 - E. Exhibitors will not be permitted to blanket any animal during the show hours.
 - G. Only the exhibitor owning the animal or such attendant as he may designate shall be permitted to enter the judging ring with any animal.
 - H. If any exhibitor has any complaint to enter about any part of the Show he is urged to make same before the show is over.
3. Judges:
 - A. The single judge system will be used.
 - B. Time for judging of the different classes will be displayed upon a public bulletin board. Exhibitors will keep posted on the time of showing their exhibits. Failure to exhibit (Continued on last page)

CITY DRUG STORE FRONT IMPROVEMENTS

C. C. Glenn has had a corps of men busy the past several days improving the front of the building occupied by the City Drug Store.

The improvements include a modern awning, and a plate glass to take the place of one that has been broken for some time.

These improvements greatly beautify and make more attractive the place of business of the City Drug Store. Mrs. L. Johnson, owner of the store, plans other improvements of her business.

JOSEPH CARTER DECEASED

Joe Carter died at the home of his daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Mathis in the Tokeen community, Friday night, February 10, 1933, and following religious services at the Tokeen Baptist church, Saturday afternoon, the body was put away for its last rest, beside the companion of his youth, who preceded him thirty years ago, in the Midway cemetery, near Goldsboro, Deceased was in his seventy-first year when death came and called him.

Joseph Archibald Carter was born in Alabama and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Carter. The parents of deceased came to Arkansas, in White county, when he was just a little boy. His parents became neighbors of the parents of the writer. There deceased grew to young manhood and almost into middle life before coming to Texas, and his parents and the parents of the writer became most intimate friends and through the long years were almost as one family. Deceased came to Texas in 1889, stopping first in Erath county where he remained but a brief time, then moved to Coke county. He resided in Coke county only a little while and then went in 1894 to the Tokeen community. There he was married to Miss Adelia Baldwin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Baldwin, who also had come from the same community in Arkansas and settled in the Tokeen community. To this union four children were born, three of whom survive to mourn the going away of their father, all of whom reside in the immediate community where they were born and reared and were present when their father was called by death. They are Mrs. Sam Mathis, Mrs. G. H. Grey and Gilbert Carter. Besides the children there are nine grand children all of whom were present, a sister, Mrs. Lizzie Sowell of Erath county and other loved ones.

Following the death of his companion, though it was long years ago, yet he never married again, but made his home with his children and lived for them and his grand children and other loved ones and friends and the good that he might do. The funeral was largely attended by friends of a life-time, in the Tokeen community and from other places. To the writer it was somewhat like giving up an older brother—for in the long yesteryears of life when the writer was barely out of infancy, the life of deceased became a part of the life of the writer. Deceased in his boyhood and young manhood was not one of those who "sower wild oats." His was a circumspect life and one of our most blessed memories of our own mother is that she (Continued on last page)

METHODIST CHURCH

The sand and gravel has been put on the church yard for curbs and sidewalks, and the yard will be beautified within the next few days. This act upon the part of the congregation shows, thrift, pride and love for the church.

Our subject for Sunday morning will be, "Building" I Sam. 27:10. Sunday School 10 A. M. preaching 11 A. M. and 7:30 P. M. There will be preaching at Fort Chadbourne at 3 P. M. The general public has a cordial invitation to worship with us.

P. T. A. BANQUET QUITE SUCCESSFUL

The Bronte P. T. A. banquet at the tabernacle Monday night was a great success everywise and then some, according to Mrs. N. W. Pitts, chairman of the finance committee of the banquet.

The attendance was large, the program excellent and the menu enough to tickle the appetites of the gods. One hundred and seventy plates were served.

Mrs. P. T. Crist, president of the Association, and Mrs. Pitts, both, express their appreciation for the splendid cooperation given in the undertaking. Especially is the part appreciated of Miss Opal Patterson and the Home Economics girls, Pro. R. R. Petty and the Vocational Agriculture boys and all the committees that had been appointed. Each one rendered great help which is much appreciated. Also do those in charge of directing the banquet appreciate the large attendance and the encouragement given. The proceeds go for the benefit of the school and will meet some much needed funds.

WOMANS PROGRESSIVE CLUB

Sixteen members responded to roll call with "Some event of note in the lives of American Presidents," when the Womens Progressive Club met with Mrs. L. T. Youngblood, as hostess, on Thursday afternoon February 9. "Lincoln" was the subject of an excellent program, led by the hostess.

Mrs. T. F. Rogge read a very interesting paper on "The Boyhood and Early Manhood of Lincoln."

Mrs. H. R. Wilkins spoke on "Lincoln as President."

"Literary Gems from Lincoln," were read and discussed by Mrs. A. N. Rawlings. "Battle Hymn of the Republic," was sung by the club. An ice course featuring Valentine colors, was served during the social hour which followed the program. On February 23, Mrs. B. F. Bridges will be hostess to the Club.

ROBERT LEE BRIDGE CLUB

Mrs. F. S. Higginbotham was hostess to the Bluebonnet Bridge Club of Robert Lee, on Friday afternoon February 10, at her lovely ranch home north of Bronte.

Mrs. Higginbotham is a member of the Club. The Valentine motif was featured in the decorations for the home, bridge accessories and table appointments. Red candles in silver holders centered the quartet tables where the guests were served with a delicious salad course.

Club members present were: Mmes. Fred Roe, J. S. Craddock, B. J. Baskin, J. C. Snead, Gerald Allen, Eva Mahon, Bruce Clift, Mammie Landers, W. W. McCutchen and Wayne Clift.

Included in the hospitality, outside the Club were, Mrs. Paul Good, Mrs. W. B. Wilbanks and Miss Mittie Russell.

MAN'S HEART STOPPED, STOMACH GAS CAUSE

W. L. Adams was bloated so with gas that his heart often missed beats after eating. Adlerika rid him of all gas, and now he eats anything and feels fine. Leading Druggist—In Blackwell by Hunt Drug Store.

The interest is growing week by week in our Womens Missionary society. They are doing a fine work.

Coke County Fat Stock Show To be Held Friday, March 3rd

The second annual Coke County Fat Stock Show will be held at Robert Lee Friday, March 3rd. The Show will open at nine a. m. and will end with the Rodeo program. Fat calves, breeding stock of all kinds and a big rodeo make up the days program. This show is open to the people of Coke County for showing their best livestock and all entries are free.

The main feature of the Fat Stock Show will be the calves fed by the 4-H Club boys and Vocational Agricultural boys of the county. Champions will be selected in each class, and the winner of each class will compete for the Grand Champion of the show. There will be ten or twelve 4-H Club calves shown and six Vocational Agricultural calves shown. Cash prizes will be awarded to the winners. An added feature to the 4-H Club show is the show halter being awarded by the county agent to the boy that has the best trained calf.

The judging of the different classes will start at ten o'clock, and will be followed by a sale of calves that will not be carried to other shows. W. I. Marschal, County Agent of Tom Green County, will be the judge of the show.

ENTRY DATES FOR EXHIBITS IN COKE COUNTY FAT STOCK SHOW

All parties planning to exhibit livestock at the Coke County Fat Stock Show should take note of the rule stating "all exhibitors must send in their entries by 6 p. m., Wednesday, March 1st."

Entries should be listed with the superintendent of the Department you wish to show in. Below is listed the names of the superintendents of the different departments:

Boys Calf Show—Bruce Clift, Superintendent.
Breeding Hereford Show—Fred Roe, Superintendent.
Hog Show—J. S. Craddock, Superintendent.
Sheep and Goat Show—Joe Dodson, Superintendent.

COMMISSIONER'S COURT

The commissioner's court convened on February 13th 1933, for its regular monthly meeting, all members being present, and transacted the following business.

Road overseers for the various public roads of the county were appointed.

It was ordered that McNeil Wylie, tax assessor be allowed $80.00 per month for the months of March, April and May, and $48.00 per month for the months of June, July, August, September and October of 1933.

It was ordered that the county judge's salary be reduced 25 per cent: $490.00 to $367.50 per year, and the Ex-officio County Superintendents' salary be reduced 25 per cent: $900.00 to $675.00 per year. Said salary was reduced upon the recommendation of county judge, O. E. Gerron.

It was ordered that the county agent be retained at a salary of $600.00 per year, or $50.00 per month: The vote was 3 for, and 1 against: J. K. Lofton, E. T. Sparks and Ben Brooks for (Continued on last page)

THE UNKNOWN FUTURE

The following verses were sent us by a dear mother whose only son was killed accidentally in an airplane wreck some weeks ago. We print the verses because they are rich in the loftiest and happiest sentiments known to human kind.

I am thinking of the future,
As I trace the day and year.
For the past is in God's keeping,
The future His mercy shall cheer;
And what looks dark in the distance,
May brighten as I draw near.

For perhaps the dreaded future
Has less bitter than I think;
The Lord may sweeten the water
Before I stoop to drink,
Or, if Marah must be Marah,
He will stand beside the brink.

It may be He has been waiting
For the coming of my feet—
Some gift of such rare blessedness,
Some joy so strangely sweet,
That my lips can only tremble
With the thanks I cannot speak.

My heart shrinks back from trials
Which the future may disclose;
Yet I never had a sorrow
But what the dear Lord chose:
And I send the coming tears back
With the whispered words, "He knows."

So I go on, not knowing,
I would not if I might,
I'd rather walk in the dark with God
Than go alone in the light,
I'd rather walk with Him by faith,
Than walk alone by sight.

DIVISION OF GIN PROFITS WITH FRIENDS

E. R. McClendon of Blackwell, one of the editor's good friends of that city, was in town Thursday afternoon and took time to give us his usual call when here.

We regret that Mr. McClendon is not feeling quite at himself. He says that it may be the years are slipping upon him and he will never be strong again as he was.

But the thing that interested us very much is with reference to the plan Mr. McClendon has in mind relative to operating his gin next season. He has, by far, perhaps, the best gin plant, most satisfactorily constructed and arranged, of any in this part of the West. He is a gin man and takes an interest in his work and in keeping his plant right up to the minute. One can go there any time after ginning season is over and find his plant almost as clean as a lady's parlor.

Mr. McClendon has two thoughts with reference to his gin and his business. He prefers to sell and is going to sell and retire from active life if he can get an offer anywhere in the bounds of reason. Hence some thorough gin man can get a real bargain in this plant.

But, Mr. McClendon stated to us that he was not going to give his plant away, and if he can not sell satisfactorily, he will operate another season. His plan is to divide his profits with all his customers next year. He says, if he runs, he will want only a living out of it and the balance he is going to give back to his farmer friends. He says he has in mind that every farmer who gins with him, he will just hand him back one dollar of the price of his ginning each time. He says the farmers of Blackwell have been good to him and now that he is through with his days of money-making he just wants to get enough for a comfortable support for himself and wife and then let his friends have the balance—thus he will help his friends while he lives and will be able to see the smiles play in their faces as he hands them back as an absolute gift, part of the amount they have just paid him for gin service.

A unique idea to say the least—and knowing E. R. McClendon as we do, his heart too will smile as he makes the gifts to his friends. We "kinder" wish we could be a cotton farmer in the Blackwell section next year.

MRS. FRANZ COPELAND DIES

Mrs. Franz Copeland died at Blackwell, Tuesday, February 14, and the body was buried Wednesday afternoon, in the Blackwell cemetery, following religious services held at the Blackwell Methodist church, by the local Methodist pastor, Rev. C. L. Fox, and the presiding elder of that district, Rev. O. P. Clark of Sweetwater.

The husband of deceased preceded her about a year ago. She was seventy-three years old and was a noble woman. The world is enriched by her having lived. The Enterprise joins in sympathy to those who sorrow.

MR. AND MRS. CUMBIE IVEY ENTERTAIN

Mr. and Mrs. Cumbie Ivey entertained Friday evening, February 10, with a six table bridge party. The home was decorated with flags and pictures of Washington. The table numbers were framed silhouettes of Washington. A lovely salad course was served to the following guests:

Messrs. and Meses. R. R. Petty, J. B. Mackey, Barrett Mackey, Ronald Walton, W. W. Ivey, Roy Brey, Frank Grimes, W. H. Maxwell Jr., Ernest Ivey, Taylor Shelton, and Mrs. Geo Thomas.

MRS. J. V. KIRK DIES

The many friends of Mrs. J. V. Kirk and of her parents and other relatives here will be in sorrow to learn of her death at Greensboro, North Carolina, February, 11.

The information regarding her death is very meager, being contained in telegrams received by her sister, Mrs. J. D. Leonard. Further details of her death have not yet been received by letter.

Deceased will be remembered as Miss Grace Lockhart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Lockhart, and sister of Mesdames J. D. Leonard, W. J. Gideon and Louis Sims.

Deceased was born near Brady, August 1, 1897 and shortly thereafter her parents moved to Sherwood where she was reared and where she completed the Sherwood High school course. Telegrams stated that the cause of her death started from tonsillitis and the poison went into her system causing death in a short time.

Deceased and husband resided for the past several years in Kansas City where she held a position as secretary of the Palm Olive Soap Manufacturers. Only a few months ago they moved to North Carolina.

RODEO PLANS COMPLETE

Funds for the construction have been secured, and this added attraction to the Coke County Fat Stock Show is now assured. The business men of Robert Lee have underwritten the expenses of construction of the arena and work on this will start next Monday 13th.

The arena will be entirely enclosed in a strong fence with double chutes and holding pens at the west end and catch pens at the east end. The arena will be large enough for all roping, riding, wild cow milking and other events on the program. This rodeo is open to anyone caring to enter. W. W. McCutchen will be in charge of the Rodeo, and all entries should be sent into him.

The Enterprise extends deepest sympathy to the aged parents, the husband, the brothers and sisters and all others who sorrow.

The writer can remember her only as a sweet, shy, modest beautiful little girl, about the age of our little girl for whose going we deeply sorrow, when we used to be so often in the home of her parents at Sherwood.

EDITOR GETS SOME (?) EGGS

In last week's issue of The Enterprise we advertised for eggs, offering fifteen cents per dozen, to apply on subscription, both new and renewals.

Of course, we offered more than the market price. We made the offer that anyone who had eggs but did not have the cash might pay their subscription and thus aid both themselves and us. We need cash more than ever in our experience in life. We desire, deeply, that everyone who can, pay as much as one dollar one their subscription. Several since last issue have paid cash—one faithful friend paid three dollars, for all of which we thank those who have been so thoughtful.

But, what we started to write about is that we got some eggs on subscriptions—well, we are afraid to state just how many dozen, for there be those who might question the truthfulness of the assertion. But if the doubtful one would confer with the wholesale egg dealers in Bronte and San Angelo they would find out. We greatly appreciate the response.

Due to the fact that some came and said they did not get to come Saturday, but would like to pay their subscription in eggs, we are making another "SPECIAL EGG DAY" Saturday, February 18—so, bring on your eggs. For that day we will allow 15 cents per dozen for fresh eggs to apply on subscription. Read the ad elsewhere. In it you will see that we also make a special price for corn and maize heads to apply on subscription. Bring us 200 pounds of good maize heads and we will credit you with one dollar on subscription. Bring us 2 bushels of good ear corn and we will credit

$5,000 FOR A NAME

The biggest thing yet is the venture of the Continental Oil Company, in a huge advertising campaign, introducing their New Bronze High-Test Gasoline. This gasoline has wonderful power and other elements peculiarly its own, which give it a preeminence.

This gasoline has such wonderful properties that the Continental Oil Company offers $5,000 for a name for it; then in addition, they offer $5,000 in Cash prizes for a slogan.

Have you tried to win this Grand Prize? Should you wake up on the morning of February 24, the morning after the contest closes and find that you have 5,000, how would you feel?

Go to W. H. Maxwell, Jr., local distributor of Continental Products in Bronte, or the Taylor Service Station or the Abbott Service Station and get an official contest entry blank and try your hand. It costs you absolutely nothing—who knows, you might be the winner.

MRS. GRAY MCKOWN DIES

The large number of friends of deceased and family were greatly grieved when it became known Saturday that Mrs. Gray McKown had died in a hospital in San Angelo that morning. The body was brought to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Landers, in the Marie community, where it remained till Sunday afternoon. Religious services were held by Revs. A. N. Pitts and W. E. Anderson, at the Baptist church, following which the body was followed by loved ones and a large concourse of friends to the Bronte cemetery, where it was tenderly placed away for its last sleep.

Mrs. Evelyn Landers McKown was born September 17, 1894 and died February 11, 1933, making her to be in her thirtieth year when death claimed her.

To deceased and husband were born one child, Imogene, who is eleven, and survives with her father to mourn the loss of a devoted mother. Other surviving loved ones are parents of deceased, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Landers, two brothers and five sisters, all of whom save one sister who was kept away on account of illness, were present at the funeral.

Deceased had suffered many years and was a patient sufferer. She underwent three major operations in the hope of a restoration to health and to her loved ones, but all to no avail. Hence when death came that early Saturday morning, it was to relieve the poor sufferer and to take her spirit back to God who gave it.

Deceased was converted in her early girlhood years and had always been a devout and faithful Christian. She was an affectionate wife, devoted mother and faithful as a child to her parents. She had as many friends as acquaintances and many are in sorrow at her untimely going.

The Enterprise extends deepest sympathy to the bereft husband, the little daughter, to the parents of deceased and all others who sorrow. May divine comfort be theirs!

CARD OF THANKS

We take this method of thanking all our friends at Marie and in Bronte and other communities who were so kindly thoughtful of us in the death of our dear wife, mother, daughter and sister, Mrs. G. H. McKown. None except those who have been through the same sorrow can understand what such kindness and sympathy mean in such hours. You were so sympathetic and kind and the floral offerings were beautiful, for all of which dear friends, we deeply thank you. May God bless you each and all.

G. H. McKown and little daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Landers and family.

would speak of deceased as a model young man and tell us that she wanted us to grow to be a young man of fine habits as was he. And though we drifted apart and for long years we never saw each other, yet the surging years could not dim, much less efface the memories we have had of him as a young man exemplary in all his ways. And, it was a matter of great joy to the writer, Saturday afternoon, following the religious services, when old-time friends gathered about us and said, "You did not say too much in tribute to his memory." One good man and neighbor of deceased said: "I have made my home right here by him for thirty-one years and I never knew him to do one ignoble act or speak an unkind word," and grasping our hand the good friend said, "I thank you for what you said concerning his fine life."

Deceased professed faith in Christ when he was fourteen years old, but so deeply sincere in all his convictions, he never became a member of the church until within recent years. He united with the Token Baptist church in which he lived faithfully until he was called from labor to rest. Therefore, it was befitting to carry his body to the altar where he worshiped and have the religious services. The sweet hymns of the church he loved during his days were sung by those whom he had loved through life and the word of God was read and facts concerning his life were spoken feebly by his boyhood friend. Then, the body was put away out there in that quiet, sequestered spot, with his precious dead, by those who had known him and loved him through the long years.

Dear friend of the long years, rest in peace until the graves shall be called to give up their dead! And may the sorrowing loved ones and friends have comfort from above!

Beauty Parlor Announcement

To the ladies and girls of Bronte and all the surrounding communities:

I am pleased to announce that I have opened a beauty parlor in Bronte.

I have just returned from Fort Worth where I completed a course in beautyculture in one of the leading beauty culture schools of the southwest. I received my diploma for which I worked hard through several long weeks I was there. Therefore I do not hesitate to say to you that I can give you as satisfactory beauty culture service as you will get anywhere.

I am installing a complete and latest models of beauty culture equipment. My equipment includes permanent wave machine, facial chair and manicure table. Every appointment of my parlor will be one hundred per cent sanitary.

My parlor is located in the balcony of the City Drug Store. I will be pleased for you to call and see me and my parlor—I will appreciate a social call, whether you desire beauty culture service or not.

Folks, I am in Bronte to stay and to give the ladies and girls as thorough beauty culture service as they can get anywhere. If I do this, I know I will merit your patronage. Thanking you in advance for an opportunity to serve you,

GRIMES BEAUTY PARLOR

MRS. MAUDE GRIMES, Owner and Operator.

MRS. MAUDE GRIMES OPENS BEAUTY PARLOR

Mrs. Maude Grimes is opening a beauty parlor in the balcony of the City Drug Store. The appointments are being arranged to meet the demands of a thoroughly modern and fully equipped beauty parlor.

Mrs. Grimes went away some time ago and has been taking a complete course in beauty culture work. She stayed with her course until she completed and brought home with her a diploma. Hence she is as thoroughly qualified to give beauty culture as satisfactorily as can be had in the larger centers.

Mrs. Grimes is installing a suite of the most modern beauty culture equipment. The suite includes permanent wave machine, facial chair, manicure table and all the other essentials to giving thorough beauty culture service.

Mrs. Grimes has an announcement in this issue of The Enterprise inviting the ladies of Bronte and surrounding country to visit her and see for themselves how thoroughly she is equipped to give satisfactory beauty culture service. Read her announcement.

It's gardening time.
