of the Councilmen to explain the tabled the motion to accept the increase request but they were received on Monday and Council members said they had not had time to study the booklets.

On the cover page, a short explanation by BFI revealed that higher labor cost, landfill cost increases, higher diesel and gasoline costs and an inflation rate of approximately 3% every year since 1994 were reasons enough.

The BFI letter had also stated that there had not been an increase City of Winters since 1994.

School trustees hire teacher and boys'basketball coach

The Board of Trustees of the Winters Independent School District met in called session at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, July 27, and voted to employ two new personnel for the coming school year.

Trustees voted unanimously to employ Mandie England as teacher, subject to assignment.

A motion by board member Bob Prewit, seconded by Cheryl Bryan, to employ Zach Boxell as teacher/coach, subject to assignment, carried with four yeas including votes by Jack Davis, Jr. and Allen Andrae. Opposed were Larry Walker, Jerry Sims and Gary Moore.

Mandie England, wife of Winters native, Lanny England, is a graduate of A&M University and has most recently worked as a private entomologist.

Boxwell comes to Winters ISD from Lake Dallas High School at Lake Dallas, Texas where he served as head boys' freshmen/assistant boys' varsity basketball coach and freshmen football coach. According to WISD Superintendent Mike Harris, Boxell will take the helm as boys' varsity basketball coach in addition to his teaching duties.

much on how shiny your gun was, you might get shot while you admired your reflection.

The same can be said of technology these days. I have not been timid about celebrating the benefits of new technology in the oil patch and have attempted to chronicle its successes when I could. However, technology is not the only ingredient in a successful business.

Astechnology becomes higher profile and ever more powerful in its application, company owners and executives tend to be blinded to the other needs of their business. This has manifested itself in a number of ways, but it is particularly evident in the understanding of what it takes to find oil and gas in an exploration program.

It seems that there is a real neglect for the understanding of an area and of the experience of a professional involved in the search for oil and gas.

It is extremely important to understand the regional picture when looking for potential oil and gas fields. This requires a study of the regional geology and analogous reservoirs in the area. The indications of geological trends and recovery mechanisms can be invaluable in assigning risk and probability to a particular prospect, as well as developing a successful find.

It seems that many companies think the research and study required to understand an area is no longer necessary. Now, many groups of explorationists are thrown into a room with workstations, software, and seismic data and asked to look for anomalies. The result is a list of prospects based, not on knowledge, but on "identification" that causes the success rate to be poorer than it should be.

I was once told that, in the Old will likely be the leaders in this West, if you concentrated too new century for petroleum exploration.

Glenwood City, Wisconsin, is a small town about 20 miles from where we are staying now. With our son John and his wife Julie and four children: Peter, Rachel, Mara, and Abigail. Last Friday, about 7 p.m., we all climbed into the car and went there. For the St.

Croix County Fair.

It's been a while since I've been to a County Fair. But it didn't take long for us to get into the swing of it. The first place we went, after we got a place to park, was the Exhibits. And the first place we went inside the building was to the Food Section. You see, our son John is a bread maker. Not by profession ... he's a preacher. And a good one. He is also a husband, a father, hunter (deer and turkey ... with a bow), trout fisherman (ties his own flies), musician (plays a mean guitar and mandolin), and Boy Scout leader. He had entered Sour Dough, Honey Whole Wheat, Swedish Rye, Honey Oatmeal Molasses, Pitas, Dinner Rolls, Bagels, and White Bread. We had spent time watching him prepare. He does it all from scratch. Puts all the stuff together, kneads it, pounds it, shapes its, and bakes it. His bread is even better than Ramona's.

When we reached the display case, we saw it. The big purple ribbon. It said Grand Champion, Food Division. It was draped over John's Swedish Rye. Such excitement. John looked at each kind he had entered, and all had a ribbon. Not all were blue. But all were "ribboned." We were all so proud of him.

We then went on. First of all to eat. We ate at the Holy Cross Lutheran Church stand. You could go in and sit down. Eat a real meal. Or have a hamburger made with real meat. And have a piece of homemade pie - cherry or apple. And for an extra quarter, you could get a big scoop of vanilla ice cream on top. So good! As we said our prayer over the food, I looked up, and through a space in the canvas roof I saw the rays of the evening sun shine on the trees. On the hills that surrounded us. It was like God was adding His congratulations.

We did the midway, with all the rides. For a buck, you might get a 4-minute ride — either on something that scared the daylights out of you or on something that bored you silly. The cotton candy. And the games of "skill" where you might "win" a "prize." But most of our time was spent looking at the animals... including lamas. And the other exhibits. We were quite a procession. We spent four hours at the fair. And went home satisfied. The kids were all asleep by the time we got home. And I was... almost.

Letters to the Editor

City Manager apppreciates You haul it in, you should haul it out "littering" letters Dear Editor, I saw the article our friend

Constitution puts it crystal clear, that the government employees are the servants of the people, not the masters of the people. Such a responsibility, and none of us should forget this for one split second. Keeping the public buildings, parks, and lakes sightly and clean is one of the services that we cannot ignore. However, sometimes we cannot get to every cleaning duty at the same time, and if the citizens that are our masters cooperate with us and do not litter, it will make our job so much easier.

In the Thursday, July 20, 2000, edition of The Winters Enterprise, I read Mr. Baker's letter to the editor. As soon as I read it. I talked to the water department and the street department superintendent Charlie Grenwelge. Charlie and his crew and the water department employees Tony Torres and John Kraatz cleaned the 4th of July littering at the lake. I ran to the hardware store and bought some "No Littering," "No Dumping" signs and posted them in different visible locations on our lake properties. The next day I saw Mr. Baker and thanked him for his sincerity and concern about public properties

In the Thursday, July 27, 2000, edition of The Winters Enterprise, I read another letter to the editor, by Mr. Herman Baker, thanking me and Charlie Grenwelge and his city crew for the cleaning around Elm Creek Reservoir. I have been touched by this letter to the editor. I became so emo-

The preamble of the Texas tional that I cried. I am glad nobody was in my office to notice. Such is the power of saying thank you to the human heart.

I have been in public service for 30 years. The first ten years, I worked for the Government of Afghanistan. No matter what I was doing, in the eye of the public, it was not enough. The last twenty years I have worked for Texas cities. This is my 9th year with the City of Winters. I have to be honest and admit that my services were never appreciated anywhere else as much as in Winters. We are your servants, and never forget that. However, when we serve you and you say thank you, it really truly means a lot to us, and it makes us cry from joy. Therefore, on behalf of the Mayor, City Council, and all the City employees, especially Charlie and his crew and Tony Torres and John Kraatz from the water department who did most of the cleaning, I extend our appreciation to Mr. Baker for thanking us and to The Winters Enterprise to take time and space in their paper to publish the letters. Since I have the opportunity, now I also thank all the people in the Winters area that allow us to serve them, and from their tax and water bill monies make a living. We are proud to serve you, thank you very much. Sincerely, Aref Hassan Aref Hassan, Ph.D. City Manager

Herman Baker had in our paper the last issue. I understand his disguist with other people's trash on public property.

We once had a rancher out here on Valley Creek. His name was Leland McWilliams, and he would let you fish on his part of the creek if you did as he said. The rule was, if you hauled it in, you hauled it out with you.

We owe our public places the same respect, or they might not exist much longer.

I've been reflecting a lot about it since... the county fair. It puts a premium on the family, and the "homemade" and the "homegrown." The "living things" that are touched and molded and shaped and trained by human hands. Not "store bought." Basic. Down to earth. Earthy. Like God when He created the earth. And people. Handmade by God.

And I've meditated a lot lately about bread. I read a piece about tin from June 16-19. Another baking bread in a book John has entitled "The Secrets of Jesuit Bread Making." By Brother Rick Curry, S.J. For him, baking bread is a spiritual experience. "When I bake bread, I make an examen of Conscience. After reading, I take a deep breath, relax, and recall that I am in God's presence. I recall the last 24 hours and name the good things that have come into my life, and I thank God for them. After the The Blitz staff, the WHS newspadough has been mixed and begins to rise, I reflect on how I have per recognized as outstanding in participated in this new life, and I beg God to show me how I am growing more alive in my spiritual life... How I have dealt with my family and co-workers... Do I harbor resentment?... Have I held my tongue?... Have I prayed for others?... Have I been kind? When this has been completed, he puts it all in God's hands. And then he brings to Him the larger needs... He speaks to Him as a friend who delights in him and his company, shares his fears, hopes, and joys. He asks God to let him be open to life and love. And when the smell of fresh-baked bread fills the kitchen, "I let my spirit be filled with gratitude and praise for God and for all the things in my life. I thank God for the gift of bread and the gift of life." Wow.

I asked John if he had ever done that. He assured me that he had. He also showed me a card that the church secretary had given him this week. It read:

> BE GENTLE WHEN YOU TOUCH BREAD Let it not lie uncared for, Taken for granted, Or unwanted. There is such beauty in bread -beauty of sun and soil, -beauty of patient toil. Winds and rains caressed it, Christ often Blessed it. Be gentle when you touch bread.

When Jesus fed the five thousand, it wasn't at a county fair. But there were all kinds of people there. And they were hungry. "Jesus then took the loaves, gave thanks, and distributed them." I'm quite certain He was gentle when He took it in His hands. And gave thanks. So should we. Be gentle with it. And, for sure, give thanks.

Elementary "Meet The Teacher Night" set Wednesday, August 9

Winters Elementary School will host its annual "Meet The Teacher Night" on Wednesday, August 9, from 6:00 to 6:45 p.m.

At this time, students and parents may visit the campus and find their classroom and homeroom teacher. Students are encouraged to bring their school supplies at that time to make the first day of school a little less bulky.

Meal tickets will be available for purchase during this time. TIPS registration will also be held in the library.

Hope to see all of you there!

Junior High information for parents and students

Winters Junior High School will operate in accordance with the secondary bell schedule, as seventh and eighth graders begin the fall semester.

Parents are asked to drop off and pick up students on the Rogers Street entrance to the school. There are parking lots in front of the building as well as on the north and south sides. Superintendent Mike Harris points out that this will help to ease the morning and afternoon congestion in front of the high school.

Student lockers are located in the junior high building. David Hale, Dean of Students, and Charlotte Lancaster, attendance secretary, are the administrative staff housed in the facility. Their phone number is 754-5518.

Students should only need to enter the high school to use the library, and for convocations in the auditorium, unless otherwise summoned. They will share common facilities such as the cafeteria, gymnasium, and band hall, with the high school students.

Attention all parents of kindergarten students!

On Thursday, August 10 (the first day of school), there will be a doughnut and coffee get-together for parents after your child has been situated in his/her classroom.

You will be able to meet other parents of kindergartners, ask questions about kindergarten, and perhaps relieve some of the anxiety of sending your child to school for the first time.

The event will be held from about 8:15-9:00 a.m. It will be held in the elementary music room and will be hosted by Mary Wilkerson, elementary counselor. See you there!

School District/Charter School Winters Independent LETTER TO HOUSEHOLDS (Multi-Child) NATIONAL SCHOOL LUNCH/BREAKFAST PROGRAM SCHOOL YEAR 2000-2001

Dear Parent/Guardian:

The Winters buy lunch for $1.50/$1.65 school offers a choice of healthy meals each school day. Children may breakfast for $1.30 , and after school snacks for 0.00 Children who qualify under U. S. Dept. of Agriculture guidelines may get meals free or at a reduced-price of $.40 for lunch, $.30 for breakfast and 0.00 for after school snacks. All meals served must meet nutrition standards established by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. If a child has a disability, as determined by a doctor, and the disability prevents the child from eating the regular school meal, the school will make substitutions prescribed by the doctor. If a substitution is needed, there will be no extra charge for the meal. Please note, however, that the school is not required to make a substitution for a food allergy, unless it meets the definition of disability. Please call the school for further information; telephone number 754-5574

Your children can get free school meals if you get food stamps or Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF). Depending on your income, your children may be eligible for free or reduced-price meals.

How do I get free or reduced-price school meals for my children? You must complete the Application for Free and Reduced-Price Meals Form and return it to the school

- Households getting food stamps or TANF. You only have to include your children's names and case numbers, and an adult household member must sign the form.
- Households that do not get food stamps or TANF. If you do not have a case number, you must include the names of all household members, the amount of income each person received last month and where the income came from. An adult household member must sign the form and include his or her social security number, or indicate that he or she has no social security number
- Households with a foster children. You must include the children's names and the amount of "personal use" income the children received last month, and an adult must sign the form.

Will the form be verified? Your eligibility may be checked at any time during the school year. School officials may ask you to send written evidence that shows that your children should get free or reduced-price school meals.

Can I appeal the school's decision? You can talk to school officials if you do not agree with the school's decision on your form. You also may ask for a fair hearing by calling or writing to:

> Phone: 754-5574

603 N. Heights, Winters, Texas 79567 Mailing Address:

Must I report changes? If your children get free or reduced-price meals because of your income, you must tell us if your household size decreases, or if your income increases by more than $50 per month or $600 per year. If your children get free meals because your household gets food stamps or TANF, you must tell us when you no longer get these benefits.

Will information on my form be kept confidential? We will use the information on your form to decide if your children should get free or reduced-price meals. We may inform officials with other child nutrition, health and education programs of the information on your form to determine benefits for those programs or for funding and/or evaluation purposes

Can I apply for free and reduced-price meals later? You may apply for free and reduced-price meals at any time during the school year. If you are not eligible now but have a change, like a decrease in household income, an increase i household size, become unemployed or get food stamps or TANF, complete another form then.

We will let you know if you are approved or denied.

Jimy Butler

Sincerely.

The building was completely remodeled on the inside, including the roof. Wooden floors were replaced with steel and concrete, walls replastered, and new doors and millwork installed. Aluminum windows, new electrical wiring, and plumbing were also added. The roof line, as on all courthouses built in the early days, was a pitched roof framed out of wood with a large cupola on top. This was removed and replaced with steel beams and joists with a concrete slab poured over the steel joists and finished with a flat roof.

- A cupola on the jail, corresponding to the one on the courthouse, was also replaced with a flat roof. A place for hanging of convicted persons who had received the death sentence was discovered in the jail cupola. Since surer, the county agent, and the no one could remember that the construction had ever been used, it was done away with.

each end of the courthouse and constructed from stone out of the original quarry, which is located to the right of the Paint Rock highway, just after crossing the Colorado River. Dee Oliver recalled The monument was erected in the location of the old quarry and 1919 by Mr. and Mrs. Gus Noyes showed the contractor how and as a tribute to their son, Charles, where to secure the rock. The new and all Texas cowboys. Charles stones looked bright and shiny and the old building was sandblasted to correspond to the new additions. Even at that time, stone cutting was almost a lost art and stone cutters had to be imported from various parts of Texas to cut and carve the stone.

One of the most colorful characters during this period of history was a justice of the peace named B.W. (Chop) Pilcher. Pilcher ran a saloon in the early days of Ballinger. He was a rough and ready character that could meet and command any situation that might arise in his business or elsewhere. Whenever he called the court to order, he always had one opening remark. He rapped the gavel on top of the bench and exclaimed, "Me and the state is ready, what sayeth the defendant?"

The courthouse grounds are beautifully landscaped being sodded with grass in 1952, and pecan and live oak trees set out the following year. Again in 1956, the courthouse was repainted and redecorated with a new lighting system installed throughout. Overnight accommodations for mixed juries was provided with three new dormitories on the third floor. Seven other offices moved to the third floor from the first floor were the surveyor, auditor, treahome demonstration agent. An elevator was also installed.

The most unusual feature in the A two-story wing was built on lawn is a sculptured bronze statue of a cowboy and his horse by Pompeo Coppini of Chicago, which draws much attention from visitors and passersby. Many tourists stop to view this work of art. died when his horse fell while rounding up cattle on the Noyes Ranch. Coppini studied horses two years before attempting the statue.

There was no Bible study on Monday morning.

Nila Osborne's sister, Doris Tippett, and Cindy Porter and daughters of Odessa spent the weekend with Nila and Therin. On Saturday, they visited Delores Parks in Glen Cove. On Sunday, Karen and Wesley McGallian, Stefanie and Simon Camacho, and Louise Osborne visited.

Enjoying Sunday dinner with Margie were Carol and Mike Kozelsky, Cookie VanZandt and sons Brad and Corey.

The ladies spent the afternoon shopping in Coleman and Ballinger.

Daughter and son-in-law Hildegarde and Calvin Schovajsa of San Angelo spent Saturday with me. We found plenty to do. We are getting ready for winter by cutting firewood.

Selma Wilkerson returned Tuesday after spending 13 days in Australia. She had gone with a Baptist group. Bob, Maurine, and Selma Scott of Sweetwater and Mildred Morrison spent Saturday with Selma.

Happy birthday Fairey and many more.

S.K. Alexander of Austin came up and spent some days with Helen Alexander.

After eating Sunday dinner at the Hopewell Church, Coleman Foreman went to be with Lawan. Brenda and Richard Chambliss of Blackwell spent Sunday with Pat and Earl Cooper. Lanny Lacy of Granbury came Saturday.

Those enjoying supper and homemade ice cream Wednesday night in the home of Harvey Mae and Noble Faubion were Ray and Aletha Guevera, Eileen and Kenny Cartwright, and Wayne Kraatz and Tanya New.

Eileen had a real long enjoyable talk with Ruth Pape of Mexico. Ruth recently saw her first hale storm after living a long time in Mexico.

Visiting Noble and Harvey Mae Faubion during the week were Marvin Gerhart, Doris Wood, and Walter Pape who is home after a trip to Alaska.

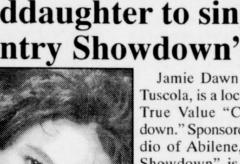

I received "happy birthday" phone calls during the week from Aunt Rosa, 94, of California; Josie and Pauline of California; and Rowano, Mitch, and Matilda of Elkins, New Mexico. Aunt Rosa says hello to everyone back home in Winters. She takes The Enterprise.

Dennis, Audine, and Roy McBeth were gone most of June; in fact, 26 days, to see part of the world. They travelled over 7,000 miles. A few places they visited were a national park in Montana, Canada, and the Mount Helen Volcanos. They enjoyed the cool weather.

Mrs. Erron Hodges was buried in the Crews Cemetery last Friday. She was once a resident of the Crews community and is the sister of Mrs. Earldean Damron of Ballinger.

Brother Ferris and Ramona Akins and son Marty were in Dallas last weekend on business.

Police Beat

The information below is taken from reports on file with the Winters Police Department. Some of the information is provided to police by citizens, and in some cases, police have not finished investigating the reports. These reports make up a small percentage of the total calls the Department receives and responds to each week. Winters Police Department reports received and/or investigated from Sunday, July 23, 2000, through Saturday, July 29, 2000. Winters Police Officers:

· received a call from a young woman who claimed her sister-in-law was walking down Frisco Street intoxicated, holding an infant., The responding officer contacted the woman with the baby a short time later. She was lying down just inside the front door of a house on Arlington Street, with the baby resting on her chest. The officer observed that the house was clearly not fit for habitation, especially for a small infant. After the officer tried to coax the woman into finding a safer place for her and her baby to stay for the night, she refused to leave and began cursing loudly. The officer called for backup to assist in finding a solution to this incident. The backup officer's attempts at getting the woman to leave were also futile, and the woman's mother and husband also made attempts to get her to put the baby in a safer situation. During this whole ordeal, the woman was repeatedly warned by officers to stop cursing loudly, or she would be arrested for disorderly conduct. She continued to use profane language, and at that point, the officers decided to make the arrest. While attempting to arrest the suspect, one of the officers was kicked and bitten by the suspect, and both officers had to struggle to make the woman comply with their commands. The suspect was repeatedly warned to stop resisting, or she would be subdued with a chemical spray. the suspect did not stop resisting, and was then sprayed with a chemical agent and arrested. Tiffany Perkins of Winters was charged with disorderly conduct, resisting arrest, assault on a peace officer, endangering a child, and retaliation.

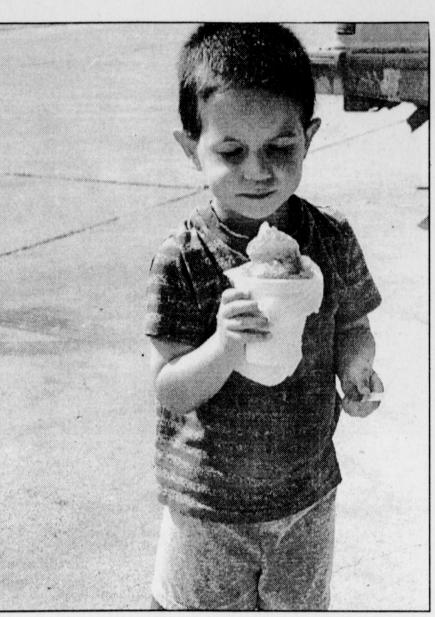

• received a call of a stolen riding lawn mower from the 500 block of E. Vancil. The victim stated that she and her husband had last seen the mower on Friday, July 21, before they left town for the weekend. The couple arrived back in town that Saturday, but didn't notice that the mower was missing until Sunday morning. The mower had been parked in the backyard, next to the tool shed. The mower was described as a red Murray riding lawn mower, model #300544X92A. The above offense is being investigated as a Class A misdemeanor theft. There are no suspects at this time.

· received a call of a burglary of a motor vehicle from the 700 block of E. Truett. The victim informed the responding officer that she had left her purse inside her vehicle, which was parked in front of her residence. The purse and its contents were taken from the victim's car. The contents of the purse were as follows: 4 new quarters, a payroll check, a Social Security card, driver's license, and personal checkbook. The responding officer searched the neighborhood for the stolen items, but was unable to located them. There are no suspects at this time.

· stopped a vehicle for crossing through the Gene Wheat gas station parking lot to avoid stopping at the Parsonage Street stop sign. When the officer made contact with the vehicle's occupants, the driver informed the officer that they were travelling from Houston to Liberal, Kansas. One of the passengers did not speak English, and another had to translate for him. When asked his place of birth, he told the officer he was born in Mexico but was visiting his father in Liberal, Kansas. When the officer asked the

Federal funds available for housing in rural areas

Zero down payment for rural homeownership

Steven A. Carriker, State Director, Texas USDA Rural Development, announced that even though the fiscal year is quickly drawing to a close, there are still ample federal funds available for Guaranteed Rural Housing loans. Borrowers can often get these loans with no down payment.

To be eligible for financing, the home must be located in a rural community with less than 10,000 in population, on a farm or in open country, not closely associated with an urban area. Under certain circumstances, loans can be made in towns and cities between 10,000 and 25,000 in population.

"Never assume an area is not eligible under the guaranteed loan program. We encourage anyone interested in owning their own home to call the Brownwood Office for details on eligible areas," said Carriker.

- A ONE MINUTE SYNOPSIS-

The story unfolds atop the steep and scenic bluffs overlooking the wild and beautiful Frio River...

"Did you go FuFu?," demands The High Priestess.

"Huh... what?," stammers Queen FuFu, fondling her golden locks.

'Don't 'huh' me! Did you FuFu up?

"You did didn't you? We agreed on no FuFu and you still FuFu'ed!

We said no make-up or fixing our hair and you did it anyway!," puffs The High Priestess, her swollen eyes and splotched cheeks with benefit of neither Cover Girl nor Maybelline.

"Well..." smiles Queen FuFu

"That was the rule ... no FuFu! steams Lady Sunburn, her blondtipped hair tangled, matted, and plastered about her head, black roots shining and her nose as red as a fox's foot.

"We're standing here like two scorched and burned-alive river rats and there you are all FuFu'ed!" "When do we eat!," hollers Hog #1.

"I'm hungry!," yells Hog #2. "Does anyone have any sunblock?," pants Lady Sunburn. "Einstein ... where's Einstein?," says Queen Fufu.

"We're going to look for boys or run over somebody with the 4wheeler!," states The Lace, flanked on the right by The River Princess, on the left by Trigger and Bar the Door.

"Has anyone seen my blow-dryer?," inquires Queen FuFu. "We're going tubing down the Frio," decrees The High Priestess.

"The river is so low, so stay together in the flotilla," she commands.

"If you hang up on a river rock, just holler for The RiverScum and he will come running!

"And about that RiverScumdon't talk to him or say anything nice to him. He responds to hand signals and he is here as a servant only."

"I left my swim suit at home!," shouts Bruce.

"Where's that RiverScum, we have coolers and chairs to haul," scowls The High Priestess.

'Yes'm... yes'm... I'll get right to it," vows The RiverScum.

"I'm hungry!," says Hog #1. "Where's the Cheetos?," says Hog #2.

"Oh, just shut up, you stupid idiots!," snaps Bar the Door.

"Einstein ... where's Einstein?," panics The Lace.

"Worthless mutt," mutters Bruce under his breath.

"We will be having sandwiches for lunch," orders The High Priestess

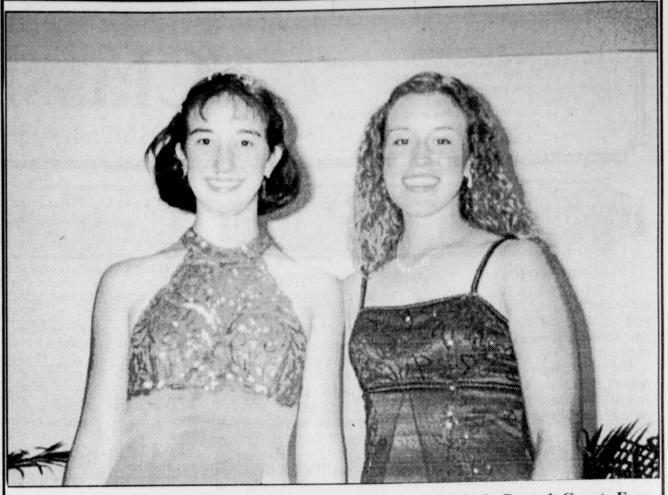

"What the ... all the lunch meat and bread and chips and dip and pickles and Cokes and Dr. Peppers and Pepsis and cookies and muffins and candy we had for lunch... it's all gone ... " frowns Lady Sunburn.

"And I'm still hungry?," grunts Hog #1.

"Me too!," squeals Hog #2. "Somebody tell that River-Scum we've got towels and tubes to tote up from the river," demands The High Priestess.

"Yes'm... yes'm... I'll fetch them tubes ...," obliges The when Johnsongrass, sudan, sorghum-sudan hybrids or grain sorghums are grazed immediately after a killing frost. However, prussic acid (often referred to as hydrocyanic acid) may also accumulate to toxic levels when it rains causing new growth in drought-stressed plans.

Prussic acid is normally not present in healthy growing plants. It develops only when the normal growth of plants has been retarded or stopped by drought, wilting, trampling, bruising, or following a frost. Highest prussic acid content generally occurs within a week after rain stimulates new growth of retarded plants.

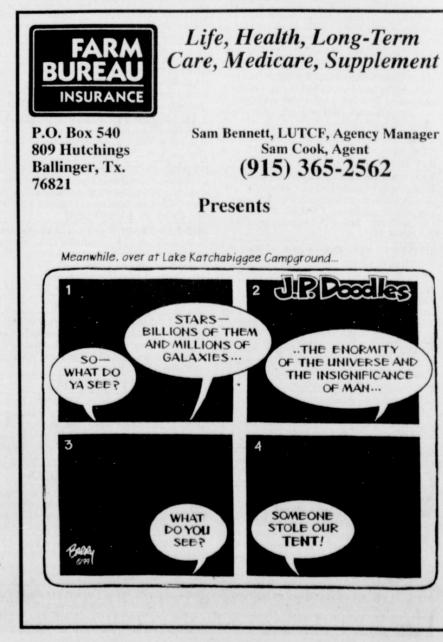

animals. It is one of the most potent, rapidly acting poisons known. When a lethal dose is consumed, an animal can die in a few minutes. A characteristic sign of prussic acid poisoning is a bright cherry-red color of the blood that persists hours after death.

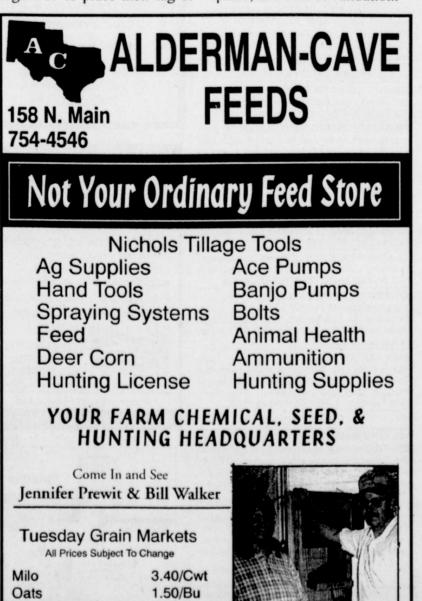

Livestock should be kept off new growth following rains for two or three weeks. They should be turned into a field when they are full rather than hungry. One animal might be turned in ahead of others and watched for several house before turning in the herd.

A field test is available for prussic acid at the Runnels County Extension Office.

The first lie detector was developed by John Larsen in 1921.
