Winters economy continues to grow in 2000

by Randall Conner, WABIC Director of Economic Development

Business growth in Winters has good. Dry's is in the process of been good in 2000, despite the adding $2,000,000 in production worst drought in many years.

The manufacturing businesses once again led the local economy, with both Dry Manufacturing (U.S. Industries) and John's International (Contico, a Katy Corp.) showing considerable growth. Aluminum tool box production, especially in the hand tool boxes has outpaced the growth expectations of Contico's management and projections are for 2001 to be even better. Dry's has increased overall production. Housing starts continue to increase nationwide, with crop insurance and federal so the sale potential for Dry's in the air conditioning vent and related product lines is still quite with the overall ag industry for the equipment.

The agricultural industry suffered a serious setback with the drought of 2000. Runnels County had the smallest crop production (wheat, grain sorghum, and cotton) on record. Of 121,000 acres of wheat planted in Runnels County last year, 27 acres were harvested. With the lack of water and grazing, livestock numbers dropped to the lowest point in county history. Most farmers and ranchers will be able to survive disaster payments.

Agri-businesses have suffered past three years. Alderman-Cave did well with feed sales during the drought, but as livestock numbers decreased, so did feed sales and the potential for future sales. Their elevators handled very little locally produced grain.

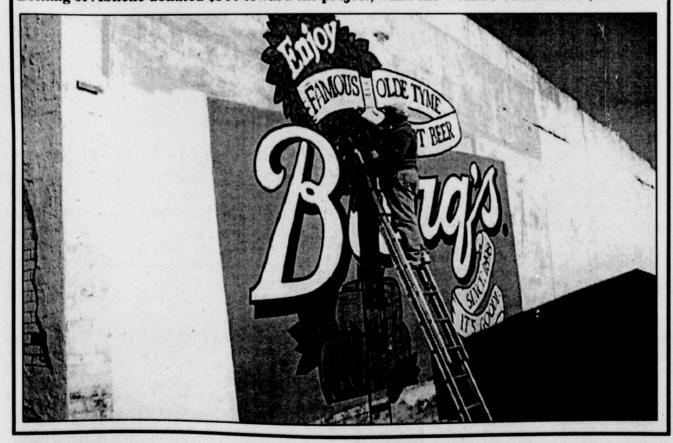

The burnout of the Alderman-Cave, Roswell plant, in 1999 increased feed production in Winters, but affected their overall sales in New Mexico and far West Texas. The effect of the drought on Alderman-Cave has been serious locally, but it has been moderated some by the company being spread over a large sales area.

Wingate Gin and Elevator ginned 55 bales of cotton in 2000,

A NEW LOOK FOR THE NEW YEAR can be found on the south wall of the old Spill Machine Shop building in the 200 block of South Main, next to the fire station. A project of the Winters Business and Industrial Corporation in an on-going effort to beautify the city, the painting was done by Rick Thane of Abilene. According to project chairman Dan Killough, several layers of old paintings as shown above were studied in an effort to duplicate some of the layers. Coca-Cola Bottling of Abilene donated $500 toward the project, while the WABIC contributed $250.

Ballinger woman leaves half million $$$$$ to WTRC

A bequest of more than half a them, launched Cattlemen's million dollars has been received by West Texas Rehabilitation Center from the estate of the late Bonnie Clark of Ballinger.

Miss Clark, who died on January 5, 1999, directed in her will that the gift be given in memory of the late Mr. and Mrs. Conda Wylie and Nettie Curry, all of whom had been very supportive of WTRC during their lifetimes. In fact, Mr. and Mrs. Wylie donated cattle to the Rehab in 1960 and by encouraging others to join Round-Up for Rehab, now in its 41st year as an important Rehab fund-raising program.

Born in Crews on May 6, 1910, Bonnie Clark became the companion and caregiver to Nettie Currie of Ballinger in 1957. After Mrs. Currie's death, Miss Clark was a caregiver to Mr. and Mrs. Wylie until their deaths.

The $550,000 bequest to the Rehab represents the bulk of Miss Clark's estate and is among the largest bequests ever received by

"I did not have the privilege of knowing Bonnie Clark," said WTRC's recently named president Woody Gilliland, "but I do have the distinct honor of accepting this exceptional gift in behalf of a grateful organization—and pledging that it will be used as I'm certain Miss Clark would direct. To make a positive difference in the lives of all who come to Rehab for help in overcoming the disabling effects of illness and in-

"Culinary Queens" honored for service to Lions Club by Jean Boles, editor

The Lions Club motto, "We Serve," has had a special meaning for some good-hearted

For more than fifty years, a group of talented cooks have been serving delicious meals to members of the Winters Lions Club.

But, as the Bible says, "To everything there is a season," and the time has come for the members of the Winters Catering Club to hang up their aprons and retire.

According to Lifetime Lions Club member Homer Hodge who joined in 1946, the Winters Catering Club first served the Lions in a small one-room building on West Dale Street. For the past twenty years or so the group has met at the Winters Community

Mr. Hodge said that during the 1940s and '50s, the Lions Club membership numbered around 100, so the weekly meals were quite an undertaking.

The chief cook was Essie Chapmond who, over the years, worked with various women including Wilma McBeth, Lula Steele, Nera Eoff, Agnes Selge, Danford. Mrs. Steele joined the 91 years old.

SPECIAL COOKS HONORED recently by the Winters Lions Club for their years of service include (l-r) Adeline Grissom, Hattie Minzenmayer, Nila Osborne, and Hilda Kurtz. These

Wes Hays, Jr., to serve as interim superintendent

With the recent resignation of principal in Hamlin, and interim WISD Superintendent Mike Harris, trustees of the school voted in a called meeting on December 20, to hire West Hays, Jr., as interim superintendent.

Hays is a 1962 graduate of Winters High School and a 1967 graduate of Hardin-Simmons University. He received his masters degree and did post-graduate work at Tarleton State University.

He brings to the Winters school system more than thirty years of teaching experience in various capacities. After serving in the U.S. Army in Germany for two years, Hays began his educational career and served as band director for nine years, elementary principal for six years, assistant superintendent for five years, and superintendent for nine.

His career has taken him to schools in Knox City, Holliday, Graham, Miles and Rotan before retiring in 1996. Since his "official retirement," he has served as interim elementary principal in Anson, interim middle school superintendent at Cisco, Aspermont, Rule and Rochester.

When Hays wasn't at school, he spent time building an experimental RV6A airplane which he plans to fly in his travels with wife Becky, who retired after teaching school for 25 years.

The couple live in Rotan and have two grown children and two grandchildren.

On returning to his old "stompin' grounds" Hays is quick to say that this interim job will be "most special to me because this is my hometown.'

He continues, "It's an unusual feeling — coming home — but I'm really excited about being here. I know the school board is interested in finding just the right person to fill the superintendent position as soon as possible. I've had some experience in this type of situation and will help them as much as possible."

He is the son of longtime Winters residents, Wes and June Hays, who now live in the Novice area.

Class of 2002— Chicken Fried Steak Dinner Friday night

The WHS Class of 2002 will host a Chicken Fried Steak Dinner on Friday, January 5, 2001, during the Jim Ned junior high basketball games.

Oil Bidness

By Reg Boles ©2000

Someway or another, a big development in the oil and gas business has escaped notice by the mainstream media.

But, never fear, we will cover the subject thoroughly in this

It seems that while we were doing our Christmas shopping, oil prices have dropped 30 percent! Now, I know the readers of this column are of above-average intelligence and discernment, so you are all aware of this huge gash in profit potential for producers. But, there are many who only remember that last headline that screamed oil prices had tripled.

While a 30-percent drop after a 200-percent increase may not sound very significant, let me put this in another way to provide a different perspective.

While prices were up 200 percent (from $12/barrel) when they peaked at $35 per barrel, they are now only up about half that much from the lowest levels in history.

Consider such a drop in revenue for any other type of business. Suppose you could buy a brand new car for $14,000 instead of $20,000? Or, what if you could purchase a loaf of bread for 80 cents (not on sale) instead of $1.20?

Do you think these industries would be screaming for relief from unfair pricing trends?

But, from the same media that exploded with news of price gouging a few short months ago, there is a deafening silence regarding the recent price declines.

Now, to be honest, I don't expect the public to hear about every dip and spike in prices in the oil business. This is a cyclical industry, so there are always price inflections. However, I do think the coverage is unbalanced toward the upward spikes.

As I have said many times before, there is risk in this business. To keep the business viable, there are also rewards commensurate with the risk. Pricing is one of those risks, and that means prices spike up and down. Masking this risk and reward is not healthy.

If the public only considers the rewards of the oil business, because that's all they hear about, then there is no appreciation for the risk. And, without a full appreciation for the spectrum of risk and reward, a feeling of entitlement to the products of the industry is developed.

This idea of entitlement ignores the costs of producing energy and creates distrust between

This last summer, we lost a dear friend. She was Ramona's sister-in-law, Beverly. Married to Ramona's brother. We were close. When they had their first child and we had our first, too, we went to Yellowstone Park on Labor Day weekend. All three of the kids were in diapers... and this was before the disposable ones! I'm not sure how the wives handled it, but, somehow, we made out.

We made it to Old Faithful just before dark. That gave us time to set up our tent, get some firewood for the pit, build a fire, make some supper and coffee, warm the bottles for the kids, and warm up ourselves and the sleeping bags... for the weather dropped about 35 degrees in just a few minutes. And then we settled in for the evening.

During the night, we heard some strange noises. I definitely remember hearing some deep breathing, more like a soft huffing and puffing, just a few feet away from where I was sleeping. Whatever it was, we were separated only by the wall of the tent! A short while later, Erling, my brother-in-law, heard some loud banging. Like the sound you make when you throw something to the ground or the floor... in frustration because you can't get the durn thing open! But he didn't leave the tent. The rest of us slept right through.

The next morning, we discovered what the noise was all about. Our neighbors, in the tent site next to ours, had left their fancy, well-built ice chest on their picnic table. Well-latched! So well that our night visitor, one of the friendly brown bears in the neighborhood, tried to force it open by throwing it to the ground, or the table, whatever hard surface he could find. It didn't work. And, after he was done banging it to the ground, our neighbor couldn't open it either!

On top of all that, when we stuck our noses out of the tent, we were greeted by three inches of new fallen snow. Apart from the fact that it was cold out there, it was amazingly beautiful. In the mountains. In the valleys. We headed home, and by the time we got back to Hardin, where we lived, the sun was shining, and it was warm again.

In the following 40 some years, Ramona and I had many good times with Erling and Beverly. So also our kids. We had five, and they had four. Not all of our relatives were so eager and happy to see us as Erling and Bev. But they were. And they always had room for us and took time from their farming to make us feel "at home." This was especially good for Ramona, since they were living and farming on the "homeplace." Where Ramona lived until the time she married me. All but about 1-1/2 years when she worked in Minneapolis.

So, every time we got together there, it was "coming home." And Bev was always there to greet us, receive us, feed us, and love us. There were family times together at graduations, weddings, reunions, and other happy times. And, sometimes...linot so happy.

This past summer, we had several really good times together. The last one was on a Wednesday evening. We were in town visiting Ramona's oldest brother and his wife... she is in a nursing home. It was close to supper time when we were leaving and decided to call Erling and Bev. "How about we come out with a pizza, and we spend a few hours together?" 'Sure, it sounds good." So we did. And it was a very good time... our last supper together. She died the following Saturday. We miss her. And for sure, Erling and his family.

The holidays are toughest for those who are grieving. It's hard to be happy when there is a big hole in your soul. An emptiness. And it's hard to know what to say. But just today, I received a poem from a church bulletin that helps... very much. So I share it with you. The title is:

"I'm Spending Christmas in Heaven" I see the countless Christmas trees around the world below, With tiny lights, live Heaven's stars, reflecting on the snow. The sight is spectacular, please wipe away that tear, Because I'm spending Christmas Day with Jesus Christ this

I hear the many Christmas songs that people hold so dear But the sounds of music can't compare with the Christmas choir

I have no words to tell the joy their beautiful voices bring, It is beyond description to hear the angels sing.

I know how much you miss me, I see the pain inside your heart, But it's only for a little while that we will be apart. I will ask Him to light your spirit, as I tell Him of your love,

So please pray for one another as you lift your eyes above. I can't tell you of the splendor or the peace here in this place, Can't you just imagine Christmas with our Savior face to face? Please let your hearts be joyful and let your spirit sing

I'm spending Christmas in Heaven, and I'm walking with the King.

I can imagine Bev sending such a poem to become a prayer. The author is "unknown." Maybe it was an angel. But for sure it is of God. And that's why it brings comfort to all who have suffered the loss of a loved one. Because it puts us in contact with Him who is Love. And "Love bears all things, believes all things, hopes all things, endures all things." Amen.

"I have had excellent service in every way from this company. I especially appreciate the way they look after the claims from hospitals, doctors, etc. I don't have to worry with it. When a claim comes to my address I just sent it to Gehrels & Associates and there are no more hassels or bother on my part. I also appreciate the quick response to claim payments."

San Saba, TX

"I have been a client of Gehrels & Associates about 7 years. I couldn't be happier with our association. They find me the best policy for the lowest premium. I pay the premium and that's it — they do the rest — no hassle for me. I've never been disappointed."

Erline Springer

"For several years Billie and I have had Medicare supplements with Gehrels and Associates. We are well pleased with the service and recommend them to anyone. In addition, I office in the same building and have observed their customer service on many occasions. The customers leave with smiling faces."

Business couple defends new store and name

Dear Editor:

our store since we've been open and have either ask us about some rumors that have apparently been started out of jealousy and spite, or to deliver messages to us, so Terry and I thought it was about time for us to respond to a few not only rumors but some very slandering remarks that are being made to people as to the name of our store!

First, I did not get run off from Gray's: Everyone knows that I have a terminal illness that requires a lot of medication, treatments, etc. I was working parttime at Gray's to help Terry. I went through a very intense major surgery recently that hurt us bad financially.

I turned my keys into Gray's in order to take a job in Abilene that paid more (but) I had to quit the Abilene job due to more health problems.

We had several people talk to us about opening our own store and found out that two other individuals were thinking of opening one. We decided, like anyone else, when the opportunity is there, take it. Why keep settling for crumbs when you can have the whole cracker?

Second, the statement about the name of our store — DeeTee's Video & More — "More" is be-

The oil servicing industry has shown significant improvement in the Winters area this year, due to the increase in oil prices. PPS, Inc. moved into the former Winters Welding Works facilities and expanded their operations. The other well servicing and supply companies have all seen good growth this year, after several years of weak oil prices.

The year 2000 has been a good year for new retail businesses in Winters. Dr. Dan Killough, chiropractor, opened his office at the beginning of the year. Winters Auto Tech and Tire Center, Granny's Laundromat, Dollar General, and Shifflett Production Services, all opened earlier in the year. Later in the year, DeeTee's Video and More, Efrain's Appliance Repair, Cottonwood Real Estate, Maverick Pest Control and Emerald Fair opened.

Crews News

By Hilda Kurtz

I've learned those small daily happenings that make life so spectacular.

The Crews community will have their supper Saturday, January 6, at 6 p.m. at the gym. Bring your favorite friend and your favorite dish.

Funeral services were Tuesday morning for Walter Pape of Santa Anna. He passed away Tuesday, December 26, in Colorado. He has two sons, Walter and William, and a sister, Harvey Mae Faubion.

Adeline Grissom's children gathered Christmas day in her home to exchange gifts after the turkey dinner. Her children came from Abilene, Winters, Midland, Ballinger, and Crews. Happy New Year to you and all out there!

Leona and Roy Matthies's Christmas day guests were Martene and E.C. Hall of Dallas, Abe and Pat Giles of Brownwood, and Billy Senton of Coleman.

From Thursday until Sunday morning, Selma Wilkerson had the Lowerlying family in her home. Visiting over the holidays were Louis and Dana Caitlin of Wichita, Kansas; Lee and Judy Harrison of Winters; and Jimmy, Frances, Garrett, and Katie Chapman of Ballinger.

Katherine's son, Luke Grissom, spent the Christmas weekend in Dallas with some of his relatives.

Nila and Therin Osborne spent Christmas Eve with their daughter and son-in-law, Karen and Wesley McGallian, in Wingate. On Tuesday, they enjoyed supper together. Also present were Louise Osborne of Winters, John McGallian, and Simon and Stefanie Camacho. On Christmas Day, all had dinner and exchanged

During Christmas, Joe and Betty Pierce had their grandchildren at the Pierce home for the holidays. Present were Richard McCullough and girls Heather, Mindy, and Kayla of Brownwood; John and Deddie Prise of Midland; Jenny Doyle and son Pierce of Lowake; and Rex Ray of Mozelle. During the week, Sal Doyle of Ballinger and Pierce Doyle visited. Later in the week, Betty and Joe traveled to Wharton to visit with Joe's sister, Virginia Smith, and Dorcas Brooks.

On Saturday, Lilly Presley enjoyed all her family from Arlington, Fort Worth, Austin, and Winters for Christmas.

I enjoyed my families Christmas Eve Sunday. We ate turkey dinner and played games and exchanged gifts.

The Duggans and Browns spent Christmas Day in the Mansell home. Ten exchanged gifts and feasted. Linda's brother and his family, Roy and Dawn Brown and sons of Ruidoso, New Mexico, spent the holiday with the Duggans.

Pat and Earl Cooper spent Christmas Day with daughter Brenda Chambliss and her husband Richard at Oak Creek. Their families enjoyed turkey, etc.

Juanita Shields's grandson Chris of Abilene is staying awhile with her. She enjoyed a quiet Christmas.

Fairy and Wilbert Allcorn's Christmas guests were Linda and Johnny Deason, the Donald Allcorn family, the Dennis Allcorn family, and Mae Gorman of Houston. Fairy and Wilbert enjoyed Christmas Day dinner with Donna and Donald Allcorn at Sterling City.

Twenty-one were present in the Doris Wood home on Christmas Day. They enjoyed dinner and exchanged gifts.

Margie Jacob's children spent Christmas Day with her. Gifts were exchanged, and games played. Present were Sharon and Jerry Engler of Brownwood; Brenda Jacob of Midland; Carol and Mike Kozelsky; Beverly VanZandt; Corey and Brad VanZandt of Lubbock; Kathryn, Scott, and Jeanna Kozelsky of Spending New Year's Eve playing dominoes with Margie were Selma Wilkerson and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Gerhart.

Margie visited with Sybill Waller on Saturday. After having a Mexican dinner, they played Skipbo all evening. Ernestine Glass and Faye Wheeler played with them.

Brenda Jacob of Midland spent a week at home during the holidays visiting with her mom and relatives. She, Beverly VanZandt, and Carol and Kathryn Kozelsky attended a birthday party for Jeri Duncan on Saturday.

Evelyn and Margie Jacob spent New Year's Day with Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Schrarer of Miles.

Texas awarded $24.3 million high performance bonus from HHS for welfare reform advances

Texas's continued success in a job placement for welfare recipients has garnered the state $24.3 other states to emulate," Texas million high performance bonus from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services

HHS announced December 27, 2000, that Texas is among 28 states receiving performance bonuses for superior results in welfare reform. Texas's $24,312,838 share of the $200 million awarded by HHS is an almost $8 million increase over Texas's 1999 bonus and the second largest amount awarded in 2000. This award was the maximum amount Texas was eligible to receive based on the state's portion of the Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) block grant.

Texas's award was based upon its second consecutive top 10 performance in job placement performance. Texas's continued success in this category is a direct result of the state's landmark welfare reform laws that facilitate employment for those who are ready, willing, and prepared to move off of the welfare rolls.

For the last two years, HHS has awarded the high performance bonuses to states with the greatest success in helping parents on welfare find and maintain jobs and increase earnings. Reports were submitted by 48 states and the District of Columbia indicating that more that 1.2 million parents went to work in the period between October 1, 1998, and September 30, 1999. Rehab 2001 airs January 13; lineup includes new talent ter president, has announced the lineup of performers for the 31st annual telethon to benefit the Center. Rehab 2001 is set for January 13 and will be carried by television stations in twelve markets in Texas and Oklahoma.

Gilliland stated that this year's telethon reflects the Center's commitment to bring a fresh, new look to the show. "We have made every effort to add wellknown contemporary performers to our cast of regulars," said Gilliland. This year's show will feature one of the top female vocalists in country music and one of the best known country music talk show hosts in the business. Lee Ann Womack, whose song "I Hope You Dance" garnered the Country Music Association's coveted Single of the Year honor this year, will headline the entertainers for Rehab 2001. The talented singer is a Grammy-, CMA-, ACM-nominated vocalist. Womack grew up in Jacksonville, Texas, and attended South Plains College in Levelland.

Also appearing for the first time on this year's telethon is one of the most respected talk show hosts in the country music genre. His career has spanned more than three decades, and he is credited with launching the ca-

Woody Gilliland, Rehab Cen-reers of a number of today's country music superstars. He is best known for teaming with Lorianne Crook for The Nashville Network's long-running "Crook and Chase." He also is a host for "Country Countdown," a nationally syndicated radio show carried by nearly 500 radio stations nationwide.

Also joining this year's talent lineup are the Geezinslaws. For many years, the Geezinslaws have been regulars on a number of shows on The Nashville Network. The Austin-based comedy duo combines their considerable musical ability with the downhome comedic talents.

Jay Michaels and his band, Company, will also be making their first appearance on the statewide telethon. Michaels is a popular vocalist and songwriter living in the Metroplex. He got his start in Abilene with the well-known band, Bareback.

Regulars returning for the show include Peter Marshall, Anacani, Bill and Susan Hayes, Florence LaRue, Brad Maule, and the Cooper Fiddlers. Nine-yearold Sidney Simpson of Abilene will also appear center stage during the show.

Television stations in Abilene, San Angelo, Midland/Odessa, Lubbock, and Amarillo, all in Texas, and Lawton, Oklahoma, carry the telethon. In addition, the yearlong fund-raising effort.

program is aired in Austin, Waco, Corpus Christi, and Laredo.

The Rehab 2001 event also features an auction which can be accessed nation-wide via the Internet. An estimated $150,000 in merchandise has been donated for the auction board. There will be a one-hour live telecast on television stations in Abilene and San Angelo at 6:00 p.m. preceding the five-hour Rehab 2001 telecast.

In addition, those wishing to get in on the auction action are encouraged to click on the official website: <www.WestTexas Rehab.org>. The site is up now and information is posted. Also bids on the items are now being accepted via the Internet.

This year Associated Publishing-Area-Wide Phone Books has joined AEP-WTU as corporate sponsors for the show. The show traditionally raises about $1 million to help the West Texas Rehabilitation Center with facilities in Abilene, San Angelo, and Ozona to provide services to some 17,000 men, women, and children with disabilities.

Almost 1/3 of the Center's annual operating budget of $12 million must come from private contributions. The telethon launches the Rehab Center's

Police Beat

The information below is taken from reports on file with the Winters Police Department. Some of the information is provided to police by citizens, and in some cases, police have not finished investigating the reports. These reports make up a small percentage of the total calls the Department receives and responds to each week. Winters Police Department reports received and/or investigated from Sunday, December 17, 2000, through Saturday, December 30, 2000. Winters Police Officers:

· observed a 1985 Chevy enter into an alley near Willow and Rogers streets and park with two occupants inside. Officers believed the actions of the subjects to be suspicious and investigated. A strong odor of alcohol was detected on the male driver and a female passenger. The driver was offered and subsequently failed several field sobriety tasks. As officers advised the driver he was under arrest for driving while intoxicated, the driver made several threats against officers and was also charged with retaliation. Santos Reyna of Winters was then taken to Runnels County Jail. The female was released into a sober adult's custody and not charged.

· while arresting the aforementioned subject for D.W.I., received a call regarding an accident with injuries. Investigation determined that Maria Gonzales of Ballinger had disregarded a stop sign and struck another vehicle occupied by three subjects. Mrs. Gonzales fled the accident scene, but returned a short time later with visible head injuries and glass particles in her hair. Field sobriety tasks were offered and failed by Mrs. Gonzales. She was arrested for driving while intoxicated and failure to stop and render aid as two of the subjects were injured as a result of the accident. The driver of the other car, Jose Vega of Winters, was also determined to be intoxicated. He was also arrested for driving while intoxicated and both subjects were taken to Runnels County

TxDOT offers critical lifelines during adverse driving conditions

Like the popular television show that provides a lifeline to phone a friend, the Texas Department of Transportation (TxDOT) has two critical lifelines for mo-

Before traveling, check road conditions by calling 1-800-452-9292. For emergency situations, call the Stranded Motorist Hotline at 1-800-525-5555.

Additional winter driving tips offered by TxDOT include:

 Remember that ice generally forms on bridges, overpasses, and in shady areas first. If hitting a patch of ice, stay off the brakes and decelerate slowly.

· Be cautious when approaching slow-moving sand trucks and other emergency vehicles.

The final answer to how to react on icy streets and highways is defensive driving, according to Patsy Rainwater-Maddux, public information officer from the San Angelo District.

"Buckle up and drive safely," Rainwater-Maddux said.

For a copy of the emergency phone numbers and winter driving tips, stop by the San Angelo District Office at 4502 Knickerbocker Road.

To check road conditions, call the Texas Department of

PUBLIC NOTICE

At their regular meeting held on Monday, December 18, 2000, the City Council of the City of Winters approved a Cross-Connection Control and Prevention Ordinance requiring backflow prevention devices. The classifications of hazards are as fol-

Degree of hazard - shall mean the low or high hazard classification that shall be attached to all actual or potential cross-connections as fol-

(a) Health hazard — means an actual or potential threat of contamination of a physical or toxic nature to the public potable water system or the consumer's potable water system that would be a danger to health.

(b) High hazard — means the classification assigned to an actual or potential cross-connection that potentially could allow a substance that may cause illness or death to backflow into the potable water sup-

(c) Low hazard — means a classification assigned to an actual or potential cross-connection that potentially could allow a substance that may be objectionable but not hazardous to one's health to backflow into the potable water system.

(d) Pollution hazard --- means an actual or potential threat to the physical properties of the water system or the potability of the public or the consumer's potable water system but which would not constitute a health or system hazard, as defined.

(e) System hazard — means an actual or potential threat of severe danger to the physical properties of the public or consumer's potable water supply or of a pollution or contamination that would have a detrimental effect on the quality of the potable water in the system.

Each of these hazards will be inspected for and notice of violation will be delivered. Enforcement and

Letter to the Editor

NOW is the time—

Please support the youth & Winters Stock Show by purchasing shares

Ladies and Gentlemen.

Time is flying by. The annual Winters Junior Livestock Show is the weekend of January 12 & 13.

The young men and women have been gearing up and preparing animals for show. The association members have been cleaning and prepping the barns. Contributors have been purchasing shares.

Each year our local youth exhibit livestock they have spent valuable time and money on throughout the show season. They are always grateful to receive the prize money awarded by the Winters Junior Livestock Show Association for their efforts.

Whether the "champion" or the animal "needing a little more time on feed"—ALL exhibitors are monetarily rewarded for there efforts. Often times this money is used to repay loans and feed bills the kids have incurred with their animal projects.

As a loyal financial supporter of the Winters Stock Show, your contribution is vital to the continued success of our local show. We have heard back from several of our annual supporters, but their are still many who have yet to respond.

If you have not already purchased your shares, we encourage you to do so at this time. This year's show is next week—so we request that you respond just as soon as possible.

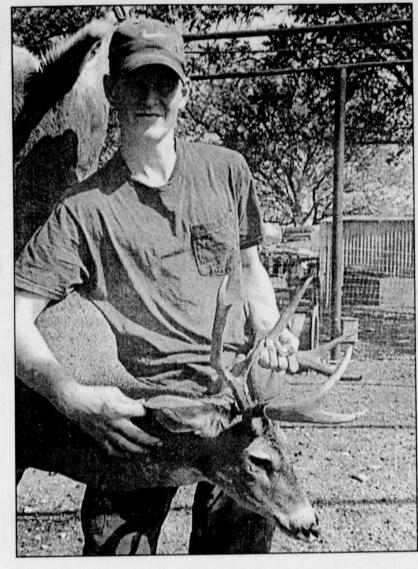

And please remember—ANY & ALL financial contributions are sincerely appreciated. EVERY penny is distributed among all of our exhibitors—going directly back to our youth.

Winters youth have long been recognized and praised as some of the best exhibitors in the state. So please come to the Winters Stock Show to see some fine livestock and great showmanship. And, support the youth of the community and this annual activity by purchasing shares in this year's show.

With Appreciation, The Winters Junior Livestock Show Association

(Editor's Note: Share donations may be given to any association member; Winters High School FFA Advisor Roy Shackelford; or Jim West, Share Coordinator, at Jimni Construction, 1001 N. Main, Winters, TX 79567.)

"Rack"ing Up Some "Points"...

...IS TRAVIS GROHMAN OF WINTERS who shares these photos of a non-typical buck he bagged in South Taylor County in late October. The 12-point buck sports 3 main beams—one normal beam on the deer's right side and 2 beams on the left. In addition, a pair of drop times were found on the backside in the middle of the rack which measured about 16" wide. Travis, 16, is the son of Freddie and Landa Grohman.
