BRONTE SCHOOL MADE INDEPENDENT DISTRICT

By the duly appointed processes of legal procedure the Bronte Consolidated Rural School is now the Bronte Independent School.

A petition asking the Commissioners Court to convert the school into an independent district was presented to the court at its regular session Monday. The petition had 385 signatures of the patrons of the district. There are 605 patrons of the school. The petition was presented to 395 patrons and all except ten signed the petition, thus showing that the sentiment seemed to be almost unanimous for the change.

Those advised in the matter state the school being now an independent school district, it has many advantages over its former status.

In the first place, it is said, the school now has a higher rating. All independent schools in the State are listed in the State Public School Directory. A copy of the public school directory is in the possession of every college of every kind in Texas. Hence they will now have knowledge of the Bronte school with reference to its credits of affiliation, which, of course, gives the school a higher rating.

In the next place the money from the state school fund for the support of the Bronte school comes directly to Bronte and is paid out through the local bank rather than formerly when it was paid out by the county school board.

Then another argument for the independent school, as we understand it is, that it can increase its credits of affiliation faster than formerly.

And last, it now becomes a strictly locally controlled school, its affairs now being under the immediate direction of the local board of trustees.

Hence, it seems, in spite of depression and drouth and other unfavorable conditions the Bronte school, under the direction of Superintendent C. R. Owen is "driving straight ahead" and getting ready for a school next school year that will surpass all the years of the school's existence.

Mrs. Toney Hallmark who underwent a major operation at a San Angelo hospital a few days ago is doing only reasonably well according to late reports.

BRONTE LEAGUERS TAKE PROGRAM TO ANGELO

The Bronte Epworth Leaguers took a program to the Trinity Methodist church in San Angelo, Sunday evening.

The Bronte young people were surprised upon arrival to find that a number of Leaguers from the First Methodist church of San Angelo had accepted an invitation to be present as guests and hear the program.

Delicious punch and sandwiches were served during the social period. Coke county will be transferred into the San Angelo district of the West Texas Conference this fall, and the Leaguers were anxious to get well acquainted in order that they may take up their work efficiently when the transfer is executed.

Mrs. N. W. Kiker and daughter, Helen, and Mrs. L. R. Machin and son, Wayne, from Portales, New Mexico were visiting relatives in Bronte first of the week.

BLACKWELL AGGIE BOYS RECEIVE AWARDS

Much interest and enthusiasm has been manifested by the Blackwell Agricultural boys in their Class and Project activities. In many ways the work has proved very worth while to the boys and the community during the past year. Some of the boys who have finished their projects, have done their work with such perfection until they have been rewarded with an award of certificate of merit indicating that they were especially well trained in their project work. More than 35 miles of terrace lines were run and constructed in the community as a result of the class activities. The following boys have been awarded certificates of merits by the Future Farmers of America: Leroy McFarlin, John Taylor and Barney Jordan.

Leroy had projects in Pork Production and Egg Production. Practical experience was had by grinding his own feed and mixing his own rations.

John Taylor raised 95 per cent of his baby chicks to the age of 8 weeks. The object of the project was to produce pullets for laying purposes.

Barney Jordan did the sensational thing. When experienced feeders everywhere said feeding could not be made profitable, he fed two beef calves winning 3rd place in pairs at the Sweetwater exposition. The calves were brought in off the grass last winter or fall and placed on feed, finishing them for the market in May. Even though it was his first calves to feed he received a $27 check, after paying for labor, cost of feed, cost of calves and marketing expenses.

It is hoped that the other boys in the community will qualify for awards before the field projects are finished. Many of the boys did exceptional work and have not been awarded merit certificates. G. K. Lewallen raised better than 90 per cent of his baby chicks to the age of 8 weeks. So it is hoped that the class will continue in their efforts to improve Agricultural practices in their communities even though the school board of trustees have discontinued the Vocational Agricultural Department this coming school year. It is to each of us an individual responsibility to do all we can to be independent financially and to stand for all things for the bettering of the community in which we live, and to look to a better future for both ourselves and our fellow men.

CHURCH OF CHRIST HAD MOST FRUITFUL MEETING

The annual meeting of the Church of Christ which had been in progress for nearly two weeks closed Wednesday night.

Elder Frank L. Cox, minister of the Church of Christ at Sweetwater, did the preaching and B. T. Smith of Abilene directed the singing.

It was one of the most successful meetings the congregation has had in many years, in the point of confessions and baptisms. Both Elder Cox and Mr. Smith greatly endeared themselves to the members of the congregation and many others as well, in their earnest, faithful work in the meeting, and memories of them will be cherished for a long time to come by many. And any time either of these faithful Christian workers can return to Bronte they will receive a royal welcome.

HON. C. L. SOUTH SPEAKS HERE MONDAY NIGHT

The Enterprise is requested by local friends and supporters of Hon. C. L. South of Coleman, candidate in the run-off primary for Congress from this, the new 21st Congressional District, to announce that Hon. South will speak from the balcony of The Enterprise building, Monday evening, August 20, in behalf of his candidacy.

The speaking will be at 8:30 o'clock. Preceding the speaking the Bronte band will render an open air concert from the balcony. Everybody is cordially invited to come and enjoy the music and hear the speaking.

SPEAKS IN BEHALF OF ALLRED'S CANDIDACY

Hon. J. D. Burns, of San Angelo, will speak on the streets of Bronte, Saturday afternoon, in behalf of the candidacy for governor of Attorney General James V. Allred.

Hon. Burns is an attorney of San Angelo and is an interesting and eloquent speaker. Don't fail to hear him—he will "turn on the light."

The speaking will be somewhere on the streets about 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS HAS SECRET

The Methodist Sunday school may have several fine classes and classes that are interested in the work and progress of their class. But, from information given The Enterprise there is one class at least that is blazing the trail for other classes to follow.

The class in question is Class No. 2. This class is composed of fair misses and gallant gents of the ages of about six to eight years old. Some of the fair misses of this class advise us that they have a very important secret they are going to give out in the near future to the other classes of the Sunday school. They are anxious that every member of the Sunday school be there each Sunday till they give out the information, as they want every member of the Sunday school to get the secret when they give it out.

Miss Annie Louise McCleskey is teacher of this class. Miss McCleskey is visiting in Dallas now for an indefinite time and in her absence Miss Leona Kiker has charge of the class.

Members of this class are doing such excellent work, they may receive a class pin as a Christmas present. At least,

THE HUNTER GOT TREED

There was a hunter in Texas,
Who out a hunting went—
Not for bear and tigers—
But his mind on one thing was bent—
His quest, as he went up and down the land,
Was not for specimen of nature most rare,
But, the only thing he sought,
Was to sit in the governor's chair.

This hunter bore the name of Hunter,
He hailed from Wichita land,
A country of oil wells and leases,
And of millionaires so grand!
He owned oil wells, too many most to count,
And countless acres of liquid gold,
But, he went out before the people,
And posed as "a poor man," but bold.

This hunter whose name was Hunter,
Went up and down the land,
Acclaiming himself as "the poor man's friend,"
As he, too, belonged to "the poor man's band;"
He told the people he would help them,
All their tax burdens he would lift,
And deal out Sheol to the selfish rich,
And leave them with the other poor to drift.

His song to the poor of the land,
Was sweet as halcyon days,
As he talked of wealth and berated the rich,
And told how he would work in wondrous ways,
To relieve the poor of their taxes,
And do other and many mighty things,
To aid himself and "the other poor,"
And riches would come to them on wings.

"The ad valorem is to you an awful burden,"
Said this vote nimrod, in his wiley way,
"And I will lift this from your shoulders,
And the tax, I will leave the rich to pay,
And we 'poor folks' will be left free;
Of course, it will make the rich to wail,
And they will say that it is not fair,
When I put the tax on 'the blended scale.'"

The people were almost ready to shout,
When this good news he wrote,
Telling them of his dire poverty,
And how he must have "the poor man's vote,"
Else the millionaires and big oil men
Would defeat his every plan,
By which he would tax the rich,
And lift the tax burdens off "the little man."

But, there was another man in Texas,
Who also sought the governor's chair,
He also hailed from fair Wichita,
He is a young man, but has intelligence most rare!—
He is called "Jimmie"—Jimmie Allred—
The general legal advisor of all,
Having thus served faithfully,
The people to him did call.

When "Jimmie" heard the "bubbings,"
Of this Hunter hunter man,
Telling of all his dire poverty,
Thoughts of facts through the mind of "Jimmie" ran—
Jimmie knew of oil wells and leases,
And of Hunter's wealth galore,
And how lifting the ad valorem,
Would save Hunter a hundred thousand or more.

So, Jimmie "turned on the light,"
And showed that Hunter's "blended scale,"
Was in truth and in reality,
Not "blended" but a "general tax, sale;"
This, Hunter in rough tongue denied,
Saying, "the general sales tax" he opposed,
Then, the gallant Jimmie went straight to his files,
And read the letter that Hunter had composed.

And, now, Jimmie has his man
On the defensive—yea, "on the hip!"—
And is "poundin' the thunder" out of him,
About his oil wells and the taxing of the rich;
And while Hunter the bare facts denies,
Jimmie, daily, a larger vote doth share,
Which on August 25, 1934,
Will put him in the Governor's Chair.

that is now under advisement by the Sunday school authorities.

Robert Knierim is superintendent of the Methodist Sunday school. Mr. Knierim reports the Sunday school as in a growing and thriving condition, while Pastor Dunson and interested adult members of the church and Sunday school pronounce Mr. Knierim as a capable and consecrated Sunday school leader.

Lamont Scott of Robert Lee was in Bronte Wednesday afternoon.

Sam Cooper, secretary of the Coleman Chamber of Commerce, was in Bronte Monday, guest of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Knierim, at lunch. Mr. Cooper only recently lost his father, who had lived to the ripe old age of ninety-two before death claimed him. The Enterprise joins with Mr. Cooper's many friends throughout the Bronte-Winters country in deepest sympathy in this hour of sorrow.

FARMERS MARKETING ASSOCIATION MAKES ITS ANNOUNCEMENT

A new bidder with the patronage of the cotton farmers of the Bronte country as to their ginning needs is the Farmers Marketing Association of Bronte.

In a news story carried by The Enterprise recently, the Farmers Marketing Association of Bronte is an organization perfected among a large number of the cotton farmers of the Bronte country and some of the gin men of Bronte for the purpose of operating a cotton gin business. The new organization was completed by electing E. R.

Gideon, president; W. R. Stephenson, vice-president; B. H. Mackey, secretary-treasurer; A. M. Wynne and A. E. Coalson as members of the board of directors, and J. D. Luttrell as manager of the Association's business.

The Farmers Marketing Association bought the Luttrell & Keeney gin plant, which is one of the very best gin systems in all the country.

Mr. Luttrell has been very busy since the organization was perfected and he was chosen manager, getting everything in ship shape for the ginning season. And though they began ginning last week, they made no

REV. RICHARDS STIRRING PEOPLE WITH MESSAGES

The revival meeting in progress under the brush arbor, on the Mrs. U. F. Lowry farm, a mile and a half southwest of Bronte, is said to be making progress.

Rev. Will Richards is conducting the meeting. And it is said that he is "speakin' out in meetin'" calling things by their right name and is telling the people that already the awful harvest of wrong conduct on the part of church people is being reaped all over the land.

The attendance and interest in the meeting is growing. Men who rarely go to church, it is said, are attending the meeting and listening to the preacher's fearless attacks upon the bad living of church members.

Rev. Richards preached on the streets of Bronte Saturday afternoon to a large audience. He will preach again Saturday afternoon. Every body is cordially invited to hear him, and likewise everybody is invited to drive out to the brush arbor, and worship with them. It is an old fashioned brush arbor meeting, with old fashioned preaching and worship, according to those who have been attending.

Miss Annie Louise McCleskey went to Dallas Friday with her uncle, Jearrell Lattimer, and his two sons, J. W. and Kenneth, who had been here for a brief visit. Miss McCleskey will be away for an indefinite time.

CARD OF THANKS

In this public way we want to thank the good people of Bronte and surrounding country for all their kindly aid in trying to subdue the fire that destroyed our home and nearly all its contents. You fought bravely for us and we do not have words to express our gratitude. Then, the good ladies were so thoughtful of our needs and gave the shower in which we received so many useful and elegant gifts—things we necessarily had to have in order to start to house-keeping. Dear people, we thank each and all of you, out of the depth of our hearts.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McLaughlin.

COKE COUNTY RELIEF OFFICE ITEMS

Folks, we are struggling with a serious situation, which is gradually becoming worse. Our state is short on money, and the number of dependents increasing.

This office is doing all in its power to help needy people, and we ask you, please, be patient, and to help yourselves just as far as it is possible. Don't ask help unless you just must have it, otherwise you will be thrusting yourself in front of hungry children, and no real man will do that. We have hopes that August will be our hardest month, but we can't be sure about that.

As soon as the State Highway Department gets ready to go to work that will give us much relief, and it surely won't be long now till they do start.

Our Legislature will meet in special session August 27th and no doubt they will authorize the sale of more Relief Bonds, the proceeds to be used for relief purposes.

Our President has promised that no one will be let starve.

So if each one will at all times do all he can to help himself and a little to help his neighbor, and not criticize the people who are doing all in their power to work out this problem, then, we can pull through; otherwise no one knows what may happen.

J. A. Knight,
Administrator.

Vote for H. O. Jones for Representative; he fought for support of public schools, Home Demonstration Work and Extension Work. (Political Ad.)

NOTICE

This is to certify that on a regular meeting of the City Aldermen of the City of Bronte, August 6, 1934, did order all water users, who have not been keeping their water dues paid, to be cut off by the tenth day of September; and if cut off, your old balance on water rents must be paid, together with all necessary charges before water will be turned on again. This is the last notice that will be given.

Given under our hand and seal of office this the 6th day of August, A. D. 1934.

R. J. Epperson,
Mayor.

Attest:

A. L. McCuiston,
Secretary.

Vote for H. O. Jones who served you faithfully one term and helped reduce state expenses $13,500,000.00; he can and will devote all his time to your business; he missed only one day's roll call during the 43rd legislature. (Political ad)

JONES LED

The final vote in the Representative race of the 92nd district gave H. O. Jones of Winters a lead over C. A. Doose. Doose's heavy vote in Rannels county put him second and into the runoff.

The total vote of Jones and Doose was: Jones, 2614; and Doose 2482.

FANCHER FAMILY ENJOY FAMILY DINNER

Thursday, August 16, was a great day in the family circle of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Fancher of Fort Chadbourne. The aged parents and children enjoyed a dinner together that was a surprise to the parents, as they knew nothing of the happy event until the children had gathered at the home.

Mr. Fancher is 80 years old and Mrs. Fancher is well along in her seventies. Mr. and Mrs. Fancher have resided in this section of the country for fifty years. They came before Coke county was organized. There are seven surviving children, three sons and four daughters, all of whom were present Thursday. The children are Lee, Rottan; Clay, New Mexico; Floyd, Fort Chadbourne; Mrs. Charley Henry, Blackwell; Mrs. Clisbey Snow, Ballinger; Mrs. Ila Richards, Fort Chadbourne, and Mrs. Melvin Laswell, Fort Chadbourne.

The children planned the happy affair and each came with his family and brought baskets of lunch which was spread at the noon hour. Two large and delicious cakes were cooked, one for the father and one for the mother.

There were fifty-four in attendance among whom were some of the "old timers." Among the old timers present was Mr. McPeters of Winters. Mr. McPeters has been in the West fifty-six years. He is 85 years old.

"Uncle Port" Kirkland, Mr. Kirkland is 77 years old and has been in this part of the country for thirty-six years.

Miss Betty Butner went to Winters Tuesday afternoon, to attend a shower given by Mrs. H. O. Jones in honor of Miss Mollie B. Stokes of that city, who was married Thursday afternoon to Mr. Henry Burton. Miss Butner remained for the wedding. Miss Butner also attended an announcement party on Thursday evening of last week, given by Mrs. Stokes, announcing the above marriage. Miss Butner was accompanied last week by Miss Christine Glenn of Robert Lee who was a week end guest of Miss Nelda Dietrich.

Vote for H. O. Jones for Representative; he received where he is best known, in the 13 north boxes of the 26 in Rannels County, 761 votes to 683 for all three of his opponents put together. (Political ad)

The editor and the Mrs. editor have been relishing some delicious peaches given them by Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Heron. The peaches have that "good, old Arkansas" flavor. Thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Heron.

Vote for H. O. Jones who is against new taxes on the people and for reduction of those that exist; he helped defeat new taxes proposed to hurt the average citizen in the last legislature. (Political ad)

Tom Kiker from Snyder was a week end visitor with his brother, S. A. Kiker, and family.

Farmers Marketing Association Gin AN'OUNCEMENT

To the cotton farmers of the Bronte Section of country:
We take this method of announcing in this public way the organization of the Farmers' Marketing Association of Bronte. The purpose of this organization is to gin cotton and handle cotton seed and such like.

OFFICERS

Officers of the Farmers Marketing Association are:

President, E. R. Gideon.
Vice-President, W. R. Stephenson.
Secretary-Treasurer, B. H. Mackey.
Directors, with the above officers, A. M. Wynne and A. E. Coalson.

J. D. Luttrell is the manager of the affairs of the Marketing Association.

BUY LUTTRELL & KEENEY GIN

The Farmers Marketing Association has bought the Luttrell & Keeney gin. As everybody knows, this is a modern gin plant and is excelled by none. The board of directors feel that they are fortunate in having J. D. Luttrell as manager. Mr. Luttrell not only knows every detail of the gin business, but he is thoroughly reliable and competent as a business man.

CORDIAL INVITATION TO ALL

We seek the patronage of every cotton farmer throughout the Bronte territory. We cordially invite all to give us their patronage, assuring each and all that the patrons of our gin who are not members of the Marketing Association will receive every consideration and courtesy, the same as the members receive. Only first class service, as has always been the custom of the Luttrell & Keeney gin, will be rendered in each bale we turn out. We are here to serve and will appreciate your patronage.

The FARMERS MARKETING ASSOCIATION

By THE PRESIDENT and BOARD OF DIRECTORS

A. T. CHAPMAN GOES TO CASH BUSINESS SYSTEM

In this issue The Enterprise carries a page announcement of A. T. Chapman, the progressive, and hustling general merchant of Norton, announcing that he has abandoned the Credit System of business and has inaugurated the strictly Cash System. In the announcement Mr. Chapman has adopted the policy of all modern, progressive stores, in that he announces the prices of groceries and other lines he carries. Until about a decade ago, the idea of advertising the prices of groceries was unheard-of. It was believed that it was not necessary to advertise what the people had to buy in the way of groceries. And there are men still in business today who believe that this is true. But, advertising, if done properly, will stimulate people to buy. And in these times of scarcity of money, there is nothing that makes greater appeal than the printed prices of food products. Mr. Chapman knows that fact and having gone to a strictly cash basis Mr. Chapman knows that he can now make prices that will be real inducement to the people within reasonable reach of his store, to buy from him.

It may be that Mr. Chapman is only leading in what every business institution that is going to survive may have to do—go to a cash basis. The times are perilous and the business that continues to make charges on its books to its customers is going to find that alarmingly increasing numbers of them are getting to where they cannot pay for the actual necessities of life.

Anyhow, Mr. Chapman is playing absolutely safe and at the same time he is making his change to a cash basis policy inure to the benefit of all who buy their merchandise from him. Read Mr. Chapman's announce-

ENTERTAINS HI-HATTER'S CLUB

Miss Gwendolyn Higginbotham entertained the Hi-Hatter's Club and a few visitors with a bridge party at her home a few evenings ago.

Pink and white periwinkles formed the floral note in the entertaining suite of rooms. These colors were also featured in the bridge accessories and table appointments.

Miss Faye Lowry won the award for high score while Miss Susie Tannehill won low. Gifts were also presented to the out of town guests, Misses Dorothy Clift, Christine Glenn and Louise Roe of Robert Lee.

Others present were Misses Earl Eubanks, Lois Lambert, Mildred Heidel, Betty Butner, and Mrs. Royce Hayley.

Mrs. Homer Clark is able to be at her place again at the R. E. Hickman store, after an absence of several days due to her having been bitten by a spider, from which she suffered a great deal.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this way of expressing our deepest gratitude to all our friends and the good people generally for their aid in fighting the fire that destroyed our home and for your heroic efforts in saving as much as of our household effects as were saved. Such help in a time of need is much to be appreciated and such unselfish friends can not be forgotten.

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Mackey.

Little Miss Marjorie Percifull has returned from a visit with her aunt, Mrs. Quincy Hames, at Crosbyton.

"Uncle John Butner returned Wednesday afternoon, from a visit with relatives at many different places. Mr. Butner visited at Rockwall, Wichita Falls, Crosbyton and in Oklahoma. Mr. Butner says that he traveled a thousand miles and never saw a mud hole. He says only one little rain fell in all the country he visited during the time he was gone. He says on the plains there are multiplied thousands of acres of farm land as barren as the paved streets.
