Blizzards ambush the Indians 52-6 Big game against Stanton Friday

Winters Blizzards last Friday as they steamrolled over the Jim Ned Indians. Winters scored by passdefense caused miscues and held the Indian offense in check.

The Blizzards received the ters 14, Jim Ned 0. opening kickoff and scored on a pass and 15 running plays, the paved the way for four different ball carriers.

Dennis Conner was a big play to keep the drive going. Quarterback John Belew ran the ball for the touchdown from the one-foot line. Jonathan Cobb kicked the extra half. point to make the score Winters 7, Jim Ned 0.

Everything went right for the zards started their next possession on the Indian 23-yard line.

It took only one play for Winters to score again as John Belew ing, running and kicking as the passed to Mark Deike for the touchdown. The kick was good and the quarter ended with Win-

In the second quarter, the Bliz-16-play, 68-yard drive that took 8 zards scored twice, late. With a minutes off the clock. With one second and 15 Winters called time out and the next play Belew was offensive line of James Andrae, sacked, bringing up third and 23 Steven Cross, Kevin Conner, Luke from the Jim Ned 28-yard line. Marshall Scates took the ball over for the score. Cobb's kick was good and Winters had a commanding 21 point lead with 3:34 left in the

With 1:49 to go in the half, the Blizzards took over on the Indian Jim Ned was forced to punt 44. Running seven plays in their after only three plays. The punter two minute offense, the Blizzards fumbled the snap and the Bliz-scored with 59 seconds to go on a screen to Jerry Esquivel. Belew faked the extra point kick and ran it in for two points.

At halftime, the Big Blue was ahead 29 to zip. Jim Ned received the second half kickoff and again had to punt after three plays. Kevin Conner showed the Indians that the Blizzards were not going to slack off. Conner blocked the punt and recovered the ball on the Jim Ned six-yard line. Arnold Silva ran it in from there. Cobb's kick was good and the lead was extended to 36 to 0.

Sounding like a broken record, the Indians just never could get anything going against the Big Blue defense and had to punt again after three plays. Winters took over on the Jim Ned 38 and Jerry Esquivel carried the ball 32 yards in to plays. Scates made the six yard scoring run and Cobb added the extra point for a 43-0 lead.

Scouts Annual Food Drive this Saturday

The Scouts Annual Food Drive to benefit the Winters Food Pantry will be conducted Saturday, November 4, between 9 and 11:30 a.m. Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts of all age levels will combine efforts to canvass the town asking for donations of canned food items.

Anyone planning to be away from home during that time may leave a donation in a sack by the door and the scouts will pick it

Commodities will not be distributed in Nov.

Central Texas Opportunities, Inc. will not distribute USDA Commodities at the Winters Multi-Purpose Center as regularly scheduled for the month of November.

A lack of federal funding has caused the program to be cut, at least temporarily. Director Alice Hale has stated that this is the first time since her employment of 9 years that commodities will not be distrib-

At this time, it is not known if distribution will be made in December or at any later dates.

the conclusion to the latest "Oil Patch Basics."

Recompletion of wells involves the change in productive interval in a well to increase production or lengthen the life of the well. The new zone may be up the hole, down the hole, or even in the same formation of the current completion.

The idea is to recomplete the well in a zone with pressure and productivity that is near the values for an untouched reservoir. In fact, a good recompletion can be as productive as a new well only for about one-fourth of the cost or

The targeted recompletion zone is one identified by logging, similar offsetting properties, or from some other evidence that the zone might be productive.

If the target zone is above the current completion, then the well is plugged back.

A plug back is accomplished by running a bridge plug (a type of tool that seals off the casing) into the well and setting between the target zone and current zone. The current perforations usually must be squeezed (cement pumped into any leakage.

If the zone is deeper than the current zone, the well is deepened by running a bit (smaller than the existing casing) down to the bottom of the well and drilling until a depth below the target zone is reached. The current perforations must also be squeezed, and the cement left inside the casing must be drilled through to get to the deeper target.

Once the well is readied for perforation in the new zone, it is much like a new well's completion. There are a a few more limitations because of the existing wellbore, but the perforations are added just as in a new well and stimulation is added as needed.

If the zone is of sufficient productivity, then the well is put on production. If not, another zone might be targeted.

Thank you for sticking with me on this two-week episode. Next time, we say goodbye to a depleted well.

Yesterday I received a book. It is a gift. Not all books, even if they are given to you, are a gift. This one is. The title of it is "Grass Roots." The sub-title is "The Universe Of Home." It stirs up stuff from deep in my well. That's why it is a gift. The stuff it stirs up is good stuff.

Like the first essay, which is entitled "Home Is A Place In Time." He writes, "A home, like a garden, exists as much in time as in space. A home is the place in the present where one's past and one's future come together, the crossroads between history and heaven. I learned this truth the day we buried my mother." Zingo! Home became that crossroads for me the day we buried my father! Revelation of reality. For sure it does happen. At least to some of us.

He writes about how after the funeral, he (his name is Paul Gruchow - he's a farmer and a professor of English at my alma mater, St. Olaf College in Northfield, Minnesota) and his two sisters sat in the farmhouse for one last time. They had meant to see the household goods. But, the first things they saw were the photograph albums.

Zingo, again. That's what we did. And they, like my brothers and me, sat and looked at the pictures and talked until the day died.

"Do you remember?" That's the line. The line of liturgy. The line of worship. When the past comes into the present and propels us into the future. Like when we recite the 23rd Psalm in church, responsively. "Do you remember?" is like reading the Bible, the Holy Book, full of the stories of the people of God way back when. "Do you remember" is the line that stirs up our souls, getting the good stuff up from depths of our past. From the well.

"Do your remember when Mother turned toward the back seat of the car and said, 'Where's your sister?' and Paul said, "Oh, she fell out a long time ago,' and, she had?"

"Do you remember the day Mother told the neighbor she couldn't go to the Women's Christian Temperance Union meeting because her wine was ready for bottling?"

"Do you remember the day Kathy fell through the outhouse hole?" "Do you remember the time we floated a pound of butter in Mother's hot laundry starch?"

Do you remember?

"The stories tumbled as if out of an overstuffed closet. Sometimes we had three of them going at once. We laughed until we ached. I remember it as one of the happiest days of my life. I think I was never more exactly at home, more tenaciously alive, than that afternoon, when old joy and new sorrow and present love reverberated together inside me.'

What a gift. Only a few pages read, and my cup is overflowing. His remembrances stir up mine. And, as I share it with you, hopefully they will stir up yours. As the author says, "To tell what we remember, and to keep on telling it, is to keep the past alive in the present." It's how we inhabit a place. To inhabit a place means to have made it a habit. We own places not because we have the deeds to them, but because, in some very real and mysterious way, they have entered into us. What is strange to us - unfamiliar - can never be home.

I'm so glad for this gift. I will share more of it with you from time to time. It's good for my soul, and, hopefully, good for yours. Makes us feel at home, us grass roots people.

VOLUNTEER FIRE DEPARTMENT is the proud owner of these beautiful wooden discs. Robert Cook (right) cut and prepared the boards. Twyla Felty (left) painted the designs — one bearing symbols of fire fighting equipment and the other depicting two firemen fighting a "fire dragon". The discs are now on display at the new fire station on Main street.

Prescription drug program begins for Legionnaires

The National Executive Committee of the American Legion approved a new discount prescription drug program to benefit Legion members, SAL members, and their dependants. The program has been tested in Texas and was fully implemented October 1, 1995.

The program is very simple. The member takes his or her prescription to a participating network pharmacy and shows his or her membership card. The pharmacist will compare the current price for that prescription with the discounted price offered by RxAmerica, the processor of this program. The lesser of the two prices will be sent back to the pharmacist and charged to the member.

If members have not received information concerning this program, or have questions, they can contact Rx America at 1-800-905-

WVFD Auxiliary establishes college scholarship fund

The Winters Firemen's Auxiliary established a scholarship fund during their monthly meeting in the home of Jack and Teresa Davis. Hostesses were Trish Jackson, Tonya Grenwelge, and Teresa Davis. Each member brought their favorite salad or casserole for all to enjoy.

The Auxiliary discussed and approved the idea of sponsoring a scholarship for a deserving senior each year. Seniors from Winters High School and Caps High School will be eligible for the scholarship. Information concerning the scholarship may be obtained from the high school counselor at a later date.

The Auxiliary would like to thank the community for attending their fajita supper last Friday night.

The next meeting will be November 11.

Members present were Christy Lindley, Vera Jacskon, Mildred Doty, Trish Jackson, Oleta Webb, Tonya Grenwelge, Rhonda Cooke, Misty Doty, Diane Whittenberg, Mona Lange, Dawn Green, Yolanda Bridgeman, and Teresa Davis.

Parks & Wildlife Commission may increase fees

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission is expected to address proposed license, boat registration, and state park entrance fee increases at its public meeting in Austin on Thursday, Nov. 2.

The public meeting was scheduled to begin at 9 a.m. in the Commission Hearing Room at Texas Parks and Wildlife Department headquarters in Austin.

If approved, entrance fee increases at some state parks, boat registration, and titling increases could be implemented as early as January, 1996, while any changes in hunting and fishing licenses would not take effect until September 1, 1996.

B-2-BAD FOR STANTON is the call from coaches Jeff Butts and Robin Byrd as they man the bingo game during the Halloween carnival sponsored by the Blizzard Booster Club.

7th grade earns heart-stopping 14-12 win over Jim Ned Indians

by Coach Biff White

It could have been the Halloween atmosphere or the two week layoff but the 7th grade Breezes didn't play well in the first half. We were down 12-0 and it was getting worse before halftime finally came.

In the end zone I told the boys, "You have been practicing too hard to play this bad and it's time line. to re-focus. Get it going!!"

began and all of a sudden we were tackling, blocking and running better.

Our first big break came when Chris Yanez picked up a fumble caused by Jessica DelaRosa and returned it to the 10-yard line. Two plays later Colby Walker favor with 1:42 on the clock. dived over from the 5 and then kicked the extra point to make the score 12-7 in favor of Jim Ned.

Now it was time for the defense to rise up and stop the Indians. After 4 and out, the Breezes took over with 3:36 to go in the game. The offense moved the ball for two first downs but stalled with a 4th and 3 on their 45-yard

I was really pleased to hear Ding. Ding. The third quarter several boys saying, "I can do it; give me the ball."

So we decided on the reverse and with good blocking Andrew Medina led Eric Cortez around the left end for a touchdown. Walker kicked the extra point and the score was now 14-12 in our Did anybody see that black cat that crossed Jim Ned's team?

On the kickoff Thomas Esquivel made a touchdown-saving tackle on the 45. The next play Colby Walker made a TD-saving tackle on our 10-yard line.

Then Samson Jackson, Adrian Rodriquez and Aaron Pritchard teamed up to stop the Jim Ned quarterback three yards shy of a touchdown.

With only 45 ticks left in the game, Jim Ned ran a sweep left but Chris Yanez knifed in and stripped the ball. Walker fell on it and everybody took a deep sigh of Winters 8th grade Breezes lost then zipped by Winters with a 30a tough one last Thursday to Jim Ned 14-7.

The Breezes got on the scoreboard first with a 7-yard run by Wesley Calcote in the first quarter. The PAT kick by chris Lujano was good and Winters took the lead 7-0.

But the tables turned in the last three minutes of the ballgame as followed by a 2-point conversion, contest.

yard touchdown score. The extra point effort failed but the clock ran out with the Indians ahead.

Coach Chad Russell said, "This was a tough loss. We played really well defensively throughout the game but struggled most of the night with our offense. We had some opportunities to score and just couldn't get it across."

JV team loses 23-18 to Jim Ned

The Blizzard JV squad fell short 23-18 in their contest with the Jim Ned Indians last Thursday night in Tuscola.

The Blizzards scored in the first quarter on a 15-yard touchdown pass from Justin Minzenmayer to Kenny Whittenburg. The PAT failed.

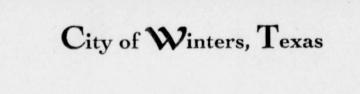

The second Winters score came in the third quarter when Leo Uresti hit the end zone on a 2-yard run. The two-point try failed.

A nice 67 yard connection in the fourth quarter from Kenny Whittenburg to Lee Woffendon gave the Blizzards their third touchdown.

"Jim Ned did things offensively that really hut us, and we weren't able to adjust" said Coach Chris Wilde. "At times we played good football, but we also made too many mistakes to beat a good team like Jim Ned."

The JV Blizzards now stand at 4-4 for the season and will meet Stanton in Blizzard stadium at 6:00 p.m. Thursday. This is a new starting time, changed from 6:30.

Back the Blizzards!

WHEREAS, Many veterans of America's Armed Forces, having served their country in war and peace, now find themselves as Senior Citizens.

WHEREAS, they were separated from families and friends, went to foreign lands, fought with full measure of their valor and loyalty to protect our country. Let us not forget the sacrifices of these veterans and the people who supported them.

WHEREAS, our Nation is eternally grateful for the contributions that our veterans and senior citizens have made to the cause of world peace: for the Yesterday's that they gave up for our Todays and our Children's Tomorrows. To these men and women, we owe a gratitude which can never be fully paid, and

WHEREAS, November 11, 1995 provides us opportunity to say thank you to a very special group of men and women who served in the Armed Forces

I urge the citizens of Winters to join the members of the Winters Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 9193 and Ladies Auxiliary to find appropriate ways to pay tribute to these veterans and senior citizens through community ceremonies and activities.

Therefore, as Mayor of Winters I do hereby designate the November 4, 1995 through November 11, 1995 SALUTE TO VETERANS AND SENIOR CITIZENS WEEK"

AND "WORLD WAR II REMEMBRANCE WEEK" and urge appropriate recognition thereof.

In Testimony Whereof, Witness my hand the seal of the City of Winters this 23rd day of October, 1995.

Just ask

by WALTER DURHAM American Legion Zone Commander

To have a successful membership year, we must work in two areas: recruit and retain. Communication is the real key to both recruiting and retention. You just have to ask.

Recruit-Veterans are out there, but haven't been asked to join the American Legion. Study the programs of the Legion well, so you can sell the Legion to the person you are trying to recruit. Just ask.

Retain-Veterans join the American Legion because they believe in what the organization stands for. Most plan to remain a member, but sometimes let their dues lapse without being aware of it. Ask them to renew.

Legionnaires working together can increase membership and will rise higher through membership.

needs your support Auxiliary President

With the Veterans' benefits being threatened again, many more volunteers are needed in our hospitals and field clinics throughout the state. So let's make this our number one project this year. National President Syble Deshotel has stated that our V.A. medical centers are "filled with the very ill, very old, and very helpless veterans who gave so very much for all of us."

The question I want all of you to answer, as volunteers and members of the greatest organization in the world, is "Can we give more hours and help more this year?" Can we get out and distribute more poppys? "Why?" you ask! The poppy is our symbol of remembrance of our veterans, both the ones here and the departed. The proceeds from our poppy distribution goes to helping our veterans in a monetary way. This is something we can all get involved in, along with getting the Jrs. involved. After all, they are our future, and we need to teach them the meaning of helping others.

All of the Legion and Auxiliary programs are important. So let's try to give more of ourselves this year, to keep our great organziation number one. We can and will be on top. November 11 is our day of remembrance to all veterans. Let's show our appreciation for all that they have given. "Liberty and Freedom for All."

God bless all of you and thank you for your support.

Texas Constitutional Amendments a "plain English" review of the 14 proposed amendments to the Texas Constitution.

PROPOSITION 1: Would allow $300 million in general obligation bonds to finance school loans for Texas college students.

Supporters say: The state should ensure that student loans are available because the economy will improve with more college graduates in the Opponents say: Providing student loans is the responsibility of the private financial sector and the state shouldn't add to its growing debt, which reached $10.6 billion in May 1995. PROPOSITION 2: Would let the Legislature exempt state-chartered charitable groups, including Masonic lodges, from property taxes. Supporters say: Property taxes for lodges takes money away from charities. An exemption would help the lodges better serve Texas. Opponents say: Exemptions are available now to worthwhile and beneficial groups. Another exemption just shifts the tax burden. PROPOSITION 3: Shifts $200 million in bonds from the farm and ranch finance program to agriculture businesses and lets the Texas Agricultural Finance Authority, rather than the Veterans' Land Board, oversee the program.

Supporters say: This would transfer bond authority from a low-demand program to a high-Opponents say: Voters have twice rejected proposals giving the agricultural program more

PROPOSITION 4: Allows Texans to place liens against the worth of their house for a fair division of the property. Most likely to be used in divorces or following deaths to settle an estate. Also lets homeowners refinance their home to pay off an income tax lien.

Supporters say: Courts recently ruled that these loans were unconstitutional and couldn't be made. Current homestead laws are old and among the strictest in the nation. This would ease restrictions in two circumstances to allow paying off debts connected with the home.

Opponents say: The laws are strict to guarantee that families won't lose their homes except in rare conditions. This would erode their protec-

PROPOSITION 5: Adds $500 million to the Veterans' Land Board to issue bonds to provide low-interest housing loans to Texas veterans.

Supporters say: Demand for loans has jumped dramatically and the land board could run out of money to lend before the 1997 session. The board needs to issue more bonds to keep making lowinterest loans. Opponents say: The program is popular and worthy, but the amendment would mean more state debt and more governmental intrusion into the capital markets. PROPOSITION 6: Lets the homestead property tax exemption of a Texan over 65 be passed on to a surviving spouse, if the spouse is at least Supporters say: A person likely will suffer financial hardships if their spouse over 65 years old dies. A widowed spouse over 55 may find it hard to maintain their home Opponents say: This is unfair because it exempts a small class of surviving spouses between 55 and 65, but not other people the same age in the same circumstances.

PROPOSITION 7: Cancels bond-issuing authority for the Super-conducting Super Collider research facility.

Supporters say: Because Congress has discontinued federal funding for the project, there is no reason to issue the rest of the bonds worth

Opponents say: This is unnecessary herquise there is no obligation or reason to issue the PROPOSITION 8: Abolishes the office of constable in Mills, Reagan and Roberts Coun-Supporters say: County law enforcement business will be more efficient and money will be saved. Opponents say: This will prompt more counties to seek exceptions for themselves. PROPOSITION 9: Ends the constitutional prohibition against investment of the Texas Growth Fund in companies that do business with South Africa or Nambia. Supporters say: The disclosure requirement was adopted to object to South Africa's system of apartheid. Because that no longer exists, the requirement should be repealed. Opponents say: No apparent opposition.

PROPOSITION 10: Abolishes the office of state treasurer as of Sept. 1, 1996.

Supporters say: A state treasurer is not needed and it would save money and be more efficient to move those operations to the State Comptroller's Opponents say: A state treasurer provides a system of checks and balances for state finances and combining it with the comptroller's office would put too much power over financial management in one office. PROPOSITION 11: Requires that land devoted to wildlife management, such as nature preserves or hunting leases, be taxed on the basis of its productivity rather than its market value. Supporters say: A lower tax value would encourage landowners to use open-space land for wildlife management purposes. Opponents say: Using land for wildlife management doesn't justify special treatment. Land used for wildlife management should be appraised on market value, they say. PROPOSITION 12: Lets the Legislature exempt from property taxes certain low-value property where tax revenue doesn't cover the cost of collecting the tax. Supporters say: Officials required to collect taxes on property with a low taxable value may spend more in trying to collect the tax than they get in revenue. Opponents say: The amendment is unnecessary and it gives too much unrestricted authority to lawmakers. PROPOSITION 13: Gives local governments the option of exempting boats and equipment used in commercial taking or production of fish, shrimp, shellfish and other marine life from prop-

Supporters say: The fishing industry should get the same benefits as farmers and ranchers, who get relief from taxes on land and farming

Opponents say: Too many tax exemptions shrink the tax base and this exemption might mean higher taxes for other property owners.

PROPOSITION 14: Lets the Legislature raise property tax exemptions for disabled veterans, their spouses and their minor children.

Supporters say: Veterans deserve public benefits to reward them for their sacrifices for our Opponents say: This would lose millions of tax dollars - which would have to be made up by other taxpayers. Source: Texas House of Representatives Research Orga-

Buying a Used Vehicle? Here's Advice

(DM)-Greater selection and availability, constantly improving technology, and a return to such values as frugality have all helped make used cars and trucks very popular in

If you are one of the millions of motorists contemplating the purchase of a used vehicle, here's some advice from the experts at the nonprofit National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence (ASE).

· Determine your needs and the features you want. Narrow your choices, but remain open to attractive alternatives.

· Get an idea of prices by glancing at classified ads, walking around dealer lots, and talking to friends. The price range will be influenced up or down by the vehicle's condition, its relative popularity, the seller's motivation, your motivation, even your geographic area.

· Visit a library or go to a bookstore to check the suggested price, reliability, and customer rankings of your potential vehicle in magazines and used car guides.

The next step is your initial inspection and test drive. Never inspect a car at night or in dim lighting. If your are still interested in the vehicle after your initial examination, arrange for a professional auto technician to do a thorough, independent inspection. You should expect to pay a fee for the inspection. Here's what you can do yourself:

the operation, alignment, and fit of doors, the trunk and hood. Check the condition of the tires. Unevenly worn tires could indicate

· Check the exterior carefully for signs of rust or body repair. Check misalignment. · Push down on each corner of the vehicle several times, then stop. If the vehicle bounces back more than once, it might need shocks. Check for other suspension or frame problems by squatting about six yards in front of the vehicle. The front and rear tires should line up, and the vehicle should not sag or lean. Repeat this from the rear.

· Check the interior for rust. Look for signs of water damage due to leaks and flooding, such as silt deposits under the seats. A musty smell could also indicate water damage. Check the trunk.

· Check the odometer for signs of tampering. Misaligned numbers on an analog mileage gauge and scratches or missing screws in the dash board could be signs of tampering. Another tell-tale sign is a worn brake pedal in an otherwise "lowmileage" vehicle. Also, examine the vehicle's title for signs of tampering.

 Ask the seller if the maintenance records are available. Original owners often keep their service records.

· Check the condition and operation of everything controlled from the dash-lights, wipers, heater, a/c, radio, to name a few.

 Under-the-hood elements to check include the tightness and condition of hoses and belts, and the level and appearance of all fluids. For example engine coolant that has oil droplets floating on it could indicate a leaky head gasket or cracked block. Transmission fluid that smells burned or has metal flecks could spell trouble. Engine oil that is milky-colored, or smells like gasoline, or feels gritty could indicate engine damage. A qualified technician can do a more thorough analysis.

· Start the vehicle and listen for a smooth, steady pulse. Check for leaks and drips under the car after it has idled a while. Dark smoke from exhaust pipe means the vehicle is burning oil.

· The test drive. Listen for unusual noises. Be aware of any misfiring or other performance problems. The transmission should shift smoothly with no loud noises. The brakes should not "pull" or "grab." Check for poor alignment by letting go of the steering wheel while driving on a smooth, flat road. It should not "pull" excessively to either side. A vibrating steering wheel could indicate out-of-balance tires or more serious front-end problems.

If your own inspection goes OK, set up an appointment with an ASEcertified automotive technician for a full inspection. Do not purchase the vehicle if the seller will not let you take if for an independent inspection.

In addition to helping you decide whether to make an offer and at what price, a professional inspection conducted by a certified auto technician begins what should become regularly scheduled maintenance-the best way to protect your automotive invest-

Hunter's Appreciation Dinner set November 4 in Ballinger

The Ballinger Chamber of Commerce will have a Hunter's Appreciation Dinner on the first day of deer season, November 4, 1995, from 6:30 - 9:00 p.m.. at the Ballinger Community Center.

There will be door prizes and a GREAT barbecue plate with sausage, brisket, beans, and potato salad. This year, the Chamber is going to furnish the meal at no charge to the hunters. This is their way of promoting Runnels County and the Ballinger area. It is also a small way of saying "Thank You" to the hunters for their business. Local individuals may purchase tickets for a $5.00 donation at the Chamber office or that night at the door. The Ballinger Chamber of Commerce would like you to help make this a successful event for Runnels County.

The Chamber will also be holding a raffle for a 270 Deer Rifle the night of the dinner. Tickets for the raffle may be purchased from any member of the Board of Directors, or at the Chamber office, for $1.00 each or 6 for $5.00.

Doctor Don's housecall on Aging

Well, it's bound to happen! Getting older, I mean. But what can you do?

As far as I know, there are no practical guidelines to help the common man recognize and deal with this condition. So, as your ever present guardian for useful information, I have again come to the rescue. Below you will find excerpts from my latest contribution to mankind - Doctor Don's Official Checklist and Common Sense Manual For Men – How To Tell When You're Gettin' A Little Older.

* You know you're gettin' a little older when the waist size of your pants is a bigger number than the length.

* You're gettin' a little older when you have more hair on your back and in your ears than you have on your head.

* When your wife suggests separate bedrooms and you consider it a good idea, you may be gettin' a little older.

* If asked to go somewhere important and you have to check the TV schedule first, you're gettin' a little older.

* When the cashier flirts and chats with the cute guy in front of you and then just takes your money, you're gettin' a little older.

* You're gettin' a little older if you actually sit and wait for the

* When a pretty girl walks by and your mind wanders to who's playing on Monday Night Football, you're gettin' a little older.

* When there's absolutely no than in your recliner, you're gettin' older.

* You know you're gettin' a little older when your wife says, "Hey baby, you should put out the cat and come to bed," and what you hear is, "Hey maybe you should put on your hat and go soak your head."

* When your whole world revolves around whether the okra and squash blooms in the garden you're gettin' a little older.

* Instead of expensive jewelry and perfume, you start giving your wife sensible Christmas gifts, like say ... a new leather rifle scabbard, you're gettin' a little older.

* You're gettin' a little older if you're excited about getting a new lawnmower.

* When there is no greater satisfaction in life than having a new battery in the TV channel changer, a supreme pizza, and four football games in a row, you're gettin' older.

* When the kiss on your wife's neck that once was romantic now only annoys her, you know you're gettin' a little older.

Hunter ed required for young hunters

Austin-The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department reminds hunters born after September 1, 1971 that proof of hunter education certification must be carried and be available for inspection while hunting in Texas.

Even though mandatory certification for hunters born after August 1971 and who are currently 17 years of age and older has been in effect since 1987, state game wardens continue to find large numbers of hunters that are not in compliance. Game wardens are issuing citations for failure to comply with the law, which can result in a maximum fine of $500.

For persons ages 12 through 16, completion of the course is required to hunt without supervision or you must be accompanied by a licensed hunter 17 years of age or older. Children under 12, while hunting in Texas, must be accompanied by a licensed hunter 17 years of age or older.

are offered around the state to people of all ages. Children under 12 cannot be certified, but will receive recognition for attending the course. As an added bonus, many other states recognize Texas' certification while hunting in their state.

Those who played all summer long and now are scrambling to find a hunter education course for their children or themselves before hunting Hunter education courses out of state are in luck. The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department has classes scheduled throughout the state this fall.

Don't forget to renew hunting and fishing license before the big hunt

AUSTIN—With the onset of deer hunting season just a day away, Texas sportsmen need to remember it's time to renew licenses.

According to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, hunting and fishing licenses are now available at over 1,800 locations statewide, including most major retail outlets.

Hunting and fishing licenses are valid from September 1 through August 31.

Individual Texas resident hunting and fishing licenses cost $13 each. A combination resident hunting and fishing license costs $25.

Residents who turn 65 years of age after August 31, 1995 may buy a discounted $6 Special Resident Hunting License and $6 Special Resident Fishing License.

Those senior citizens ages 65 or older prior to September 1, 1995 are exempt from the Special Resident Fishing License requirement, unless they desire a trophy red drum tag.

Non-resident general hunting licenses cost $250, while non-residents under 17 qualify for the Special Resident Hunting License instead of the general license.

According to TPWD officials, new licenses will be made available at additional outlets as license orders are received from certified licensing deputies.

Sportsmen may also renew requirements for licenses over the phone by calling 1-800-895-4248 (TX LIC ment immediate 4 U). For phone orders, Visa cense revenues.

of age after August 31, 1995 and MasterCard are accepted.

Licenses may also be renewed by mailing a check or money order to TPWD License Division, 4200 Smith School Road, Austin, Texas 78744.

Texas Driver's License and mailing address information are required when ordering by phone or mail. For more information on licenses, call 1-800-792-1112.

Texas Parks and Wildlife has signed an agreement with a private vendor to begin providing electronic point-of-sale licenses beginning in 1996.

Purchasing licenses will be very similar to the way Texans now purchase lottery tickets. The system, already in use in Oregon and Michigan, eliminates headaches and bonding requirements for license dealers, while giving the department immediate access to license revenues.

Most deer killed first weekend

More white-tailed deer are county area weighed 152 The 5 1/2 year old buck had 11 harvested the first weekend of hunting season, barring bad weather, than at any other time during the season. The first weekend of the 1994 season (Nov. 5-7) 163 deer were weighed, aged, and the antlers measured in the four-county area of Coke, Coleman. Concho and Runnels.

Bucks amounted to 82% of the harvest while does accounted for 18%. Following is a synopsis of the buck results.

Weights Bucks 1 1/2 years old weighed an average of 77.4 pounds and ranged from 56 to 103 pounds. Bucks 2 1/2 years old averaged 92.4 pounds and ranged from 64 to 126 pounds. Bucks 3 1/2 years old averaged 105.9 pounds and ranged from 78 to 136 pounds. Bucks 4 1/2 years old averaged 108.0 pounds and ranged from 88 to 124 pounds. Only one 5 1/2 year old buck was checked and it weighed 133 pounds. The heaviest buck killed in the four pounds and was killed in points. Coleman County.

Antler Points

Bucks 1 1/2 years old averaged 4.2 points and ranged from 2 to 8 points. Bucks 2 1/ 2 years old averaged 7.4 points and ranged from 4 to 12 points. Bucks 3 1/2 years old averaged 7.8 points and ranged from 4 to 10 points. Bucks 4 1/ 2 years old averaged 8.6 points and ranged from 8 to 11 points.

Summary

Deer from the four county area are considerably larger than most hill country deer. The 5 1/2 year old buck, when measured according to Boone and Crockett standards measured 141 0/8 net.

Antlers, even from the older deer, have a genetic tendency to remain 8 points in this area.

Proper tagging of kill required

Once a hunter is successful in killing a deer or turkey, there are certain rules and regulations which must be complied with concerning tagging the carcass. The carcass must be tagged immediately upon killing and in a secure manner.

The tag can be placed on any part of the carcass so long as it will not be damaged, defaced or lost in trasporting or handling.

The tag attached to the hunting license must be correctly legibly completed (hunter's name, ranch, county) and must:

·be designated for use on a specific type of deer or turkey

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department suggests hunters determine the county or counties planned for hunting. Check deer and turkey bag limits and season for each county or counties planned for hunting. Carefully plan which tags to use in each hunting situation you are likely to encounter. You should be especially careful about which tags to use if you hunt or plan to hunt in more than one county, both white-tailed deer and mule deer, in the South Texas counties that have the special 5 deer bag limit or in a "1-Buck" county.

A deer or turkey tag is cor-·have the month and date of rectly filled out when both sides are completed. The hunter's name goes on the front. Carcass Processing

If there is no cold storage processing facility established on property where hunting occurs, a person may only quarter a deer or pronghorn in the field before the carcass reaches a processing plant or the home of the person lawfully possessing the carcass.

A quartered carcass is not more than two forequarters with the leg portion to the knee attached to the shoulder blade, two hindquarters with leg bones to the hock attached, and two backstraps and the trimmings from the neck and rib cage. The boned-out neck and rib cage may be discarded.

It is permissable to prepare and eat all or a part of a deer while in camp, however, all tagging and identification regulations apply.

It is unlawful to possess a deer or pronghorn with evidence of sex removed. The head of a buck deer with antlers attached, the head of an

Look for good deer hunting this year

Prospects for white-tailed deer hunting in this area are for about an average year of good hunting. Good to excellent spring rains resulted in a good fawn crop and good antler production.

Turkey hunting should also be average to good because of good range conditions. Expectations are that harvest should be similar to the 1994 fall season.

Quail hunting may be below average even though range conditions are good. Recovery from last year's lows may require more than one breeding season. Expect better hunting than last year, but fewer birds in the bag than normal.

This gorgeous buck was shot by the camera on the Chadbourne Ranch recently.

Eric Joeris, 15, of Winters, scored three firsts when he downed this 6-point buck during this bow season. It was his first deer, shot with his first arrow, the first time he bow hunted.

85% of bowhunters come home deerless

Austin—To some, the thought of remaining motionless in a tree stand in September Texas heat for hours on end, covered in camouflage, and surrounded by a variety of annoying insects, might be a dismal one. To a bowhunter, however, the archery deer season carries thoughts of a different nature.

For some 75,000 Texas bowhunters who took part in this year's archery-only deer season, the chance to "draw down" on that first whitetail of the season ultimately outweighed any discomfort that might be associated with the sport. The archery-only season for white-tailed deer ran September 30 through October 31 in all counties with a general white-tailed deer season, and in Grayson County.

And, even for the 85% or so who came away without having harvested a whitetail, the opportunity to have hunted still makes it worthwhile. Typically, the success rate for Texas bowhunters is about 15%, which accounts for between 15,000 to 20,000 deer

Austin—To some, the bought of remaining motionss in a tree stand in September Texas heat for hours on the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. Figures for the 1995 season, were not available at presstime.

But, as any bowhunter will confirm, the harvest is not the compelling factor behind bowhunting. "The harvest is always going to be low, just because of the high skill level required to get a shot at a deer," said Butch Young, TPWD whitetail deer program leader. "Bowhunting has never been a real factor in possible overharvest of deer.

"Bowhunting is a great opportunity to get out in the woods and improve your hunting skills," Young said. "It's a great way to introduce young people to hunting. They have an opportunity during bow season to get out in the woods when there's not a lot of hunters running around and the deer aren't spooked easily and see more deer and learn more about their habits."

Five duck limit approved for Texas waterfowl hunters since 1987, Texas waterfowlers can look to a five duck daily bag limit this fall with the approval of the late season migratory game bird regulations by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission. The decision marks the second straight liberalization of the daily bag following last year's increase to four ducks.

The major contributing factors behind the increased duck harvest opportunity, according to Texas Parks and Wildlife (TPWD) officials, are record waterfowl breeding populations and a fall flight estimated at 80 million birds — up from 71 million last year and the largest since 1979.

"Weather in the breeding grounds has been the key to increased waterfowl numbers," said Brian Sullivan, TPWD waterfowl program leader, "along with the availability of suitable waterfowl habitat thanks to a combination of federal, state and private wetland habitat enhancement projects."

After more than a decade of depressed habitat conditions and population levels ducks continued their dramatic re-

AUSTIN-For the first time covery in 1995, bringing the second consecutive year of good news to waterfowl enthusiasts.

> Pond numbers for breeding ducks in Prairie Canada and the northcentral United States were above long-term average levels by nearly 40%, and were the highest since 1979. Wetland conditions were especially good in the Dakotas, according to TPWD.

> The total breeding duck estimate of 36 million birds was 10% above last year and above the long-term average. Eight of the 10 principal duck species are equal to or above longterm average population levels, and four species increased significantly from last year.

> The increase in duck populations should be welcome news for Lone Star waterfowlers, who are making their presence known nationwide, as well. Last year, Texas ranked first in goose harvest, third in the number of waterfowl hunters (after Minnesota and Wisconsin), fourth in days hunted for waterfowl (after Minnesota, Louisiana, and Wisconsin and fourth in duck harvest (after Louisiana, California, and Minnesota).

Compared to last year, hunt- February 18, 1996 with a bag ing regulations allow for a longer duck season by 21 days in eastern Texas (60 days total) and 32 days in the High Plains (83 days total), and a longer season for whitefronted geese in the eastern goose zone by 14 days (86 days total). And, with higher estimated goose populations in the western zone, the dark goose bag limit in the western goose zone has been increased from three to five birds.

Duck season dates are October 28-31 and November 4, 1995 through January 21, 1996 in the High Plains Mallard Management Unit and November 11 -26, 1995 and December 9, 1995 through January 21, 1996 in the remainder of the state. The statewide bag limit for ducks is five per day. to include no more than one mallard hen (including Mexican mallard or Mexican duck hens), one mottled duck, one pintail, one redhead, one canvasback, and two wood ducks; five mergansers, not to include more than one hooded merganser; and 15 coots.

Season dates for light and dark geese in the western zone are November 4, 1995 through limit of five light geese and five dark geese, not to include more than four Canada geese and one white-fronted goose. In the eastern zone, light geese season will run November 4, 1995 through February 18, 1996 with a bag limit of 10, while dark geese may be hunted from November 4, 1995 through January 28, 1996 with a bag limit of two (not to include more than one Canada and one white-fronted goose). Two Canada geese may be taken in the eastern zone between January 22-28, 1996, except in Henderson and Anderson Counties where the season will be closed for Canada

Season dates for sandhill cranes in Zone A are November 11, 1995 through February 11, 1996; Zone B, December 2, 1995 through February 11, 1996; Zone C, January 6, 1996 through February 11, 1996, with a bag limit of three statewide. Snipe season statewide will run October 21, 1995 through February 4, 1996 with a bag limit of eight. Woodcock season will run November 28, 1995 through January 31, 1996 with a bag limit of five. Rail and gallinule hunters are reminded the hunting season for these species will resume on November 18, 1995.

1995 deer harvest recommendations

Landowners and hunters are reminded that the general deer hunting season in Coke, Coleman, Concho and Runnels County will open Saturday, November 4, 1995 and continue through January 7, 1996 (65 days).

The legal bag limit in these counties is four deer with a limit of two bucks. No special permits are required for harvesting antlerless deer, however, both bucks and antlerless deer must be properly tagged with an appropriate tag from a valid hunting license.

Deer populations vary from area to area and even from ranch to ranch. The either sex regulation allows the landowner the flexibility to harvest antlerless deer on his/her property in order to keep deer numbers in balance with the available food supply. It does not automatically mean that a heavy harvest of antlerless deer is needed. The recommended harvest rates of both bucks and antlerless deer, provided by the department, should be used only as a general guideline for harvesting deer. If more intense management of a place is desired, we suggest that the landmanager survey deer populations on his/her ranch on his own. This will allow for a more accurate representation of deer numbers on the ranch. Please note that in most cases the department recommends more antlerless deer to be harvested than bucks.

The recommended guideline for harvesting antlerless deer throughout most of this area is one antlerless deer per 150 acres. The recommended harvest rate on bucks is 1 per 450 acres.

For further information concerning harvest rates or wildlife management planning, contact Wildlife Technician, Ralph Suarez at 915-690-6534 in Abilene.

Protect corn from moisture

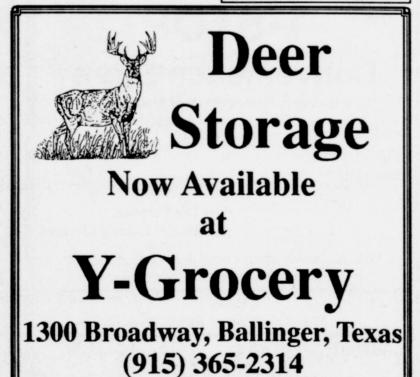

Although providing supplemental food sources for deer has become routine for many hunters in Texas, there are some concerns which should be considered. Hunters who prefer to use corn as supplemental deer food are encouraged to keep it as dry as possible, due to the potential threat of aflatoxins. Aflatoxin is a strain of mold which grows in corn under humid conditions and can be extremely deadly when ingested by birds and mammals. Because growing conditions for aflatoxins can be created when corn is stored in areas of high moisture content, poorly constructed wild-life feeders that allow corn to get wet can cause an increase in toxicity.

Big game awards begin fifth season, deadline Feb. 15

AUSTIN-The Texas Parks banquet in San Antonio. and Wildlife Department's Texas Big Game Awards program began its fifth season with the beginning of archery season September 30th in an effort to recognize the importance of habitat and wildlife population management as essential to the welfare of wildlife resources.

Last year's program, which was co-sponsored by the TPWD, Texas Wildlife Association, Carter's Country outdoor stores and Hixon Land and Cattle Co., drew 1,349 entries, including 829 whitetailed deer, 29 mule deer and 67 pronghorn antelope in the scored entry categories and another 424 entries in the first big game harvest category.

Eight regional banquets honored the top typical and non-typical white-tailed and mule deer as well as antelope and first big game harvest entries. The best animals statewide in each category were honored at the TWA annual

"We were extremely happy with the number of entries. We received more entries than I thought we would based on last year's weather and habitat conditions," said Bryan Richards, Texas Big Game Awards coordinator. "There were a lot of quality deer and antelope taken last year. Animals like these could not be produced without the habitat management efforts of landowners and managers. This program is intended to recognize landowners who produce quality animals as well as the animals and hunters."

The program recognizes that the quality of animals reflects the management efforts by land managers; the importance of hunting as a population management tool; and encourages participation by young and new hunters.

Entry into the program is open to wild-reared native white-tailed deer, mule deer and pronghorn antelope that are legally harvested in Texas during the current year's hunting season. The program will recognize the quality of the animal, the hunter, the land manager or owner upon whose property the animal was taken (optional) and hunters harvesting their first big game animal in Texas.

All scoring is based upon Boone & Crockett Club guidelines utilizing net green scores. Entries must be scored by a Texas Big Game Awards certified scorer. Almost 350 certified scorers are available statewide. Entry into the ranked listing requires hunters to complete and sign an entry form and certified score sheet. Entries must meet minimum scores for the region of harvest. Deadline for all entries (scored and first big game harvest) is February 15.

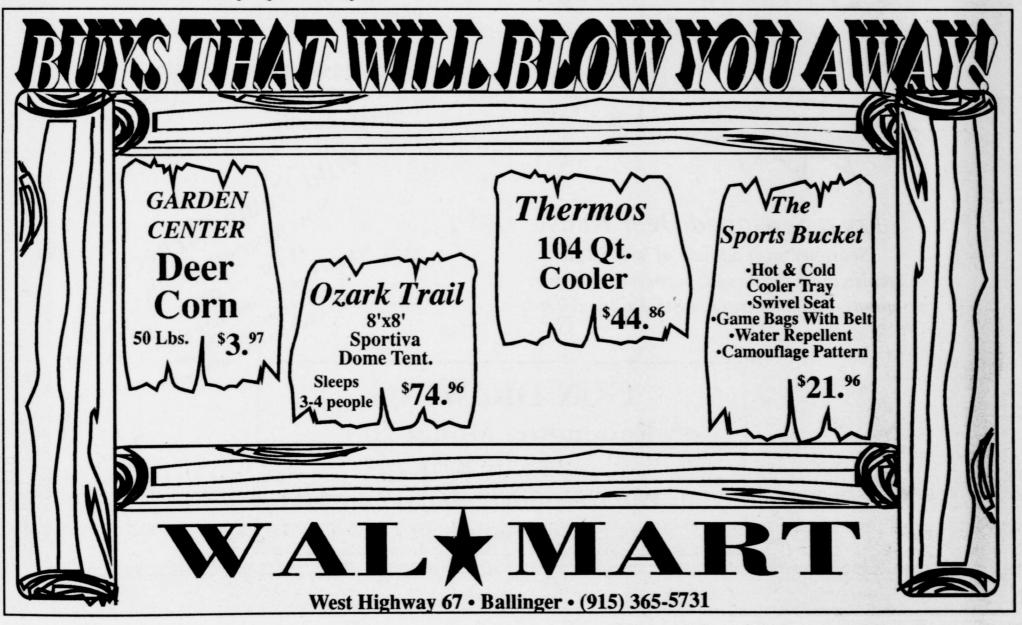

Eight regions have been established for white-tailed deer, two for mule deer and three for pronghorn antelope. Minimum entry scores for whitetailed deer vary with each region, ranging from 125-140 for typical and 140-155 non-typical. Minimum score for mule deer are 145 typical and 160 non-typical. Pronghorn antelope must score at least 70.

"Wildlife's response to changing land uses have created the need for management of habitat and wildlife populations," Richards said. "Proper habitat and population management can result in an increased diversity of habitat and wildlife resources and healthier populations of wildlife within these habitats. In deer and antelope, antler/horn development is an indicator of herd health. Recognition of the importance of proper habitat and population management is essential to the welfare of wildlife resources."
