TWO PREACHERS VISIT THE EDITOR

Thursday afternoon, Rev. J. W. Sailors of Paint Rock and Rev. E. C. Brazil of San Saba were brief callers at The Enterprise office.

Both gentlemen are Baptist ministers. Rev. Sailors is pastor of the Baptist church at Paint Rock, which place he has held for a number of years. The editor has known Rev. Sailors many years, and it is a matter of much delight to us to claim the friendship, running back thru the years, of this fine man and capable preacher. And it is also a matter of delight to us, the fine work he has done at Paint Rock, as well as everywhere else he has labored as a pastor. Rev. Sailors is held in much esteem in Paint Rock by the entire citizenry irrespective of church affiliations.

We had never met Rev. Brazil but the few moments we had with him impressed us that he is an excellent Christian gentleman and capable preacher.

Call again, gentlemen, when it is not "press day," and we will talk all day, if you will stay with us that long.

Bronte School News

The Senior Class is very proud to boast the most talented and most beautiful young girls in town. Miss Ruby Eubanks displayed her singing in the Amateur Talent Contest Friday night, while Miss Mary Ruth Youngblood presented her lovely charm and personality as the most beautiful girl in Coke county.

Miss Eubanks, age sixteen, has sung at all the programs, banquets, and other entertainments we have given throughout our high school days. We have been proud of her talent all these years, but we hope her very much success in showing her talent in San Antonio.

Miss Youngblood, has been considered beautiful since the time she was the "Baby" at the May Pageant. We are all sure she will win the title "Miss Texas," at San Antonio.

What we think of these Seniors is written in the following poems written by a Senior girl:

TO HER BEAUTY

The senior class has something to boast about,
Something that is very good,
A smart young Miss is in our class
Called Miss Mary Ruth Youngblood.

Her dignity is beheld in every place
Her graceful form is carried.
And at her lovely face and deep blue eyes
Many an eye has tarried.
Her lips are corals trimmed in pearl

When they display her joy,
And when she sighs or pouts
She's cute
Thinks every high school boy.

So we are proud to boast this bright young Miss
With such a white complexion,
Our congratulations we extend to her
With our very deep affection.

TO A TALENTED GIRL

We have read in the story books old and new,
Of important and distinguished artists,
But if you want something worth writing about,
Ruby Eubanks is certainly the smartest.

Though her beauty is something to rave about,
And popularity—Well—She's a cinch,
But something that makes her go over big
Is her singing which will do in a pinch.

Her acting ability has been displayed
To people all over these towns,
No one has been able to give a play yet
Unless Ruby has modeled the gowns.

Her charming manners and winsome smile
Has captured many a heart,
But of all the things which add to this Miss,
Her singing is certainly a part.

THEATER PARTY

With their sponsor, Miss Sibyl Ava Ellis, and four guests, a theater party was enjoyed by about twenty of the seniors. The guests were Miss Geraldine Bell, Miss Grace Ratliff, Mr. Curtis Smith and J. T. Henry.

SOIL CONSERVATION SERVICE

San Angelo, Texas.
October 19, 1937.

Farms cooperating with the Soil Conservation Service in a complete conservation program have returned good yields of wheat, oats, cotton, milo, bundle sorghum, sudan, and native grasses and weeds during 1937, said R. M. Milhollin, Project Manager with the Soil Conservation Service. Such a complete program provides for sufficient temporary small grain and sudan pasture, and feed crops supplement native pastures so as to maintain and produce the livestock that is raised on the farm and not over graze the pastures. Also the planting of various crops insures a rotation of crops on the cultivated areas.

Terraced areas that held the 1936 fall rainfall and also held considerable water this past spring, especially in the Veribest and St. Anthony communities, that would have been runoff, are producing more feed than may be expected without conservation of water in years with as low rainfall during July, August, and September as was common to the Upper Concho area this year.

Leddy's shop at Sweetwater has an announcement in this issue of The Enterprise. Read it and when in Sweetwater, if you need boot, shoe or harness repairing, Mr. Leddy invites you to call on him. You will find Mr. Leddy a pleasant gentleman with whom to transact business.

are producing a good sorghum crop on land that has already produced a good small grain crop in 1937. Other terraced fields are also producing double feed crops and especially is second growth sorghums, which means a second feed crop or a good green manure crop to turn under, in evidence on level closed and terraced fields. R. C. Sheffield and Ernest Groff's grain sorghum fields offer decided contrast to unterraced fields of second feed crop production, which very largely can be contributed to stored moisture by terracing systems.

Cotton yields on terraced fields are exceptionally good and indicate that holding and equally distributing all the water with contour cultivation and terraces and with crop rotation which has been practiced is offering a maximum yield return and conserving all the soil and water. F. S. Sanders of Grape Creek community reports 71 bales of 4 or 5 more from 123 acres planted to cotton. Only about 40 per cent of the Sanders cultivated land was planted to cotton and the balance planted to temporary pasture, feed and cash grain crops. Stannie Sanders of the same community reports 16 bales harvested and expects 4 more from 35 acres. Geo. Brooks of Carlsbad reports 10 bales from 18 acres. J. R. Rex of Veribest reports 24 bales harvested and expects from 4 to 6 more from 50 acres. A number of other cooperating farms have reported over one-half bale to the acre yield. Some cotton yields on terraced fields will approach three-fourth bale to the acre.

Contour ridged pastures have about 50 per cent more cured grass on them than at this time last year, according to H. N. Bell, Associate Range Examiner. A grazing system conducive to grass reseeding, the use of temporary pastures, and the removal of moisture-competing undesirable vegetation, as cactus and shrubs with no browse value, has made possible the better use of moisture that was held by contour ridges in pasture improvement. However, Bell commented, "we do not have the soil moisture condition to date to expect the good weed growth that we had last winter and the 50 per cent more cured grass is needed for livestock and erosion control."

An exceptionally good yield for all field crops and native grasses, and a maximum conservation of soil and moisture, has been the reward for this year for a complete conservation program, said R. M. Milhollin, Project Manager of the Soil Conservation Service.

Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Thompson at M. E. Conference

Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Thompson departed Wednesday morning, for San Antonio, to attend the 1937 session of the West Texas Conference, of which the Bronte Methodist church is a member.

Rev. Thompson went away in happy spirit, rejoicing over the fine record the church under his leadership has made this conference year.

Pastor Thompson stated to The Enterprise editor that every penny of the church's assessments for the year were paid.

The report Rev. Thompson carried with him to conference with reference to the church's activities for the year is, perhaps, the best annual report the church ever made in all its history. The total funds paid in for the year amounted to $2585. This is indeed, a fine record.

The people of the entire community, as well as Rev. Thompson's parishioners, are unanimous in the hope that the Conference will return Rev. Thompson here another year.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks and gratitude to our many friends for their kindness and help during our loss of father and grandfather. Your sympathy was indeed a great help to us. We think that we appreciate our friends more fully as "a friend in need is a friend indeed"—and each one of you certainly proved to be a friend in need.

John Clark and family.

Mazeland

School News

Attendance in school this week is almost one hundred per cent. We are glad to have such splendid attendance at school.

Inspector Murdock and Superintendent Grindstaff inspected Mazeland school Wednesday, October 13. They reported everything very satisfactory and allowed us sufficient funds for the year.

We are adding a number of new things for the betterment of our school. Some of these things are: New blackboard, new study table for Miss Hash' room; health charts for 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8 grades; also a set of maps for these grades.

In the high school room, we are building and adding to the science equipment.

Mazeland school enjoyed a sing-song at Wingate Wednesday night. We are enjoying our music program this year.

Mazeland school was well represented at the Runnels County fair October 15. Forty-two participated in the parade and were given free admittance to the fair grounds.

Hallow'en Carnival

Get out your old broom stick and fly across the yellow moon to Mazeland school at 7:30 o'clock, Friday night, October 29, 1937. There the witches will walk, the ghosts will talk, the owls will squawk and something will creep up and down your spine, for the P. T. A. is sponsoring a Hallow'en Carnival Entertainment. There will be side shows, a fortune teller, and pretty vendors selling popcorn, peanuts, candy, etc. Be sure to use your magic wand and turn yourself into a cat, a clown, a witch, or whatever you wish. A big prize will be given for the best masquerade. The proceeds of the Carnival will be used for the school; so the P. T. A. says, "Come one and all and have some fun. Let us put this over in a big way!"
