Old-Time West Texan Dies At Tennyson

Again death has invaded the ranks of the old-time West Texans and caught away one of Coke county's best and oldest citizens, in point of residence. The one who passed away was "Jim Hale" as he was called by his large circle of friends and acquaintances throughout West Texas.

James Daniel Hale was born at Austin, November 11, 1875, making him to be 62 years, four months and twelve days old when death came and caught away his spirit.

Deceased was one of the few remaining first settlers of this part of Coke county and West Texas. He came to this part of the country in 1887, settling in Runnels county and a little later came to the immediate section of the Tennyson country. Thus, one by one the pioneers are passing, and their ranks now are so scattered that not many of them remain.

On April twenty-third, eighteen, ninety-six, deceased and Miss Willie Jones were united in Marriage, at the residence of the late Rev. R. M. Cumbie, one of West Texas' most typical pioneer preachers of his denomination, Rev. Cumbie officiating at the marriage. To the union three children were born, all of whom survive with their mother, to sorrow over the passing of their father. The children were all present at the funeral, and their names are as follows: O. J. Hale, El Paso; Jum Hale, Monahans; Mrs. James Barrow, Las Cruces, New Mexico. Besides his wife and children, one brother, Will Hale of San Angelo and several cousins and other relatives with many friends survive to be in sorrow over his going.

In 1903 deceased professed faith in Christ and he and companion became charter members of the Tennyson Baptist church. The same minister who married them, Rev. R. M. Cumbie, also baptized them into the fellowship of the church. And with the little church they struggled and served and worked through the years to maintain the church and keep up its work.

"Jim Hale" has passed—but he is not dead. He will continue to live in the hearts and consciences and lives of those who knew him and loved him because of what he was—because of his fine character. Jim Hale despised shams and the superficial, but always, everywhere, under all circumstances he stood for what he conceived to be the right. He was a forward-looking and progressive citizen, always interesting himself in community welfare. His spirit was typically of the old West and hence was hospitable and he had a love for his fellowmen and was always ready to aid the needy and to alleviate suffering wherever he could. His was a life worthy the emulation of all and many have silently sorrowed because "Jim Hale" shall walk this earthly way with them no more. But he has bequeathed to his family and friends and to the world a legacy greater than that of gold—a life of friendship for men and service to all as he had opportunity, devoted loyalty to his family and home, and a faithful citizen of his county and his state and the country at large. All this was attested in the large gathering of old-time West Texans who gathered from over the country

Former Bronte Teacher Dies In Masonic Home

B. A. Bell, secretary of the Bronte Masonic Lodge, has received a communication from the manager of the home for aged masons, at Arlington, stating that J. H. Hollingsworth, an inmate of the Home died there, August 25, and that his daughter had made arrangements for the body to be shipped to Mount Pleasant for interment.

Deceased resided in Bronte for some years, in the early twenties. He was superintendent of the Bronte School. It was while he was superintendent of the school that the main building of the present school plant was erected.

Deceased was a member of the local Masonic Lodge. Some time ago when his health failed him, members of the local lodge interested themselves in getting their needy member placed in the above Masonic Home which is a haven for the aged members of the lodge who become indigent and need to be cared for.

NORTON SCHOOL OPENS MONDAY

Last week The Enterprise was in error in giving Monday, September 13, as the opening day of the Norton school.

The correct date is Monday, September 6, which is next Monday. Everything is in readiness for school opening and all concerned are looking forward to a successful school year.

MARRIED

Friday afternoon, August 27, 1937, at the home of the writer, Mr. J. B. Walker, Jr. and Miss Violet Allen, both of Silver, were united in marriage, in the presence of a few friends, the writer speaking the words that made them one forever and aye.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. O. E. Allen of Silver and is one of Coke county's cultured young women, possessing those graces of mind and heart that fit her to be the companion of the one to whom she has given herself in marriage. She has many friends, not only at Silver, but all over Coke county and throughout West Texas who will wish for her increasing happiness through life.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Walker. He is one of Coke county's successful young farmer-stockmen and is a young man of sterling worth. His friends congratulate him upon winning one so fair as his life's companion.

The marriage of these two fine young people bring two of Coke county's old-time pioneer families together. As they enter life together the writer wishes them every added blessing as the years come and go.

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Price and children from Lubbock were weekend visitors with Mr. Price's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Price, and other relatives. They returned home Monday.

Rev. and Mrs. Wallace N. Dunson of Morgan were guests of friends here this week. They both were kept busy greeting friends and shaking hands.

Ministers' Feast By Community A Big Affair

The masses think of ministers as they think of other men, namely, that they are very human when the question of entertaining them is involved and therefore "the nearest way to the heart of a man (even a preacher) is through his stomach."

With that thought in their minds (perhaps), it was conceived by some of the ladies that since Rev. and Mrs. Wallace Dunson, former pastor of the Bronte Methodist church, and wife, were making a community-wide visit with friends in and around Bronte, the happy thing to do was to serve a feast in which the whole community should be invited to take part, and have Rev. Dunson and the local pastors and other ministers of the town, as honorees.

The thought met with quick and happy response from all. The result was that a community outdoors get-together was held at the Methodist church, Tuesday evening. A large number of the friends of the former pastor and the local pastors of the Baptist and Methodist churches gathered on the lawn of the church and an old-fashioned spread was made of the covered dish menu brought by the ladies and was greatly enjoyed by all.

Bronte Pastor Is Called to the Hempstead Church

Rev. Lewis Stuckey, pastor of the Bronte Baptist church, has received official notice that he was given a unanimous and hearty call to the pastorate of the First Baptist church at Hempstead Sunday morning.

Rev. Stuckey recently visited the church, upon an invitation from the pulpit committee and filled the pulpit at the morning and evening hours of the Sunday he was there. The good impressions upon the members of the congregation his sermons made resulted in an enthusiastic call.

Speaking to The Enterprise editor with reference to the matter, Rev. Stuckey stated that he was yet undecided. "It is a great field, there. The Hempstead church is a larger field than I have here. Yet, the several years Mrs. Stuckey and I have been associated with Bronte, we have made many fine and beautiful friendships from which we don't like to be torn away, and it will tear our heart-strings to go. Yet we want to do the wise and best thing. From expressions we have had all along in our work, it seems we could stay here indefinitely and the church has given us fine cooperation. Only careful consideration will bring me to a decision."

Rev. and Mrs. Stuckey have hosts of friends in and around Bronte who will regret their going should that be Rev. Stuckey's decision.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Gilreath had as guests Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Terrell Sargent of Big Spring. Mr. Sargent is a cousin of Mrs. Gilreath who moved recently from Denver, Colorado to Big Spring. He is in the employ of the post office department. Mrs. Gilreath had never seen her kinsman before.

Ballinger Good Will Trippers Please Bronte

Friday night was a gala time in "the old home town." The "Goodwill Trippers," which to Bronte means "Joymakers, from our our neighbor, Ballinger, invaded Bronte about the hour of "candle light," and until the evangels of goodwill departed the fun was fast and furious.

Cherry's band from Ballinger "pepped up" the large crowd that had assembled in front of The Enterprise office with the first blare of their instruments of their program of music they rendered.

O. W. Wallace had charge of the "trippers."

Mayor R. M. Cumbie was in charge of the evening's program, announcing as to the coming of the visitors and their mission.

D. M. West gave the address of welcome. H. W. Lynn of Ballinger made the response and gave out informing facts about the "comeback" of this part of West Texas from the depression.

Mr. Wallace also spoke with reference to the Runnels county Fair and introduced "Doug" Motley, secretary of the Ballinger Chamber of Commerce, who showed himself at once to be full of "spizzarinktum," when it came to outlining and emphasizing the importance of the Runnels County Fair and explaining that Coke county was included in the territory of the Fair the same as in Runnels county and sought the cooperation of all our people to make the fair "a whale of a success," this year.

The program concluded, the trippers were in a hurry to move on to Robert Lee, as they were to appear there, following their appearance here, but were far behind their schedule, yet the announcement was made that a feast of iced water melons had been provided for the visitors and they must take time to relish the iced melons. The visitors did this and from expressions from many they went away to sing the praises of Bronte.

A most happy incident to the editor was to meet Mr. and Mrs. K. V. Northington. Mr. Northington came to us and stated that the grandmother of his wife was one of our dear friends. We went with Mr. Northington and met Mrs. Northington. Her grandmother is one of our dearest, best friends, whose home is in Comanche county, and in whose home we have visited many times.

CARD OF THANKS

We desire in this way to express our deepest appreciation and gratitude to our dear friends and all the oldtime friends of our dear husband, father, brother and kinsman, Jim Hale, who were so kindly considerate of him and of us during his illness, and for your kindly ministrations to us at his death, in putting his body away for its last sleep. We shall always cherish every tender word and kindly ministry and the recollections of your kindness make our burdens lighter now as we pass through the shadows. The floral offerings were beautiful and reminding us of his noble life. God's blessings on you, each and all, is our deepest prayer.

Mrs. Jim Hale and children and other relatives.

Mrs. Harvey Yoacham is suffering from being bitten by a neighbor's dog Wednesday afternoon. The dog was killed and the head sent to a specialist for examination.

and other places to pay tribute to his memory.

Religious services were conducted by the writer aided by Rev. Roy Stuckey, pastor of the Tennyson church. With the flowers embanked about the casket in the altar, placed by those who loved him, the church choir sang the old and familiar hymns of the church, and there was a quiet hush and silence and a heavenly halo pervaded the sanctuary all of which was tenderly beautiful and reminded the reverential in mind of that place of "fadeless light and immortal beauty," which we call heaven.

Following the religious services the body was carried to the Mule Creek cemetery and there in that quiet place the body was placed by life long neighbors and friends to rest undisturbed until things earthly shall be no more.

To the stricken companion, the children and other members of the family circle, The Enterprise joins, with their hosts of friends, in deepest sympathy in this hour of their loneliness.

That "Jim" did not live in vain, the verses below attest, and at our request came into our possession, written by the brother-in-law of deceased, Mr. Odas Jones of San Angelo. In the intimacies of the family circle, the writer of the verses, of course, knew deceased, his intimate private life and ideals—therefore, he could write that which he knows.

Sitting up with his sick kinsman a few nights before deceased died, thinking of life and knowing the inevitable that was to come within a short period of time, he penned the verses. Indeed, no greater tribute could be paid, indirectly to the life of one than the sentiment of the lines:

Springtime in Heaven

'Tis a pleasure to think of life's springtime,
And its summer sun so bright!—
But not the frost of life's autumn
Or its winter's chilling blight.

Yet we know another sweet springtime
Shall follow as other springs do—
Where the flowers—(God's own dear children)—
Shall blossom with raiment anew.

As life's fleeting moments pass onward,
And the best of our lives we have given,
'Tis sweet to think of the grandeur
Of that beautiful springtime in heaven.
