Oil Bidness

By Reg Boles ©1998

Have you heard the latest? Laser drilling may be the next "big thing" on the technology front for oil and gas. Yes, laser drill-

Even as the technological advances of the last decade have been heavily weighted toward the Coke County drilling sector, there is still room for improvement. That's because many of the latest advances have allowed drillers to do more but not necessarily more for less money.

Even before the recent fall in oil prices, there has been constant pressure to reduce costs throughout the industry. Operating costs are usually the first to be reduced because there are many options there. Drilling is usually farther down the list.

Reducing drilling costs is more problematic. While there are opportunities within specific venues to lower costs, they usually involve moving "up the learning curve".

By this, I mean the costs are reduced as the drillers learn how to maximize efficiency, reduce waste, improve techniques, and reduce errors. This is usually fieldspecific and doesn't provide much help when drilling starts in a new area beyond some general technique application. Costs are usually only mildly impacted outside of the original venue by improvements developed therein.

Contrast this with laser drilling. This promises to reduce penetration time to TD by 100 times. If a well takes a month or about 800 hours with conventional technology, it might only take 80 hours or a little over three days to get to TD with lasers.

Now, we're talking real money. At more than a $2000 a day, savings could approach $50,000 on a total drill and complete cost of $300,000. With heavier rigs and harsher climates, savings could approach 50% of a well's costs by drastically reducing the time required for a rig.

This can go beyond direct cost savings in areas where there is limited rig availablity, a limited concession life, and a fast-andfurious development plan. Where six rigs were required to fulfill the plan before, only two or three might do the trick drilling with lasers.

Now, this technology is not nearly ready for deployment, but it is being researched, tested, and studied. There is even development of a laser perforating tool underway.

Believe it or not, the Russians have a lot to teach the rest of the world in this application of lasers. But, more on that at a later

See you next time.

Social Security benefits to increase

Kenneth S. Apfel announced that Social Security and Supplemental Security Income (SSI) benefits will increase 1.3 percent in 1999 as a result of the annual cost-ofliving adjustment (COLA). The increase will begin with benefits that Social Security beneficiaries receive for December 1998. Increased payments to SSI recipients will begin on December 31.

"Today's news confirms that inflation remains under control," Apfel said. "Low inflation is good for America, particularly for Anna (Depth 2700). Loc. is 2712 FNL & many Social Security beneficiaries living on fixed incomes."

> For Social Security beneficiaries, the average monthly benefit amount for all retired workers will

Social Security Commissioner rise from $770 to $780. The maximum federal SSI monthly payments to an individual will rise from $494 to $500. For a couple, the maximum federal SSI payment will rise form $741 to $751.

> Social Security and SSI benefits increase automatically each year based on the rise in the Consumer Price Index for Urban Wage Earners and Clerical Workers (CPI-W) from the third quarter of one year through the corresponding period of the next. This year's increase in the CPI-W was 1.3 percent.

The automatic increase is equal to the December 1986 increase, the lowest since the automatic adjustment became effective in 1975.

"Oh, you better watch out, you better not cry,

"You better not pout, I'm telling you why... "Santa Claus is coming to

Part of a "Golden Oldie" that I learned when I was a kid. Not that we had a lot of the Santa Claus "stuff" at our house. We had gifts, for sure. And a tree. And all the Christmas goodies. But... no Santa. I guess it was because my folks wanted us all to know that Christmas was reserved for the Christ-child. And, that was okay, too. But, there is a place for Santa at Christmas. If I ever had any doubts about it, I surely don't anymore. Every since I had a conversation with Santa a couple of months ago. It was at Katie Spill's house, on the day of her birthday. One of her daughters, Joyce, is married to Scotty Gosh. He is the Santa I met there.

Oh, I had seen him before, many times. Every time he and his wife come to visit Katie, they go to church. I'll not forget the first time I saw him, in the line of folks coming forward to receive Holy Communion. He looked just like Santa with a white beard, and white hair, and red cheeks and a smile. But it was not until the party that he let me know that he was, indeed, a Santa Claus.

And, a Santa Claus with a cause. To upgrade Santas and would-be Santas to capture the essence of what Santa Claus is all about... not only to bring gifts... but also to bring PEACE and LOVE, Scotty started being Santa when he was in the gardening and nursery business. In an attempt to make the sales of holiday Christmas trees a family affair. As families began to buy their trees from Scotty year after year, playing the role of Santa began to work its own magic on him. He got "hooked" on Santa.

As we talked, the excitement of his "new calling" took over. He told me that there are forces out there that would not only take Christ out of Christmas, but would take Santa out of Christmas. To take love and peace out of Christmas. So in order to keep Santa on the scene, he has been doing Santa workshops, out there in Las Vegas, Nevada.

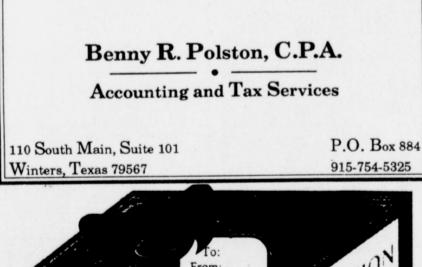

In addition to that, he has written a book, "Santa's Handbook, How To Be A Good One." He sent me one in the mail yesterday. It is a wonderful book. Eighteen chapters in all, covering everything from how Santas should look, how to act, how to understand children's facial expressions, how to pick a tree, and all kinds of things on how to do Christmas as a family. Even a chapter on the history of Santa. And, a wonderful chapter on the Ten Favorite Rules for Santas - and for everybody. I'll list them for you: 1) Speak to people. 2) Smile at people. 3) Call people by name. 4) Be friendly and helpful. 5) Be interested in others. 6) Be cordial. 7) Be generous with praise and cautious with criticism. 8) Be considerate of others' feelings. 9) Be respectful of others' opinions. 10) Be alert to give service.

To to it all off, he has written a song, "The Reindeer Song," a family song for everybody all over the world. Some of the lines are:

"Reindeer fly through the sky Santa's shouting 'Ho, Ho, Ho!' Children sing, sleigh bells ring Making music la ti do All join hands from every land Smiling makes you glow, glow, glow!" One verse says:

> "Gather round, dispel the frowns Santa's Plan, Let love abound! Forgive the wrong and spread the song Happy days to each belong!"

If you are interested, you can call Sammy Claus at 702-873-3551. Or write him at 5125 W. Reno, #3-1101, Las Vegas, Nevada 89118. For sure, this Santa is for real. And, for sure has the same spirit as that real Saint Nicholas. Santa Claus is coming — and, in his very own, very human way, can bring joy to the world.

Tips On Staying Safe And Sound With Natural Gas.

or close to 90 years, Lone Star Gas has been providing safe, dependable energy to its customers. By following a few simple rules, you can help make sure you and your family stay safe and sound with natural gas:

 Always have qualified service people install, regularly check and maintain all gas heaters and appliances, following the manufacturer's instructions for installation, ventilation, and operation.

 Always use a gas appliance only for its intended purpose. An oven, for example, should not be used to heat a room.

· Always keep flammable materials and substances away from gas heaters and appliances. Remember, a pilot light is constantly burning.

• If your gas appliance is more than 20 years old, have it checked by a qualified professional. Certain older, uncoated brass connectors have flaws that may be dangerous and should be changed. Do not move your appliance and check the connector yourself. Call a qualified professional to inspect and replace your connector if necessary.

IF YOU SMELL GAS

in your home, or know you have a gas leak, follow these rules:

1 Everyone should leave the house immediately, leaving the doors open for ventilation.

2 Do not switch anything electrical on or off.

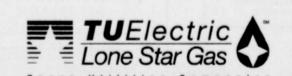

3 Do not use your telephone (telephones use small amounts of electricity).

4 Do not strike a match or do anything else that might cause a spark.

5 Go to the nearest telephone and call Lone Star Gas Company. Wait until we have found the cause of the gas leak before returning to your home.

If you smell gas while you're outside, contact Lone Star Gas immediately.

BEFORE YOU DIG, call for pipeline locations to avoid any potential problems: 1-800-545-6005.

Coach's comments: We sort of started slow, but the last 3 quarters we outscored them and had several chances to win; however, it didn't work out that way. The kids played very hard. I was extremely proud of them.

V.F.W. encourages you to support the U.S. troops this Christmas contributed by Mary Kurtz

Fifty Seven years ago on December 7, 1941 Japanese Forces staged a sneak attack on American installations at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, killing 2,403 American Servicemen and wounding 1,178 others. This attack launched the United States into World War II.

The Winters Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 9193 and the Ladies Auxiliary ask all to join them in their grief over friends lost and in their sympathy for the servicemen and service women and their families who have suffered.

Join us in recalling their sacrifices, their bravery, and their commitment. But also join us in our joy for having served the greatest nation on the face of the earth.

For all who have served, for all who have suffered, and for all who have died, join us as we say, "may the Almighty God bless them—and may God bless America."

We also ask all citizens to fly the flag of the United States at half-staff in honor of the individuals who died as a result of their service at Pearl Harbor on December 7, 1998.

The Ladies Auxiliary and members of Winters Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 9193 are announcing a special effort by the National and State V.F.W. and Auxiliary in supporting the United States Troops that will not be home for Christmas.

They encourage their members and the general public to send cards and letters; because of world terrorism, packages will not be accepted.

Let them know that we appreciate what they are doing for us. Show your support and concern for them by sending a card with a small message to make a difficult period for them bearable.

The following addresses are in effect only from November 15, 1998 to January 15, 1999. Regular postage will be charged.

In this time of being thankful for what we have received and have in the season to come in which most of us will receive much more, the Ladies Auxiliary and Winters Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 9193 members call upon their friends and neighbors to help them in some recycling projects.

Number 1: we are again collecting old silk and nylon hose to be used in stuffing pillows for the Winters Hospice to be used in their services.

Number 2: we are collecting stamps to be used in therapy for hospitalized veterans. All you need to do is cut around the stamp leaving about 2/8 inch of paper around the stamp.

These may be turned in to any Auxiliary or V.F.W. member or Theresa Patterson at the First State Bank in Winters, or the Cutting Edge Hair Salon, 1019 N. Main, Winters.

Number 2: we are collecting CITY COUNCIL, continued

about the possibility of adding revenue to the city where some services are already provided.

Tim Glendening, grant consultant for the city, presented a contract from the Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs. This contract is for a $208,000 grant called the HOME program.

The program is to assist elderly and low income residents of owner-occupied single dwellings. This grant would allow approximately nine homes to be brought up to minimum standards.

The city approved the contract and also appointed Glendening as administrator of the contract at a fee of $8,000 which was included in the grant.

Also approved for the HOME program was a Rehab Manager contract for the amount of $21,000. Glendening stated that this program will be started in approximately 45 days.

Further information will be published in The Winters Enter- prise as is made available.

Council members also voted to adopt an ordinance to reduce the speed limit on West Dale street in the area through Dry's from 45 to 40 mph.

Candace Lander of Associated Beef City spoke to the council about a request for a change in the water contract between Associated Beef and the city of Winters. The original contract required the payment for 40,000 gallons of water per day, whether or not they used that amount. Lander asked to negotiate their contract by lowering their minimum and in return, lengthening the one-year contract to somewhere between three to five years.

This agenda item was tabled for further study, and the council asked Hassan to find out how much the city paid for installing the water lines to Associated Beef.

Due to the Christmas holidays, the next council meeting will be December 21, at which time the existing contract with Associated Beef City will be reviewed.

Alderman Mike Meyer moved to approve the proposed animal shelter agreement with the city of Tuscola, with minor changes in

Postal Service is branching out

There are two choices now available in stamps if you want to brighten up your Christmas cards: Madonna, dressed in gold, holding baby Jesus against a red background or a Christmas wreath of various colors.

The Stamp Act, a law passed by the British Parliament in 1765 to raise revenue requiring that stamps be used for all legal and commercial documents, newspapers, etc., in the American Colonies. It was repealed in March 1776, because of strong colonial opposition.

Although postage stamps were made available in 1847, mailers had the option of sending their letters COD until 1855 when prepayment became compulsory. Previously, if the addressees refused to accept the letter — and they often did — the post offices labor and delivery costs were never recovered.

Street boxes for mail collection began to appear in big cities in 1858 and 1863, free city delivery was instituted in 49 of the country's largest cities by 1890, 454 post offices were delivering mail to residents of U.S. cities. It was not until the turn of the century, however, that delivery came free to farmers and other rural residents.

The period between July 6, 1932 and August 1, 1958 is the longest rates cycle in the history of the Postal Service. The cost of postage stamps was stable for 26 years during this era, leading to a public mind-set labeled as the "three-cent syndrome." Because of the long stretch between rate increases, public opposition to the four-cent stamp was strong. The shortest rates cycle was between the period of March 22, 1981 and November 1, 1981, when First Class postage rose from 18 to 20 cents. The third decade of the 20th century is known as "The Roaring Twenties," and what a ten years it was!

The men, women, and events that highlighted the 1920's are saluted on a 15 cent stamp set as part of the "celebrate the century" program of the U.S. Postal Service issued sets of 15 for the 1900's and the 1910's.

Heading the list of heroes of the 1920's was "Babe" Ruth, beloved as the hitting star of the New York Yankees. He appears on a new 32 cent stamp in the series. He is seen hitting a home run at Yankee Stadium.

The Sylvester & Tweety stamp is the second U.S. offering featuring animated characters. It follows the track of popular Bugs Bunny issue. Both stamps have been declared ambassadors to stampers, the Postal Services youth stamp collection program.

This spring the U.S. Postal Service spring into action with the issuance of five 32 cent "flowering trees" commemorative stamps. They are Pacific dogwood, the Southern magnolia, blue paloverde, yellow poplar and the prairie crab apple.

The last stamps I bought were called "Bright Eyes" and included a dog, cat, fish, and a little fat pig.

We are getting fancy. When the first six postmasters served in Winters postage was 2 cents. They were Frederick Plate, McDonald Townsend, Robert L. Hulsey, Thomas W. Murray, Thomas W. Dillingham, and Wylie F.

The post masters serving under the 3 cent period were Benjamin F. Huntsman, Thomas D. Coupland, Harvey O. Jones, Miss Laura Kittrell, and George R. Pace.

Otis J. Murray was clerk in charge during the 6 cent period also Herbert M. Nichols was post-

Charles L. Greer was officer in charge in the 18 cent period and Gay Ann McDorman became postmaster during that time.

Gary V. Absher was officer in charge in the 20 cent period and Benny J. Drye became postmas-

Joe A. Woods was officer in charge in the 25 cent period and Merle D. Thompson became postmaster. He continues today under our 32 cent period. He led the City in a stamp memorial program during the Winters Centennial 1890-1990. And many of us have the memorial stamp.

Diversification can be a life saver

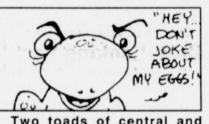

Edward Noble was one of those people who understood that variety is the spice of life. In 1913, he approached Clarence Crane, the inventor of the peppermint Life Saver, with the idea of producing the candy in a variety of flavors. Crane didn't want any part of this plan, so he sold Noble all rights to the candy for $2,900.

Today, Life Savers is a billiondollar business, and the reason Noble became owner of it—and not Crane—was because he knew the value of diversification. He didn't base his success on the sales of just one flavor of candy. He knew that by offering a variety of flavors, he could appeal to more people. At the same time, he protected his business should any one flavor fall from grace with the Like Edward Noble, smart investors understand the value of variety. They know that variety is the foundation of a good investment plan. Whether you call it diversification, asset allocation, or simply "not putting all your eggs in one basket," the benefits of spreading your dollars among a variety of investments cannot be overstated.

One of the main benefits of choosing a variety of investments is that you have some protection should one of those investments experience a downturn. No single investment performs well under all conditions. In fact, different types of investments sometimes go in opposite directions. For example, when the stock market declines, bonds generally perform well and vice versa. Owning both types of investments will benefit you in nearly any economic envi-

Diversification also protects against loss of purchasing power.

Two toads of central and southwestern Europe are called midwife or obstetrical toads because the male helps care for the eggs. The male fastens them to his legs and carries them until they hatch. He usually hides under a stone or some other place while carrying them, but comes out after dark to bathe the eggs in a pond or stream.

So, although you usually know exactly how much a fixed-income investment will return at maturity, what you don't know is how much purchasing power that money will retain. Placing a portion of your assets in growth investments, however, has historically allowed you to outpace in-

Another benefit of diversification is that it offers the potential for better returns. Consider the example of two individuals, each with $10,000 to invest. Investor A uses the entire amount to purchase U.S. government bonds paying seven percent. Twentyfive years later, his investment is worth more than $54,000.

Investor B, however, decides to spread his nest egg among five different types of investments. The first three turn out to be good choices. He places $2,000 in an international growth fund that averages a 15 percent annual return, rates. $2,000 in a growth-and-income annually and $2,000 in a tax-free municipal bond paying five per-

His other two investments are not as successful. One breaks minutes you spend evaluating your even, and the other is completely lost. How badly do these two vestment. As Edward Noble disinvestments hurt his return? At covered, diversification can be a the end of 25 years, Investor Bhas life saver.

Having all your money in fixed-more than $96,000, roughly 44 percent more than Investor A.

This example illustrates the importance of diversifying the type of investment. Investor B's portfolio included a growth investment, a growth-and-income investment and a fixed-income investment. It's also important to choose a variety of investments within each category.

For example, with growth and growth-and-income investments, such as stocks and stock mutual funds, many investors concentrate too much of their money in companies that are familiar, such as consumer goods and utilities. Others lean too heavily on what's hot, like technology stocks. Stocks and stock mutual funds should represent a variety of companies and industries. Diversifying this way will protect you from negative events in any one company or industry.

You can also diversify the fixed-income portion of your portfolio. These investments should include bonds with short-, intermediate- and long-term maturities. This practice, called laddering maturities, protects you against interest-rate fluctuations. When interest rates fall, you have money invested at higher rates. When interest rates rise, you have money available to invest at those higher

The specific mix of investments fund that averages ten percent that's right for you depends on your needs for safety and return. Ask a professional to review your investments to make sure they're adequately diversified. The few portfolio can be a priceless in-

CRP SIGN-UP—Conservation Reserve Program sign-up #18 ends on December 11, 1998. Contracts accepted during this signup will become effective October 1, 1999.

Existing CRP that is scheduled to expire September 30, 1999, may submit an offer at this time. Offers will be evaluated and ranked using an Environmental Benefits Index (EBI) based on the potential environmental benefits gained from enrolling the land in Producers are encouraged to contact the Natural Resource Conservation Service (NRSC) to discuss the steps that can be taken to maximize EBI points and increase the chance of offer acceptance. If an offer is accepted, USDA will provide 50% cost share assistance to establish any required cover.

To be eligible to submit an offer, you must have owned or operated the acreage for at least the preceding 12 months. Proof of ownership (land deeds) are required for all offers.

Contact the USDA office of an mittee has requested that this pro-appointment to submit an offer. CRP GRAZING-Emergency grazing of Conservation Reserve Program acreage is scheduled to end on November 30, 1998. Runnels County has been granted an extension to graze through February 28, 1999.

However, before grazing can continue, you must come back to this office and re-register on those acres to be grazed. Grazing without authorization is a violation and will result in a severe grazing penalty and possible contract termination.

Acreage which was grazed earlier and will be grazed during this additional extension will be inspected. If it is found that the grazing plan is being violated, livestock will have to be removed.

LIVESTOCKASSISTANCE PROGRAM—The Livestock Assistance Program will provide assistance to livestock owners who suffered forage losses to native and improved pastures and forage sorghums intended for grazing in 1998. The county com-gram be implemented in Runnels County, and expects this in the very near future. You will be notified when we are approved.

To file an application, you will need to know number, type, and weight range of all livestock owned in 1998. You must have owned livestock for 90 days to be eligible, so be prepared to verify dates of any purchased livestock. Also needed are dates of any livestock sales and dates offspring were weaned.

If you haven't already done so, you will need to provide the USDA office with the acreage, location, and type of grass or forage on which a loss occurred. Also required are the percent of grazing loss for each forage type. The county committee has set the maximum loss at 80%

Benefits will be paid on the lesser of the feed value of available grazing land or feed value required for the eligible livestock.

Payments will be issued at the end of January, 1999, and may be pro-rated if the requested total benefits nationwide exceeds the authorized $200 million.
