Commissioner's race too close

County Commissioners hear comments on regulated herbicide order

Runnels County Commissioners held a 40-minute public hearing at a special meeting Thursday, October 31, in Ballinger.

The purpose of the public hearing was to receive comments on whether or not commissioners should vote to rescind a prior order putting a portion of Runnels County in a regulated area under the state's Herbicide Act.

The regulated area controls the application of ester formulations of regulated herbicides and applies to the northwest portion of Runnels County.

Mark Bills, of the Texas Department of Agriculture, told the commissioners the regulated area made no difference in how or if a case of herbicide drift is prosecuted. Brett Mikeska of Wingate Gin and Elevator said he felt the regulated area needed to be kept in effect "to allow us dealers a backup when selling these herbicides to someone who might not be familiar with the effects of these herbicides."

Gary Jacob, a farmer in the Winters area, also expressed his feelings that the regulated area should be retained.

Commissioner Ricky Strube commented he thought more educational efforts needed to be made by the Extension Service and herbicide dealers.

It was pointed out by Runnels County Agent Marty Gibbs that the herbicide board had voted 3-2 to bring the matter to commissioners with the recommendation that the regulated area be rescinded.

Commissioner Thurman Self then moved and Commissioner Skipper Wheelless seconded the motion that the regulated area not be rescinded. Commissioners voted unanimously for the motion.

The only other item of business on the agenda was to approve a plan change to the Texas Department of Human Services Contract for Community Care Programs. County Judge Marilyn Egan told Commissioners the plan change would increase the 2001-2002 budget from $51,400 to $62,962.43.

Enrollment, mandates, buses top agenda items for WISD board

"We're still losing students here and there, and it looks like we'll have fewer students next year," reported WISD Superintendent Danny Clack during the regular meeting of the Winters School Board Monday evening.

"There are not many places left to cut (in the budget). If we make more cuts, it affects personnel. And if we cut personnel, we cut programs," Clack continued. "Everybody needs to write their representatives and ask for help in funding to cover all these mandates."

Clack was making reference to 61 unfunded mandates which with all schools are burdened, causing more and more difficulty in covering school expenses. And, as Clack said, the fewer the students at WISD and the lower the Average Daily Attendance, the fewer state dollars Winters receives.

Enrollment on November 4 was 215 students in the secondary school and 380 in elementary.

The enrollment decline may eventually drop Winters from Class 2A, which has a cut off figure of 215 students. The realignment will be in February, 2004, to take effect August, 2004.

Secondary School Principal David Hale reported that, with last Friday's win over Jim Ned, the Winters varsity football team will advance to the first round of playoff action. The Blizzards will play either Crawford or Hico at Granbury or Comanche on Friday, November 15. A definite schedule will be determined following results of games played Friday, Nov. 8.

In other action, Board members approved the 2002/2003 textbook committee. Members will be Audine McBeth, Melinda Meyers, Linda Mitchell, Lou Hatler, Cathy Oliver, Becky Airhart, Jerry Awalt, David Acevedo, Houston Guy, Landa Grohman and Kayleen Bergman.

Also approved was the 2001/2002 Annual Performance Report Card and Campus Plans for Improvements. A revised Superintendent Appraisal form was approved as well.

Board members also reviewed the status of WISD transportation vehicles. Some of the older buses and mileage as of 10/10/02 are as follows:
1980 bus — 114,824 miles
1981 bus — 132,313 miles
1983 bus — 180,765 miles

Oil Bidness

by Reg Boles ©2002

If I told you that nearly one-third of the domestic U.S. oil production was at risk, would you be worried?

Now, you might be thinking of terrorists and their targeting of our domestic energy supply. But, the threat is less apparent, I'm afraid.

Over 400,000 wells in the United States produce an average of just over 2 barrels of oil per day. That's about a million barrels of oil per day that is on the very brink of shut-in on any given day.

As the costs of operating a well increase, these stripper wells run the risk of becoming uneconomic even to the poorest of "poor-boys". Such wells operate on the thinnest of margins and could literally disappear from the oil production landscape with a drop in prices or an increase in costs.

This million barrels per day, if replaced by imports, would incur costs of about a billion dollars per month to the U.S. trade account. That's a billion dollars of money flowing out of the country that would otherwise be circulating within the U.S.

It is not my point to take a position on special treatment for these wells. While some advocate protections and/or incentives to keep these wells on production, I only attempt to illustrate the impact of such low-margin wells.

These wells are operated by the smaller companies and individual entrepreneurs throughout the country. They find a way to eke out a profit, while crossing their fingers hoping that no expensive repair or failure crops up.

These gutsy operators also understand that the liability of operating such wells continues to increase. With responsibility for plugging and environmental regulations, the small-timers' risk of financially catastrophic events washing away any possible success only grows.

For active oil companies, it is hard to conceive of worrying over every fraction of a barrel produced, but, for these guys, a month's half-barrel reduction in expected rate could spell doom for keeping a well on production. Electrical breakdowns, power rate increases, greasing a pumping unit, or cleaning up a spill can erase months' of profits.

It is not an easy way to make a living, but it is one embraced by hundreds of operators who live to squeeze out just a little more profit from any well they can get their hands on.

And, I think many would admit they secretly hope for a breakthrough by recompleting to a new, previously untapped, zone, or finding a diamond-in-the-rough that just needs some tender loving care.

The oil patch doesn't call it "romance" for nothing.

But, beyond the individual operator, it is profound indeed to understand that this much of our domestic energy security rests on such a razor-thin margin between profit and loss.

From The Well

by
Pastor Jim Hanson

Pastor Jim Hanson

Blue Cloud Abbey. A place for monks. Located on the plains of northeastern South Dakota. Built in 1950. Located there to take over a commitment of the Benedictine Order to Native American people of the two Dakotas. From the time of their founding they have been deeply involved with the education and spiritual development of the people on the Yankton and Crow Creek reservations in South Dakota, the Fort Totten and Turtle Mountain reservations in North Dakota and the Kekchi Indians of Guatemala in Central America.

Blue Cloud Abbey is named in honor of a Native American, Chief Blue Cloud, who offered his land to the Benedictines for a school on the Yankton Reservations. The monks of Blue Cloud are followers of St. Benedict of Nursia, Italy. He was born in 480 A.D. and died in 547 A.D. Forty of his followers live at Blue Cloud, monks who have taken the vow of poverty, chastity, and obedience. They follow the Rule of St. Benedict. There must be some real power in that Order and in the Rule for them to still be in existence and active all these years. How many organizations or groups do you know that have been around 1500 years?

What do monks do all day? One of them said, "A monk is called to pray, to do spiritual reading, and to work. The primary call is to pray. Four times a day the monks gather to pray together, 45 minutes to an hour each time. The first time is at 6:30 a.m. and the last is 7:30 p.m. Two and a half hours each day are spent in Spiritual Reading...spiritual reading is for the soul what food is for the body. It helps to sustain life, health, and growth of the soul." The monks also work, at least six hours a day. Doing manual labor, hospitality (the Abbey contains a retreat house for 35 people), ministerial, managerial, clerical, teaching, and the arts.

Together with 25 Lutherans, I was at Blue Cloud for a meeting of the Great Plains Coalition, a group that is primarily concerned with advocating service and programs for the 1100 congregations that are located in rural and small town settings in the Great Plains. We had a wonderful meeting there. The monks were the most hospitable. One of the rules of St. Benedict is, "To receive all who come to you as you would receive Christ", and we were...

It was not my first visit to Blue Cloud. Twice before, back in the 80's, I was there. A boyhood friend of mine had become a priest and was serving a congregation in the same town as I. We were talking one day, and I asked Don, "What do you do and where do you go when you feel the need for a special time with God, where you can get away from the telephone, the door bell, and just be with God? For a couple of days?" He answered, "That's easy. I go to Blue Cloud Abbey. Would you like to go with me?" And, that I did. I jumped at the invitation, and went with him on two occasions.

The first time I went to do a fearless moral inventory. In other words, a full blown confession. I was having a real problem with anger, well hidden from those I was serving...except for Ramona and our kids. I knew that Alcoholics Anonymous had some helps for those who needed to examine their lives for sins of thought, word, and deed. And I knew I really needed it. For three days I went deep into my self, and with the guidance of a monk there, and the power of Jesus Christ, was delivered from a residual anger that was getting out of hand.

The second time I went, it was for guidance and directions from God. I had been serving a church of about 2,000 members in Northern Minnesota for 16 years. Everything was going well. But, deep within I knew God was calling me "out" of there. Only I didn't know where. It was getting to me, to the point where I was having a difficult time sleeping. So, I called on Don and again we went to Blue Cloud. While I was there, in that atmosphere of prayer and spiritual reading and work...and worship, prayed to the Lord that He would get me a "call", not by going through any human channels, not by seeking someone to put in a good word for me to serve some particular place. Just between God and me. I opened my soul and said, "I offer myself to you, Lord. Just call me." In a period of just a few months, I had five calls! In further prayer, He guided me to the one where He wanted me to go.

So, Blue Cloud is a kind of holy place for me. Where I have had intimate spiritual experiences with God. And whereas I did not have any deep needs in this last visit, I did get further direction in the setting where people make a commitment for life to pray, do spiritual reading, and work. And "to receive me as they would Christ."

Blizzards beat Jim Ned 19-7 to earn playoff spot

by Charles Murphy, sports writer
Special to The Winters Enterprise

"Yes, we meant to go for the first down, and yes, we meant to go for the touchdown," says Winters Head Coach Chuck Lipsey as he referred to the surprising, final touchdown and extra point the Blizzards scored in Friday night's exciting win over district rival Jim Ned.

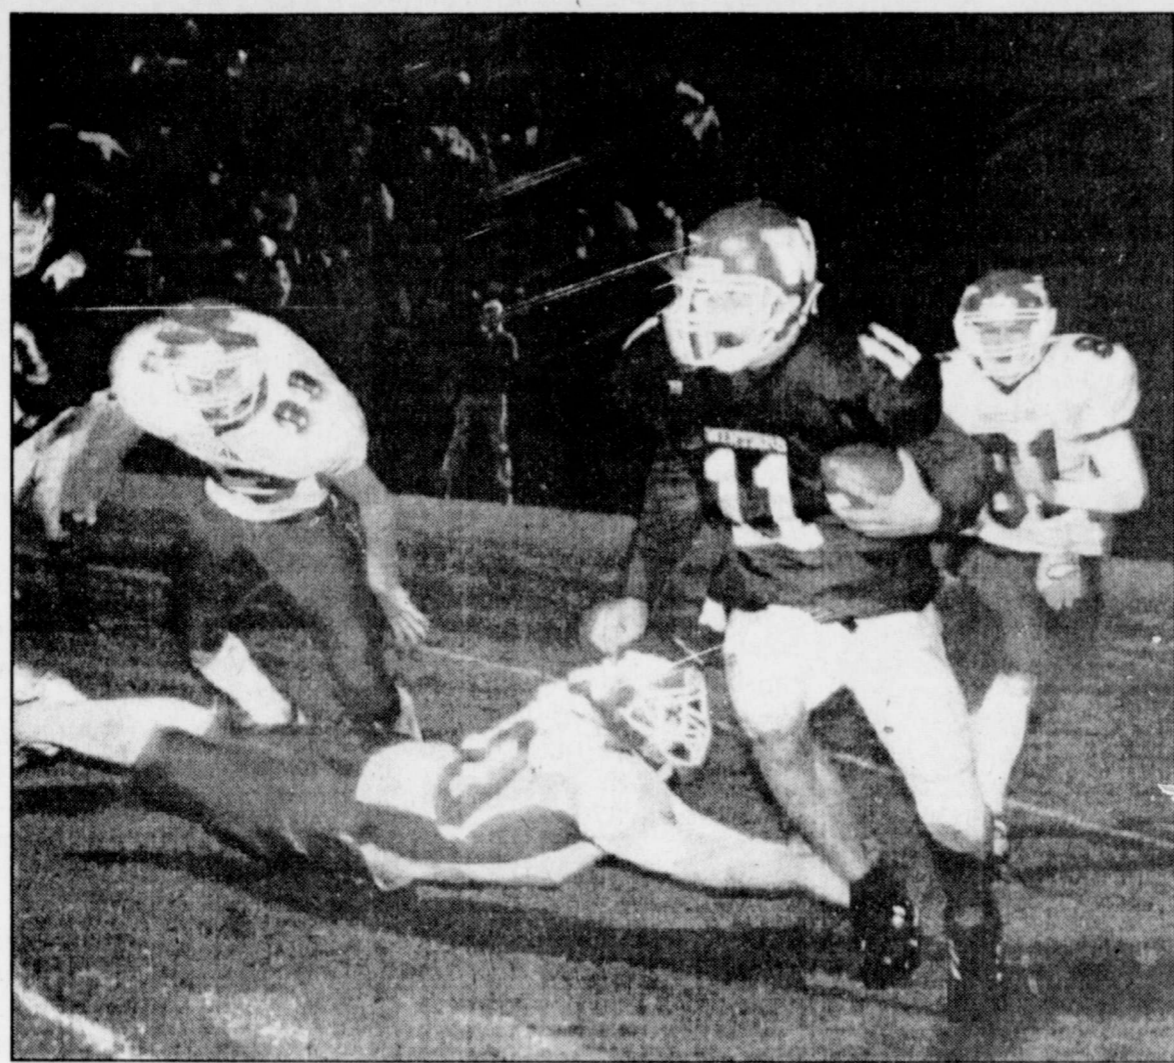

It was a wet, cold and dreary night as Winters and Jim Ned matched each other almost yard for yard — Winters in the air and Jim Ned on the ground.

The Blizzards' Shane Colburn threw for 241 yards while the Indians rushed for 242 yards. The difference that mattered showed on the scoreboard as the Blizzards defeated the Indians 19-7 in a district 9-2A game that would, with the 12-point victory, assure the Blizzards a playoff berth.

Jim Ned received the kickoff to get the showdown started. The return set the Indians up at their own 27 yard line. The Blizzards' "D" forced the punt which set up the offense at their own 35 yard line.

A Colburn completion to Eric Lopez for 33 yards on 3 and 13 would highlight this possession which ended with a Jim Ned interception at the Winters 37 yard line. With 5:16 left in the first quarter, the Indians capitalized with a 6 yard run by Terry Smith for the touchdown. The extra point was good for the 7-0 Indian lead.

The teams exchanged punts for the next several possessions. The first quarter ended with Jim Ned leading 7-0. A line drive Indian punt hit a Blizzards defender and Brian Pritchard pounced on the live ball to give the Blizzards a short field at the Indian 33 yard line. On second and 11 at the 34, Colburn found Rusty Jackson for a 34 yard touchdown strike. The extra point was blocked and the Indian lead was cut to one at 7-6 with 8:10 left in the half.

SHANE COLBURN #11 sidesteps the Jim Ned defender for the first down during district play Friday night. Colburn rushed for 26 yards and one touchdown, and passed for 241 yards to lead the Blizzards to the 19-7 win over the Indians, securing a spot in the first round of playoffs.

Max Harrison provided some fire with a great hit on the Indian kickoff return at their 20 yard line. Jim Ned put together an 8-play drive to the Blizzards 31 yard line. Facing 4th and 15, the Indians ran a rugby-style option for only four yards, turning the ball over on downs at the Blizzards 27-

Both defenses would bend but not break as neither team scored again and the half ended with Jim Ned holding a slim 7-6 lead.

Winters received to begin the second half. The return set the Blizzards up at their own 30 yard line. The possession ended as Mark Moreno pinned down the Indians at their own 6 yard line with a 55 yard punt. Five plays later, the Indians punted again. The ball rolled dead at the midfield stripe giving the Blizzards good field position.

Winters faced a 4th and 3 at the 43 yard line after a 6 yard completion to Jackson on third down. The Blizzards elected to go for it as Colburn ran the keeper for five and a new set of downs at the Indian 38. Two incompletions created a third and 10 situation. Colburn then hit Brian Pritchard for 14 and the first down at the 24.

On third and 6, Colburn again ran the keeper for 20 to the Jim Ned 5 yard line. Colburn capped off the drive with another keeper for four yards and the touchdown with 1:56 left in the third. The try for two was unsuccessful and the Blizzards led 12-7.

Mark Moreno sailed the ball into the end zone on the kickoff, setting up the Indians at their 20. Four plays into this drive the fourth period began. Two plays later the Indians faced a 4th and 2. A five-yard pick up was nullified by a holding call and the Indians punted.

The Blizzards had a first and 10 from their own 9 yard line after the punt. On 3rd and 14, Colburn hit Pritchard again for near first down yardage. The ball popped out and Jim Ned recovered, giving them a first and 10 at the Blizzards 17 yard line. On second down, the Indians returned the favor as Guy Slimp pounced on the loose ball at the 9-yard line right back where this exchange started. After a short drive to the 26, the Blizzards were forced to punt and with 4:26 left, the Indians were at their own 44 yard line with a first and 10.

Five plays later and facing 4th and five at the Blizzards 35, the Indians went for the first down. Thanks to the Big Blue Wrecking Crew, the Indians came up just inches short and turned the ball over on downs with 1:36 left.

Facing second down and 8, and not wanting to wait until next week to make the playoffs, Colburn hit Jackson for a 63-yard gain to the Indian 5 yard line. With no time left, Colburn hit Pritchard for the 4-yard score. Combined with Moreno's extra point, the Blizzards took the 19-7 win as well as a spot in the first round of the playoffs.

P.S. How 'bout them Blizzards!!

The Blizzards will travel to Coleman Friday night to meet the Bluecats. Kickoff is at 7:30.

Fast times at Winters High

Students and guests get surprise visit from pro-mod drag team with race car

by Jean Boles, editor

Teenagers and fast cars go together like french fries and hamburgers. But you certainly didn't need to be a teenager to be impressed by the car that showed up in front of Winters High School last week.

Professional race car driver Mitch Stott and his crew made one special pit stop in Winters on Oct. 29, with their 90-ft. trailer rig, and unloaded a 1963 Corvette pro-mod drag racer.

Two members of Stott's team have ties to Jimmy Butler, WISD Business Manager. Butler's sister, Sally Word, and her husband, Ron, are with Stott's crew. And Butler, a former race car driver himself, has "hung around" the crew at several races at places such as Canada, Shreveport, Houston and Dallas. At Butler's invitation, the team generously made the side trip to Winters en route from a race in Las Vegas to their home base in North Carolina.

The colorful, carbon fiber Corvette was unloaded from the massive trailer rig, much to the excitement of students, teachers, and everyone else fortunate to see the car and meet the crew.

Students listened as Stott reminded them that "every decision has consequences, whether good or bad," and that "what you decide to do today will affect where you are in the future."

His talk was then followed by a question-and-answer period and autograph session. Students were allowed to examine the car and ask more questions of all the crew members on a one-to-one level.

Costing about $230,000, the modified 1963 Corvette is a quarter-mile in 6.2 seconds, using about five gallons of fuel and 11-12 quarts of oil. A high-tech computer system inside the racer is linked to a weather station in the truck so adjustments can constantly be made according to the altitude, barometric pressure, temperature and other variables.

MIKE MEYER examines the engine of the 1963 Corvette drag racer which made a quick stop at Winters High School on Oct. 29. The car and crew were travelling from Las Vegas, Nevada, to homebase in North Carolina. WISD Business Manager Jimmy Butler's sister and brother-in-law are members of the racing team.

According to Ted Chavarria, Crew Chief, each pass on the race track costs about $800, with each weekend of racing costing $10,000. The motor alone cost $49,000.

Stott said he's never had any serious injuries and credits Jesus Christ as his Team Leader. At age 38, Stott has been racing for the past 24 years. Growing up, his family — father, uncles, brothers — was always involved in cars and racing. His first personal car was a 1967 Camero without an engine or transmission. He said his dad, a very hard-working man who operated a Chevrolet dealership, told his son to "build his car if he wanted one."

His first race was at age 12 in a '72 Chevelle at Greer, South Carolina. He didn't win, he said, but he "was hooked."

Although he's won national races in front of thousands of people, he grins as he tells of his most exciting win 20 years ago. "It was in front of maybe 100 people but it was then that I finally realized that I could win."

And that's the message he brought to Winters students. Along with one very fast car.

ELECTION, continued.

Freddie Grohman. With all precincts reporting Tuesday night, Collom received 335 votes to Grohman's 330.

County Clerk Elesa Ocker said she would be sharpening up her "recount" knowledge, in case there is a call for a recount.

In statewide races, Runnels County voted heavily in favor of incumbent Governor Rick Perry, 2191 to 637 over contender Tony Sanchez.

In the Lieutenant Governor's race, David Dewhurst received 1622 votes to 1251 votes for John Sharp in Runnels County.

The U. S. House race had incumbent Charles Stenholm finishing ahead of contender Rob Beckham 1665-1226.

John Cornyn outdistanced Ron Kirk in the Senate race 1862 votes to 879.

Another "official" chance to Be Nice

Editor's note: In case you didn't get the memo, November 11-7 is the official date for "Random Acts of Kindness Week." I was thinking about this unique celebration and wondered why in the world we need to be reminded to be nice. Thankfully, I came across the following article by Joyce Meyers of Life in the Word Ministries:

Loving and being loved is what makes life worth living. You and I can devote our time and energy to many things that bring temporary fulfillment, but learning how to walk in love is an investment that will bring rich rewards both now and for eternity. Jesus said in John 13:35, "By this shall all know that you are My disciples, if you love one another." One of the ways we show love is by being patient. Here are some practical ways that you and I can show our love through patience:

- Love is patient. . .
- When you walk alongside an elderly parent or grandparent at their own pace.
- When you let a mother with three small children go ahead of you in a checkout line, even when their cart is full.
- When you let your child do the dishes with you at their own speed — spilling water and soapsuds on the floor and the counter — and you can sincerely say, "Thank you for helping me!"
- When you make dinner for your husband and he calls you at dinnertime and says he will be two hours late, and you keep his food warm.
- When you allow your children to decorate the Christmas tree and then refrain from rearranging the ornaments they hung after they go to bed.
- When you are stuck in traffic and you don't get upset. Instead you use the time to pray, (especially) for people in the cars around you.

Texas Retired Teacher Association elects officers at District XV Fall Conference

The Fall Conference of District XV of the Texas Retired Teacher Association was held at the Comanche First United Methodist Church. President Marie Yazell, District XV President, presided over the meeting.

Rick Howard, Superintendent of Comanche ISD welcomed the group to Comanche. Tom Pritchard, President of the Texas Retired Teacher Association spoke to the group about TRS-Care Insurance shortfall in funds. The TRS-Care will need about $1.369 billion in funding during the next legislative session. He talked to the group about the importance of increasing membership. A larger percentage of membership has more influence with the legislature.

Jim Lorance, TRS representative, also spoke to the group about the need for more funds in TRS-Care. He urged members to keep addresses up to date. He emphasized to members that TRS cannot give out or take information over the telephone. A letter must be written to update addresses or request information. He said the best time to call is between 7 a.m. and 6 p.m. Tuesday through Thursday.

A United Teacher Associates Insurance Company representative gave a presentation on an annuity that was available which pays 5%. He also talked about Long Term Care Insurance. Any member who is interested can contact Tom Massey at (915) 695-4090 or 1-800-258-7041 Ext. 3145.

Officers for District XV of the Texas Retired Teachers Association were elected for the 2003-04 year. Shirley Mohler of San Angelo was elected president, while Anne Williams of Coleman was named first vice-president.

Lynda Gottschalk of Ballinger was elected second vice-president and Marthiel Russell of Winters was named secretary. Janet Wommack of Blackwell will serve as treasurer.

The Spring Leadership Conference will be held in San Angelo on May 13, 2003. Linda Blackwell, Judy Lusby, and Lynda Gottschalk from the Runnels County Retired Teachers Association attended the meeting.

SINUS PROBLEMS

Sinusitis

Nearly everyone has experienced a sinus problem. A stuffy head with pain and pressure around the face are common symptoms of sinusitis due to colds, allergies, or a sensitivity to airborne pollutants.

Sinusitis—an infection of the sinuses—can be classified as acute, which means that it comes on suddenly, often right after an upper respiratory infection such as a cold or flu. Or sinusitis can be chronic, meaning that it is an ongoing problem. In either case, when discomfort of sinusitis is severe or the symptoms persist, a comprehensive medical examination with appropriate treatment is recommended.

Consult a M.D. specialist with years of experience in dealing with these afflictions.

ACT registration deadline is Nov. 8

College-bound high school students who want to take the ACT Assessment have two chances to register before the Dec. 14 test date. The postmark registration deadline is Friday, Nov. 8. There is also a late registration postmark deadline on Nov. 21 (an additional fee is required for late registration).

ACT scores are accepted by virtually all colleges and universities in the nation, including all Ivy League schools. The test fee is $25 ($28 in Florida).

Colleges use ACT scores, along with a student's high school GPA, the type of college-prep courses taken, and other information to help determine admissions and the appropriate course placement for new students.

The ACT Assessment is an achievement test in English, reading, math, and science. Students who have already taken the ACT can take it again and try for a higher score. Juniors can use their scores to examine academic weaknesses, take courses to correct those weaknesses and retake the exam as seniors. Students who take the exam more than once can report only their highest composite score to prospective colleges if they choose.

To learn more about the ACT Assessment, including registration forms and test locations, contact your local high school counselor or go to the ACT website <www.act.org>, which also offers useful tips, sample tests, and the opportunity to order inexpensive test prep materials.

7th grade ties Indians 6-6

by Coach Bryan Green

On a sweep right, Alex Harrison scampered 35 yards in the fourth quarter for the 7th grade Breezes' touchdown last Thursday evening.

It was a great effort by everyone Thursday night. We came from behind to tie the game in the fourth quarter and had a chance to win it late, but time ran out. They have come a long way this year, and look to close out the year with a victory in Coleman Thursday night.

Come back the Breezes!

Jim Ned overwhelms 8th grade

by Coach Zach Boxell

The 8th grade Breezes fell to the Jim Ned Indians 44-6 last Thursday evening.

Ty Cason caused a Jim Ned fumble and Allan Green picked up the fumble and ran it in for the touchdown. The extra point try failed.

Come support your Breezes at Coleman Thursday night. The 7th grade will play at 5 p.m. and the 8th grade at 6:30. This will be their last football game for the school year.

Mandie Englands speaks to Country Evening Gardeners about insects

by Betty Kvapil

The Country Evening Gardeners met October 7 at 6:00 p.m. at Taylor's Restaurant. Insects were the program for the evening.

Mandie England, a teacher at Winters High School, presented the program on "Insects." Mandie brought with her four display trays of mounted insects to be viewed close up. She described many of the insects, their life cycle and their reason for being. She explained that many good insects feed on insects that are harmful to the vegetation. Mandie spoke on ants, especially the fire ants and suggested ways to help control fire ants. This was a very interesting and informative program. All present enjoyed this program.

The next meeting will be November 12 at 6:00 p.m. at Taylor's Restaurant.

It is time to plant bulbs and wildflower seeds and with the moisture we are receiving, we should have beautiful yards and gardens this spring.

The Country Evening Gardeners is an evening garden club for those interested gardeners who cannot attend a daytime club. The club has many interesting programs. We welcome visitors and new members.

In Observance of Veterans Day

Winters VFW members to distribute buddy poppies

Members of the Winters Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 9193 and its Ladies Auxiliary will be distributing Buddy Poppies in downtown Winters on Veteran's Day, November 11, 2002.

According to Post Commander Bill Ray, "VFW by-laws require that the proceeds from our distribution of buddy poppies must be used to benefit disabled and needy veterans and the widows and orphans of deceased veterans right here in the community."

The VFW, founded in 1899, is the nation's oldest major veterans organization with more than 1.9 million members. In 1923, the VFW was the first veterans organization to promote a nationally organized campaign for the annual distribution of buddy poppies assembled by disabled or hospitalized veterans.

That tradition continues today with more than 14 million poppies assembled by paid, disabled and hospitalized veterans each year. The members of the VFW and its Ladies Auxiliary raise more than $15 million annually from the distribution of buddy poppies.

Ray adds, "Show your gratitude to America's veterans. Make a donation and proudly wear a buddy poppy. Your donation directly helps needy and disabled veterans and their families."

Friends of Our Troops seeking participants for Christmas Fan Mail

"We know that U.S. troops across the nation and around the world appreciate the fan mail they receive," said G.B. Wisner, executive director of the Friends of Our Troops campaign. One message from a young Marine read in part, "We are on our way to...fight the war against terrorism. One of my fellow Marines recently received a package from you filled with mail from...the states... Could you please send more of these heartfelt letters... We can't get enough of them."

Individuals and families across the nation, in schools and churches, with campus groups, youth groups, veterans groups and auxiliaries, etc. all across the United States are already writing cards and letters to be sent to our military men and women at home and abroad in the Christmas 2002 Fan Mail for the Troops campaign.

All that mail is sent to Friends of Our Troops headquarters where it is first mixed thoroughly, then separated into well over 1,000 packages of mail to be sent out.

An overview of how the campaign functions has been posted at <www.troopfanmail.net/album.htm>. In addition, there are special pages for schools, colleges, churches, veterans groups, and youth groups, as well as a Catholic page. The top participants nationally are recognized on the "Top Friends" page.

A special thanks goes to the students of Miles Elementary in Miles, led by Kris Franke, who participated in the most recent campaign. They were the top elementary school in Texas.

To learn how to help boost the morale of U.S. troops all across the U.S. and around the world, send your name and address to Friends of Our Troops, P.O. Box 65408, Fayetteville, NC 28306. (And mention where you read about this campaign.)

Editor's Note: The following are letters written by students in Susan Mostad's sophomore honors English class at Winters High School. Their assignment was to express how they felt about the recent court case involving taking the words "under God" out of the Pledge of Allegiance.

Dear Editor,

I am writing regarding the federal appeal that took place on June 26, 2002, to remove the words "under God" from our Pledge of Allegiance. A San Francisco federal appeals court ruled that the Pledge of Allegiance is an unconstitutional endorsement of religion and cannot be recited in public schools. I don't give credence to the federal appeals court concerning the historical Pledge of Allegiance. I believe the Pledge of Allegiance should stand as is.

Many of our soldiers fought in battle and gave their lives for this country, and the American Flag and Pledge of Allegiance we accolade is for remembrance of all those men. The United States has had the Pledge of Allegiance for years, and it should not be hamed uon. Why change it now? Why didn't the atheists fight against removing the words "under God" earlier? The phrase "under God" was put there for a reason. I believe that the people who don't approve of the words should speak the Pledge of Allegiance with great dignity, whether or not they choose to include the words "under God." Just because they don't believe doesn't mean the rest of us don't. Everyone has the right to express one's own opinion the way he/she chooses to. Democracy prevails in America. John Adams, who advocated "a government of laws and not of men," observed that democracy was a system of government designed for "a religious and moral people. It is wholly unsuited for any other." People arguing against this belief are not being considerate of other Americans who do have faith. They are also not giving recognition to the Bible.

Everyone has different beliefs, not all people agree with the same religion. A couple of words would not matter when compared to how strong a person believes in their faith. The words shouldn't change one's religion. If one strongly believes in his/her religion, why should it matter what others think?—only what lies deep down in our hearts. Yes, the pledge has the words "under God," but it does not control a person and tell what he/she can or cannot believe. Allen Ripple, an American citizen, said "The Pledge of Allegiance should be left alone because our country was founded on religion." Without religion what would our country be like today? Religion is important to the society of America. Crushing every little bit we have left will destroy everyone's beliefs.

Including the words "under God" in the Pledge of Allegiance is a great benefit to our society. Susan Ripple said, "These words instill faith in high morals and the belief in doing what's right under the guidance of God; individuals have encouraged good behavior and love among neighbors and friends." Violence is hindered, especially among the youth. Children are taught the difference between right and wrong and then act accordingly. God's son, Jesus, and his disciples worked diligently to spread God's word—to teach others about his creations, beliefs, and their reason for existence. Without God, nothing is possible. With God, everything is possible. Before Congress approved the First Amendment, the Northwest Ordinance was passed, which declares: "Religion, morality, and knowledge, being necessary to good government and the happiness of mankind, schools and the means of education shall forever be encouraged."

If the ruling survives appeal, it will mean that American schoolchildren can no longer recite the pledge in school. Hopefully, there is reason to suppose that a higher court will squash the decision. President Bush himself has declared the ruling "ridiculous," and so it is, but it is also a fair forewarning that the forces of atheist humanism are still doggedly pushing forward with their agenda to smother Western Christian cultural heritage underfoot. I proudly believe in keeping the words "under God." Many others and I will continue to believe we are one nation, "under God," no matter what awaits us in the future.

Sincerely,
Amanda Ripple

Dear Editor,

Recently in English class we came across a topic about the Pledge of Allegiance. I read that the words "under God" was unconstitutional, said a federal appeals court in San Francisco. This must be the stupidest thing a court has ever argued about. I completely disagree with the Pledge being unconstitutional, because it's on our money, more people would start complaining about the pledge being changed, and people have been saying the pledge for years.

First of all, the saying "In God We Trust" is on our currency and, nobody has complained about our money before. A poll was taken on the internet to show what people thought about this topic. Twelve percent of the people agreed that it was unconstitutional, 83% said it wasn't, and 5% didn't know. Most of the people who said it was unconstitutional make more than $100,000 a year. To me this figure proves that people are just making this into a big fiasco.

Second, more people would just start complaining about the pledge being changed. If we took the words "under God" out of the pledge all the other people who are for keeping the words would start bickering about it. We should just leave the pledge the way it is, and people should stop being so stupid and up-tight about it. Our founding fathers didn't create the Pledge of Allegiance just so people in the future could have something to argue about. They created it to show honor, loyalty, and respect toward our country.

Third, people have been saying the pledge for years. Our great, great-grandfathers have been saying the pledge the same way we have. Senator Kit Bond says, "Our founding fathers must be spinning in their graves, etc." I remember saying the Pledge of Allegiance back in first grade and have been saying it as long as I can remember. Even if they decide to take the words "under God" out of the pledge, most Americans will still say these words int he pledge.

To sum it up, I believe that the words "under God" should be left in the Pledge of Allegiance. I completely disagree with the pledge being unconstitutional, because it's on our money, more people would start complaining about the pledge being changed, and people have been saying it for years. The American people should get on with their lives and let the pledge be.

Under God,
Pete Griffin

Elementary making big plans for Veteran's Day celebration

Winters Elementary students would like to invite everyone in the community for a Veteran's Day performance on Monday, November 11, 2002, in the Yellow Activity Building. The program will begin at 6:30 p.m. Children in grades kindergarten through sixth will be performing a patriotic program and are asked to wear red, white, or blue T-shirts. The shirts should be plain with no writing or pictures on the front or back.

The Winters High School Student Council will assist in seating guests and will lead the Pledge of Allegiance.

Elementary Principal Brilla Magee asks those attending to bring blankets and lawn chairs for seating. Families planning to sit on blankets are asked to sit near the risers at the front of the audience. Those planning to use lawn chairs are asked to sit in the back half of the building.

Everyone is invited to come and enjoy a very special performance as Winters remembers our veterans and honor our present-day servicemen and women.

Moving Wall coming to San Angelo November 5-12

—Traveling half scale replica of Vietnam Veterans Memorial—

The Moving Wall is coming to San Angelo in November, 2002. The Moving Wall is a half scale replica of the Vietnam Veterans Memorial in Washington, D.C.

This is the nation's first memorial designed and built to be brought to the people. It has traveled to every state in the union and to several foreign countries.

Visitors will find nothing for sale at the Moving Wall display site and there will be no solicitations for money there. They will find only the names of more than 58,000 men and women killed in Vietnam. Forty-seven of those names are Concho Valley Vietnam veterans.

The visit of the Moving Wall to San Angelo is a gift to the local community from the Vietnam Combat Veterans, Ltd. and the Concho Valley Vietnam Veterans of America Chapter 457. It is intended to bring healing and reconciliation for veterans and non-veterans alike and it also functions as an education and historical role.

Vietnam Combat Veterans, Ltd. maintains the Wall and has been transporting it to communities throughout the nation since 1984.

Angelo State University and its Detachment 847 Reserve Officer Training Corps are hosts for the Moving Wall. This will be a unique experience for the ROTC cadets and will give them a greater appreciation for the sacrifices of those who went before them.

The Moving Wall will be displayed from November 5, 2002 through Veterans Day, November 11, 2002. The Wall will be erected within sight of the Junell Center on the Angelo State University campus, between South Van Buren St. and the Pavilion.

Everyone is welcome to visit the Wall during this period. Volunteers will be on hand to assist the public in finding names on the Wall and to make rubbings of the names.

For more information contact Jim Edwards, VVA Chapter 457 president, at 949-5097.

Fall is ideal time for planting trees and shrubs

Finally, fall is here, the weather is becoming slightly cooler, and gardeners are slowly migrating back outdoors after record-breaking heat this summer. Now is a perfect time to add a new tree or a grouping of shrubs to the landscape. Or perhaps you have an area in the landscape that needs 'remodeling' or rejuvenating. The fall may be the best season to plant, surpassing even the spring.

Many people prefer January through March for planting, but the fall months of September through December have distinct advantages. Fall planting follows the heat of summer, and precedes a cool winter season. Trees and shrubs planted use this to good advantage. Plant roots grow anytime the soil temperature is 40 degrees or higher, which may occur all winter in Texas. During the winter months, the root systems of the fall-planted specimens develop and become established. When spring arrives, this expanded root system can support and take advantage of the full surge of spring growth.

Fall planting is the optimum time to plant balled and burlapped trees and shrubs. Balled and burlapped plants have ample time to recover from transplanting and proliferate roots before spring growth begins. Remember however, all bare root plants, including roses and pecan and fruit trees should be planted in late winter when they are completely dormant.

When buying plants for your landscape, be sure to get healthy, well-grown plants. Always buy from a reputable dealer. Those in the plant selling business year-round depend on repeat customers, and only by selling customers quality plants can there be assurance of future business. Beware of plant bargains. They can easily turn out to be real headaches. A bargain is no good if it dies. The price tag, especially the cheapest one, is not the best guide to quality.

All plants have growth requirements. This about the plant's needs before you invest. Is it adapted to your area's soil? Will it grow in sun or shade? Does it need a wet or dry location? Is it cold hardy? Some nurseries have this type of information on tags beside the plant. If not, ask a nursery professional or the county Extension agent.

'Plan before you plant' is always a good rule of thumb. Whether you are planting a single plant or an entire landscape, plan first, then plant. Good planting is a worthwhile investment of time that will pay off in greater enjoyment of attractive and useful home grounds, and in increasing the value of your home. It's much easier to move plants on paper than to dig them up after planting in the wrong places. A plan saves many planting mistakes.

Every plant in the landscape should serve a purpose. Ask yourself if you want a plant for screening, for privacy, or for shade. How large will it be five years from now? Plants, like people, grow up. Remember, that a small one-gallon size plant will look entirely different after a few years growth in your landscape.

Plant properly for success. Here are a few guidelines on getting the job done right:

1. Dig a hole large enough in diameter so that the root system has at least six inches of clearance on all sides. The root ball should rest on a solid foundation, so don't dig the hole much deeper than the ball.

2. Plant the tree or shrub slightly above the level of the surrounding soil, to allow for settling and increased soil drainage.

3. Carefully place the tree or shrub in the hole. Handle the plant by the root ball, not the trunk. A broken ball of earth can mean a dead plant. Always remove any container before you plant.

4. Backfill the hole, using only the native soil removed from the hole; do not use amendments when planting large shrubs or trees. Fill the hole, and firm the soil around the roots and to eliminate any air pockets.

5. Do not fertilize your tree or shrub after planting. Wait until early in the spring to do this, and even then, go lightly. Heavy applications of fertilizer may burn and injure the root system, and could possibly kill the plant.

6. Watering has been and remains paramount in transplanting. At the time of transplanting, soak the root ball and surrounding soil. A thorough watering, seven to ten days dramatically increases the success ratio. More frequent watering may encourage root rot. Remember more trees and shrubs fail from over watering than from under watering.

7. Before calling it a day, add four to six inches of mulch around the base of newly planted trees and shrubs. This helps to keep down weeds and conserve soil moisture. Use pine bark, composted grass clippings or leaves.

Fall is planting. Visit your nursery today to beautify and add value to your home.

Museum still needs yearbooks

The Z.I. Hale Museum has received several yearbooks recently to add to its collection from Winters High School. However, years still needed are 1936-1944, 1947-1949, 1955-1958, 1960, 1961, 1963, 1964, 1970, 1974, and 2000. Also, several class rosters with names and addresses are needed for a number of classes.

If you have one of these yearbooks that you would like to donate or if you have a recent class roster, please send these to Z.I. Hale Museum, P.O. Box 211, Winters 79567 or contact Genevieve Spill, Marlene Smith, or Randall Conner.

Library busy with "Wish List" and Lois West Room

The Winters Public Library continues to serve Winters and the surrounding area.

"The Library Board and the Winters school children would like to thank everyone for their continued support of the Winters Public Library," says Mike Neal, Library Board President. "The funds raised through your generosity last year enabled us to purchase automation software making it easier for patrons to check out materials and for the library to keep tabs on books."

Neal reports that each patron also has a new laminated, bar-coded card that helps bring the library into the twenty-first century.

He says that students from 3 to 93 gather information from web sites and browse the book shelves. "The library has become a beehive of activity and a vital resource to the town," adds Neal.

Police Beat

The information below is taken from reports on file with the Winters Police Department. Some cases may still be under investigation. These reports make up a small percentage of the total calls the Department receives and responds to each week.

Winters Police Department reports received and/or investigated from Sunday, October 27, 2002, through Saturday, November 2, 2002. Winters Police Officers:

• officers were notified by an off-duty officer working security at the Winters Community Center that there was an intoxicated female that had just left the center and was walking through the park. Officers located the female on Novice Highway walking the yellow line in the center of the road. The female, a 16-year-old of Winters, had a strong odor of alcohol on her person and showed signs of intoxication. The female was cited for Minor in Consumption of Alcohol and Public Intoxication and released to her parent's custody.

• received a report of a fight in progress in the 200 block Charles Street. Officers located an intoxicated 19-year-old Winters female with cuts to her forearm. Investigation revealed that there was an argument between the 19-year-old and a 42-year-old Winters female had escalated into a fistfight over the older female's boyfriend. The 19-year-old sustained cuts to her arm from breaking out a window after being locked out of her house. The 19-year-old was treated and released by paramedics. A separation was conducted for the night and no further calls were received.

• received report of a domestic dispute in the 400 block S. Rogers Street. A 58-year-old Winters female reported being assaulted by a 57-year-old Winters male after an argument over smoking in the house escalated when the suspect allegedly shoved the victim into a bookcase. Lacerations were observed to the victim's face, mouth, and hands. The victim was treated and released by North Runnels Hospital. The suspect was located a short time later and taken into custody. John Galloway was charged with Assault Causing Bodily Injury to a Family Member and taken to Runnels County Jail.

• received report of vandalism in the 600 block S. Rogers Street. A 23-year-old Winters female reported that between the hours of 5:30 a.m. & 6:30 p.m. October 29, 2002, person(s) unknown had torn down approximately 48 feet of wood fencing on her north yard. Witnesses were located indicating that the victim's 25-year-old male neighbor had torn down the fence in a fit of anger. Officers contacted the suspect male and observed him "huffing" gasoline out of a gas can. The male, Valentine Aleman of Winters, was taken into custody and charged with Possession and Use of Inhalants and taken to Runnels County Jail. Charges for Criminal Mischief Class B are pending.

• received report of vandalism in the 500 block Van Ness Street. A 33-year-old Winters female reported that between the hours of 7 p.m. & 11 p.m. November 2, 2002, person(s) unknown slashed all four tires on her vehicle. This is under investigation as Criminal Mischief.

• Officers observed a vehicle driving erratically on S. Main Street. As officers attempted to stop the vehicle the driver bailed out of the vehicle and fled on foot. The officers pursued the fleeing male who managed to avoid capture. Officer contacted the registered owner to ascertain his whereabouts and the owner then stated his vehicle had been stolen from his backyard. Officers checked the owner's identification and found a local warrant for Motion to Revoke Probation-D.W.I. The owner, Freddie Jalomo of Winters, was taken to Runnels County Jail and booked on the warrant.

• The Winters Police Department invites the public to view their website at www.winterspd.com.
