

Old Settlers' Homecoming at Edith Sunday

Miss Edith Burson writes The Enterprise that the Old Settlers' Homecoming will be held at Edith Sunday, August 15. The occasion is for the old settlers especially, but all are invited to attend.

The program will begin at 10:30 in the morning and will continue until about 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Miss Burson says: "State that we invite all the 'old timers' to come and be with us."

Everybody is expected to take a well-filled lunch basket.

The editor acknowledges an invitation to be present and address the gathering at 11 o'clock—we will be present, nothing happening to prevent.

HONOR THEIR HUSBANDS WITH JOINT BIRTHDAY PICNIC AND PARTY

One of the happiest social events of the summer was that of the picnic and lawn party, given jointly by Mesdames I. M. Cumbe and C. C. Glenn, honoring their husbands, on the lawn of the Glenn home, Thursday evening.

The lawn was a veritable garden of brilliant lights and verdant beauty.

The unique feature of the refreshments was that it was a covered dish affair, the ladies a covered dish. The supper was served picnic style on snowy-white linens, spread on the lawn grass.

The exact ages of the honorees could not be ascertained—who were guests bringing each even their wives did not seem to know. Whether the lack of this knowledge on the part of the wives was through brutal fear and intimidation on the part of their lords, or whether it was because the ages of the honorees are so remote that friend wives really could not recall, is not yet determined. However, one of the honorees this morning, speaking of the affair said something about "women beautiful as an artist's dream and delicious viands that would tempt the appetites of the gods." When men come to the dotage of old age, it is said that they have no such visions—hence, it is safe to say that the birthdays of the honorees celebrated was only "beyond thirty."

Some sixty guests were present at the happy affair.

Bronte's First 1937 Bale Was Ginned Monday Aug. 9

Juan Olivas, the Mexican farmer on the J. B. McCutchen farm near Bronte, was the successful first bale winner, Monday, August 9, for the third consecutive year.

The first bale this year was ginned one day earlier than the first bale last year, it being ginned on August 10.

The Planters Gin Company ginned the bale and contributed the price of ginning. The business men of the town contributed $13 as a first bale premium. The Planters gin bought the bale, paying 12 1-2 cents for it.

And so, the ginning season is on for 1937. Five bales have been ginned this week as we go to press.

Church of Christ Meeting Grows In Interest

The meeting which began at the Bronte Church of Christ the middle of last week is going on through Sunday night.

Elder David O. Griffith of Oklahoma City is doing the preaching and conducting the meeting. Elder Griffith conducted the meeting last year. His preaching and work with the congregation was highly pleasing, not only to the members of the congregation of the Church of Christ but to all the people who heard him, so he came this year, not as a stranger among strangers, but as a minister who is loved and esteemed for his work's sake. Hence, Elder Griffith swung right into the work this year with the encouragement of the people. It has not at this writing been the pleasure of the writer to hear Elder Griffith preach, but on every hand we hear kindly things spoken of Elder Griffith and his messages he is delivering.

You are cordially invited to attend the meeting, which continues through Sunday night.

Elrod Furniture Establishes Store No. 2

A few years ago a man from the plains country located in Sweetwater. He entered business, choosing the furniture and house furnishings line. Without any great blare of trumpets he modestly opened his doors to the buying public that needed merchandise in his lines. Announcing his opening in the local papers and a few papers surrounding Sweetwater, one of which was The Enterprise the gentleman started in to win.

And win, he has—for, today we carry an announcement for this same Sweetwater business man, announcing the opening of store No. 2. The gentleman in question is J. W. Elrod.

To achieve the success he has, Mr. Elrod has held tenaciously and unchangingly to certain established principles in the conduct of his business.

In the first place, he always exercised the greatest care in all his buyings. He always had in mind his customers every time he placed an order for house furnishings. He always felt that those who bought from him were entitled not only to the best of its kind, but they were entitled to buy at the lowest possible price. Hence never did he mind to stand and tell a salesman trying to sell him merchandise that not only did the quality of the article in question have to be of the very best of its kind, but the price had to be at the very rock bottom. Therefore when it came to dealing with a customer there never was any "high powered salesmanship" effort. The quality of the article, the customer could see for himself and the prices only had to be quoted.

Transacting business on the above basis Elrod Furniture had to seek larger quarters. So the business was moved to the north side of the square, with a fifty foot frontage. But, now, the business has outgrown its quarters and arrangements had to be made for more floor space.

Two more buildings, with twenty-five foot frontage each was secured down on 3rd street. Here store No. 2 has been established. Thus, it is seen, that

Cotton Yard In Bronte This Year

Last year, Walter Modgling at the request of several friends, allowed his name to be put on the ticket in the election for public weigher of the Bronte precinct.

It now develops that most of the cotton farmers of Bronte and the Bronte gin territory desire that a bonded cotton weigher weigh cotton this cotton season. To that end an endorsement of the bonded cotton weigher was circulated among the farmers and a large number of them subscribed to the endorsement.

Therefore, Mr. Modgling has secured Jess Scott to take active management of the yard and conduct same.

Mr. Scott has established the cotton yard just north of the ice plant and has taken charge of same and says that he will be right on the job all the time to serve the people in the most satisfactory way possible.

Messrs. Modgling and Scott have an announcement in this issue of The Enterprise relative to the bonded cotton yard. If you are interested read it.

Planters Gin Co Announces Ready

The Planters Gin Company announces in this issue of The Enterprise with reference to its ginning for the 1937 ginning season.

A. F. McQueen, manager, says that they went over their plant before the season arrived and put everything in readiness.

Mr. McQueen states that in buying cotton this season they are going to buy strictly according to grade and staple. They also will buy cotton seed as they have always done. Read their 1937 ginning announcement elsewhere in this issue of The Enterprise.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Labenske and Mrs. Will Cresap and little daughter of Hayrick are on a visit of some weeks to Lubbock, Lamesa and McCarney. In the meantime Mr. Cresap is just doing the best he can.

Elrod Furniture now has a floor space frontage of one hundred feet. In this new store the lower priced new furniture and the second hand furniture department is established. This leaves store No. 1 exclusively for the higher priced new furniture—and in this department you will find a display of furniture and house furnishings excelled nowhere and at prices consistent, the high quality considered.

Mr. Elrod has an announcement in this issue of The Enterprise relative to his enlarging and the establishing of store No. 2. Mr. Elrod's purpose is to have a stock so varied, everyone can find just what he wants at prices that will be consistent.

Visit Elrod Furniture when in Sweetwater. If you don't want to buy anything you will find Mr. Elrod and his force of clerks are so courteous and obliging and there is such an air of homelikeness and welcome in their place of business, you will be glad you visited there. Mr. Elrod is a busy man but he so much enjoys meeting people and conversing with them that he is always glad to see those who call. "A gentleman to the manner born," pleasing and obliging always, it will be a pleasure to you to meet and know Mr. Elrod.

Tennyson Meeting Grows with Stirring Sermons

The Methodist meeting at Tennyson, which began Friday night of last week, conducted by Rev. J. H. Thompson and Rev. W. H. Gaston, pastor of the Methodist church at Eden, has been going on through the week and will continue through Sunday night.

Rev. Gaston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Gaston Sr. of Tennyson is doing the preaching and, according to reports, is bringing some helpful and inspirational sermons.

It has not been the privilege of the writer to hear Rev. Gaston, except in his initial message Sunday evening.

By way of introduction to the goodly sized audience who heard Rev. Gaston Sunday evening, he stated that he was an old Coke County boy—that he loved Coke county; he loved the red hills of the old county—"the redder the hill, the more I love it," said Rev. Gaston. In his message he brought a great sermon that appealed to the better spirit of his auditors.

You are invited, if within reach of Tennyson, to attend the meeting through its remaining days.

C. C. Glenn's Gin At Norton Is Ready to Gin

C. C. Glenn, who owns and operates a gin in Norton, has an announcement to the cotton farmers of the Norton gin territory, informing them that he is now ready to gin their 1937

Blackwell has missed thus far on bringing in a gusher of "liquid gold," in its oil well. But, after all, Blackwell has an asset that surpasses the value of a gushing oil well. That asset is in the spirit of its people.

The business men of Blackwell have learned the art of cooperating for their mutual good. They also know the importance and value of having and holding the good will and cooperation of the people of their trade territory.

Therefore, in this issue of The Enterprise which reaches many homes in the Blackwell trade territory, is an announcement and invitation from the business interests of the town to the people of the entire Blackwell trade territory inviting them to gin and sell their cotton in Blackwell and also to buy their merchandise there.

Read the page announcement in question elsewhere in this issue of The Enterprise, especially if you are anywhere in Blackwell territory or can reach Blackwell conveniently. The Blackwell business men declare that they are not going to be undersold, quality of merchandise considered, on a fair, square basis of merchandising. They want your patronage, they seek your patronage and they ask you for your patronage. At least, this is sufficient to appeal to you, if in the Blackwell territory, to give your home merchants a fair, square chance—for, your interests are there.

cotton crop. Mr. Glenn says that the cotton prospects in the Norton territory are still promising notwithstanding the continued hot, dry weather.

MARRIED

At the editor's home, Saturday evening, August 7, 1937, the writer officiating, Mr. J. A. Williams and Miss Itha Mae Clifton, both of San Angelo, were united in marriage.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Clifton of Bronte, whose home is near Tenyson. She is engaged in San Angelo in beauty culture. Born and reared and educated at Bronte, she has many friends who admire her for her gracious qualities of mind and heart, all of whom wish her increasing happiness in life.

The groom is an employe of the West Texas Utilities Company at San Angelo. He is a native of Illinois but has resided in San Angelo for eight years. He is an excellent young man and a trusted employe of his company.

Mr. and Mrs. Wade Rosser of San Angelo, friends of the couple, accompanied them to Bronte.

Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Leonard returned from Dallas Wednesday, where Mrs. Leonard took a treatment for an ailment of her throat and neck. It will be good news to the many friends of Dr. and Mrs. Leonard that the Dallas specialists hold out hope that Mrs. Leonard will finally overcome the trouble from which she has suffered so much.

J. C. Jordan of Robert Lee was an appreciated caller at The Enterprise office Friday. Mr. Jordan is doing some good work in behalf of the farmers of Coke county.

Miss Betty Jo Glenn returned Saturday from an extended visit with her aunt at Waco. Miss Betty Jo reports a most delightful visit and says that she likes Waco.

Mrs. R. G. Clark of Austin is here on a visit of some two or three weeks with relatives and friends. Her many friends are glad to see Mrs. Clark.

Hubert Hayley from Lufkin, who, with his family, is visiting Mr. Hayley's parents at Norton, Mr. and Mrs. Larkin Hayley, was in Bronte, Tuesday shaking hands with his hosts of oldtime friends. Time is dealing kindly with "Hubert," as he does not seem to grow any older in appearance. Mr. Hayley said that later in the week he would bring Mrs. Hayley and the children over, but just anxious to see his old Bronte friends he ran over Tuesday just to say "howdy" to everybody. Mr. Hayley's many old-time friends were glad to see him again.

LITTLE GIRL NARROWLY ESCAPES DROWNING

While taking a swim in the Colorado river Sunday afternoon, little Allene Hensley, who is just learning to swim, narrowly escaped drowning. The little girl ventured out too far into deep water.

Heidle Brunson and Mrs. P. E. Bradley rushed to the little girl's rescue and barely reached her in time. She had sunk twice when they got to her.

Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Bradley of Junction and S. O. Brunson of Paris arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Brunson Sunday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Bradley returned to their home Monday. Mrs. Bradley is a niece of Mr. Brunson. S. O. Brunson is a brother of D. C. Brunson and R. L. Brunson and will visit his brothers here for awhile.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Warner and children are here from Anson, visiting relatives for the week. Mr. Warner reports crop conditions in his section about as they are here.

Mr. and Mrs. Arch McCleskey and family returned to their home at Dublin this morning, after a brief visit with relatives. The visitors had been on a month's vacation trip and returned home by the way of Bronte. Grandmother McCleskey returned home with them for an extended visit at Dublin. We wish her a delightful visit.

Mrs. Drue Cumble and her sister, Mrs. Hazel Baker, from Portales, New Mexico, are visiting relatives in Bronte.

HIS SIXTH BIRTHDAY

Honoring Charles Ray Sanderson, little son of Mr. and Mrs. Vivian Sanderson, on his sixth birthday, Mrs. Robert Knierim assisted by Mesdames Barrett Mackey, Cullen Luttrell and C. W. Luttrell entertained a group of littlefolks at her home, Wednesday afternoon.

The little folks enjoyed both indoors and outdoors games to the content of their hearts.

The birthday cake with six candles was placed on the table. Each of the little guests made a good wish for the honoree. Then the honoree blew out the candles, and cut the cake.

Refreshments of punch and cake were served to the following: Joyce, Nathalie and Jessie Johnson, Jackie Lou Mackey, Dorothy Walton, June Ott, Dorothy Ruth Stephenson, Ida Lou Modgling, Flora Vida Helms, La Marr Whitt, James A. Taylor, John Weldon Johnson, Don Modgling.

Ginning Announcement

Ice Cream Supper at Tennyson

Mrs. B. D. Dunn requests The Enterprise to announce that an ice cream supper will be given at Tennyson, Friday night, August 20.

The ice cream supper is a community affair. The purpose of the occasion is to raise funds with which to buy song books for the community. The Coke County Singing Convention is to meet with Tennyson the first Sunday in October.

Tennyson is planning to "put the big pot in the little one" that day and do an entertaining act that is typically western, and purely Coke countian in its nature. We are simply trying to say that Tennyson is planning to entertain at lunch that day with "a rabbit stew"—a menu that no other place in the world outside of Coke county can stage. So, any funds realized from the ice cream supper Friday night need not be for the book fund, it is said, will go to the "rabbit stew" fund—that is, it is supposed such surplus will go to buy materials out of which to make the "twisters" with which to catch the rabbits out of which to make the "rabbit stew." It is going to be, as is seen, somewhat a "home affair" and therefore everybody in Coke county is invited to be present, Friday night and make the "twister fund" large as possible.

Tennyson is making large preparations for the ice cream social Friday night and corially invites everybody to attend. It is hoped to have some special attractions in the way of entertainment. The Butane Gas Cowboys of San Angelo have been invited and it is hoped they will be present with their public address system and discourse music throughout the evening. Other entertainers with special features are expected to be present.

There will not only be an abundance of delicious ice cream but also other soft cold drinks.

Public Weigher's NOTICE

Having been elected by the people last year as Public Weigher of the Bronte Precinct, and having secured the endorsement of a large per cent of the cotton farmers of the Bronte precinct and Bronte's gin territory, favoring a bonded cotton weigher's yard, I take this way of announcing that I will operate such a Yard in Bronte this season. Jess Scott will be in charge of the yard and will do the weighing and handling of the cotton on the yard. You know Jess Scott as well as I do, and that you will get correct weights and prompt and courteous service always.

The Yard is located on the old lumber yard site, just north of the ice plant—therefore it is conveniently located.

If for any reason you did not get your name on the written endorsement, favoring a bonded cotton yard in Bronte, this is an earnest solicitation for you to patronize the bonded yard and give it encouragement in every way that you can.

W. Modgling

DULY ELECTED AND BONDED PUBLIC
WEIGHER, BRONTE PRECINCT

Referring to the above, as it relates to me, I want to say to everybody that I am going to be right on the job, and will give the weighing of cotton of the people who patronize the Yard the most careful attention. I, too, will appreciate any patronage accorded the Yard under my management. I assure you, each and all, of careful weights and prompt and courteous treatment always.

Our 1937 Ginning Announcement

To the Cotton Farmers Who Gin Cotton at Norton:

All of us have looked forward, hoping for a good cotton crop and good prices. Whatever the outcome of the crop, we have, as usual, given every attention to any and all small repairs our plant needed and to setting the plant in perfect condition for ginning your cotton this season. We take this occasion to say to you again that WE DEEPLY APPRECIATE YOUR PATRONAGE IN THE PAST

Your business confidence and loyalty makes us to want to give everyone who patronizes us the same continued careful, painstaking, courteous service as in the past.

OUR EMPLOYEES

Also join with us in an invitation for you to gin with us this season, assuring you that each man on the job will do his best on each bale, to give you satisfactory service.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Vaughn visited Mr. and Mrs. John McLaurin at Christoval last week. Mr. McLaurin, whose home is at O'Donnell, is under the treatment of Dr. Tom Percifull, and is rapidly improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Johnson returned Saturday from a trip to Hobbs, New Mexico, where they visited Mr. Johnson's sister, Mrs. R. D. Mitchell and Mr. Mitchell. Joined by Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell they went to the Carbad Caverns. Like everybody else who visits the Caverns Mr. and Mrs. Johnson report it a most wonderful place.

Woodrow Leonard is here for a few days, then, he will return to Youngstown, Ohio, to his place which he left some weeks ago due to the strike trouble.
