Texas Farm Safety Day Camp targeted major threats to area youth

by STEVE BYRNS, Texas Agricultural Extension Service

Farm safety, a crucial but often ignored topic, was the focus of the special Texas Farm Safety Day Camp held June 27 in San Angelo. The event, sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in partnership with Progressive Farmer magazine, was held at Angelo State University's MIR Center. The camp's purpose was to create an awareness and respect of agriculture's hidden dangers.

State Representative Rob Junell opened the day-long activity with remarks concerning agriculture's impact on the area. He set the day's tone by emphasizing that rural youth remained the most valuable agricultural commodity.

The program was split into eight learning sessions, each targeting a major threat to youth involved in West Texas Agriculture. The sessions and their presenters included: "Animal Safety," Jim Kelly, Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, Fort Worth and Mike Mauldin, Runnels County Extension agent; "Ag Chemical Safety," Dr. Billy Warrick, extension agronomist, San Angelo, in cooperation with Cyanamid Chemical Company representatives.

Also, "Electrical Safety," Kit Horne, West Texas Utilities, Abilene, and Darolyn Moore, West Texas Utilities, San Angelo; "Fire Hazards," Pat Barrett, Extension Engineering Service, San Antonio.

The remaining sessions were "Lawn Mower, Farm Equipment, and Tractor Safety" taught by Deere and Company representatives including Joey Henderson and John Lange of San Angelo and "All-Terrain Vehicle (ATV) Safety," Linda Wilson, certified ATV instructor, San Angelo.

A special emergency response session was taught by David Oliver of the Paramedic National Training Center, Alfred, New York.

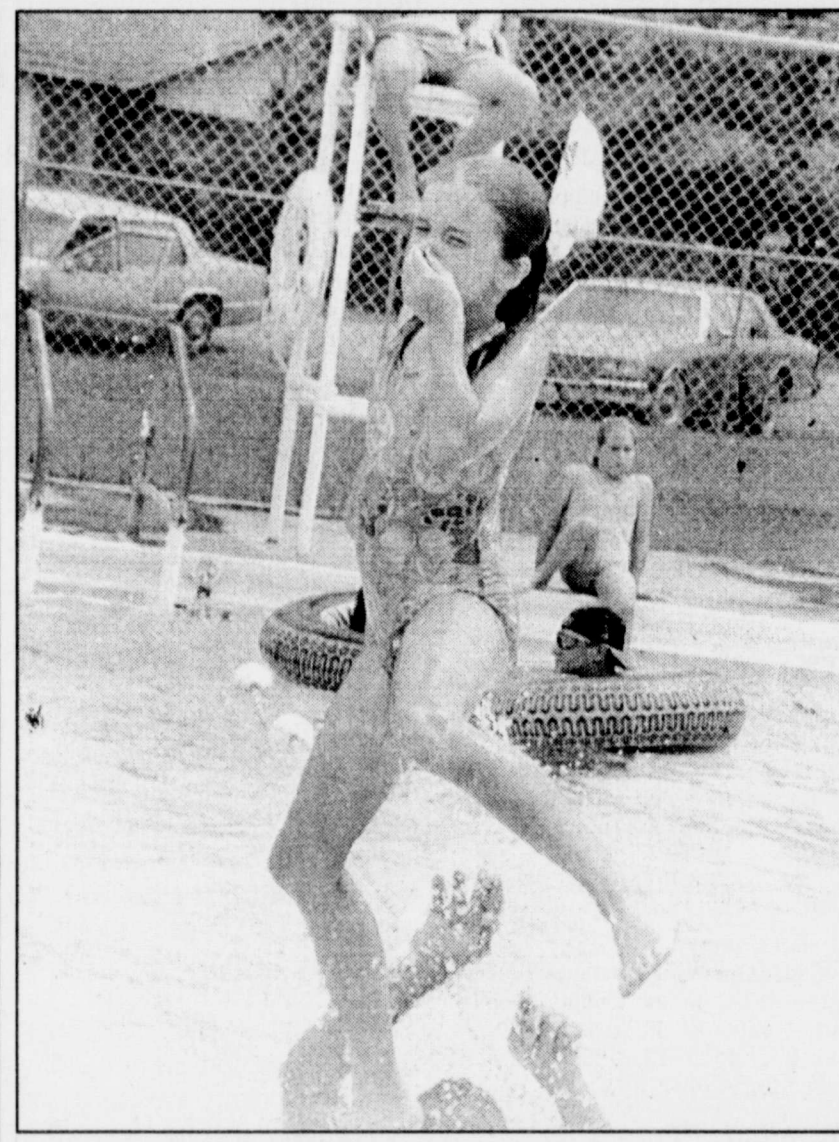

Area Texas Department of Health representatives provided a first aid station, health education, and a rabies awareness booth.

Runnels and Tom Green County Extension personnel gave leadership to the 20 member team who planned the camp. Patricia Hohensee, Runnels County Extension agent, coordinated the camp.

Texas is among the 12 other states who are part of Progressive Farmer's National Farm Safety Project. The San Angelo camp was the first Texas effort but others are planned for next summer.

Karl Wolfshahl represented Progressive Farmer magazine at the camp. Numerous other state agencies helped to make the day a success. They included: Texas Farm Bureau, Texas Workers Compensation - Ag Division, and Texas Department of Agriculture.

Camp participants came from Tom Green, Runnels, Concho, Glasscock, Upton, and Taylor counties.

CIA to host benefit co-ed softball tourney

A Christmas in April benefit co-ed softball tournament will be held July 28 and 29 at the Winters City Park.

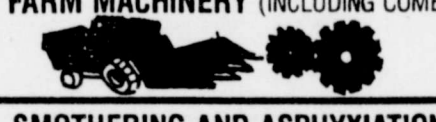

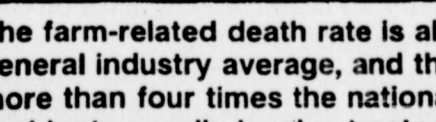

Sue Spill, Winters CIA fund raising chairman, said the slow-pitch tournament will award team trophies to first, second and third place winners plus twelve individual trophies for each of the top three teams. Fourth place winner will receive a team trophy only. Trophies will also be awarded to male and female Most Valuable Players.

American Softball Association rules will apply during the tournament and players must use Blue Dot softballs. Each team must furnish at least two Blue Dot balls. Teams are required to be at the playing field at least thirty minutes prior to game time. Forfeit time is game time.

Games will have a 55 minute time limit and men must use a 28 inch bat. There will be a 12-run rule after four innings and a 10-run rule after five innings.

OIL BUSINESS . . .

By Reg Boles ©1995

Matching the producing companies' quest for lower operating costs and the service companies' desire to survive is the goal of some new business arrangements in the oil patch.

These business combinations take on several forms.

There are flat-price contracts, incentive contracts, fluctuating contracts, and the increasingly popular (especially among major oil companies and large service companies) joint-venture contracts.

Joint-venture contracts have other names (business co-ventures, total-quality contracts, etc.) but the "joint" part of the name is very descriptive. It describes a business arrangement where both parties have a stake in the bottom line success of a project and/or well.

These contracts basically guarantee a certain amount of an operator's business for a certain period of time in exchange for sharing of risk. The risk is that a project will not prove successful (for any number of reasons—not just as a result of a service company mistake), and the contract usually provides a waiver of payment for a service or a reduced fee for unsuccessful applications.

An example might be helpful at this point.

Say a stimulation company enters into such a partnership contract. Then, a well is treated during the term of the contract, but the well is not successful. Then, the service company is not paid the full amount for the application of stimulation as they might otherwise be paid.

The service company has shouldered some of the risk for the operator.

Contracts may even allow bonus payments to the service company where a project is successful in addition to the full payment.

In the case of a joint-venture contract, there are benefits and risks for everybody.

The operator gets to share some of the risk of their daily operating and development activities. This benefits the operator, obviously, by allowing the company to plan better due to the set costs under the contract, while paying less where unsuccessful and paying a little more when a project is a success.

There are risks for operators under such agreements. By marrying themselves to one contractor, they may miss innovations that other contractors may bring to the market. They also may end up with a less enthusiastic partner where the successes are few and far between.

The contractor or service company benefits from getting steady work with a regular paying customer. Less sales help is required and more attention can be paid to quality instead of competing for work. However, there are obvious risks for contractors. A free-wheeling, chance-taking customer could cost the service company a bundle. Also, the upside for successful projects may be very limited, resulting only in regular discounted prices for work on successful wells.

However you look at it, it is a fact of survival for all concerned to come up with innovative business arrangements under the current product price scenarios. If both parties go into these arrangements with both eyes open and with sufficient research on who the service company is and who the customer is, both parties can reap benefits with some added risk.

From The Well

by
Pastor Jim Hanson

We just had our family reunion — the big one that includes my brothers, their children, and grandchildren. We had it at a Church Camp on a lake in central Wisconsin. On a weekend. The weather was perfect. Hot, and no mosquitos! The lake was fresh water and cool. The beach was sand. It was where we — old folks, young folks, teen-agers, and tots — spent most of our time.

Family reunions are important. It is always an effort. And it costs us all some money. And there is always something else that we could be doing. But when we make it a priority, and make the effort, God honors it.

We never know for sure who will be coming until they get there. This year we had one whole family join us who had never been with us before. My brother's (Rolf's) daughter Kristine, her husband, and their three teen-agers. They live in Louisville, Kentucky. Kristine's husband, Jerry, is a highly trained medical doctor. He is on the faculty of the University, and has traveled all over the world. When they arrived, I wondered how they would like sleeping on bunk beds, eating in dining halls, roughing it in a camp setting.

They had a ball. Jerry said, over and over again, "This is just great. Being with the bigger family. My kids meeting yours. Your grandchildren looking up to my children. Playing golf together. Playing volleyball. Swimming in this cool, clear water!" When we had our campfires, Jerry was the one who kept asking if we couldn't sing "Amazing Grace," or "Jesus Loves Me," or "Sweet Hour of Prayer."

He brought along a special gift. In 1976 he made an audio tape with my mother. The tape is an hour long. In this tape, he recorded an interview in which he asked my mother all about her parents and grandparents and her life as a young woman in northern Iowa. It was a real treat for us to hear a common history of our ancestors. We heard mother tell of homesteading years, of covered wagons, of going to town in a buggy sitting between her parents with a whole nickle to spend! We heard her tell of good times, when crops were good, and the whole family was at home, working together. And, we heard of tough times, one time when four of her grandfather's brothers and sisters died in a month's time of "black diphtheria" in the late 1800's. We sat around a table in the dining hall, all thirty of us, hearing our history, our roots.

Afterwards my brother Rolf and I kept the story going as we brought in more recent history of our cousins and their children and our remembrances. All-in-all it was about an hour and a half of remembering. It was a time of being connected to people that some had never heard of, but without whom they would not be living today.

On Sunday morning we worshipped in and around a gazebo, overlooking the lake. I had asked my grandson Peter, age 6, to help me get ready. We fixed a candle in a tin can half-filled with sand to hold the candle upright, and lit the candle. He picked some wild flowers to put on the table with the bread and wine for communion. Then he rang the bell. As he came back to me, he said it all when he said, "Grandpa, isn't this exciting?"

He was right on, of course. The family in the family of God. Our deepest roots. Our weekend together ending in the worship of the "Father, from whom every family in heaven and on earth takes its name." Praise God from whom all blessings flow. Especially, the blessing of family.

My visit to the Rabbit Hole

by NANCY BRYAN
Part 2 of 3

Most 5th-year students do not know what the future holds for them. Some will go to factories, fields, or collective farms. One girl I met was going to work in a bank.

The University's buildings are in bad condition. Many windows were broken and some didn't even exist. There was no heat and it had to be a very dark day before any lights were turned on in the classrooms. Grady also participated in a television commercial promoting the University's facilities and curriculum, hoping for more foreign students.

Two days a week Grady teaches at a secondary English School, which is only ten minutes away from his apartment. Grady teaches 35 students. While I was in Sumy, this class had four students who went to England as exchange students. The students and their teacher came to Grady's apartment for tea and desserts. Grady made a 45-minute video, which was to be sent to the England Prime Minister, showing how the school operates and giving a report on all of the material being taught. While I visited at these classes, the students were studying "Hamlet."

Grady walks just about everywhere he goes. Therefore, I walked too. I witnessed 2-1/2 days of a little sunny, warm weather. The rest of the time was windy, cloudy, rainy, and snowy. A few times, we would have an adventure on the trolley buses. The trolley buses are packed body to body and more will try to get on. And, they do get on! I have many trolley bus stories for the few times that I rode on them.

Grady's apartment is centrally located to all the places that he has to be. When I was there, it took us 1-1/2 hours to walk to the University, 45 minutes to the train station, 30 minutes to church, 45 minutes to the government offices, and 30 to 45 minutes to all the homes we visited. These times are one way. We walked morning, noon, night, and/or midnight. I don't walk where I can't see, thus again I slowed Grady down. Someone should have secretly made a video of us, we would have been a hilarious show, many times. We had a 30-minute walk to the market and to the center of the city.

It was reported to me, that the widest part of the city was only 10 miles. There are more people in three of the cement walled 12- and 14-story buildings than there are in Winters, TX. Most families have a small bathroom, a small kitchen, and a small room that serves as a living room and a bedroom. Few families have two such rooms. All apartment buildings are in bad condition.

Several beautiful churches are 200-years-old. The Orthodox Religion is basic faith. Ukrainians are eager for the truth and working for their free faith in God. There are many faiths in the city of Sumy from missionaries of America since the wall has come down.

Grady has a nice apartment. It is clean. He has no control of the heating system. In the afternoon water pressure is turned down so sometimes baths and dishes wait until later. Laundry is commonly washed in the bathtubs. Students do not pay for their education nor do sick people pay for their medical needs.

Medical facilities are very poor, with very little attention to cleanliness in treatment and medications. The government owns, controls, and assigns where people live.

There are only small stores, for some grocery items. Basically, people go to the market for food. People take eggs, milk, sour cream, cheese, vegetables, meats, and etc. Buying and selling their own wares for their livelihood. People work on collective farms for the government.

The people live in their minds, and physically, like Americans did 40 to 50 years ago.

The Ukrainians probably would not agree because they think their country can not better itself, but they are a happy people with hope in their souls. Their maximum wage is $12.00 a month.

Grady gets paid $10.10 for two months for his teaching at the University. His pay at the secondary school might be a meal that is prepared by some of the teachers as an act of thanks. Grady hates to take pay because some teachers have not been paid in months.

A list of some prices: broom - 52 cents, one roll of toilet paper - 28 cents, one gallon of milk - 50 cents, one quart of sour cream - $1.05, two pounds of roast beef - $1.30, 5 oranges - $1.00, milk pail size bucket of potatoes - $2.00, 3 white roses - $1.30, 3 pink roses - $2.00, one loaf of white bread - 18 cents, one loaf of wheat bread - 15 cents, one pound of block butter - $1.10, 3 carrots - 30 cents, 15 minute taxi ride - $2.00, music concert tickets - 33 cents each, train ticket from Sumy to Kiev - $8.00 each.

Grady tries to spend only the money he makes teaching, Ukrainian coupons, for his food.

I had meals with six church families in their homes. The lady who is head of the English Department at the Sumy University invited Grady and I for dinner. Other English teachers and a French teacher were her guests, too.

Most meals consisted of cabbage, carrot dishes, beet salads, bread, sometimes a meat and potato dish, cooked together or separately. The meals were always served in courses: cold food, hot food, then hot tea and dessert. From the time the meal started and the time I left the table, three hours would have gone by.

I was not allowed to help in anyway with the meal, before, during, or after. All people were gracious hosts and very warm. After any meeting, visit or occasion, before leaving, hot tea and a dessert is always served.

Several ladies shared their recipes with me. One lady gave me a cooking lesson with her recipe. We prepared the ingredients together, then she showed me how to cook one piece, then turned the spatula over to me to finish. It was interesting. She speaks no English and I speak no Ukrainian, but our system of communication worked and it was fun.

Maximum wage is $12.00 a month.

Poe's Corner by Charlsie Poe

A secluded wonderland

"This is the forest primeval. The murmuring pines and the hemlocks—" wrote Longfellow many years ago in the famous poem "Evangeline."

I, too, have seen the forest primeval in a different age and a different place. It was the stately live oak, the massive burr oak, and the pecan trees in their native setting on the Head of the River Ranch at Christoval.

This opportunity came about when Anthony Lange, a fellow Historical Commission member, who also belongs to the Native Plant Society of Concho Valley, invited us to their meeting Saturday.

We gathered at the Christoval Service Station and traveled en masse to the River Ranch—established in 1904 by Billy Anson, an Englishman, and now operated by his daughter Edith and her husband Ford Boulware. They reside in San Angelo, but keep an office at the ranch.

Larry Mason, foreman, met us at headquarters to brief us on the history and outline our tour. Because of the rains, which we don't usually have, he said we would only go to two places: South Concho Springs and Cole Creek. The ranch covers 10,000 acres and Anson paid $3.45 an acre when he bought it.

The sedge, a water plant, was thick and heavy by the river bank. We tripped over its wirey strands several times. The springs were clear but a green scum almost covered the water in places. Mason was worried that it might be caused by oilfield pollution.

Roger (Jake) Landers Jr., a retired Range Specialist in the crowd, didn't think he need worry. With a mild winter, it got a better start but he thought it was seasonal and harmless.

A terrace had been built to keep the water from washing the house down the river. I suppose this was after the flood of 1936 that came up to the top of the car hood. It messed up records and papers at the house. All of Anson's American Quarter Horse papers were destroyed.

Anson was heir to an estate in England where polo horses were their main business. After the first World War, animals were scarce. He began to buy horses anywhere he could and ship them to England for $200 each. He is said to have shipped as many as 8,000 animals. A number of them died soon after arrival in England. He learned that the Texas bred animals were the most hardy and survived.

On the way to Cole Creek, we were able to drive part way through hog pasture, which is usually used for goats but there were no animals there at present. Here was the true primeval forest! There had never been any mechanical disturbance of brush here. Some of the dead trees had been covered with Virginia Creeper, a beautiful vine. Someone asked if the dead limbs on the ground were not harmful. Gary Grogen from the SCS office in San Angelo said that the dead limbs act as mulch. They keep the moisture in and are especially good in dry weather.

When Mason mentioned that Bob Holland had worked for Anson, I perked up. "I wrote a story about him for 'Old West' magazine in 1981."

"Yes," he said, "I read it and liked it."

Holland went to work for Anson after World War I. He broke horses for two years. Another job he had was rounding up cattle and doting them for ticks—every 21 days they were put through the vat. Horses had to be dipped too. Lemmon was his boss.

Mr. Anson had been sick and Bob went over every morning to carry wood and put a log on the fire for him. One morning Anson said, "Sit down and talk to me."

"Mr. Anson, Lemmon told me to ride the east pasture and I better get over there," Bob said.

"Aw, Lemmon's not paying you, sit down and talk awhile."

So he sat down and talked to him until after dinner. Finally, he said, "Lemmon will be hunting me, I better go over and report."

Lemmon was there at the house and he said, "Where in the hell have you been?" When Bob told him what had happened he decided not to make anything of it.

We sat in the yard to eat our lunch under some of the largest live oak trees I have ever seen. Someone said that scientists had estimated they could be 800 years old.

Ed Valliant, president of the Concho Valley Chapter, said there were 18 people present.

It was an extremely rewarding trip. Lange said his one regret was the huge forest of burr oak trees could not be visited because of the mud. They attract many birds that are not native to this area.

The marvelous works of nature are food for the soul.

—Montesquieu

THREE TROPHIES, TWO MEDALS, AND THREE RIBBONS were earned by WHS Twirler Rosie Rocha during NBTA state competition at San Marcos on June 17th & 18th. Rosie was named "Third Best Twirler in the State of Texas" in her age/group division.

Rosie Rocha named "Third Best Twirler" in NBTA

Rosie Rocha, the daughter of Janie and Santos Rocha of Winters, was rated "Third Best Twirler in the State of Texas" in the beginner/junior division of "Miss Majorette of Texas" during NBTA state competition June 17th & 18th at San Marcos. The pageant consisted of modeling and interview, solo, and X-strut.

Miss Rocha also received first place ribbons in ratings for beginner solo, X-strut, and basic strut. She received #1 trophies in advanced military and basic strut, a 5th place medal in individual beginner solo, and a 4th place medal in X-strut competing against 23 of the state's best twirlers in her division.

Rosie prepared a twirling solo for school tryouts in May of 1993 and became a twirler her 8th grade year. She began professional lessons June, 1993, at Love Baton Twirling in Abilene.

She started competing in February, 1994, when she attended her first National Baton Twirling Association (NBTA) meet in Haltom City and received enough points to go to Regionals that year in Dallas.

Rosie became a high school twirler during her freshman year (1994). In June of that year, she attended NBTA state competition in Lubbock.

On November 5, 1994, Miss Rocha attended NBTA competition in Dallas and was awarded "Miss Basic Skills" in her division bringing home four #1 trophies in solo, X-strut, basic strut, and military strut.

She attended Regional NBTA competition in Amarillo on March 18-19, 1995, and received #1 trophies in military strut, solo, and X-strut. These results allowed Rosie to attend State.

Miss Rocha, 15, will be a sophomore twirler for Winters High School during the upcoming 1995-1996 year.

Many thanks to Dawn Bryan and Francine Miller for inspiring Rosie during her first try-outs, and to Rozlyn Love who coached her all the way.

Rosie would also like to thank her parents who provided the financing, love, and support needed to become a winner!

Twyla Felty to teach at Wee Care Preschool

The preschool committee of the First United Methodist Church met on Wednesday, June 28, to discuss the upcoming school year. Attending the meeting was Rev. Jeff May, committee chairperson Carmela Polston, and lay persons Nina Hale, J'Lynn Cooper, Margaret Anderson, Kathi Edwards, Saffron Gibbs, and Twyla Felty.

It was announced that Twyla Felty will be the new director and teacher of the Wee Care Preschool. She will be replacing Dawn Green who resigned her position in May 1995 in order to work full-time for the Chamber of Commerce.

Also at the meeting, the calendar for the new school year was discussed. The one time supply fee of $20.00 and monthly tuition of $25.00 were agreed upon, and a curriculum outline for the school year was presented.

The Wee Care curriculum will include monthly themes such as "God Made Me" and "My Family" incorporated into activities, songs, and games. The curriculum also includes exposure to the academic basics of letters and sounds, numbers and counting, nursery rhymes, colors, and shapes. Wee Care classes will continue to be on Mondays and Thursdays from 9:00 a.m. to 12:00 p.m. and will follow all public school holidays.

Twyla Felty, who has a Bachelor's of Science in Elementary Education and a specialization in Kindergarten, will begin teaching at Wee Care when classes begin on Monday, August 21.

For further information or registration forms for Wee Care Preschool, call the church office (754-5213) or Twyla Felty (754-4459).

Hunter education course begins July 10 in San Angelo

With the summer doldrums upon one, thoughts of brisk mornings and fall hunting may be the last thing on many Texas sportmen's minds. And, while hunting seasons are still a couple of months away, now is the perfect time to take a hunter education course offered by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.
 Every Texas hunter born on or after Sept. 2, 1971, must meet requirements for hunter education training. If you were born on or after Sept. 2, 1971 and you are:
 * 17 years old and older - you must successfully complete a hunter education course.
 * 12-16 years old - you must successfully complete a hunter education course or be accompanied by a licensed hunter 17 or older.
 * under 12 years old - you must be accompanied by a licensed hunter 17 or older.
 Participants must be at least 12 years old to take the course.
 The course, which costs $5, begins in San Angelo on July 10 and again on August 19. Robert Minton will be the instructor. Call (915) 655-6963 to pre-register.

Coleman Rodeo hosts night performances July 13, 14, & 15

Coleman's 58th Annual PRC A Rodeo hosts night performances only at 8:00 p.m. Thursday through Saturday, July 13, 14, and 15.

The Coleman Rodeo Association owns 33 acres of land that adjoins the city limits of Coleman on the south. This land and facilities are used for the Rodeo, Livestock Show, and other related events. This is one of the finest outdoor facilities in the Southwest. It seats 6,000 people and has free parking adjoining the dust-free arena.

The Coleman Rodeo is strictly professional and always has been. This means that it is approved by the Professional Cowboys Association and the Women's Professional Rodeo Association. This insures that some of the top cowboys and cowgirls in the nation will be competing in the Coleman Rodeo for some $5,600.00 added prize money.

The queen for the 1995 Rodeo is Traci Hipp, daughter of Barbara and Tommy Hipp.

Stock will be furnished by the Don Gay All-Star Rodeo of Mesquite, Texas, owned by Mr. Don Gay. Don Gay is an eight times World Champion Bull Rider and a member of the Pro Rodeo Hall of Champions. Several of Don's horses and bulls were selected to the 1990 National Finals in Las Vegas.

Charlie Throckmorton of Grandview, Texas, will serve as rodeo announcer this year. Music will be provided by Donnie Neff of Santa Anna, Texas.

The bullfighters for the 1995 Rodeo are Gary Hedeman and Barry Hankins. Quail Dobs will serve as barrelman, and he will also perform specialty acts.

The rodeo events this year are Bareback and Saddle Bronc Riding, Calf Roping, Steer Wrestling, Girls' Barrel Racing, and Bull Riding. The Kids Goat Scramble will be held each night also.

The Rodeo Dance will be held at the Rodeo Dance Pavilion each night starting at 9:00 p.m. Sonny Burgess Band of Cleburne will provide the music this year.

The parade will be held on Saturday, July 15, at 5:00 p.m. It will feature floats, out-of-town sheriff's posses, and local riders.

A barbecue sponsored by the Coleman High School cheerleaders will be held at the Breeder-Feeder building at the rodeo grounds on Saturday night, July 15, from 6:00-8:00 p.m.

Slack events have been set for Friday morning, July 14, at 8 a.m. Tickets will be half-price for the rodeo only on Thursday, July 13.

Runnels-Tom Green Counties

General Situation—More rain fell in Tom Green County this week and cooled things off for a day or two. Beet armyworms and Loopers continue to be found throughout the Concho Valley. The heaviest infestations are still in the Wall, Vancourt, and Veribest areas. There has also been beet armyworm infestations found in Runnels County this week.

There has been a number of insecticides used the past week to 10 days with varying results. Larvin® alone looks good, Dipel® plus Dimilan® looks good, and Zentari® plus Larvin® looks good. Dimilan® by itself seems to be working well on beet armyworms, but is not working well on controlling loopers.

Cotton Fleahoppers—Much of the cotton in Tom Green County and some in southern Runnels County will be squaring within the next 5-7 days. Cotton fleahopper numbers have been high in most fields.

Cotton fleahoppers are most damaging during the first three weeks of squaring, so scout closely for fleahoppers and monitor square sets closely. Producers should try to keep square sets in the 80-90% range during the first two weeks of squaring and 75-80% during the 3rd and 4th weeks of squaring.

Boll Weevils—Boll weevil pheromone traps have declined this week. There was a 56% reduction in weevil numbers this week when compared to the same week last year. These trap numbers look positive and hopefully, they will continue to drop off significantly.

Beet Armyworms—Beet armyworms (BAW) and loopers in seedling cotton have all of us scratching our heads on what to do.

Many fields which were averaging 30% infested plants last week are much lower this week. The damage can be seen in these fields, but the worms cannot be found. This indicates natural mortality is occurring to some degree.

Some individuals are telling producers that these worms are nocturnal and only feed at night. They say the worms bury up in the soil during the day and that is why you can't find them. That's a bunch of bull... BAW and loopers do feed during the day and do not bury up in the soil. I wish they would bury up in the soil during

Keeping an eye on Texas

Emergency rabies quarantine

Since January, Texas has been under an emergency rabies quarantine because of the high incidence of rabies cases—329 reported through April. Dogs and cats over three months that have not been vaccinated within the last 12 months are barred from transport within or out of Texas by law enforced by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Number of rabies cases reported in the top 20 counties Jan.—Apr. '95

In 1994, there were 53 cases of rabies in dogs and 27 in cats. Both domestic animals ranked behind foxes (144), bats (94), skunks (78), coyotes (77) and raccoons (64).
