Robber hits Rowena bank

West Texas State Bank in Rowena was robbed early Tuesday morning. The robbery took place just before 8:00 a.m. as the robber apparently slipped into the bank following an employee.

Very limited information was available at press time on Tuesday, but the suspect was described as being in his early 20's, approximately 5'8" tall and wearing a bandana on his face. He was thought to be Caucasian and wearing black "wind pants."

The robber apparently brandished a gun, but no one was injured in the robbery. The amount of money, if any, taken in the robbery could not be determined at press time.

Law enforcement officers converged on Rowena, setting up roadblocks on Highway 67 and searching empty buildings in the area. A vehicle was found parked at an old gin near the bank, but it had not been determined if the vehicle was used by the robber.

Runnels County Sheriff Bill Baird was busy following leads in the case and unavailable for comment on Tuesday afternoon.

Pritchard, an award-winning journalist, has been with The Enterprise since January 1999. She has received several writing honors from the Texas Press Association as well as the American Cancer Society.

"Losing Deb will certainly have an impact on the newspaper," said editor Jean Boles. "With her deep involvement in the community and her unique skills, she has been a tremendous asset to our publication. We will miss her contributions, but we wish her the best in her new endeavor."

Oil Bidness

by Reg Boles © 2003

There's something in the air, and it bodes well for oil field activity.

(I can just hear those cynical environmental extremists making jokes about "something in the air," but they are barking up the wrong tree, this time!)

I refer to the discernible shift in attitude that is taking hold. Over the last few months, confidence in a sustainable level of higher product prices is growing. And, this change will have far-reaching impact on field activity, transaction activity, and even, dare I say, coffee-shop activity.

But, wait a minute. Haven't oil prices been over $25 for more than 18 months? Haven't natural gas prices been over $3.50 for that same period? Why are oil field players just now reacting?

You might say we have been living in the past.

Few of us have been willing to trust that prices were not balanced on the precipice, ready to fall to new lows. Prices just seem too good to last, and history bears out our fears.

But, now, there are a number of conditions that would seem to support prices at levels that would make many projects moneymakers ($25 oil and $3 gas).

There are continuing problems in Iraq holding back production. South America is unstable. U.S. and Canadian oil production continues to fall. And, the psychological support for prices at the minimum levels seems to be in place.

Not to mention that economic conditions are improving worldwide, so consumption is set to continue its rise.

Just in the last few months, offers for properties, proposals for development projects, requests for bank loans based on production, and "buzz" about new exploration areas are emerging in greater numbers.

Service companies are noting an improved outlook for the coming year, and producers find their bank accounts full. Public companies face a shareholder backlash if they don't invest their spare cash, so the hunt is on for acquisitions, new developments, and hot exploration plays.

If this trend continues, you might even be able to find a few optimists in the audience of a meeting of operators.

Of course, a cynic might say the very fact that the tide is shifting to optimism and pocketbooks are opening may signal the beginning of the end.

But, that is old-school thinking, living in the past as it were.

Forget I said that...

Letter to the Editor

Reader supports religion in schools and Pledge

Dear Editor:

Recently I was sharing a Joint-Petition with a friend who is a government teacher in an Abilene University. The Joint-Petition calls for the enactment of four resolutions, which are:

1. The right for unrestricted Christian prayer in our public schools.
2. "One Nation Under God" kept in the Pledge to the flag.
3. The right to read and/or teach the Bible in our public schools.
4. Since the United Nations is controlled by terrorist, atheist, heathen, pagan, dictator, and communist countries; we should withdraw from that organization; moreover, the money which is spent on the UN could be used better at home.

This government teacher friend said that he agreed with resolutions number 2 and 4, but because of separation of church and state, as required by the constitution, resolutions number 1 and 3 could not be enacted. He said that two things — praying over the PA system and teaching Bible in schools — establishes a state religion.

Constitution article I states in part that Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; . . . I don't know about how liberal you can be to say that praying over the PA and teaching Bible establishes a state religion.

I do know that to prevent Christian prayer in any way is something very serious. How did all Christians become saved if not by prayer? Prayer changes individual lives and nations and can change our schools and families.

Pupils and parents, please pray for teachers.

Sincerely,
Jim Hicks
Clyde, Texas

A Hypocrite

by Pastor Lola Scott, Somebody Cares Ministries

*If you don't go to church because you think lots of hypocrites do,
I'd like to say I used to be just like you.
I could tell you things that other people did
Back to the time when I was just a kid
Then one day I came to realize
How God saw my imperfections in His eyes
If I wanted God to forgive me
I needed to set other people free
I should not keep score any more
Or let anyone be an excuse for why I don't enter God's church's door.
I have learned that in forgiving
I have found the path to living
A life of mercy, truth and grace.
Now when I look into a mirror I have a different face
I pray for those who bother me with some of the things they've done
And I try to keep my eyes on Jesus 'cause He's the only One
To whom one day I will answer for whatever I have or haven't done
Lest I think of a hypocrite and end up being one.*

Definition of a hypocrite: One who acts a false part, one who makes a false profession, a cheat, a deceiver. The hypocrite assumes a character other than the real, and tries to give false impressions in regard to themselves. They seek to cover up their devices, and to gain credit for their virtues. They hope to prosper through deceit.

If I am tempted to forget God, will my faith in God be like a spider's web? How frail is a spider's web? It can easily be swept away. Like the spider's web, if difficult times come into my life, to who will I cling for support? If I profess to know Jesus and do not live by what the Bible teaches, I will be a hypocrite.

God Bless You.

ABILENE REGIONAL MEDICAL CENTER

I eagerly recommend Abilene Regional's Heart Program. I'm a workforce manager who emphasizes customer service on a daily basis and I rate ARMC's customer service outstanding! I'm getting that same great service in Cardiac Rehab, where the staff is courteous, knowledgeable and attentive. I picked Abilene Regional for convenience but I'd go back because of their excellent care and outstanding attitude. The staff has shown me their heart while treating mine.

Be good to your heart...and don't miss a beat! Think Abilene Regional Medical Center for heart care. Police Beat

The following are cases from the Winters Police Department. Some cases may still be under investigation. Information, reported through Crime Stoppers, leading to the close of any case could result in up to a $1,000 reward.

The following are calls investigated by the Winters Police Department during the week of July 28, 2003, through August 3, 2003. Officers:

- were called to the 500 block of Jones Street for a disturbance. Upon arrival officers were told that the occupants of the residence were brother and sister and were fighting over rights to the house. The officer tried to explain that the matter would have to be resolved in civil court. The male subject, Julian Nava, had reportedly been jumping up and down on vehicles parked at the residence and had been using profane language towards his sister and other family members that were present. Nava was arrested for public intoxication.
- were called to meet with city water department workers in the 200 block of N. Church. Water department workers showed the officer where the water line had been tampered with to connect the service after the water meter had been removed. Two subjects from the residence are being charged with criminal mischief.
- officers were called to the 700 block of E. Truitt for a burglary of a habitation. Upon arrival officers were told that a male subject known to the victim as Austin Hord had tried stealing a window unit air conditioner out of his window. The victim stated that he found the A/C unit on his front porch covered in blood. Officers followed the trail of blood to a residence in the 800 block of E. Truitt. Officers located Austin Hord and observed he had severe lacerations to his hands and fingers. Officers advised him that he was under arrest and began taking pictures of the trail of blood. The officer reported that Austin Hord ran on foot out of the house. He was caught a short time later. Hord was taken to the hospital to have his hands and fingers checked and stitched. Hord was then transported to Runnels County Jail and booked for Burglary of a Habitation and Escape.
- met with a forgery victim at the Police Department. The victim stated that there were checks taken out of her house. She stated that two persons she believes to have had access to her house took the checks and cashed them for $30 at Lawrence Brothers IGA. This is under investigation.
- were called to the 100 block of N. Rogers for a harassment complaint. The victim stated that around 11 p.m. the previous night someone called his unlisted number five times and was threatening him. The caller told the victim that he was going to "kill" him. The caller was also using profane language during each recorded call. The victim stated he did not know anyone that was an enemy to him and would want to harm him. The victim stated that he didn't think about it at the time but that he can use *69 and find out the number from where the other person was calling. Officers told him to dial *69 if this happened again and to write down the number and immediately call 911. This case is under investigation.
- were contacted by the Senior Citizens Nursing Home about some missing property. A resident had noticed that her wedding band was missing. Officers took the description of the ring and value. The caregivers had already checked every place that they could think the ring might be and could not locate it.
- were called to the 600 block of Fannin for a family disturbance. Upon arrival officers spoke with the victim who stated that her sister had assaulted her. The victim's sister, Lisa Lee, had reportedly asked to borrow her sister's vehicle. Upon returning to the house Lisa found that she had been locked out of the house. Lisa then climbed through the bathroom window. The victim stated that her sister had threatened her. The officers observed cuts on the victim's legs reportedly caused by Lisa. Lisa Lee was arrested for assault causing bodily injury to a family member.
- were called to Dollar General for a shoplifter in custody. Before officers arrived they were advised that the suspect had fled in a burgundy Chevrolet Suburban. One officer went to the store while two others attempted to locate the suspect. Officers were unable to locate the suspect but were told that she has been seen several times at this location.

NOTICE OF EFFECTIVE TAX RATE 2003 Property Tax Rates in Runnels County

This notice concerns 2003 property tax rates for RUNNELS COUNTY. It presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the taxing unit used to determine property taxes last year. This year's effective tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. This year's rollback tax rate is the highest tax rate the taxing unit can set before taxpayers can start tax rollback procedures. In each case, these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value.

	Last year's tax rate:	General Fund	Special Road/Bridge Fund
	Last year's operating taxes	$ 2,269,698	$ 196,187
	Last year's debt taxes	$ 205,145	$ 0
	Last year's total taxes	$ 2,474,843	$ 196,187
	Last year's tax base	$ 326,092,049	$ 326,978,333
	Last year's total tax rate	$.75894/$100	$.06000/$100
	This year's effective tax rate:
	Last year's adjusted taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property)	$ 2,474,150	$ 196,132
+	This year's adjusted tax base (after subtracting value of new property)	$ 341,786,010	$ 341,786,010
=	This year's effective tax rate for each fund	$.72388/$100	$.05738/$100
=	Total effective tax rate	$.78126/$100	$.06276/$100
x	1.03-maximum rate unless unit publishes notices and holds hearing	$.80469/$100
	This year's rollback tax rate:
	Last year's adjusted operating taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property and adjusting for any transferred function, tax increment financing, state criminal justice mandate, and/or enhanced indigent health care expenditures)	$ 2,588,478	$ 515,499
+	This year's adjusted tax base	$ 341,786,010	$ 341,786,010
=	This year's effective operating rate	$.75734/$100	$.15083/$100
x	1.08 = this year's maximum operating rate	$.81792/$100	$.16289/$100
+	This year's debt rate	$.05811/$100	$.05811/$100
=	This year's rollback rate for each fund	$.87603/$100	$.22100/$100
=	This year's total rollback rate	$1.09703/$100
-	Sales tax adjustment rate	$.09293/$100
=	Rollback tax rate	$1.00410/$100

GOOD FOOD FOR A GOOD CAUSE was the order of the day at this special concession stand Saturday morning. Amber Green and her mother Dawn served BBQ sandwiches and baked goods as a fundraiser to benefit Kelly Bearden who was seriously injured in a car accident July 12. Kelly, a 2003 WHS graduate, and Amber were teammates on the Lady Blizzard softball team. Kelly has been moved from Shannon Hospital in San Angelo to a long-term rehabilitation facility. Customers included Kelly's grandfather Suvern O'Dell, Mary Sanchez, and Horte Joyce. Amber and Dawn raised almost $400 for Kelly.

Pest Management News

by Rick Minzenmayer, IPM-Agent, Runnels & Tom Green counties

General Situation

Dryland cotton producers are waiting for a rain we so desperately need to keep our cotton crop yields respectable and irrigated producers are keeping their fingers crossed that the wells will hold up through this critical time period.

It was discussed several weeks ago that the blooming period could be short this year and it's panning out to be so. Hot, dry conditions are pushing cotton toward a rapid cutout. This will definitely have an impact on yields and insect management decisions. Generally, most fields have an excellent square set and fruit retention has been very good in the May and early June cotton.

In the younger (mid to late June) cotton, the fruit retention has not been as good. Right now, fleahopper numbers are fairly low (10-15 fleahoppers per 100 plants) and square sets are steadily going down (60 to 80%).

I think this is due to a combination of factors both environmental and insect related. With the dry conditions, it's probably best to hold off trying to load the plant heavily in a dryland situation. If the plants are heavily loaded and moisture is short at bloom, the plant will begin to shed bolls in an effort to balance resources with boll demand. Under this situation, it would be foolish to invest money protecting this fruit if they are going to be shed anyway. If it rains this week, I'll change my opinion.

My opinion is different in irrigated cotton. I think we should try and set as much fruit as possible the next two weeks in irrigated cotton. We are late and we need a pinhead square by August 12th to be assured of a harvestable boll this fall. Remember it takes 20 to 25 days to go from pinhead to bloom. A cotton plant will set a new node every 3 to 5 days vertically and every 5 to 7 days horizontally on the fruiting branch. Therefore, we need to protect and set all the fruit we can the next two weeks. Then hopefully between the irrigation water and Mother Nature we can mature it all out.

Cotton Aphids

The scouts continue to find isolated areas in fields infested with cotton aphids. These are generally not real large areas but should be monitored closely. A number of fields have been treated for aphids the past couple of weeks. It's difficult to predict whether the populations will increase or decrease. Lady beetles are numerous in these hot spots and seem to be keeping populations down right now.

Bollworm/Budworm

Bollworm moth trap counts are down this week in Runnels County but up in Tom Green County. Overall egg counts have dropped off with numbers ranging from 0-42 eggs per 100 plants. No significant worm infestations have materialized from last week's egg-lay yet.

Scouts can find a few squares damaged but very few larvae can be found. Mortality remains high from both predation and heat. Producers are encouraged to monitor fields closely during this egg-laying period.

Young worms usually feed for a day or two on tender leaves, leaf buds and small squares in the plant terminal before moving down the plant to attack larger squares and bolls. When small worms are in the upper third of the plant, they are most vulnerable to control by insecticides and beneficial insects and spiders.

Sometime moths deposit eggs on squares, bolls, stems and, in general, lower parts of the plant. This may occur when cotton plants are stressed and making little new growth, or during periods of high temperature and low humidity. Detection of eggs and control of small worms are more difficult when eggs are deposited in these locations.

Runnels County Rumors

from the United States Department of Agriculture, Agricultural Stabilization & Conservation Service

Texas Announces Authorization for Managed CRP Haying and Grazing of CRP

Cutting hay and grazing livestock on land enrolled in the USDA's Conservation Reserve program, in the absence of a weather-related emergency, is now an option for producers due to changes brought about by the 2002 Farm Bill.

Managed haying and grazing began July 2. The starting date is tied to the end of the primary nesting and brood rearing season in the state. The ending date will be October 25, 2003. Prior to the 2002 Farm Bill, commercial use of CRP land was generally prohibited except for weather-related emergencies such as droughts.

To take advantage of the new haying and grazing options, producers must modify existing conservation plans for the CRP acreage to include managed haying and grazing practices. The plans must be developed in conjunction with USDA's Natural Resources Conservation Service or one of its technical service providers.

Producers must also agree to certain terms and conditions, including signing an agreement to reestablish, at the producer's own cost, any cover destroyed or damaged as a result of haying or grazing and to remove all hay within 10 days of being notified that the managed haying and grazing season has ended.

Annual rental payments producers receive for enrolling land into CRP will be reduced by 25% for acreage that is hayed or grazed.

Under this program, producers can cut hay or graze livestock on a given acre no more than once every three years after the vegetative cover is fully established. An area hayed or grazed this year, for example, may not be hayed or grazed until 2006. CRP participants can choose to hay or graze their entire CRP acreage in the first year, or only a portion of their CRP acreage each year. Producers may not harvest hay and graze livestock on the same land in the same year. The periodic disturbance of vegetative cover under managed haying and grazing will increase the diversity and quality of the cover and improve wildlife benefits.

2004 NAP Small Grain Grazing Sales

September 1, 2003 is the final date to purchase a Non-Insured Assistance program (NAP) policy for 2004 small grain grazing.

2002 Final

Counter-Cyclical Payments

The market price was greater than the target price for wheat, barley, and oats, therefore, these crops will not receive a counter-cyclical payment for 2002.

LPDs for Feed Grains

Grain producers are reminded that loan deficiency payments may be in effect again this year. These payments can be on eligible grain, grain hay, or ensilage when the posted county price falls below the county loan rate. These rates change daily. There are two ways to request this payment. By using form CCC-709, you can lock in the LDP in effect on the day of harvest or delivery to the warehouse by filing this form prior to harvest.

New this year, this form has five options for you to choose from when it is filed. After you have made your selection, you assume the responsibility to stay with your choice upon harvest and delivery, or cancel the form and file a new one with your new option chosen prior to harvest.

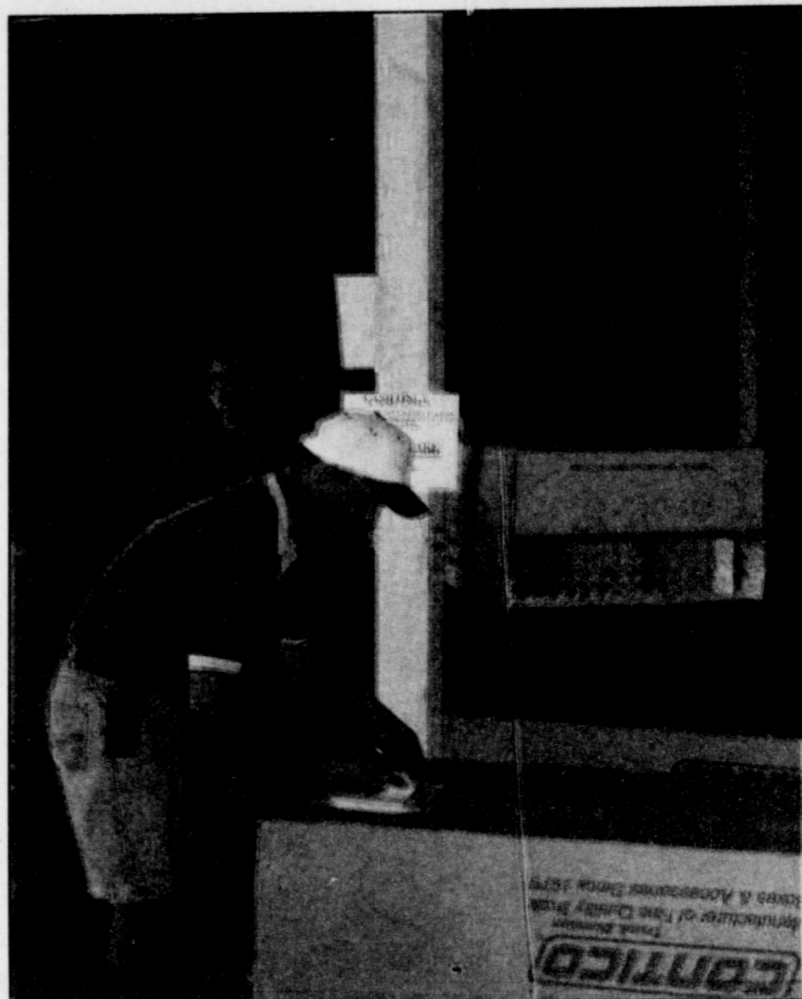

As a second option, (since LDP rates for grain change daily) you can file a CCC-633 on the day with the rate you like. After the CCC-633 has been filed, the crop is no longer eligible for CCC loan and the crop can be sold or fed, etc.

CRP Cover Maintenance

Producers with CRP contracts are reminded that it is their responsibility to maintain the CRP practice according to the conservation plan you agreed to with NRCS.

Maintaining Contract Acres

DCP participants are required to protect all contract acres from erosion and weeds. Failure to do so may result in loss of program benefits and/or liquidated damages.

TCE wheat production meeting set for August 11 in Taylor County

Texas Cooperative Extension is holding a wheat production meeting Aug. 11 in the Extension office in Taylor County at 1982 Lytle Way. The evening meeting is designed to help producers plan for the coming 2003-2004 wheat growing season.

"We'll begin with an industry-sponsored dinner at 6:30 p.m. and follow with an update on the management needs for the upcoming wheat production season," said Gary Bomar, Extension agent for Taylor County and the meeting's coordinator. "We'll also offer three continuing education unit credits for participants with a Texas Department of Agriculture applicator's license."

Dr. Jason Johnson, Extension economist at San Angelo, will open the program with a wheat pricing forecast for the coming season. Dr. Billy Warrick, San Angelo-based Extension agronomist, will follow with herbicide recommendations and findings from result demonstration work conducted on the Rolling Plains.

A relatively-new pest to the area, the Hessian fly, will be the subject of a talk by Dr. Chris Sansone, Extension entomologist at San Angelo. He will also offer management suggestions on ways to cope with the insect. Dr. Gaylon Morgan, Extension state small grain specialist at College Station, will discuss wheat varieties, fertility issues and research and demonstration plans scheduled with small grain on the Rolling Plains.

Persons planning to attend are asked to contact the Extension office in Taylor County at (325) 672-6048 by Aug. 8 for meal planning purposes.
