MISS LOU WILKINS WRITES TO "HOME FOLKS"

(Editor's note: Miss Lou Wilkins of Seminary Hill, known to all the old-time residents of Bronte and the entire Bronte country, as an outstanding church worker, but who for many years has been a missionary to the negroes in Fort Worth, sent to The Enterprise the following letter, addressed to the "Home Folks," and also the travelogue telling of her trip to A Century of Progress. Miss Wilkins, or rather "Miss Lou," as she is known to all her old-time friends throughout this part of West Texas, is a versatile writer as well as speaker. Her travelogue covering A Century of Progress is very interesting, as it describes in graphic terms many of the wonderful things at A Century of Progress.)

Seminary Hill, Texas
September 10, 1934.

Dear Home Folks:

Always my heart clings to Bronte—so full of sweet memories and precious friends. I am very happy in the work here to which God has called me; but ever my memory and heart live in Bronte—the home of the best people on earth; the home of the mighty Cumbeys and others of fame, and where sleep my loved ones. For, it was through your prayers and influence that I was given as a Home Missionary to America. Also Bronte is the birthplace and boyhood home of the sweet singer, Drue Cumbe, who heroically gave his life for others.

And, now, another missionary from one of your best and most talented families, the Holders, has gone forth to the most inaccessible and difficult fields, Tibet, where no one has dared to go. There 13,000,000 lost souls have no light, except as Ralph Holder carries the "Good News" to them. What an opportunity for him and us to be the first to tell these dying millions of Jesus, "the Light of the World"—to see the light and "so love" of Christ break away the fetters of sin and beam into their darkened souls. How long have they waited? Yes, God has waited long to give us the privilege to tell them of His Son through "our special missionary." For, he is capable mentally, spiritually, socially, to represent us, and we rejoice to give our substance while he gives his life as a sacrifice. Many of you know of Ralph Holder's integrity, devotion, sincerity, and have been convinced ere this, that it is a rare investment for us to put our prayers and money into such

Ralph Scott Killed in Car Wreck, Near Fort Smith, Arkansas, Thursday night

Brief reference was made in the last issue of The Enterprise to the accidental death of Ralph Scott, stating that none of the particulars were available. The facts of the tragedy, as we have gathered them, are as follows:

Mr. Scott and a man who boarded with Mr. Scott, at Kilgore, their home, had been to Fort Smith, Arkansas. They started on their return home Thursday night, about 8 o'clock. Out about eight miles from Fort Smith, on a sharp curve in the road, they met a truck which forced Mr. Scott to the extreme right. Mr. Scott's car, a new Ford, plunged over a steep embankment and turned over some five or six times. Mr.

CLASS IN DRAMATIC ART

Misses Jacklyn Grannis and Debby Martin of San Angelo were charming callers at the Enterprise office Tuesday morning.

Miss Grannis is an instructor in Dramatic Art and has arranged for a studio in the school building and have classes in connection with the regular school work. This is an excellent arrangement, as it will be convenient for all the children in school who desire to take dramatic art.

Miss Grannis is not only capable in her work from the standpoint of thorough preparation but she's had experience in teaching dramatic art. She taught in Del Rio last year.

It was doubly a pleasure to us to meet Miss Grannis, after we learned that she is a grand daughter of "Unce Bill" Eastling, one of the most widely known and popular newspaper writers and editors of West Texas back in the days when he was actively engaged in that line of work.

The Enterprise bids welcome to Miss Grannis and we wish that she may have the patronage and cooperation her work deserves.

an unselfish life. The law of plant life is regularity and abundance for the best growth; so I feel that you will form plans for praying and giving to him regularly, to get the best results; because being an intelligent, God-fearing, loving people, you have sense of important matters that God puts in your hands. For, He will reward those who reap as well as those who sow in tears—you will do this for His sake, I pray. Now that he has blazed the trail, others will follow. For, Bronte and vicinity are packed with great leaders, that you older ones through your lives and prayers, can and will "call out" into service.

When the way grows difficult and the burdens heavy, may I still constantly rest in your prayers, knowing that you will not forsake me and the work God has called me to do for you, America, the negroes, and Him.

Your Home Missionary,

Lou Wilkins.

May I now tell you some of the wonderful things I saw at A Century of Progress?

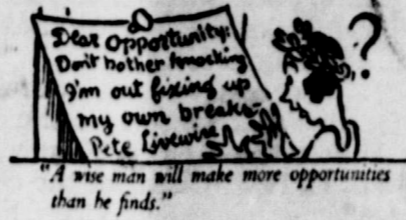

En route we passed through Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri and Illinois states. We crossed Trinity, Brazos, Canadian, Waggoner, Wabash, Mississippi, and Missouri rivers. At Muskogee, Oklahoma, is the famous Indian School; at Shawnee we saw an oil well burning;

Scott was killed outright, his neck being broken, while the man with Mr. Scott escaped injury. The truck made no halt, hence it was not possible in the dark and the excitement of the moment for the man with Mr. Scott to get the number of the truck. The man with Mr. Scott was thoroughly questioned at the post mortem investigation made by a coroner, and was acquitted and the verdict was that Mr. Scott was accidentally killed as set out above.

Mr. Scott's family was notified at Kilgore. They notified Mr. Scott's mother, Mrs. Maggie Scott, and family, and also Mrs. Ralph Scott's parents, Mr. and Kansas City has a park 15 miles long, and a Soldiers' Home that cost $8,000,000. Zinc and lead mines are numerous around Joplin, Missouri—there were once 8,000 workers. We sped thru Springfield, the home of "honest Abe," and over the Lincoln National Highway, where many times he trudged along barefoot, and we could almost hear him say: "Nothing is ever settled, till it is settled right." But, he was rewarded for every tiny sacrifice, and so will you be.

The thermometer was 114 degrees in the shade, in St. Louis, where 1,000,000 souls, I hope, were not as warm as we. Here is where the famous Brown shoe man has on his desk: "God First, Home Second, Business Third." There are also 44 other shoe houses in this city. They chloroform snakes and while the skins are yet warm they make the skins into gloves, slippers and so forth.

Gardens and corn were just in full bloom in Illinois and the climate was delightful.

Chicago is a city of foreigners; they are courteous and respectful. The crowds behave well; you soon feel at ease, and can go anywhere by yourself. I never saw but two people chewing gum, and one couple holding hands; and at the exhibits no one made any comments, so as not to interfere with others thinking.

Outside the grounds is (1) Art Institute with mural, fresco, million dollar paintings; (2) the Schedd Aquarium, beginning with minnows and tadpoles, you go in and out of corridors filled with 540 different kinds of fish, till you get to porpoises, gars, sharks, small whales, seals, and sea horses; (3) the Field Museum is a world in itself, and can only be studied for months; (4) the Planetarium thrills your soul as you view the heavens; they make you want to go there, both to heaven and back to Chicago. The geological time clock showed on its face time before the planets were born. Each tick of the chronometer represented 10,000,000 years.

The parks are beautiful, and show where leisure is invested from youth to old age in developing skill in athletics, games, and crafts. On Chicago Day, the attendance was 750,000. The Marshal Field house is the largest in America. You can see what you want, and also what you do not need too. The Stevens Hotel contains 800 rooms; you can stay in one each night for eight years. UTAH PLEASES MR. AND MRS. ALFRED BENNETT

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Bennett who went to Utah some time ago, to make their home, have moved from the place where they resided to Woods Cross. They wrote The Enterprise, requesting that their paper be changed to their present address. Mr. and Mrs. Bennett write interestingly of their home in the Rockies. Therefore, we take the liberty to print their letter, knowing, too, that their many friends will be glad to hear from them and will enjoy their letter:

Woods Cross, Utah.

September 11, 1934.

Rev. D. M. West,
Bronte, Texas.

Dear Editor:

We want "Our Old Home Town" paper to come to Woods Cross, Utah, now, as the job at Locomotive Springs is complete.

We moved into Salt Lake City and stayed there just a week, then Alfred was sent out to this job. The contractor he is working for is putting in an underpass on the main highway.

We stayed in Salt Lake City just long enough to see the most interesting points. We took a sight-seeing trip over the city one day. We saw and went through the Mormon temple grounds; heard an organ recital in the tabernacle; saw where Brigham Young kept his 19 wives and where he and seven of them were buried, and other interesting sights too numerous to mention. One day we took a couple of friends we met from Denver, Colorado, out to Brigham Canyon, and there we saw the largest open copper mine in the world.

To make a long story short, we are really enjoying living in Utah and making friends of Utah people. We find them to be most congenial.

We hope everything in the "old home town" is o. k.

Asking you again to please change our address, as we have missed the last three copies of the paper, we are,

Very truly yours,
Alfred and Ruth Bennett.

Bronte School Opening Exercises, Held Sunday Night, With Large Attendance

If it is true that "coming events cast their shadows before," then the Bronte school for its 1934-1935 session is destined to be a great year everywise, for the opening exercises of the school, in the school auditorium, Sunday evening were the most encouraging, perhaps, of any session in several years.

In the first place, holding the opening exercises on Sunday evening instead of Monday morning was an innovation and proved to be to the school's advantage.

Then, too, the nature of the opening exercise, that of starting the school off for its year's work with religious worship, proved beneficial.

The overwhelming attendance was likewise most encouraging to Superintendent Owen, members of the board of trustees and faculty. The auditorium was filled to overflowing. It was a record attendance for such an occasion.

The program that had been previously arranged was carried

MRS. W. H. RUTHERFORD DIES

Thursday afternoon, September 13, 1934, Mrs. Loduska Caroline Rutherford, beloved wife of W. H. Rutherford, died at the family home at Rockwood, Coleman county.

The body was interred in the Rockwood cemetery Friday afternoon, following religious services at the Rockwood Baptist church, conducted by Rev. C. V. Carroll of Brownwood, a life-long friend of the family, Rev. K. L. English of Brownwood and the writer.

Deceased was the daughter of J. Hugh and Sarah Cunningham and was born in Monroe county, Tennessee, September 13, 1855, making her to be 79 years old the day she departed this life.

September 15, 1876 deceased was married to W. H. Rutherford, in the county of her birth, making them to have been married 58 years the day of her death. She was the mother of ten children, nine of whom survive, with their father, to sorrow over her going. They are Bruce Rutherford, San Antonio; Walter Rutherford, Melvin; Dolph Rutherford, Dale; George, Sam, Elbert and Jack Rutherford, Rockwood; Mrs. Laura Price, Grosvenor; Mrs. Maude Stewart, deceased; Mrs. Florence Carter, Whon. All the children, except the son in San Antonio, were present at the funeral. Besides the husband and children, deceased is survived by 41 grand children and 5 great grand children, and other loved ones and a host of friends all over the southern part of Coleman county and elsewhere who are in sorrow because of her passing.

Deceased and husband came to Texas, settling in Hill county, in 1877. In 1888 they moved to Coleman county, locating at Rockwood, where for forty-six years they resided on the same farm home and reared their family and have given to the world a family of children who have gone out and have taken their places in the world and are making their contributions to the good of mankind.

When sixteen years of age deceased professed faith in Christ and united with the Baptist

Rev. Lewis Stuckey had charge of the worship part of the program. Rev. Wallace N. Dunson delivered the sermon. Rev. Dunson's discourse was a long lines in keeping with the occasion and was instructive and inspirational. R. E. Cumbe led the song service, with Miss Susie Tannehill at the piano.

Mrs. C. C. Holder sang a beautiful number that inspired all who heard.

Following the worship L. T. Youngblood, president of the school board, took charge of the program. After some preliminary remarks by Mr. Youngblood he introduced Dr. J. D. Leonard, who discussed with reference to the opportunities the Bronte school with its enlarged program and facilities afforded the youth of this part of the country.

The next speaker introduced was H. O. Whitt, secretary of the school board. Mr. Whitt spoke with reference to the usual amount of work done by the school board through the summer months, getting plans for the enlarged program of the school perfected. "This is going to be the 'sunshine session' of our school," said Mr. Whitt. "The superintendent and every member of the board of trustees are working in perfect harmony to complete every detail and to make every arrangement necessary for thorough work. And we seek and expect the cooperation of every patron and every pupil that there may not be a single ripple to disturb the harmony and perfect work of the school."

Superintendent C. R. Owen was then presented and the further program of the evening was by Prof. Owen. By his straightforward, candid way of setting forth the ideals of the school and what he is anxious for and shall strive to accomplish during the school months and the policies and methods of work he set out to be pursued, soon won for him an undivided place in the confidence of all present, both patrons and pupils. The speaker made it plain that it was everybody's school and that such thing as "pets" among the students by the faculty would be tolerated and therefore, everybody, without exception would be expected to observe the regulations of the school and each one do his very best in carrying out the school's program.

It had been stated by other speakers of the evening that it would require $25,000 to finance the school with its enlarged program. Superintendent Owen referred to the statement, then said: "There is another $6,000 to add to that amount," said the speaker. "Reference is made to the $6,000 of Federal funds, supplied with which to feed the children of the school at lunch each school day at the school cafeteria, whose parents are on the relief rolls. Everybody is going to be fed. No child of this school is to go hungry," said the superintendent. Then the speaker gave credit to Miss Margaret Thomas for the fact that the federal funds had been provided. But, Miss Thomas a few days ago came to The Enterprise office and disclaimed any credit whatever for the appropriation of the funds in question by the federal government, and stated that to Prof. Owen altogether was due the credit for the funds. So—that's that. The main and important thing is that the school has the funds with which to feed the children. Prof. Owen announced that out of the approximately 550 scholars he had already enrolled 170 pupils who would be fed by the federal relief funds.

Congratulations and good wishes to each and all who are in anywise connected with the affairs of the school. And may every dream and every plan become a realization.

HONORED AT PARTY

Miss Elizabeth Leonard entertained with a bridge party at her home Saturday evening, honoring her brother, Woodrow Leonard, who has gone to El Paso where he will be a student in the School of Mines.

Cut flowers emphasizing the colors of pins, green and white, were featured as the floral note in the entertaining room. These colors were also employed in the table appointments and accessories.

The awards for high score went to Miss Betty Butner and Mr. Charley Baker. The honoree was presented with a gift.

An ice course was served to those mentioned and Mrs. Charley Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Royce Hayley, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ivey, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Brey; Misses Mary Bess Hooper, Lois Lambert, Della Higginbotham, Susie Tannehill, Mozelle Sayner, Nelda Clark, Pauline Glenn, Lucy Lowry, Earl Eubanks, Louise Gideon, Faye Lowry, Virginia Youngblood; H. A. Fitzhugh, T. F. Sims, Mr. Maxwell, Curtis Smith, Frank Hearn, Ralph Petty, G. W. Gideon, Norman Kiker, D. K. Glenn, Robert Lambert, and George Taylor of Robert Lee.

CELEBRATES HER TENTH BIRTHDAY

Little Miss Imogene Hudman celebrated her tenth birthday, September 8. The rain interfered, keeping some of the little guests away, but those in attendance had a good time playing till they were tired.

Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served the following: Thelma Jean Bell, Mettie Belle Gibson, Della Mae Gibson, Homer Leathers, Carroll Leathers, Lester Leathers, Maurine Bell, Cordia B. Hudman, J. L. Hudman, Paul Hudman, Cumbie Ivey, Jr., Carroll Hudman, Jr., Floyd Hudman, Loyd Hudman.

Mrs. Collin Scott has returned to her home at Wellington, after spending some weeks here with her daughter, Mrs. Frank Keessee who has been ill with typhoid fever.

J. B. Mackey who submitted to an operation for appendicitis in a San Angelo hospital, Tuesday afternoon, is making very satisfactory progress towards recovery. It is expected that with his continued improvement he will be able to return home within a short time.

Miss Gladys Ash went to Abilene Monday, where she entered Hardin-Simmons University.

Woodrow Leonard went to El Paso Tuesday, where he entered the School of Mines again as a student. Mr. Leonard will graduate at the close of the 1934-1935 session. Mr. Leonard's grandfather, W. W. Lockhart, accompanied Mr. Leonard and will visit indefinitely in New Mexico.

RALPH SCOTT

Mrs. J. B. Johnson, Jess and Walter Scott departed at once for Kilgore. Upon the arrival of Mrs. Ralph Scott at Fort Smith the body was prepared and sent back to Kilgore Friday night. Mrs. Maggie Scott and her other children, Mrs. J. B. Johnson, Bob Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Simpson and Miss Lorie Jackson departed Saturday morning for Kilgore.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon in the First Baptist church at Kilgore, Rev. L. E. Holt, pastor of the church, conducting the services. Following the religious services, interment was in the Kilgore cemetery. Members of the family advise The Enterprise that citizens of Kilgore stated to them that it was one of the most largely attended funerals ever held in that city. Flowers in profusion were brought, or sent, by friends of deceased and his family.

Deceased was born at Bronte, August 8, 1898, making him to be 36 years old when the tragic end of his earthly career came. He was the son of the late Joe Scott and wife, Mrs. Maggie Scott, one of the old-time and widely known families of this part of West Texas. He is survived by his wife and five children, his mother, five brothers and two sisters.

The children are Maurine, Ralph Jr., Joe Dell, J. L. and Billie Ruth. The brothers are Jess, Walter, LeRoy, Daniel and Edward Scott, and the sisters are Mesdames Will Athey and Ray Coalson.

Some years ago Mr. Scott moved with his family to Kilgore and entered the hotel and cafe business. Kilgore had just begun its oil development. From the first Mr. Scott prospered and had a flourishing business. His hotel work brought him in close touch with the oil fraternity, and therefore he had built up around him a large circle of friends.

Deceased was a genial, pleasant spirit. He was always smiling, never out of humor, and was generous with a friend to his last dime. He has many boyhood friends in and around Bronte who are grieved at his untimely passing. The shadows fall heavily upon his wife and children, his mother and the other members of the family. To each and all of them The Enterprise joins with their friends in deepest sympathy in this hour of their tragic bereavement.

church at Sweetwater, Tennessee. If memory serves the writer correctly she and husband were charter members of the Rockwood Baptist church—anyhow, the church had not long been in existence when they became members, if they were not charter members.

The religious services were not pretentious—quiet and impressively beautiful, in keeping with the beautiful life of deceased. Funeral arrangements were in charge of J. E. Stevens Co., funeral directors of Coleman, with J. B. Huff in charge. The writer has attended many funerals during the forty years we have been attending such occasions. For thoughtful planning and considerably helpful services, which an undertaker can always render on such occasions, we have never seen funeral arrangements more helpfully carried out far as the arrangements are concerned. The religious services were tenderly beautiful and comforting. The church choir sang the old and familiar hymns of the church that deceased had loved and sung throughout her long, useful life. Rev. English prayed sympathetically for the family. Rev. Carroll read the Scriptures briefly and commented on the language of the Saviour in His immortal memorial to Mary of Bethany, "She hath wrought a good work." Rev. Carroll was the pastor of deceased and family, in the nineties, just preceding the pastoral relation of the writer with the family. Rev. Carroll told of the "good work" that he knew deceased had "wrought," and paid beautiful tribute to her memory. The writer then spoke, giving further emphasis to the Scriptural quotation from which Rev. Carroll had spoken.

To the writer it was very much like giving up his own life, the passing of this gracious woman. For, we were still a youth, just in our twenties, when we first became associated with deceased and her husband and children. Shortly after becoming associated with them we lost our own mother, and this gracious woman did all she could in a motherly way to heal the wound in our heart. We remember her sympathy and kindly interest. Hence through the long years we have thought of this family almost as we have thought of those bound to us by the ties of blood. Later some of the older children of this home stayed in the home of the writer and attended college. Hence the relations were as close and intimate as are ever found to exist between friends. There was a long lapse of years that we were not together. But last October we journeyed back to the little rural town and to the home of our dear good friends of the other years, around which some of life's golden memories have clustered for nearly forty years, to attend a home-coming of the church there, the members and former pastors. Perhaps, some of our readers will recall as to the write-up we had of our visit at that time. And, now, before another year has gone, she is called from the walks of life. Therefore we are happy beyond words that we journeyed back there a year ago and saw her and conversed with her again. She had grown old and was almost blind. But, when we entered the room and addressed her, she said: "I cannot see you, but I know your voice." By her side we sat a long time that night and she and her husband and we recalled the long gone years and the happy days back in the yesteryears of life. In jocular mood she referred to the "number 13," remarking that it was her fortunate number—that she was born on the 13th and was married on the 13th. And when we arrived at the home the other afternoon and her husband reminded us that she died on her birthday, the 13th of September, it caused us to remark in our talk that "the number 13" was indeed her fortunate number, for she was not only born on that date, but was also married on that date and greater still she left this life of suffering and went home to heaven on that date.

The flowers that were piled about her bier, the large attendance of sorrowing friends who gathered from many places to mingle their sorrow with that of the family, all attested as to the queenly and beautiful life of this noble woman. The shadows fall most heavily, of course, upon the aged husband who is called to give up the companion of his youth, and thus alone he will walk the way of life without her with whom he companioned for fifty-eight years. To him and the children and grand children and all others who sorrow we extend deepest sympathy.

She sleeps there now, in the silent place, where she was placed by neighbors and friends of almost a half century. Her deserved rest will be peaceful for her, for by her beautiful, unselfish life, she brought peace to human hearts in her Christly ministries in the days of her younger womanhood and when old age came on, her life fell like a benediction from the skies upon her family and friends and world. Thank God for the memories she has left!

"We'll never say good-by in heav'n,
We'll never say good-by,
For in that land of joy and song,
We'll never say good-by."

did not calculate on staying that long, for I love Texas too well. The aristocracy live on the roof; so I went up there a few minutes to get a lofty view of Chicago, and the Lake. Tugs, steamers, yachts, sailboats, torpedoes, speeders, rafts, dotted the rolling bosom of the Lake, while Byrd's first ship to the South Pole lay anchored on the shore. The Lake is a sheen of indescribable sublimity every hour of the day, the colors are never the same—you do not wonder why captains love the sea. I outwalked my crowd by renting a dressing-room and washing my feet "more than once a day" and putting on fresh hose; then going out and sitting at the feet of the lake and breathing her salt spray, then walking again.

Robert Knierim transacted business in San Angelo, Tuesday.

If your subscription is due, we will thank you for it.

Mr. and Mrs. Waid Rees were week end guests of Mrs. Rees' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Knierim. They returned to their home at Center Point, Monday morning. Miss Dorothy Knierim, a sister of Robert Knierim, from Huntington, who had been visiting her brother for some time accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Rees home and will spend some time there.

Will Wood returned Wednesday night from Texarkana and Shreveport. At the latter place Mr. Wood took treatment for a tumor on his lip.
