse.

Bill Baird, Runnels County Sheriff and proponent of the proposed jail plan, encourages residents to attend this very important meeting. The Texas Executive Director of Jail Standards, the jail planner and the architect who drew the proposed floor plans will be in attendance to answer questions regarding the proposed $2.9 million jail plan.

Halloween Carnival held at a new location this year

OIL BUSINESS

By Reg Boles ©1994

It's Oil Patch Basics time, and, this time, we are going to explore the wonderful world of "special homemade tools".

These are tools roustabouts, roughnecks, pumpers, and other oil patch folk have used for years that aren't necessarily available at your local hardware store. Usually, these tools are made from basic tools or material that aid in doing repetitive jobs often encountered by the user.

By their very nature, they might vary from user to user, but, remarkably, they are widely used throughout the oil patch in one form or another.

An example might be the "cheater". This is very commonly used, in and out of the oil patch, by those needing a little extra help in loosening a fitting or tightening a connection. A cheater is usually a piece of pipe that is slipped over a pipe wrench to add extra length (thus additional leverage) to ease the work involved in "breaking" a very tight connection that couldn't be loosened using only the wrench.

Another might be the "hubber"—a more localized term that describes a homemade device that allows hookup to a truck wheel for many purposes. Threading pipe, making long-threaded connections, and cutting pipe are good reasons to have a hubber. The hubber hooks to a wheel hub and then it attaches to pipe or whatever you need to turn several rotations. It does the work of several arms—as long as your truck is running, that is.

A more specialized tool is the "lazy man's backup" or "one-man gang". This is a device that is built specifically to its users specifications to allow backup of a connection for tightening or loosening. (Remember "backup" from earlier Oil Patch Basics discussions?) It usually has a long piece of pipe connected to a piece of a pipe wrench with a "T" shaped end to provide stability. The idea is to allow one person to tighten or loosen a fitting without help from another person.

These are only samples of the many tools made in the shop or at home to make work in the oil patch a little bit easier. If there is a tedious job to be done, there is probably a homemade tool to make it more manageable.

Which, by the way, brings up some sage advice I received one time long ago from the king of homemade tools in the Big Thicket of Texas oil patch. His words were, "Never take a nap until you know the field foreman is at least 100 miles away..."

Oil patch advice...the best homemade tool of all.

Senior Citizens Nursing Home News

by Billie Ruth Bishop

Due to vacation last week, there was no newsletter. I would like to thank all of you who helped out in any way. Especially, I thank the volunteers who are so wonderful and faithful to come each day to brighten the day for our residents. Thanks to Tina Geisman and Lela Thormeyer who filled in for me at the piano and to Kay Russell for arts and crafts.

Mrs. Bradford has returned from the hospital in San Angelo and Mr. Wheeler has returned from an Abilene hospital. We welcome these two back and hope they continue to be on the road to improvement.

We are planning a day of fun on Halloween Day. The first grade class will come to visit at 1:45 p.m. in costume and present a program. The employees are planning to wear costumes and have a judging contest with refreshments to follow in the afternoon. We will be playing bingo with our residents. Come and join in the fun and fellowship and have a Happy Halloween Day!

Our residents enjoyed a tape of the singing at the Methodist Church. Thanks to Jean Gibbs for supplying us with that tape.

The Clowns for Christ came Sunday afternoon and visited with the residents here and brought Halloween treats for them.

Mr. and Mrs. John Wheeler celebrated their 62nd wedding anniversary on Sunday with a reception at the nursing home. The party was hosted by their children. Mr. Wheeler is a resident here at Sr. Citizen Nursing Home. Congratulations to them.

Mr. Manuel Esquivel is a patient in North Runnels Hospital as is Mrs. Bradford. We wish a good day for them today.

Happy Halloween.

A tribute to Josie

Perhaps Josie Arnold never mentioned her military service in Winters, nor had reason to, but seeing her flag-draped casket brought back memories.

When we played dominoes with her parents some years ago, Mrs. Webb and I talked about Josie's exploits in Washington, D.C., while the men discussed a favorite pony named "Peanuts" that George bought from Mr. Webb.

The domino game required much of our attention and I regretted that I had not learned more about Josie's career. Bryan and Marci Webb gave me some newspaper clippings that told of the praise she had received for volunteer work in the capitol.

An article written in 1943 by Beth Blaine, columnist for The Washington Star, tells of an outstanding contribution to the war effort by Miss Joe Webb, a graduate of the University of Texas, who left a school teaching job seven years ago to take a civil service job in the treasury department at the Bureau of Engraving at the nation's capitol.

She has been doing volunteer work for the USO for a year and a half, starting out as a sight-seeing guide. Now she is directing the volunteer hostesses's schedule at the YMCA, acting as chief hostess herself.

In addition to doing her regular work and keeping an apartment with four other girls in war-crowded Washington, Miss Webb finds time to do many other worthwhile things other than USO work.

She is a social service worker in the Mt. Vernon Methodist Church, where, incidentally, Congressman George Mahon of Colorado City teaches a Sunday school class. She knits for the Red Cross, does civilian defense work, and has given six blood donations to the Red Cross Blood Bank.

Miss Webb is a leader in the Women's Battalion, a district recreation organization of girls that go to nearby camps to help entertain service men. A number of the service men who stop in Washington are Texans and former students of Webb.

Several years later, a story from Cherry Point, N.C. describes Marine Sgt. Josie Webb as a "Jack of All Trades". As assistant supervisor of the planning office in the overhaul section of the aircraft assembly and repair department here, she knows every job in her office. When vacancies occur through transfer, illness, or furloughs of regular personnel, she takes over the job. She is also non-commissioned officer in charge of all office personnel.

Sergeant Webb enlisted in the Corps on November 8, 1943. In January of 1944, she went to Camp Lejeune, N.C., last coast training center for marines for "boot" training.

In February, she came to Cherry Point and was assigned to duty in the aircraft assembly and repair personnel office, where she interviewed new civilian employees and men of the Marine Corps reporting for duty. Transferred to the engine overhaul office, she set up office there before assuming her present duties.

Following the war, she was employed at the Atomic Energy Commission, now called the Nuclear Regulatory Commission, in Washington, D.C.

After her marriage to Ralph Arnold in 1951, they remained in Washington until she retired; moving to Winters in 1974 and to San Angelo in 1985. When Ralph died in 1989, she moved to Uvalde to live with her niece. There she died October 5, 1994, and is buried at Winters.

In a ceremony at the Lakeview Cemetery, the American flag on Josie's casket was carefully folded and presented to her brother, Henry.

Josie served the country well.

From The Well

by Pastor Jim Hanson

Last Tuesday was a special day for me. Roy Jones, the Religion Editor for The Abilene Reporter-News, together with a photographer, came down to interview me and do a story on St. John's and its 90th Anniversary. We had a marvelous time talking about the history of St. John's - its early beginning, the hard times, the good times.

He was really impressed with the building, which is just short of 65 years. The cornerstone was laid on September 29, 1929, 2 days before I was born. From the moment I first laid eyes on the church and went inside the sanctuary, I have loved it. The tall steeple, the bell, the stained glass windows, the organ, the beautiful altar and stately pulpit rising up from the chancel make a deep impression on one's soul. One does feel a kind of peace, a presence, a holiness that must be the accumulation of many praises and many prayers. One of our former pastors says of it, "We are standing on holy ground." And one of our newest attenders often comes into the church between Sundays, all alone, to pray and worship God. It's that kind of place. A blessed place.

Roy asked me, "How do you feel when you think of those folks building a church like this in 1929, in a depression time, a time of little money, really hard hard times?" I told him that I felt truly grateful, truly humbled. Sort of like the time I held my first-born grandchild, just a few hours after he was born. Someone asked me how I felt. I thought a moment and then said, very deliberately, "I...feel...generations. I feel the stream of life flowing down through the years, all the way back to Adam. It's like all of a sudden all of the 'begats in the Bible make real sense."

As I stand or sit in the sanctuary at St. John's, I feel generations. Only, it's not the same as when I held my grandson, Ezekiel. When I felt him, I felt like I was holding in my hands the fruit of generations. When I am in St. John's, there are times when I feel held by former generations, my fathers and mothers in the faith. As I read the names inscribed in the lowest panes of the stained glass windows: Ambrecht, Gerhart, Onken, Ernst, Pruser, Spill, Minzenmayer, Lindemann, Frick, Ernst, Voss, I am so humbled. And so encouraged. I feel like I am in the right place, that God has called me here, and I am supported by those who were here then as well as those who are here now. I feel their strength, their perseverance, their faithfulness. Whereas they did not suffer imprisonment or death, they did have their times of persecution. But they hung on to their God, and they hung on to each other, and they came through. And I bask in the beauty of their faith - living still.

Like what we read in the Book of Hebrews, chapter 12. Like the hymn line, "Faith of our fathers, living still." I can see them, in those dry, tough years of the depression, coming together in the morning, digging the basement, mixing the concrete, building the scaffolding, hauling the bricks, following the plan. Most of the labor was donated and the total cost was $23,446.93. The real cost was in hours and days and weeks of volunteer labor, sweat, and hard work. And worship, some place, every Sunday.

No wonder it is still a "blessed place, filled with solace, light, and grace". No wonder I feel what I do when I am in there. I feel surrounded, just like Hebrews 12:1 & 2, "by so great a cloud of witnesses." And, like him, encouraged "to lay aside every weight and the sin that clings so closely". And, like them, those builders, "to run with perseverance the race that is set before us, looking to Jesus the pioneer and perfecter of our faith".

8th Breezes lose to Indians, 7-0

The 8th grade Breezes came up a little short Thursday as they played the Jim Ned Indians. The blue team was not able to get on the scoreboard.

The defense did a good job allowing only 7 points to be scored against them early in the first quarter. Winters had two interceptions - one from Kenny Whittenburg and one from Jeremy Alvarado. Fumbles were recovered by Kenny Whittenburg, Jr. Baquera, and Eric Tekell.

The offense had several drives moving the ball, but did not have any luck as it was 4th and just short of a first down.

Coach Jim Bob Jacobs says, "All in all, a good game was played."

The team meets Stanton this week and then will finish the season against Wall the following week.

MARK DEIKE #30 rushes the Jim Ned quarterback who threw the interception during varsity play against the Indians.

Directions to Stanton Field

Football fans traveling to Stanton for the first time may find the following information useful.

Entering Stanton on State Highway 137 North, which intersects U.S. 80, you will continue entering town on Highway 137. The street at which you need to turn left has no name, but sits between Graves Plumbing and a Fina Service Station, located to your west. You have passed all town blocks to your east and will see a cotton field.

Visitors are welcome on the east side of the field.

As a final reminder, of course, if all else fails: Look for the high stadium lights.

RYAN EUBANK #73 helps Blizzard teammates bring down the Jim Ned runner as the Winters JV outlasted the Indians 21-14.

7th grade Breezes defend victory title to Jim Ned

After a two-week layoff, the Breezes came out with a 6-0 victory over the Jim Ned Indians. Coach Biff White says, "It was like starting all over; we had many mistakes and penalties killed our momentum."

David Hernandez scored on a 20-yard reverse early in the second quarter. Joey King's extra point attempt failed.

Defensively, the team played well with Victor Flores having 10 tackles and Kirk Byrd recovering a fumble.

No one has scored on the Big Blue "D" (defense) in the fourth quarter; however, Jim Ned did come close. They were able to move the ball down to the 35-yard line and faced a 4th and 4. They ran a power play over right tackle, but were stopped inches shy by Craig Conner, Roger Martinez, and Andy Williams.

Winters regained possession of the ball. The game ended with Jeremy Prater running the clock out.

Captains were Jesse Reyna, Donnell Barnes, and Joe Aragon. Coach White would like to say thanks to the fans. The 7th grade is now 3 and 2 for the season.

The Breezes face Stanton Thursday at 5:30 p.m. in Blizzard Stadium.

Friday's after game fellowship is hosted by St. John's Lutheran Church at the School Activity Building.

BLIZZARD OFFENSIVE LINE goes to work to blast past the Jim Ned Indians 17-6 last Friday evening. The Big Blue remains undefeated and holds first place in district ratings.

CHANE REAGAN #61 AND JOHN BIDDIX #12 stop the Jim Ned runner during action Friday night. The Blizzard defense has held opponents to only 24 points in eight games.

JV Blizzards beat Jim Ned Indians

The Winters junior varsity posted an impressive 21-14 victory last Thursday evening over district rival Jim Ned.

First quarter action saw Winters get on the scoreboard first when Dennis Conner scored on a 40 yard pass from quarterback Eric Bernal. The two point conversion failed.

Jim Ned didn't waste time in answering the challenge with a quick score off a run back of the kickoff. The PAT failed leaving the score tied at 6-6.

The Jim Ned Indians came back strong in the second quarter with a 56 yard touchdown pass and a 2 point conversion.

But the Blizzards dug deep, driving the ball downfield. Eric Bernal ran 14 yards to score and the 2 point try was good. Both teams went into halftime 14-14.

The second half belonged to the Blizzards as Dennis Conner again scored on a 20 yard touchdown pass from Bernal. Jonathan Cobb's PAT was on the mark and Winters took the lead 21-14.

Jim Ned threatened to score again but a big defensive stand by the Blizzards in the fourth quarter secured the victory for Winters.

Coach Chris Wilde said, "Our offensive and defensive line controlled the line of scrimmage for the majority of the game. It was the best defensive game our kids have played all year. I'm very proud of their effort."

The junior varsity squad plays at Stanton at 6:30 Thursday.

Cristi Burton, a finalist in the Miss Texas Teen All-American Pageant

Cristi D'Lynn Burton, 15, daughter of Tommy and Brenda Burton of Winters, is a finalist in the Miss Texas Teen All-American Pageant. The pageant was held Oct. 15 and 16 in the Brookhollow Grand Ball Room of the Holiday Inn in Dallas.

One hundred thirty-four girls, ages 12-18, competed in the two-day program. Entrants must qualify in order to participate. A girl must be nominated through other pageants or an agent. A photo and biography are submitted and after a review, there is a personal interview. Application acceptance is based on academics, athletics, civic service activities, and beauty - an All American type girl.

Each contestant must sell advertising space for the pageant program book. Unlike many other pageants, this is the only "entry fee" required. The contestant's picture and a list of advertisers/sponsors are included in the book.

Many thanks to all the wonderful sponsors that purchased ads in the program.

As a finalist, Cristi is eligible to enter the Miss Texas Teen U.S.A. Pageant in San Antonio.

Runnels County Soil Conservation News

CRP prescribed burning

During the last few years more CRP participants have decided to burn their CRP acres which has resulted in an increase in Prescribed Burning Plans. Therefore, now is the time to be contacting the Soil Conservation Service about preparation for carrying out a Prescribed Burn on CRP acres.

A burn plan must be worked up with the Soil Conservation Service several months prior to burning. In addition, plans should be made to cut fire guards shortly after a frost this fall so that the job will be taken care of ahead of time.

Prescribed burns can be both safe and beneficial. However, it is important to remember that fire is only a tool that can be used to help resolve some pasture problems, but like any tool, its effectiveness depends on whether or not it is used correctly. It is not a cure-all that will solve or even help all the problems that may occur on pastureland. For example, although it is advantageous to burn dense vegetation after a few years of limited or no grazing, burning the same pasture every year could result in more harm than good due to the limited amount of rainfall in this area.

Fire can be used for several different reasons in CRP, mainly to increase grass vigor and control most weeds. Furthermore, we have noticed that a follow-up spraying of weeds in the spring greatly benefits the grass by decreasing competition for moisture and sunlight. Thus, any weeds not killed by the burn are controlled.

Keep in mind that if the grass is burned in the spring or summer, the burn will cause more harm than good by putting the grasses in a stress situation. This could result in losing the stand of grass especially if soil moisture is limited. It is recommended to burn in late winter before spring green up. There are numerous positive effects associated with burning at this time of year. The first and most obvious is the earlier green up due to the blackened surface conditions and increased sunlight. This is a benefit as long as there is not a late freeze in combination with drought conditions. Another advantage is the removal of standing litter, causing the grass to rejuvenate and thicken.

If you are planning on a prescribed burn or would like more information on prescribed burning, contact the Soil Conservation Service at (915) 365-3415 or go by 2000 Hutchings Avenue in Ballinger.

Directors elected to Soil and Water Conservation District

The Runnels Soil and Water Conservation District has a new member serving on its board of directors.

Fred Wilde was elected to serve as the director for Zone 1 during an election held Oct. 14 in the old Bethel Schoolhouse.

The zone covers an area south and west of the junction of Highway 67 and Highway 83 at Ballinger to the Coleman County line.

Wilde is a farmer of the Bethel community. He began farming 20 years ago with his father and brother and now operates the family farm.

Wilde practices what is commonly known as "reduced tillage" farming. This means that farmers use more herbicides to prepare the land for planting as opposed to more plowing. Wilde has found that reduced tillage farming is a labor saver and moisture conserver with yields comparable to conventional tillage.

Wilde replaces retiring chairman of the board, Otto Gottschalk. Gottschalk was presented a plaque for 20 years of dedicated service.

David Ocker was re-elected as director to Zone 2. Zone 2 includes south and east of the junction of the Colorado River and Highway 83 at Ballinger to the Coke, Tom Green, and Concho County lines.

Ocker has been farming between Rowena and Ballinger most of his life and has served on the board since 1975.

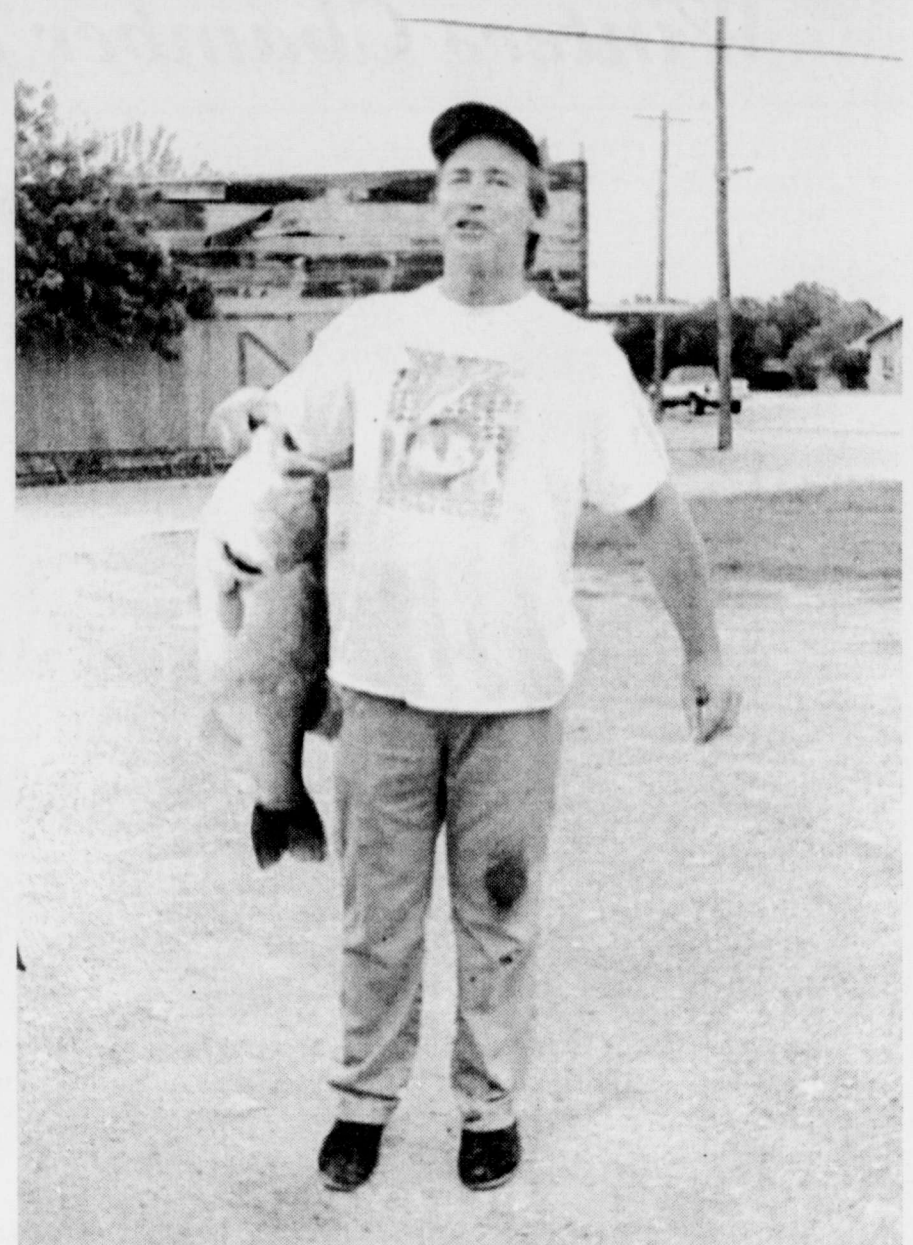

Wilde and Ocker ran unopposed in the election. Both will serve 4-year terms.

Other members of the board are Ed Bredemeyer of Winters, C.J. Robinson Jr. of Norton, and W.C. "Bud" Davis of Winters.

The Runnels SWCD promotes soil and water conservation programs on agricultural lands and serves as a voice for farmers, ranchers, and local community organizations on conservation matters.

The district board of directors coordinated the conservation efforts of local, state, and federal agencies and has authority to enter into working agreements with these governmental agencies and private organizations to carry out its purposes.

Conservation programs managed by the district are voluntary by landowners or operators or other users of the SWCD's programs.

MEL KENNEDY caught this 13.7 pound largemouth bass with an artificial lure at Elm Creek Reservoir last week. He carried the fish back to the lake and released it so other anglers can have the thrill of catching the "big one".

T.I.P.S. program enters competition

The T.I.P.S. (Terrific Intermediate and Primary Students) after school care program of Winters Independent School District has been entered in Diamond Shamrock's "Hooray for Excellence" competition.

"Hooray for Excellence" is a program dedicated to increasing the public's interest in the classrooms of Texas and converting that interest into enthusiastic support.

The program capitalizes on the high level of interest in the game and pageantry of football. During halftime of its radio broadcasts of 5A play-off games, Diamond Shamrock, in cooperation with the University Interscholastic League, will air taped presentations of interesting educational programs from around the state.

In order to apply for this recognition schools were required to submit a 5-minute audio tape describing an innovative program in their respective district.

Lynn Smith of KRUN was kind enough to bring some sophisticated taping equipment to Winters Elementary and direct the taping of the T.I.P.S. audio entry. Several T.I.P.S. kids participated in the taping and did an outstanding job.

Schools submitting a tape selected for broadcast will receive a recognition certificate and a check from Diamond Shamrock for $500. Good luck, T.I.P.S. kids of Winters Elementary.

Scholarship Deadline

Leading rushers for the Blizzards were Robert Silva with 12 for 64, Jerry Esquivel with 15 for 53, John Belew with 15-49, Kelly Thompson with 7 for 34, Mark Deike with 6 for 18, and Chris McCaslin with 1 for 4.

Coach Byrd added, "Offensively, we were able to capitalize on their mistakes. We were able to control the ball and keep it away from them. I think both sides played well."

Three Winters players received honors from the San Angelo Standard-Times for their efforts against Jim Ned. Cornerback Kelly Thompson intercepted two passes and caused a fumble. End Zane Guy had 11 tackles and Jason Carrillo, linebacker, had 10 tackles.

The win over the Jim Ned Indians pushes the Blizzards to a perfect 8-0 record and the only undefeated team in district 6-2A. Jim Ned drops to 5-3 overall but 0-3 in district play.

The Blizzards face a tough Stanton team this Friday in Blizzard stadium. Stanton comes to the contest with a 6-2 overall record and 2-1 district standing, losing last week to the Wall Hawks.

The last appearance the Blizzards made in a playoff game was in 1990, and the last district title for the Blizzards was in 1983.

Coach Byrd said, "We've got to keep Stanton from making the big plays. They've got two big backs who can score from anywhere on the field."

Kickoff will be at 7:30 in Blizzard stadium.

Back the Blizzards as they go for the district championship.

Farmers, workers should note wage reporting rules

As harvesting season approaches, farmers and people who do seasonal farm work should be sure to note the rules affecting the reporting of farm wages for Social Security purposes, Franklin H. Upp, manager of the San Angelo Social Security Office, stated.

"There is still some confusion among farmers and farm workers about when farm work is covered and who is responsible for reporting wages," Upp said. "This may mean that the worker loses valuable Social Security protection that means cash when he/she needs it most — in retirement, if he/she becomes disabled, or to his/her family in case of premature death."

Most farm worker wages are covered under Social Security. A farm worker's wages are reported to Social Security when they amount to $150 or more in cash wages during the calendar year. If the farmer pays the worker less than $150 in cash wages but his/her total expenses for agricultural labor is more than $2,500 or more in a year the wages are covered.

However, if the worker is paid on a piecemeal basis, commutes from his/her home, and did less than 13 weeks of farm work the previous year, this work is covered by Social Security only if the farmer pays the worker at least $150 in cash for the job.

Each time the farmer pays the workers, he or she must give them a statement that shows how much the worker was paid and for which days they were paid. The farmer should also give the worker a

W-2 form by January 31 of each year. The W-2 form should be given when the job ends if the job ends before January 31.

Sometimes a crewleader is the employer rather than the farmer. This happens when the crewleader is an independent contractor who contracts with the farmer to do the work and pays the workers himself. Whether the crewleader or the farmer is the employer, the farm worker should take the following precautions to ensure his/her wages are being reported properly:

- ** Show your boss your Social Security card so he/she can copy the number and your name.
- ** Give each boss your mailing address so he/she can send you your W-2 forms later, or ask him/her to give you a W-2 when the job ends.
- ** Keep all your W-2 forms and pay stubs in a safe place.
- ** Write down where and when you work and your wages.

Also, you should ask Social Security for a free statement of earnings every three years. Then you can tell if all bosses have reported your wages. You can stop by any Social Security office to pick up a form to request the statement or you can call 1-800-772-1213 and request one. The statement should arrive in about three weeks.

Scouts to begin Lakeview Cemetery sign project; TDT to begin handicap accessibility for city sidewalks

The Winters City Council met in regular session Monday, October 24, with all aldermen present. Mayor Gerhart called the meeting to order.

Councilman David Evans spoke on behalf of his son, Greg, who is an Eagle Scout. The Eagle Scouts are planning a project involving Lakeview Cemetery. They wish to build and place a sign listing the names of those in the cemetery. The cost of the project is approximately $150 and has the following advantages. This project will keep the kids busy, make the cemetery look better, and offer directions to burial sites. The sign will be designed so that new names can be added. Two books will be maintained listing names on the signs—one to be kept by the City and one to be kept by the Scouts. The project was approved.

A bid of $12,708.85 for new water lines was accepted from Industrial International, Inc. of Richland Hills, in accordance to City Engineer Scott Hays' written recommendation.

City Administrator Hassan reported on grant applications and capital improvement projects. The Texas Department of Transportation will begin work in November to make the sidewalks handicap accessible. However, the department denied the grant for airport development for 1994. Informed by the Texas Historical Commission, Winters' application for the Main Street Program was not awarded for 1994 and may be re-submitted for 1995 consideration.

Mr. Hassan reported that the City of Winters has been selected as a voting member of the 29th Texas Midwest Community Network where he has been appointed as one of nine executive board members.

The council recessed to executive session to discuss employment and reconvened with the following action.

Robert Carey was awarded a contract for cleaning the community center, contingent upon approval of City Attorney Kenneth Slinp.

Freddie Grohman was hired as animal control officer and convenience center attendant, under a six month contract.

In other business, the Council voted to table several items on the agenda for further study. These included a no parking zone near the school crossing on Main Street, the TML Group Retiree Medical Plan, and a proposed rate increase by Coleman County Electric Cooperative, Inc.

The Council approved bills and corrected minutes of the previous meeting.

Visitors present were Charles Grenwelge and Jack Davis Jr.

A committee was appointed to further study the possibility of having an Extravaganza for W.L.S.A. in the spring of 1995. Bill Bredemeyer, Larry Donica, and Jack Burton as chairperson, will serve on this committee.

Head Start hires instructor

Valerie Summerlin has been named Instructor of the Winters Head Start program, a division of Central Texas Opportunities, Inc. Valerie is the daughter of J.C. Summerlin, an associate pastor of the Church of Nazarene, of Brownwood and Judith Kincheloe of Oregon. A graduate of West Plains High School in Missouri, she is the eldest of six children including triplets. She attended Central Texas Commercial College in Brownwood for a year.

As the daughter of a pastor, Valerie has had the opportunity to travel frequently and has lived in several states. She says that Winters is absolutely the "friendliest" place she has been. She and daughter, Lindsey, 5, currently reside in Ballinger but wish to re-locate to Winters.

In her spare time, she enjoys singing at various places, especially churches. On weekends, she returns to Brownwood to "family singing get-togethers".

Miss Summerlin began her career with the Head Start program in 1985 in Coleman as a Teacher's Aide. She worked in Coleman for one year then transferred to Brownwood where she was an Aide for one year and an Instructor for four years. Her teaching duties at Winters officially began August 1 of this year.

Valerie has received certification as a speech, vision, and hearing screener and has successfully completed training in CPR. Licensed by the Texas Department of Human Services as a Child Care Facility Director, she continues her education through the many programs offered by CTO/Head Start. Valerie's main goal is to obtain her Child Development Associate degree.

Miss Summerlin believes that Head Start offers the first essential step to a child's education. At ages 3 and 4, children learn basic skills such as catching a ball, tying shoes, and cutting with scissors by playing and interacting with other children in various learning centers. Some centers offered are Art, Library, Music, and Home. Children learn gross and fine motor skills; coordination of eye and hand movements; distinction between shapes, colors, and sizes; social skills; and culture awareness. "It is increasingly important in today's society to understand that everyone is different but special," states Miss Summerlin. "Self-esteem plays an important role in one's life."

Head Start is based on the premise that all children share certain needs, and that children of low income families, in particular, can benefit from a comprehensive developmental program to meet those needs. The Head Start program approach is based on the philosophy that:

(1) A child can benefit most from a comprehensive, interdisciplinary program to foster development and remedy problems as expressed in a broad range of service, and that

(2) The child's entire family, as well as the community must be involved. The program should maximize the strengths and unique experiences of each child. The family, which is perceived as the principle influence on the child's development, must be a direct participant in the program. Local communities are allowed latitude in developing creative program designs so long as the basic goals, objectives, and standards of a comprehensive program are adhered to.

The Winters Head Start program is presently seeking a Volunteer Community Representative. This representative will attend Area Policy Council meetings, held once a month, and will have a voice, and vote, in all activities that concern Head Start. From budget hearings to the employment of staff to setting rules and regulations, this rep will have the opportunity to contribute information and opinions pertaining to area and local Head Start programs. If you are interested in this position, contact Miss Summerlin at 754-4325 Monday through Friday 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Miss Summerlin serves on the Social Services Advisory Committee of the Policy Council. This committee is attempting to form a parent coalition to provide specialized training in the fields of GED, Child Discipline, Child Abuse/Neglect, and Money Management, just to name a few.

Head Start continues to expand. Since its inception in 1965, Head Start has provided social, medical, dental, nutrition and mental health services to over 11 million children and their families.

There are 18 children, ages 3-5, enrolled in the 1994-95 Winters Head Start program. Currently there is one available position for child placement. Children must be at least 3 years of age by September 1. Income guidelines based upon wages and family size must comply. Children attend school from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. Monday through Friday. If you would like to know if your child may attend, call 754-4325.

Assisting Miss Summerlin are Patsy Staggs, instructional aide; Barbara Jones, cooke; Bob Jones, transportation; and Norma Arispe, instructional disability aide.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Last Friday night, should have been very disheartening for my family, but instead it was very heart-warming.

We traveled from Forsan to Winters to lose a ball game in the driving rain. After the game, we still had quite a night ahead of us, as we were traveling to College Station to check on my sick grandmother and to attend the A&M football game. We discovered we had a flat.

An extremely nice gentleman by the name of Randall Boles came to our aid. He helped us get the tire off then invited us into his home to call for some help to fix the tire. He was very gracious - we met his dog, looked at family pictures on the frig, and felt like we'd known this man for years.

Mr. Boles then escorted us to town where another friendly guy with "Denzil" imprinted on his belt fixed our flat. Without much delay (and not costing a smooth fortune) we were on the road again.

Grandma is good and A&M won and we like the people of Winters!

Thanks Denzil (Traylor) and Randall Boles for your kindness. I hope your daughter does well at McMurry, Mr. Boles. We saw you leaving the A&M game if you can believe that!

Thanks so much!

Gratefully,
Boyce and Laura Kemper
Big Spring, TX

Editor's note: The above letter from the Kemper family was published against the wishes of Mr. Boles who prefers to keep a somewhat low profile. However, he, Mr. Traylor and other Winters residents deserve credit where credit is due.

Dear Editor:

I was born in Runnels County, some 2 miles south of Marie, Texas, toward Maverick, Texas. Thank goodness Dr. Mitchell of Norton made housecalls. I lived for 20 years in Runnels County, for the next 36 years I lived and worked all over the United States. Four years ago I moved back to Runnels County. Reason: Runnels County is the best place I have found to live.

My reason for writing is to address the 2.9 million Jail Bond issue.

FACTS:

1. Runnels County needs a new jail.

2. Runnels County can build a new jail for much less than 2.9 million that will be in compliance with the Texas Commission on Jail Standards.

3. The world will not come to an end if we vote down the 2.9 million bond issue.

QUESTIONS:

1. Why do our elected county officials insist that we build a jail that will cost much more than our tax base can afford?

2. Why do our county officials not have a Plan B or C if Plan A fails? See The Ballinger Ledger 10-13-94.

3. Does Harris County alone have enough overflow to fill up every jail in Texas? Sheriff that's a lot of folks! See The Ballinger Ledger 10-13-94.

ANSWERS:

We all agree that we would like to keep Runnels County one of the best places in the world to live. Let's get back to basics by going to "Webster's Dictionary". DEMOCRACY: Government by the people, in which the supreme power is retained by the people and exercised either directly or indirectly. This tells me we should tell Sheriff Baird, Runnels County Judge Murchison, and the county commissioners, "We do not want inmates living high on the hog at our expense, 2.9 million".

How do we do this?

1. Vote down the 2.9 million bond issue.

2. Write and talk to county of-officials, tell them how you feel.

3. If after all this has been done with no change, let's do what any good business person would do - fire and rehire - find someone with more than a Plan A.

Thanks,
Bill Gentry

COLEMAN COUNTY ELECTRIC COOPERATIVE NOTICE OF RATE CHANGE REQUEST

Notice is hereby given that Coleman County Electric Cooperative, Inc. (the "Utility") intends to change rates for electric utility service effective January 1, 1995, or as soon thereafter as may be permitted by law. Based upon a test year ending June 30, 1994, the increase requested over actual test year revenues is $318,220 or 5%. The changes are applicable to all areas, all customer classes, and all customers served by the Utility.

The Utility proposes to change all rates for residential, irrigation, small commercial, large commercial, security lighting and cotton gin service, including customer, demand, energy, minimum and other charges. The proposed changes are expected to affect the classes as follows: for the 5,103 customers in the residential class, the proposed increase will be $166,605, or a 6.19% change in revenues; for the 117 customers in the irrigation class, the proposed increase will be $3,121, or a 6.19% change in revenues; for the 2,381 customers in the small commercial class, the proposed increase will be $7,250, or a 1.15% change in revenues; for the 3 customers in the cotton gin class, the proposed increase will be $1,000, or a 4.83% change in revenues; for the 1,370 security light customers, the proposed increase will be $7,100, or a 6.19% change in revenue. No change is proposed for the 2 LP special customers, Santa Fe Pipeline Company and Colorado River Municipal Water District.

The Utility is required to give notice of the percentage increase in base revenues, which is 11.75%. The percentage increase in base revenues is NOT an indication of how much your bill will increase. Rather, it is a measure of the increase needed by the Utility for its own operations, excluding payment for the cost of power purchased by the Utility from its wholesale power suppliers.

Information concerning the proposed rate changes, including the proposed customer, demand, and energy charges applicable to each class of service, the estimated effect on revenue by customer class, and a brief description of the applicability and type of service for any new class of service which is proposed by the utility, is available at the general office of the utility, located at 300 North Highway 84, Coleman, Texas 76834, or will be provided upon request to any customer by mail without charge. The utility has filed a copy of this Notice of Rate Change Request with the Public Utility Commission of Texas. Persons who wish to intervene in or comment upon these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission's Public Information Office at (512)458-0256, or (512)458-0221 for text telephone. The deadline for intervening will be November 28, 1994.

The Great Pumpkin Patch could be in Texas

When Linus starts looking for the most sincere pumpkin patch for the imaginary Great Pumpkin, he should start with Texas for some of the best quality pumpkins this fall.

"Whether it's that perfect pumpkin for carving or one that you'll use in grandmother's made-from-scratch pumpkin pie recipe, if it's a Texas pumpkin, then it's going to be the best," Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry said.

And pumpkin pundits agree with Perry, since quality of the Texas High Plains crop is exceptionally good this year.

The High Plains is well suited for pumpkin growth with a warm, sunny climate during the growing season and cool fall weather which is good for ripening. Pumpkins from the area are noted for their good orange color, size and thick outer rind.

Floyd, Hale, Lamb, Bailey and Lubbock counties are the state's top-producing counties.

Producers planted approximately 1,500 acres to 2,000 acres this spring, but because of problems with pollination and fruit set, may only harvest from 1,000 acres to 1,200 acres. Although there are no production estimates for pumpkins, the High Plains crop may be down from last year.

Dr. Roland Roberts with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in Lubbock said this summer's prolonged hot weather may have contributed to pollination problems.

"There have been fruit set problems on hundreds of acres," Roberts said. "But while production may be down, quality of the Texas High Plains crop will be good this year."

Growers around the state also offer consumers the chance to pick that special pumpkin from local pick-your-own pumpkin patches.

"And while your pumpkin may come from a local grower, Texas pumpkins have been shipped as far away as New York and Philadelphia," Perry said. "Some Texas pumpkins have even been exported to foreign markets." Linus shouldn't be surprised if the Great Pumpkin has a Texas draw this year.

Lamb and Hog Fitting Clinics scheduled

The Runnels County Extension Office is sponsoring a county-wide Fitting Clinic this Saturday, October 29. This clinic will be directed toward shearing lambs and butchering hogs. All feeders planning to show these animals should attend.

This clinic will begin with the lambs at 9:30 a.m. in the Community Center in Ballinger. Rex Stultz, Concho County Extension Agent, will demonstrate the technique of preparing lambs for a show. Supplies needed will also be discussed.

The clinic for fitting pigs begins at 1:00 p.m. in Clarence Schaefer's pens between Rowena and Lowake. Johnny Bob Pritchard from Winters will discuss the procedures for butchering a hog for a show.

The two programs are designed to help youth and their families learn proper fitting of their animals. It is important that feeders learn as much as possible about their project. If there are any questions or if directions are needed, call the County Extension Office at 365-2219.

All FFA and 4-H feeders are welcome to attend.

Halloween: When parents get spooked about children's safety

Many parents get spooked when pint-sized ghosts and goblins begin their Halloween trick-or-treating expeditions. The evening can pose special hazards for young tricksters and scare the daylight out of parents.

"Halloween is a fun holiday for children, but it can be a devilish experience when accidents happen. A little planning will go a long way in preventing holiday hardships," said Patricia Rosen, M.D., Emergency Medicine specialist and assistant professor in the Texas A&M University Health Science Center College of Medicine.

"In the excitement of Halloween, some children forget the rules they have learned about crossing streets. Encourage youngsters to remember the traffic rules. Stress that they must obey the traffic lights—even on Halloween," Dr. Rosen said.

Remind children to look both ways and not to dash into the street from between parked cars. Instruct the children to travel with a group and walk on sidewalks or close to the curb (not in the middle of the street), she added. Let children start their trick-or-treating early so they can stop before dark. Give each child a flashlight.

Halloween safety also includes using seat belts and child safety seats while driving through neighborhoods on trick-or-treating expeditions. Dr. James A. Gilbert Jr., Emergency Medicine specialist and assistant professor in the Texas A&M University Health Science Center College of Medicine, emphasized that in their excitement to go trick-or-treating, children may forget to buckle up. He also cautioned parents against letting children hang on the back of pick-up trucks and ride on bumpers as they go through different neighborhoods.

Accompany your children on their haunting journeys or enlist the aid of a responsible older sibling who can serve as an escort. Emphasize to youngsters that they should never enter any home. Tell children to avoid houses where lights are turned off.

Trick-or-treat inspection
Don't allow children to eat any treats before reaching home. Once home, carefully inspect all treats. Throw away unwrapped or loosely wrapped items. "If your child gets sick after eating Halloween candy, try to find out exactly what he or she ate and where it came from," Dr. Rosen added. Call your doctor immediately or contact your local Poison Control Center.

For parents who want an extra-close inspection of trick-or-treat candy, many local hospitals and clinics offer free X-rays. X-rays can detect metal that could be imbedded in candy. It cannot detect other types of tampering, such as poison or glass.

Proper fiendish attire!
Costumes should give children maximum mobility. Dr. Rosen suggests that parents consider these guidelines before the little goblins get dressed for their night to howl:

Make sure the costume allows for easy movement and doesn't drag on the ground. This could cause the child to trip and fall. The child should wear shoes that fit well and feel comfortable. High heels, clown feet or heavy boots could cause the child to stumble.

Since most trick-or-treating is done at sundown or at night, costumes should allow the child to see and to be seen by motorists. Elaborate headdresses and rubber masks can block a child's vision. A good substitute for masks and headdresses is face painting. Just make sure the paint is non-toxic and designed for use on the face.

Add plenty of glow-in-the-dark decals or reflective tape so the child can be easily seen at night. Let the child help decorate the costume, shoes, trick-or-treat bag and hat with reflective tape. Costumes made of non-flammable materials are essential. If you are buying a ready-made costume, read the labels carefully to make sure the fabric is flame retardant.

This year, accessories are the ultimate horror. Pirates brandish swords, Indians carry bows and arrows and astronauts carry lasers. Don't let your little trickster carry sharp objects. Safe and attractive replicas can be made with cardboard and spray paint.

Friendly haunts
Many parents nowadays are considering alternatives to the traditional trick-or-treating treks through the neighborhoods. Several families join forces to have a costume party in the backyard or recreation room with games, pumpkin carving contests, apple bobbing and ghost stories. Renting vintage scary movies, such as the original version of "King Kong" or more upbeat fare such as "Young Frankenstein," can add just the right spirit to the evening.

Make your house ghost friendly...

Neighbors should also make sure their homes are welcome. If you expect a gaggle of spooks and specters to haunt your neighborhood on Halloween night, make sure your yard is free of hazards, Dr. Rosen suggested.

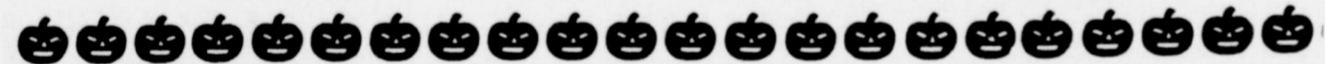

•Remove obstacles in the yard, such as hoses, sprinklers, lawn furniture and potted plants. Turn your porch light on to let children know they're welcome.

•Keep lighted jack-o'-lanterns or candles away from the steps of the front door. A child's costume could possibly brush against the open flame and catch fire.

•Pets, especially dogs, may become agitated with so many visitors. Keep your pets indoors or out of harm's way for a few hours.

•Treats don't have to be full of sugar and fat. Consider giving healthy treats such as boxes of raisins, prepackaged granola bars and sugar-free bubble gum. Some families give away pencils and colorful erasers for school and inexpensive toys.

"With a little foresight, Halloween can be a safe and enjoyable holiday for both children and parents alike," Dr. Rosen said.

Pumpkin patch poundage increases

The 1994 Texas pumpkin crop may be the largest of recent years, weighing in at an estimated 70 million pounds. Pumpkin farmers have received on average 5 cents a pound for their orange crop; this fall, Texans are paying from 7 cents up to 40 cents a pound for their pumpkins.

Order windbreak trees now for February arrival

Did you have to settle for a substitute tree instead of the actual tree that you wanted last year because you waited too long to call the Runnels Soil and Water Conservation District to order your choice of trees?

In cooperation with the Texas Forest Service Nursery near Lubbock, the Runnels Soil and Water Conservation District (RSWCD) will be offering quality hardwood and evergreen tree seedlings for sale to area residents through the Windbreak Tree Program.

These seedlings are healthy, viable seedlings that are well adapted to the soil and weather conditions in Runnels County.

The RSWCD will be offering three categories of seedlings this year: conifers, hardwoods, and wildlife packets.

Twelve inch conifers (Afghanistan pine, Arizona cypress, Austrian pine and red cedar) have a 28 cubic inch root volume and are $35.00 for 20 trees.

Bareroot hardwoods (aromatic sumac "skunkbush", catalpa, desert willow, flameleaf sumac, green ash, honeylocust, little walnut, nanking cherry, Russian olive, sandcherry, and shumard oak) are approximately 24 inches in height and sell for $20.00 for 25 trees.

The wildlife packets (100 trees in 4 species) contain species beneficial to wildlife habitat and nutrition. Types of wildlife packets available are deer, turkey, squirrel, and quail and pheasant and are priced at $45.00 per packet.

This program will conclude on February 3, 1995, and seedlings will arrive at the Soil Conservation Service office in Ballinger on February 15, 1995.

Please consider ordering early to have trees reserved before stocks are depleted.

Technical assistance in planning your windbreak is available. For more information call 365-3415 or come by the Runnels Soil and Water Conservation Office at 2000 Hutchings Avenue in Ballinger.
