THIS 1994 FORD VAN, belonging to Kerry and Julie Frierson of 124 Penny Lane, was a complete loss after catching fire about 1:45 p.m. Monday. Frierson said he and his wife heard a hissing sound followed by an explosive "pop." Intense heat from the engine area melted much of the interior, including the rear air conditioner vents of the car which was parked in the couple's driveway. Members of the Winters Volunteer Fire Department responded immediately to the 911 call.

New employees hired by WISD

Stage III water rates in effect as of July 9 Jack Davis Jr., water superin- 8,000 gallons tendent for the City of Winters, has announced rates for the Stage III (Severe Watering Conditions) Emergency Water Rationing Plan.

Rates will be reflected on the August 15 billing and will encompass the time period from approximately July 9 to August 9. Please note that meters are read beginning the 9th of each month, but not all meters are read on the 9th. It takes about one week to complete the process, so some meters may not actually be read on the 9th. The July 15 billing will not be charged at the new rates.

Rates are as follows: Household Inside City Limits $6.00 base charge

$2.98 per 1,000 gallons up to 8,000 gallons

$5.96 per 1,000 gallons over 8,000 gallons

Household Outside City

$9.00 base charge $4.30 per 1,000 gallons up to tering. 8,000 gallons

$8.60 per 1,000 gallons over

40,000 gallons Business Outside City Limits $9.00 base charge

$4.30 per 1,000 gallons up to 40,000 gallons

$8.60 per 1,000 gallons over 40,000 gallons

North Runnels Water Supply Corporation $2.77 per 1,000 gallons up to 40,000 gallons $5.54 per 1,000 gallons over 40,00 gallons.

"These rates will continue until water storage in Elm Creek Reservoir reaches a point that emergency rationing is no longer needed," said Davis.

Davis reminds residents that Stage III Emergency Water Rationing prohibits any outside wa-letting Iraq get the better of us--

Those guys play us like a cheap fiddle anytime there is some profit to be made of it. This time, they are using the recent alarm of shortages and rising prices for gain.

To quickly review--Iraq has been under sanctions for almost 10 years. The U.S. and the United Kingdom have been the primary supporters of keeping those sanctions in place. In the last 5 or 6 years, they have let their enforcement of those sanctions slip, with the U.S. content to keep any news of Iraq off the front page.

To illustrate just how low the hurdle of "sanctions" has fallen during the recent period of neglect, consider the following: The sanctions used to require inspections for arms of mass destruction just to keep oil sales going for humanitarian reasons. Now, there are no inspections and some countries like France and Russia think that sanctions ought to be dropped altogether.

But, back to the present...

As soon as there was some agreement around the world that there were supply deficiencies, and the fear of rising prices was reaching a crescendo, Iraq pulled another fast one. They threatened to shut down their production and suggested that they would not "agree" to any sanctions.

The world reacted immediately. "What will we do without Iraqi crude? Prices would go even higher! We must give in and drop the sanctions altogether!"

This, unfortunately, happened just as the U.S. and the U.K. were trying to win approval for "smartsanctions", which basically rewarded good behavior and punished bad behavior. (It even includes ways of bypassing Hussein in favor of transferring the benefit right to the populace.) The coalition building to institute the new sanctions was almost scuttled a Physical School Service

For some reason, we think that we need Iraq and its oil. The truth of it is that they need the money worse than we need their oil.

The Iraqis are already selling oil outside of the allowed oil-foraid volumes to some of its neighbors. And, they never really stopped selling oil when they told everybody they had!

First of all, there is sufficient capacity in OPEC to take up any slack that Iraq doesn't sell. The recent increase in prices and spot shortages around the world are refinery (particularly in the U.S.) related--not raw product related.

Secondly, Iraq is badly in need of hard currency. Sure the people need some for food and medicine, but, more importantly, they need money to keep up their military

It is hard to figure, but we are and supply the dictator with the lifestyle to which he is accus-

> We need to just tell them to take a hike if they don't want to sell oil. No panic, no offers of meeting them half way, no giving

Pastor Jim Hanson

One of my favorite memories of our years in Winters was a Boy Scout Court of Honor held at St. John's. As I recall, there was a bunch of young men who received their Eagle Scout Award that day. It truly made my heart warm to see these young men take "the Eagle Charge"... a commitment to live a life worthy of the Award. It was a time when I felt proud to be an American, and proud to have been a Boy Scout myself. And proud that our youngest son had earned his Eagle. We are staying at his home now, and I can assure you that he is grateful for his Scout Training. Another son John is a pastor in Baldwin, Wisconsin, and he is Scoutmaster of the troop. His son Peter is now a scout.

I can still remember the words of the Scout Oath: "On my honor I will do my best to do my duty to God and my country; To obey the Scout law; and To keep myself physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight."

We had to memorize this oath. We said it as part of our troop meetings. It became part of my memory system. . . along with the Pledge to Allegiance. And the Ten Commandments, the Lord's Prayer, and the Apostle's Creed. Those five I can still recite. In my mind and memory the Scout Oath is in good company.

The Boy Scouts of America has done as much if not more than any group in America to turn unruly boys into responsible men. And whereas our son John was not exceptionally unruly, he was a handful. And I have no doubt but that his experiences as a Scout, and as an assistant scoutmaster had something to do with the fact that he is a minister today. And that he is still active in Scouting.

The Scouts, like baseball, and the 4th of July, and apple pie, are part of the American tradition. But right now they are under attack. By some liberal elites. Because they refuse to allow Scoutmasters who are openly gay. A year ago the U.S. Supreme Court upheld the Scouts First Amendment rights to hold those views. But liberals from New York to Florida have since taken to exacting retribution by banning Scouts from meeting in public schools. Last week Senator Jesse Helms offered an amendment as part of the Senate Education bill. The amendment said, in effect, that School Districts that discriminate against the Boy Scouts would be barred from receiving federal education cash. This is not a new procedure. Congress has done this countless times to help other minorities. This amendment would be especially helpful to Scouts in inner cities, where safe public facilities such as schools are at a premium. Many assumed the amendment would pass by a fairly large margin. After all, the Boy Scouts are a good organization worthy of our support.

It is important that we keep in mind that Scouts are not demanding that the rest of society agree with them. They only want to be able to exercise their own moral values without political harassment.

Apparently 49 Senators do not agree. By voting against the amendment they chose to discriminate against the Scouts. To be sure they did not defeat the bill. But it surely was too close for comfort. And it underscores the sharp cultural divisions in our country today. In particular it shows the power of the gay-lesbian lobby in modern liberal politics. Far from being "bashed," they apparently have the clout nearly to defeat the Boy Scouts, to discriminate... to "bash" the Boy Scouts.

To quote from an editorial in the Wall Street Journal. "Who would have though that the last acceptable bigotry in America would be against the Boy Scouts?"

And, in terms of the Scout Oath, what is wrong with "keeping one's self morally straight?" And making certain that their leadership is...morally STRAIGHT.

Card of Thanks

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the following people who served as mentors in our elementary school this year. These individuals took out time in their busy days to help enrich the life of a student.

The mentors this year were: Monnie Davis, Jean Boles, Deb Pritchard, Jim Wilkerson, Rene Woffenden, Dawson McGuffin, Fred Garcia, Ken Slimp, Mark Edge, Cheryl Sneed, and Mike Pumphrey.

The mentoring program has proven to be a successful tool to help students with their academics and developing relationships with others. Thanks again to these volunteers for another successful

DID YOU KNOW? Some inventions are created by accident. Walter E. Diemer was an accountant for a chewing gum company. In his free time, he experimented with ways to make gum chewier. Instead, he came up with something that bubbled-the first batch of bubble gum. He made it pink because that was the only food coloring he had.

New businesses to Winters

by Randall Conner, Director of Economic Development

Winters gained 11 new businesses in the first half of 2001. Bo Knows! Southwest Grill, Bridgeman Florist, The Ice Cave, and Seed Resource Warehouse began business earlier this year. Also, Young's Electric Service and 3B Seed Cleaning began operation. A building contractor and a cabinet shop have been added to Winters' businesses. Soon open are Hurley Packaging Company, a coffee shop/bakery, and a crafts shop. Mid-Tex Cellular built a new cell phone tower in Winters to enhance cellular communica-

Several businesses have new owners, including Heidenheimer's, Video Hut, M&J Video and Collectibles, the car wash next to Wes-T-Go, and Knox Oilfield Supply, formerly Winters Oilfield Supply.

Buildings and businesses which have received a facelift recently include Higginbotham's, Dr. Rives' building, The Beauty Center, the old domino hall, Airhart's building on West Dale, and the American Legion building. Plans are underway to improve several other buildings downtown.

Businesses which have moved to new locations include Winters Tractor Service, across from the Methodist Church, and B&W Automotive to North Main.

The new mural on the Dollar General store and the Barq's Root Beer sign have made a great improvement to Main Street.

Selkirk, Inc. - Airmate Division has completed the addition of new production equipment and has increased production this year. CONTICO has added new tool box product lines and continues to increase production. Alderman-Cave has made improvements to the mill and has had a good feed sales year. Associated Beef City re-opened the feedlot this year with a large number of cattle. The agricultural community had a very good wheat crop.

The Winters Area Business and Industrial Corporation is working to bring high-speed internet access to Winters and to provide wide communications for local available to anyone who wants to businesses. A local jobs skill training and continuing education program has been instituted with Western Texas College and Texas State Technical College. A brochure promoting Winters and area tourism will be available soon. A community assessment was recently completed.

Engineers are working on the Sidewalk Improvement Project. This has taken a lot longer than we anticipated and we probably will have to do the improvements in two or more phases. We hope to begin actual work in 2002.

The Z.I. Hale Museum recently received a $10,000 grant to finish the upstairs of The Rock Hotel. Plans are to move the Blue Gap Post Office log cabin to Winters in July. Many new items have been added to the Gus Pruser Ag Exhibit this year and some nice, new collections have been provided for display in the museum.

The North Runnels Hospital has made some improvements in getting Medicare reimbursements and is now in "healthier" condition. The hospital has been designated a critical care hospital with swing beds, making the facility more accessible to Medicare as well as other patients. Our schools continue to excel in academic, athletic, and extra-circular areas. Many new computers have been added this summer. Mr. Danny Clack recently began as the new school superintendent.

There are 190 active businesses in the Winters area, about 20 of which are part-time businesses. Since the first of the year, the Winters Area Business and Industrial Corporation has worked with 43 prospective new businesses or those wanting to expand. Some of these are very promising prospects.

Despite the drought, the local water shortage, and the ups-anddowns of agriculture and oil, most local businesses have had a good first-half of the year. Compared to other communities our size in rural West Texas, we have had some very positive gains. The Winters Area Business and Industrial Corporation strives to encourage and promote our business community and assistance is begin a business in Winters.

Will and Leslie Duggan of Winters are proud to announce the birth

Hunter Pruser Duggan was born Wednesday, June 27, 2001, at 12:27 p.m. at Abilene Regional Medical Center. He weighed 7 lbs., 4 oz. and was 20 inches long.

July

Grain sorghum in Western Runnels and Tom Green counties is progressing well and most of it is in the milk to soft-dough stage. False chinch bugs and stink bugs can easily be found in many of these fields.

Grain sorghum in other areas of Runnels County is having a difficult time with the dry conditions. It's questionable how much of it will head out without a significant rainfall soon.

Cotton ranges in growth from second true leaf to half grown square stage. There is a large variation in growth stages this year. The irrigated cotton looks great and is progressing nicely.

Dryland cotton where moisture is adequate is also progressing well but fleahopper infestations remain high and square sets low. Grasshoppers continue to increase the size of turnrows in fields planted adjacent to pastures. Worst areas are those fields in Southern Tom Green County and just north of Ballinger and up FM 2111 towards Wingate. Grasshoppers can be found throughout many of the infested fields and damage looks similar to the damage caused by deer. Much of the terminal area has been destroyed.

Grain Sorghum

Sorghum fields, which are uniform in maturity and has reached the milk to soft-dough stage, should be monitored for the pressure of stink bugs, false chinch bugs, and headworms.

Many fields were sprayed this week for stink bugs and./or false chinch bugs. Insecticides currently being used to control stink bugs rate[®], Dimethoate (Cygon[®]) and Baythroid[®]. Dimethoate will not control headworms but does an excellent job on the other pests.

False Chinch Bugs—resemble the chinch bug but with more uniform color, ranging from gray to brown. False chinch bugs are 1/10 inch long. Multitudes of the insect occasionally migrate from wild hosts, such as the wild mustard, to sorghum, but these insects usually concentrate in small areas of a field.

Bugs suck juices from developing sorghum kernels and, to a lesser extent, from other grain head parts, and may cause economic damage.

Southern Green Stink Bugsare about 3/4 inch long, green and somewhat shield-shaped. Females deposit 300 to 500 eggs in clusters of about 30. The eggs hatch in about seven days, reaching the adult stage in about six weeks.

Conchuela Stink Bugs—vary in and/or false chinch bugs are Ka- color from dull olive or ash gray to green, purplish pink, or reddish brown. The most characteristic markings are orange-red bands along the lateral margins of the thorax and wings and a spot of the same color on the back at the base of the wings. Bugs cause more damage early during kernel development and less as grain develops to the hard-dough stage. Both nymphs and adults can reduce grain weight, size and seed germination. Fungi often infect damaged kernels, causing them to turn black and further deteriorate in quality. Damaged kernels rarely develop fully and may be lost during harvest.

Cotton

The lack of moisture in many areas is becoming critical and management decisions concerning fleahoppers is a difficult one. Do we load up now and get our crop set, waiting on that rain that may or may not come later? And how much

Areas that received 1.5-2.5 inches of rain this week are in a much better situation than those in Winters, Wingate, Ballinger, and Lowake. It remains quite dry in these areas.

Cotton fleahopper populations remain high and square sets range from 48 to 86 percent. Most dryland fields range around 65 to 70 percent. I think this is adequate right now in a situation like this where moisture conditions are lim-

Let's try to set and maintain five or six fruiting positions until it rains. Where moisture conditions are good, I would load it up now.

The irrigated cotton has been treated and numbers are generally lower and square retention is good to very good. The irrigated cotton is progressing well. We began picking up small egg-lay last week and egg counts have generally increased this week. Moth-trap catches were high last week as well. This egg-lay usually does not amount to much. We will just have to wait and see.

Forage Sorghum Meeting

A Forage Sorghum Tour will be held on Wednesday, July 18, at 6 p.m. at the Glenn Halfmann farm located off FM 1692 near the Miles Coop Gin. The tour will focus on a variety test plot including seventeen forage sorghum varieties planted May 15, 2001.

Dr. Billy Warrick will discuss forage sorghum for production of hay crops. A complimentary evening meal will be provided by Hytest Seed following the tour.

Please RSVP to the Runnels County Extension Office at 365-2219 by Tuesday, July 17, so that meals can be prepared.

"This is a great program but it has to support itself."

Mrs. Kidwell responded by saying she has applied for ten grants and also solicited help from businesses in Winters.

The board took no action on this item which has serviced as many as 120 students in the program.

A discussion of local procedures and policy related to employees' attendance bonus was tabled along with the financial report and approval of bills due to the absence of school Business Manager Jimmy Butler who is on vacation.

Present for the July 9 meeting were trustees Allen Andrae, Cheryl Bryan, Bob Prewit, Jack Davis, Jr., Gary Moore, Jerry Sims, and Larry Walker, and Superintendent Danny Clack.

Winters resident appointed to Lipan-Kickapoo Water District

Don Davis of Winters and Wilam Halfmann of Norton have recently been appointed to the Lipan-Kickapoo Water Conservation District. These two men represent Runnels County on a board consisting of six members.

Appointments were made by a vote of the existing board following a recommendation from the Runnels County Commissioners. The district now covers parts of Concho, Tom Green and Runnels Counties.

Runnels County recently voted to join the above district and, in so doing, self-imposed a tax on rural property. One of the main reasons for joining was the feeling that local control is needed over the area's underground water instead of allowing some group in Austin to dictate.

"Voting ourselves another tax during these hard times is a tough deal. It is understandably difficult, for example, to convince the family with a well used only to water livestock that the tax is a good thing," said Davis.

Davis indicated he is looking forward in working to serve the people of Runnels County for the two-year appointment. "In two years folks will have the opportunity to vote for whomever they want. However, until then we all are expecting value received for the tax paid," said Davis.

Jim Woodruff of the financial- That's why these types of awards services firm Edward Jones recently won several prestigious awards from the firm. The awards, albeit different in nature, recognize Woodruff's efforts and achievement throughout the past

Woodruff received the Winner's Circle Award, Regional Leader's Award, Partner's Award and Mentor's Award.

"I am honored to receive these awards," Woodruff said. "I enjoy my work helping the people of Runnels County plan for their financial futures, but it gives me an extra boost to receive special recognition for my work."

John Bachmann, managing partner for Edward Jones, said the firm makes a special effort to acknowledge exceptional work or performance by its investment representatives.

"At Edward Jones, we believe we can better serve individual investors by establishing community branch offices and having our investment representatives live and work in those communities," he said.

"We realize, however, that because our investment representatives usually work alone, there isn't much opportunity to congratulate them for a job well done.

Woodruff has been an Edward Jones investment representative for three years. He received a degree in marketing from East Texas State. Prior to joining Edward Jones, he worked as a financial advisor at The Partner's Group.

Woodruff is active in Rotary, Chamber of Commerce, Lions, the Carnegie Library Board and Little League Baseball.

Edward Jones, the only major financial services firm advising individual investors exclusively, traces its roots to 1871 and currently serves more than four million clients. The firm offers its clients a variety of investments, including certificates of deposit, taxable and nontaxable bonds, stocks and mutual funds.

The largest firm in the nation in terms of branch offices, Edward Jones currently has more than 6,500 offices in the U.S. and, through its affiliates, in Canada and the United Kingdom. Plans call for expansion to 10,000 offices by 2003.

Police Beat

The information below is taken from reports on file with the Winters Police Department. Some of the information is provided to police by citizens, and in some cases, police have not finished investigating the reports. These reports make up a small percentage of the total calls the Department receives and responds to each week. Winters Police Department reports received and/or investigated from Sunday, July 1, 2001, through Saturday, July 7, 2001. Winters Police Officers: received report of a theft in the 300 block of East Broadway Street. A Winters female reported observing a Hispanic male outside of her window during the early morning hours of Sunday, attempting to take two bags of peat moss. The female scared the male, but didn't immediately notify the police. The next day the female observed damage to her vehicle and the peat moss had been taken. This is under investigation as Class C theft.

• received report of identity theft occurring in Winters. A 27-year-old female of Anchorage, Alaska, reported that her identity was used by another female while in the Winters area to set up certain accounts which were billed to the victim female. The suspect female has been identified and charges have been referred to the District Attorney's office for fraudulent use of identifying information.

• received report of a theft in the 100 block of Mel Street. A 43-year-old Winters female reported that a 47-year-old male of Abilene had taken several items of jewelry from her home. The jewelry was located at a pawn shop in Abilene. After taking the initial report and a suspect was identified the victim withdrew her complaint and refused to pursue charges. This matter has been closed.

• officers stopped a 1979 Ford pickup on West Dale Street for a traffic violation. A license check of the driver revealed an outstanding warrant out of Brown County for fraud. The driver Elroy Davis of Winters, was arrested and taken to Runnels received report of a domestic dispute in the 300 block of East Dale Street. A 29year-old male alleged that a 20-year-old female had assaulted him after an argument over money. The female alleged she was the victim of assault. No injuries were observed to either subject and no arrests were made. A separation was done to prevent any further calls to the residence. No further action was taken.

 received report of a theft in the 500 block of VanNess Street. A 64-year-old Winters male alleged that an unspecified amount of cash was taken from his room. A suspect has been named and this is under investigation as theft. During the same reported incident a female subject also reported an item of sentimental value was taken from her room. A suspect has also been named in this case as well.

 received report of a hit-and-run occurring in the 100 block of East Broadway Street. A 50-year-old female of Ballinger reported that her 2000 Chevy pickup was struck on the passenger side by an unknown vehicle. This occurred sometime between the hours of 2 and 2:40 p.m., Friday, July 6. No witnesses have been located. Evidence was recovered at the scene of the hit-and-run. The Winters Police Department is asking for your help in locating a suspect vehicle in this case. If anyone was a witness to the accident contact the Runnels County Crimestoppers of the Winters Police Department. Anyone with information will be kept confidential.

Runnels County Crimestoppers offers a cash reward for information which leads to the grand jury indictment or conviction of offenders and the caller does not have to give his or her name. To give a Crimestoppers tip, call your local law
