House votes to restore Boll Weevil Eradication program

Now awaits governor's signature
The Texas House of Representatives this week passed a bill that would allow West Texas cotton farmers to resume participation in the Boll Weevil Eradication Program.
The eradication effort was halted after being ruled unconstitutional by the Texas Supreme Court in early May. Area cotton farmers have been eager to see the highly effective program restored in time for this Senate B.
Senate Bill 1814, by Senator Robert Duncan (Lubbock), brought tive Jim Keffer (Egram to constitutional standards. State RepresentaIVnd Keffer (Eastland), worked with other West Texas and Panhandle legislators to ensure the bill's passage in the House.
It has already passed in the senate, and will be sent to the Governor after minor differences between the House and Senate plans are resolved.
"I expect Governor Bush to sign the crucial legislation into law within the next week or two," said Keffer, "and the eradication program will hopefully be back on track by the second week of June. program will hopefully be back on track by the second week of June.

formulating a national energy policy that reflects the reality of the marketplace and serves the needs of the American people.

Why? Because you can't develop an energy policy that will work and simultaneously keep everybody happy. And, everyone knows that is the prerequisite modus operandi for the current administration-keeping everynecall t Recall that the previous DOE head pursued just such a path, holdinghearingsallover the place asking for an opinion from anybody with enough time on their hands to appear at a hearing. The end result was a document that was no policy. It was just a collection of statements that reflect what most people already know: we want (1) more energy, (2) cheaper energy, and (3) we want it all to be produced in the U.S. unless it interferes with (1) or (2).
It seems that all of us are sage and knowledgeable students of economics that understand that it is safer to produce our oil here than to get it from some unstable part of the world. That is, until with a real energy policy?

In my opinion, it will require that we identify supply and demand volumes and put them into the context of the world energy supply. It must take into account supply. It must take into account current needs, environmental considerations, future needs, current and future technology, all easier said than done, I admit.
However, most reasonable people could agree that people could agree that we need to identify where we are hurting to identify where we are hurting

To Whom It Concerns:
We hope that you will select Winters as a 1997 Main Street City We operate a business that manufactures livestock feed fo distribution throughout West Texas and New Mexico We distribution throughout West Texas and New Mexico. We employ approximately 45 people as mill workers, truck drivers, office staff, and managers. Our people are proud of Winters and actively participate in a number of civic projects and activities such as Mayfest Christmas in April, Little League, Girl and Boy Scouts, the Volunteer Fire Department, and the Chamber of Commerce.

A designation as a Main Street City would give added encourage ment to local businesses to continue the improvements and clean-up efforts started within the past five years. For an area that has seen number of businesses close their doors in the past few years, this designation would validate the idea that Winters is not a "dead" community, but a town with a bright future
Our people are excited about the prospects of being selected as Main Street City, and we will do our best to prove that the selection was a worthwhile choice.
Sincerely,
Alderman-

First, don't grow tomatoes unless they can receive sunlight for at least six hours a day. Tomato plants placed between tall shrubs, under trees or between buildings simply will not produce a good tomato crop.
Second, good soil is essential for good growth and high yields. Often, poor soil can be improved with liberal amounts of organic matter and by proper fertilization.
A dark, heavy clay or even a fine A dark, heavy clay or even a fine sand can be improved by working 3 to 4 inches of organic matter into the soil where the tomatoes are to be planted.
To raise a few tomato plants, prepare a space at least 2 feet square for each plant. The soil should be worked to a depth of at least 12 inches. Liberal amounts of organic matter and a small of organic matter and a small amount of fertilizer such as $10-$ 20-10 or 12-24-12 should be mixed into the soil.
The key to growing tomatoes notes Hayenga, and many will be discussed at the semina including benefits and restriction to both landowners and tenants. Regarding income tax plan ning, tax-saving opportunities will retirement income and helping out children and grandchildren. "A session on estate planning tax deferrals, gifts and property titles," Hayenga points out.

ter Estate planning tools which will be discussed include use of corporations and partnerships, gif planning, oil and gas interests, special land farm valuation, despecial land farm valuation, ferred estate tax payments, life insuran bonds."
