Independent Bankshares, Inc., to acquire Peoples Nat'l. Bank

Independent Bankshares, Inc., a bank holding company headquartered in Abilene, has announced that First State Bank, N.A., Abilene, is acquiring Peoples National Bank of Win-

The merger of the Winters and Abilene banks will leave a single bank in Winters. First State already has a branch facility here, acquired when it bought Winters State Bank in 1993.

First State will acquire 100% of the outstanding shares of the common shares of Peoples National Bank in a cash transaction. Officials expect the deal to be complete at the end of 1995 or N.A., Abilene, and Peoples Naearly 1996.

Peoples National Bank was regulatory approvals. established in 1984. In March, 1995, a legal notice was published for "Change in Bank Control" naming Gilbert R. Minzenmayer of Winters as acquiring "a controlling interest in Peoples National Bank."

On June 30, 1995, Peoples National Bank had $7,764,000 in total assets; $3,516,000 in total loans, net of unearned income, $6,857,000 in total deposits and stockholders' equity of $665,000.

Consummation of the acquisition is subject to approval by the shareholders of First State Bank, tional Bank, as well as various

If approved, Peoples National Bank would be merged into the Winters branch of First State Bank. By combining the two locations in Winters, Independent Bankshares, Inc., anticipates that it will be able to "achieve economies of scale in various areas," according to Bryan Stephenson of First State Bank, N.A., Abilene.

Peoples National Bank presently employees seven officers and staff members. Mr. Stephenson was unavailable for comment on plans for staffing.

Independent Bankshares, Inc., currently owns two banks with six full-service banking offices in its West Texas market area.

Rattlesnake has short-lived visit in third grade class

by Jean Boles

Show-and-Tell usually provides some unexpected surprises at school. In the case of Mrs. Ahrens' third grade classroom, Tuesday morning proved to be more of a Hide-and-Seek situation when the teacher discovered a live rattlesnake on the bottom shelf of a bookcase about 10 a.m.

With all the poise and patience of an experienced animal trainer (and teacher of young children), Mary Beth Ahrens calmly asked her class to take a quick break from their reading assignment and go for a walk. Although a bit surprised at the unexpected treat, the students happily complied with their teacher's request and filed out of the classroom in an orderly fashion.

Mrs. Ahrens summoned principal Terry Wyatt and a maintenance worker. But the "cavalry"

Showing some signs of early season jitters and lack of actual game time, both teams traded punts for the first quarter. Winters threatened to score by getting to the 8 yard line but came up short for the score. The first quarter ended with neither team scoring.

With 7:39 left in the second quarter, an 8-yard pass from John Belew to John Biddix provided the Blizzards with their first score. Jason Carrillo's PAT put the Big Blue ahead 7-0.

Roscoe threatened at the end of the first half by getting to the 4yard line with 55 seconds left. The Roscoe quarterback rolled around the left end, was hit hard by the Blizzard defender, turned a flip and fumbled. Biddix recovered at the 9 for Winters to stop

Less obvious are the implications of the overall mood of those kers, and investment counselors with capital regarding oil patch activities.

In the early 1980's, the potential investor saw overwhelming opportunity for massive profit in the oil patch. This was based on infinitely rising prices and all-out drilling and development. (Sorry to say, it didn't pan out that way.)

Terms for deals were up to those selling the deal. The investor took what he or she could get just to be in on the hottest investment vehicle around. Huge overrides, big carries, and overpriced AFE's were the rule. But, no one cared because the oil business was going to be so profitable, the small concessions given in an onerous investor's agreement were Coleman County chicken feed.

In the 1980's, the oil patch was where no one with capital wanted to be. Dropping prices, terrible prospects, and utter despair characterized the industry. Who would want to put their BWPD (perfs 1035-40) and is loc. 3100 money into that?

Today I would write about time. It seems like I'm always running out of it. There doesn't seem to be enough of it to go around. I am pressed for time. I find myself trying to squeeze too many things into too little time.

It's not only a problem for me. There are few people I know who have ordered their lives so that they seem to always have time. It used to be that that's what grandpas and grandmas had lots of. They had time for their grandchildren. They could put down what they were doing, pick up the grandchild, and listen. I'm not so sure that's true anymore.

I do remember one time this summer when I babysat my grandson Timothy for 3 hours. Without any outside help — but God. Timothy is 15-months-old. We had a wonderful time. He can only say a few words, and mostly he just points and makes funny sounds as he is pointing. So we didn't talk a lot. But I took the time to let him enter into my life. I pushed all the things I had to do out of my mind, and just let him in. At first it wasn't easy. But, as time went on, I found myself and my life fully filled by his presence. It was a wonderful time. Full of wonder, as I discovered again the real life of a little child.

So seldom does it happen. Taking time is hard. For most folks who live in the city it is a rat race. And it's too bad. When people are still drugged with sleep at dawn; when they switch on their televisions and radios as soon as they get up and start drinking coffee; when the lights are on, the traffic is roaring, and television and radio continue to boom away throughout the night, then the sacred thread linking human beings to the order of creation gets more and more frayed until it snaps altogether. They are no longer connected to the security given to Noah (and us) by God when He said, "As long as the earth endures, seed time what a wild message she had for and harvest, cold and heat, summer and winter, day and night, shall not him. cease." They don't know the stillness of the time before dawn, or the mood set by the sun setting. Life becomes immersed in a whirl of hurry, and truly becomes chaotic.

It even happens in small towns. Primarily because of television and radio. We start to set our lives and the time of our lives by the schedules of the media. We forfeit our connections with creation for a bumpy ride with the boob tube.

How do we find a principle which is capable to produce order in even the most chaotic life? I found one the other day. It comes from a man, a German, who lived in the 14th century. His name was Meister Eckhardt. He said, "Wisdom consists of doing the next thing you have to do, doing it with your whole heart, and finding delight in doing it."

It's what happened when I baby sat Timothy — which is probably why I remember so well that time. That principle, when practiced, will shape and order your life from within in a quiet, simple, and unmistak-

It is kind of like seeking first the Kingdom of God. Order in my life and time to do it is a real possibility. Thank God.

Winters Squares dance and offer lessons Tuesdays

The Winters Squares returned for a new season of dancing, food, and fellowship. The group met on Tuesday, Sept. 5, at 6 p.m. for a pot luck dinner at the Winters Community Center. They danced from 7 to 9 p.m.

The new officers for this year are: Jack and Margaret Burton, president; Fred and Brenda Watkins, vice-president; Judy Cooke, treasurer; and Frances Bredemeyer, reporter. The Social Committee consists of: Cees and Jim Reeves, Pat Fenter, Ann Baldwin, and J.C. Wilkerson. Tracey Dowell from McCaulley is the caller.

Lessons for new students will start on Tuesday, Sept. 12, at the Winters Community Center, starting at 7 p.m. The first three lessons are free so you can come and try square dancing. The cost of 20 lessons are $100 for a couple or $50 for a singleton, payable in two installments.

Come join in the fun!

They article copied from the Christoval newspaper and sent by Edith Boulware, his daughter.

This came about after I wrote the story July 6 concerning our visit to the Head-of-the-River Ranch at Christoval, belonging to Billy Anson William Anson, seventh son of the second Earl of Lichfield, was born at Shugborough, Staffordshire, England in 1872.

Mr. Anson came to the United States to join two older brothers: The Honorable Claud, born 1864, the fifth son; The Honorable Frank, born 1867, the sixth son, who had bought and settled on the Jim Ned Ranch near Coleman. Claud later bought the Kickapoo Ranch in Tom Green County. Frank bought the Jim Ned Ranch and Billy bought a ranch at Valera.

During the Boer War, Frank and Billy bought and supplied the English forces in South Africa with about 20,000 horses. They obtained this contract through the influence of their uncle, the Marquis of Lansdowne, who was at the time Secretary of State for War for Great Britain.

To select these horses, Anson examined over 100,000 horses throughout Texas and the neighboring states.

It was at this time Billy became convinced that many of the sturdy horses with fine dispositions, great endurance, and capable of great only sister. bursts of speed, were descendants of the quarter horse of Colonial Virginia and the Carolinas. They seemed to breed true, and Anson acquired a nucleus of breeding stock, which he developed as quar-

By 1917, Anson had become an American citizen and was serving as a Captain in the U.S. Army. He and Louise devoe Van Wagenen of New York City were married in June of 1917. She was an accomplished violinist and the only American in Cyril Maude's English Dramatic Company. They were living in London in 1926 when Billy died.

Their daughter Edith was born in December, 1921. She married Lieutenant (later Captain) A. Ryland Howard II, a lawyer from tain Howard was a pilot of an artillery observation plane in the 90th Division and was killed in November, 1944.

In April, 1947, Mrs. Howard married Lieutenant Colonel Ford Boulware of San Angelo and Utah.

When it was time for Edith to have a Governess, Mrs. Anson engaged a young Frenchwoman named Louise Ribourdhouille.

Directions to Cisco Field

Football fans traveling to Cisco in support of the Winters teams may find the following information useful.

These directions begin just outside of Cisco.

From the west overpass of Interstate 20, you may take North U.S. Highway 80. Highway 80 will run into Liggett Street.

You should turn right onto Liggett; go approximately two blocks, then turn left onto Front Street.

The football field is located west of Front Street between Second and Third Streets. (You will drive about 5 blocks before coming to Third Street.)

As a final reminder, of course, if all else fails: Look for the high stadium lights.

Winters wins and drops in state rankings, hmm? Although the Blizzards beat state-ranked Roscoe last Friday. the Winters squad dropped from No. 6 in The Associated Press preseason poll to No. 8. Go figure.

The Abilene Reporter-News gave honorable mention to two Blizzard players — Winters quarterback John Belew who completed 16 of 24 passes for 177 yards and three touchdowns, all to John Biddix who caught 10 passes for 131 yards.

The San Angelo Standard-Times named three Winters players to their honor roll - John Belew, John Biddix and Justin Mitchell. Mitchell, a linebacker, had an interception and a fumble recovery and was in on eight tack-

Blizzard JV wins season opener 14-0 over Roscoe

The Blizzard junior varsity captured their first win of the season with a victory over the Roscoe Plowboys 14-0 last Thursday evening.

Coach Chris Wilde, in his second year at Winters, was quick to praise his Blizzard defense.

"Our defense was definitely the key to the game," said Wilde. Roscoe never had the ball in side the Blizzard 50. The Blizzard scoring came on a 2-yard run in the first quarter by quarterback Justin Minzenmeyer and again in the fourth quarter with an impressive 25-yard run by Lee Woffenden. Michael

"Offensively, we did some things right, but there's still a lot of room for improvement. Our offensive line did a good job," added Wilde.

Prewit provided both PAT kicks

Justin Minzenmeyer sustained a deep thigh bruise and will be out this week. Kenny Whittenburg will step in as starting quarterback for the JV squad as they meet the Lobos of Cisco. Kickoff is Thursday at 5:00 p.m. in Blizzard stadium.

Notice: JV vs. Cisco has been changed to 5:00 p.m. Thursday at Blizzard Stadium.

Student Council News

The Winters Student Council met on September 5. The officers for the 95-96 year are: Rachel Edwards, president; Janabeth Bryan, vice-president; Marcie Pritchard, secretary; Zane Crouch, historian. The council consists of 32 active members.

The main theme chosen for this year is "State Bound". This theme will reflect in all areas of the school and our activities. The Council has decided to be very active and earn awards at the state convention in April. Meetings will be held every Monday at 6:00 p.m. during September and October.

Plans for homecoming events were the number one topic at the meeting. The group will sponsor "Dance Lessons" on September 16 at the Activity Building, 8:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m.

To help promote the upcoming "homecoming week", we will have a dance on Saturday, September 30. The theme for the dance will be "REV UP FOR HOME-COMING". The dance will be held for high school students and

Members at homecoming hear story of first born resident of Drasco

The 36th Drasco Community help, but the wife begged her hus- Sanders for milk. Reunion was held at the Drasco band to not leave her and to send Baptist Church on Labor Day, September 4, 1995, with 46 attending the celebration.

M.L. Dobbins, president, and Annie D. West welcomed those present, meeting for the first time in the Drasco Church since its beginning in 1959.

Instead of a devotional by Rev. Merriel Abbott, who became ill previous to the meeting, the president gave those present an opportunity to express their thoughts or memories of being raised in the community. Many spoke with pride of their teachers in the Drasco school and church and of their lifelong friends with whom they grew up.

In the business session, members voted to meet again in the Drasco Baptist Church on Labor Day, September 2, 1996.

The same officers were elected for 1996 and are: President-M.L. Dobbins, Vice President-George Yates, and Secretary-Treasurer -Odessa Dobbins.

The secretary read the minutes and treasurer's report of the last meeting held in the Winters Community Center. She also gave the following article about the first child born in Drasco which was read by Mrs. P.L. Lail when the meeting was held in 1968:

"There was a clap of thunder and a summer rain storm approaching over a ranch in northern Runnels County, Texas. In a dug-out and partially log house, lay a young mother expecting the stork any moment in the home of Calvin J. Sandell and his family.

"The father saddled his horse to ride to a neighbor's house for her 11-year-old son over to Mrs. Lewallen's to come at once. The mid-wife arrived and soon a wailing cry of a young babe had been heard. He was born June 17, 1894, and was named Buna Sandell.

"This birth was the first child known to be born near the crossroads of Drasco, located on the northwest corner of the 320-acre the family." ranch southeast of Drasco.

land for $320 or $1 an acre. He dug 5-6 wells trying to locate water, but none was found. Mr. Sandell had to haul water for his stock from the Sander's ranch 2-1/2 miles, but the water was too salty for human consumption and was used for livestock.

"The Sandell family had their older son, Pleny, to ride 8 miles to Winters to bring groceries home for the family.

saddle horse that could run with great speed. Pleny tells of seeing the Pucket boy rope an antelope while riding on his fast horse and Pleny climbed up a tree when the antelope bellowed so loudly. Feeling safe there, he was able to watch the men butcher the animal to be eaten by several neighbors.

"Having no refrigerators, one Reid; beef was butchered a week, hung in smokehouses or a fire was built under meat letting smoke penetrate each piece. Each family would take enough according to the size of the family.

"There was a terrible drought in 1887 and '88 and Mrs. Sandell rubbed cane seed out on a rub board, then traded seed to the

"The children of the Sandells were very helpful in gathering everything available to burn, such as buffalo bones and cow chips, as they did not have cook stoves and meals were cooked over an open fire.

"Mrs. Sandell told her children that by selling cane seed, she was able to save the lives of the rest of Nearly everyone in the Crews community attended the Indian Mound Cowboy Camp Meeting and enjoyed the food, fellowship, singing, and hearing Glenn Smith preach about Jesus in an uncompromising but unique style. A crowd of more than 200 people had to make a quick move from the pasture to the Crews gym due to a little rain-but we had all been hoping for "good weather" which means rain around here.

Visitors came from as far as Midland and Dallas. Dennis said that nearly everyone is asking, "Are we going to do this again next year?" He says, "We hope so, but let us catch our breath

Dennis and Audine McBeth and Wendell and Jeanna Lee were the hosts and want to thank everyone who pitched in and helped make this a successful event.

Fall armyworms may halt small grain planting; wait until frost

Producers who habitually plant small grain (wheat, oats, barley) during late August and September for fall grazing are urged to wait until the first killing frost.

"The beet armyworms we've had so much trouble with in cotton this season are being joined by fall armyworms from haygrazer, late-planted sorghum, and other iar pest to small grain operators, crops to make early small grain though it usually occurs when the planting a risky business," said Dr. Tom Fuchs, San Angelo-based State Extension Integrated Pest Management Coordinator. "I'm not telling people when they can or can't plant; I'm just saying if they do plant early, the price they'll likely pay will be worm damage. Every field may not be affected but the probability is high."

Fuchs said producers should check any volunteer grain in their recommended for beet armyarea for worm infestation before deciding to plant. Those who are planning to proceed should weigh the benefits of early grazing versus the cost of one or two pesticide applications.

CEUs offered for private loss or with foliage loss on older applicators

Do you lack some Continuing Education Units for recertification of your Private Applicators License? You are probably as tired of hearing about these hours as I am trying to make them available.

However, it's the law and there isn't much either of us can do about it. The positive side of the program is that agricultural producers need periodic education on the safe use of chemicals to protect themselves, their families, the environment, and the general public. Without a private applicator certificate or license, the restricted use pesticides cannot be legally purchased or used. As you probably know, agricultural producers who obtained private applicators certificates prior to January 10, 1989, must complete 15 hours of CEU's before December 31, 1995, to obtain renewal of their certificates. This includes all certificate holders whose certificate numbers are 158,532 or less.

If you get the required 15 hours before the end of the year, your certificate will be renewed for another five (5) years. However, if you have workers under your supervision, this certificate is not legal. Those supervising workers using a restricted-use pesticide must receive training, pass a test, and pay the Texas Department of Agriculture $50.00 for a Private Applicators License. Notice this is called a license and the document received prior to December 10, 1989, is a certificate. The certificate is legal for producers not supervising workers.

The County Agent's Office now has a video tape available for home study that you can view at your home. Viewing the video and completing the paper work will give producers 5 hours of credit. If you have need of this tape, please contact the County Agents Office at (915)365-2219.

4-H Club hears how planned theme can make meals more fun

The Winters 4-H Club met on August 23 at the Catholic Hall with Deb Pritchard giving a program entitled "Cooking With A Theme." The main idea was how to present and display a snack or meal. Deb pointed out that having a theme for a meal or party would make it more fun and interesting. The theme she displayed was "West Texas Fair Time" with refreshements being served by Wacy Cason, Kelli and Guy Slimp, Jana Jackson, and Chad Walters.

Four-H members attending the Wildlife Camp were: Wacey Casin, John Heathcott, Craig Jacob, Robby Heathcott, and Brian and Aaron Pritchard. Barbara Heathcott attended as an adult leader. Aaron is to be congratulated for his first place award for "Outstanding Achievement." The Dog Dip, held Sept. 2, was a success raising over $150. Winters 4-H members would like to thank Alderman-Cave for furnishing needed supplies and the adult leaders for volunteering their time. The support of the community is also greatly appreciated.

Amy Heathcott, John Heathcott, and Jana Jackson recently exhibited lambs at the West Texas Fair and represented Winters 4-H. They should, too, be commended.

Good luck to those exhibiting projects in the remainder of the Fair.

Challenges for women in farm life

The week of September 17-23 is a special week set aside as National Farm Safety and Health Week. Accidents are a major cause of death and injury among agricultural workers and regretfully many could be prevented. Take time during this week to realize how final and devastating a farm accident could be for your family. Even farm wives are prime targets for farm accidents. Statistics show that women involved in agricultural work may be at an increase risk for certain types of accidents. While men are involved in more tractor rollovers, women are at a higher risk of being run over by tractors and other farm machinery, according to preliminary data from the National Safety at all times. Larger farm animals Council. Farm and ranch experts such as bulls and horses may panic say that women often assist their or become aggressive and inflict spouses by helping hitch equipment to tractors. This activity may expose them to injury or death.

Another area of increase risk for women is working with farm animals and livestock. Preliminary date from farm states shows women often tend livestock while men work with farm tractors and other machinery. As a result, women may suffer disabling injuries from farm animals. In order to prevent accidents, the National Saftey Council reminds women who participate in farm chores to take preventive measures such as the ones offered here:

 Wear clothing and safety gear that is appropriate for the tasks or chores at hand. Boots and shoes should be fully laced and loose clothing tucked in to prevent power take-off and equipment entanglements.

 Keep your hair tucked under head gear or tied up when working around wrap points such as power take-offs.

 Be extremely careful when helping to hitch implements to tractors. Do not get caught in a tight location between a tractor and other farm machinery. Learn the common hand signals associated with safe hitching procedures.

 Always face unpredictable livestock so you can watch them serious injury. Swine, especially sows with young pigs, can be very protective of their young and may injure a person when aggravated.

· Do not go along as an "extrarider" on a farm tractor. Bumpy, uneven ground, quick turns, and excessive speed may increase your risk of falling and being run over by the tractor or trailing equip-

· Remember that there is always a tomorrow if you work safely today. Settle for nothing less than strict adherence to safety precautions by all family mem-
