BRONTE, COKE COUNTY, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1939

NUMBER 7

STAGE IS SET FOR THE BRONTE FFA LIVESTOCK SHOW NEXT WEDNESDAY, MARCH 1; A SPLENDID SHOW ASSURED

The stage is set and all things are ready, far as Prof. J. T. Henry, vocational agriculture teacher of the Bronte schools, and his class of FFA boys are concerned, for the Bronte FFA Livestock Show next Wednesday, March 1.

31 Boys Will Exhibit

Thirty-one boys will enter a total of 54 animals in the show. There will be 15 dry lot calves, 18 fat barrows, 5 Chester White gilts, 8 Poland China gilts, 1 registered Poland China boar, 1 registered Hereford heifer, and 3 registered Hereford bulls on exhibit. All of the calves and pigs were raised on the farms and ranches in this county.

Henry Kothmann, Judge

Henry Kothmann, County Agent of Reagan County, will act as judge. A showmanship cup will be given to the best exhibitor of the calves and one to the best exhibitor of the hogs. These awards will be made immediately after the placing of the classes.

Program Starts at 10 a. m.

The judging program will start about 10:15 with the placing of the Chester White gilts, immediately followed by the placing of the Poland China gilts. Then the morning judging will be completed with the placing of the fat barrows. The showmanship cup will be awarded as soon as the classes are placed.

Afternoon Judging

The judging in the afternoon will start about 1 o'clock. The steer classes will be placed and the trophy awarded to the best exhibitor of the calves. There will also be on exhibit the registered Hereford heifer that was awarded to Joe Rawlings last year at the San Angelo show for exhibiting the best calf from Tom Green, Coke, Schleicher, Runnels, Concho, Irion, and Sterling Counties. Edward Cumbie will exhibit 3 bulls that will be taken to the San Angelo show and sold in the sale there. Mr. Will Gideon will also exhibit a registered Poland China boar that he purchased recently from the Lillard Stock

Farms of Fort Worth.

STEERS:

Boys exhibiting animals in the different classes are as follows:

Noel Percitrell, 2, raised by Mr. Ed McCauley.

Browning's Has Satisfactory Opening Saturday

Browning's Store, Bronte's new store which carries dry goods, groceries, meats and variety merchandise, opened its doors to the buying public in its opening sale Friday and Saturday.

Despite unfavorable weather the opening days were successful and Mr. Brooks Browning, the manager, is much pleased with the cordial reception with which the new store was greeted by the people.

Mr. Browning thoroughly advertised the opening sale, with a page display in The Enterprise and by the distribution of circulars and the results were most satisfactory, as is shown in the letter below from Mr. Browning:

The Bronte Enterprise, City.

Dear Editor West: I address you this simply to express my appreciation for the fine advertising service you gave us last week in our Advertising Campaign, in which we advised the people of all the Bronte territory that we would open our doors Friday and Saturday to the public in an Opening Sale as a new store.

The circulars you printed for us were good as the best and really surprised us that in a town no larger than Bronte we would find a printing establishment sufficiently equipped with modern printing machinery to turn out such work and on schedule time as you did. Your service was perfectly satisfactory, both as to quality and promptness. And the page ad in your columns evidently reached the people, as our opening days sales far exceeded our expectations and people came to Bronte Saturday we were informed who had not been here for some time, to take advantage of the extraordinary prices they found we were making. So, please, accept our thanks for your splendid service.

We also want to thank the people for calling and giving us an opportunity to meet them and for the large volume of sales they made it possible for us to make in our Opening Sale.

We promise the people now that as we "Buy for Cash and Sell for Cash" the benefits are going to those who buy from us.

Interscholastic League Dates Set

Saturday, March 18, Thursday and Friday, March 23 and 24, were the dates agreed upon for holding the Coke County Interscholastic League meet of 1939 at a meeting of the County executive committee of the Coke County Interscholastic League held at Bronte on Wednesday, February 15.

All playground ball, volley ball and tennis will be on the 18th. All literary events will be held on the 23rd and track and field will come on the 24th.

The meet will be held at Robert Lee this year. The county directors are as follows: director general, Mr. Covey, Bronte; declamation, Miss Mary Roach, Bronte; debate, Miss Lois Danner, Robert Lee; Extemporaneous speech, Miss Chrystal Vanderford, Bronte; Spelling, Mrs. Lonnie B. Shelton, Green Mountain, P. O. Edith; Ready Writers, Mrs. Julian Batton, Silver; Rural Schools, McNeil Wyke, Robert Lee; Athletics, T. J. Mullens, Robert Lee; Music Memory, Ray V. Stark, Robert Lee; Picture memory, Mrs. D. Hull, Bronte; Three-R, Mr. McCreary, Sanco; Arithmetic, O. C. Brinell, Bronte; Typewriting-snorthand, Miss Downey, Robert Lee; Choral singing, Mr. Hamblen, Bronte; Girls' athletics, Ray V. Stark, Robert Lee; Story telling, Mrs. George Thomas, Bronte.

The Interscholastic League ruling which provides that entries must be made ten days before the date of contest in which the entries will participate will be enforced. That would necessitate the entries in volley ball, playground ball and tennis be filed with the director general by the 8th day of March and entries for literary and track and field events be made by the 13th of March.

The teachers of the county are looking forward to an interesting and hotly contested meet for 1939.

MRS. O. R. McQUEEN HOSTESS TO YOUNG WOMAN'S CLUB

Thursday afternoon, Mrs. O. R. McQueen was hostess to the Young Woman's Progressive Club.

A business session preceded the program of the afternoon, with Mrs. D. K. Glenn, the president, presiding.

The following program was rendered:

Facts About Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Mrs. A. N. Rawlings. Madonnas was a paper by Mrs. D. K. Glenn.

A salad plate was served to the following guests and members: Mesdames A. N. Rawlings and M. A. Butner were guests and the following members: Mesdames D. K. Glenn, Barrett Mackey, Otis Smith, Cumbie Ivey, Mack Powell, Miss Nell Lowry and the hostess.

Mrs. Woodrow Leonard and baby son from Youngsfort, Ohio, are the guests of Mr. Leonard's parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Leonard. Mrs. Leonard will also visit with her parents in San Angelo, Mr. and Mrs. Fulcher, before returning home.

We not only want to sell the people their merchandise at a saving, but we want to buy the saleable produce of the Bronte section and will pay the very highest prices always possible.

Thanking you again and with best wishes, we are,

A GREAT MAN PASSES

When Rev. B. S. Tate, of Snyder, died at the home of a son in Brownwood, Saturday afternoon, truly one of earth's noblemen passed to his reward.

His was a remarkable life and the memorial service which was held at Water Valley Sunday afternoon was also a remarkable occasion.

To the writer deceased was as an elder brother for forty-five years. It was in 1895 he and the writer became true and steadfast friends. And, though, in these later years we had drifted apart, yet the appreciation of the writer for deceased ripened with the passing years, and, when, Sunday morning, the press reports brought the intelligence of his death, our heart sorrowed for him with a sorrow akin to that we would suffer over the passing of a brother in the flesh.

Deceased and the writer first met and were associated together intimately when the writer was not out of his teens—a young man hardly yet out of our boyhood. Deceased and companion who yet survives, were married and had a happy home and were already engaged in the delightful life of rearing their children and building their home. The writer was a young preacher school boy, struggling our way through college. We became the pastor of deceased and family and hence the Tate home became the home of the writer and we were just as welcome there, almost as their own children. During those happy days, so blessed to our memory, we directed the ordination service and took part in the ordination of deceased as a deacon in the Baptist church, in which official relation he was faithful as a man could be to a serious responsibility. It was during those days he meant so much to the struggling young preacher boy and with his financial aid and kindly encouraging words we would return to the fight, for our education and preparation for life, with renewed determination. And tonight as we write this, we feel lonely—indeed, we feel as "one who walks in a banquet hall deserted," for not many of the fine men and women of the generation preceding us yet survive and we miss them more and more as we walk this earthly way.

After we drifted apart, deceased became a minister in the religious denomination with which he was affiliated. And with the same degree of fidelity as he had shown as a deacon, he took up his work of religious leadership as a minister. And in many places and communities throughout the country, he served as pastor of Baptist churches and always good results followed his labors.

About 1907 the paths of deceased and the writer converged again, and for the second time we were his pastor. This was at Water Valley where his body was put away for its last sleep Sunday afternoon, following religious services at the Water Valley Baptist church. Until 1911 we were intimately associated with deceased again. At Water Valley he entered business, engaging in the mercantile business. And it was there through the long years this fine, clean Christian gentleman, as well as capable preacher, served the people of his town and surrounding section of country, as their merchant. And to those present Sunday afternoon, there was one outstanding fact emphasized by every feature of the memorial services and that is that "it pays to maintain high Christian ideals in one's every day relations with his fellows"—for, of all the funeral services the writer ever attended—and we have attended many, both of the great and of the lowly—there was never more evidence of universal sorrow than was seen evidenced Sunday afternoon. And yet it was not "a hopeless sorrow," for on every hand was the evidence that all of the great things present believed in the religious faithfulness of the one who had passed. Ranchmen, farmers, business men, professional men and women—all alike, said, "He was my friend and a faithful Christian and preacher and his life has blessed me." Thus it was that some of the ranchmen and others of the Water Valley community expressed themselves to the writer after the religious services had been concluded.

We stated in the outset of this feeble tribute to the memory of our good friend, that his was a remarkable life and also a remarkable funeral. Every feature of the religious services was remarkable. Dr. W. B. Everett, a minister of Sterling City and also a practicing M. D. of that town, who, likewise is loved and honored and respected because of his fine splendid Christian integrity and upright conduct before the people of that place for long years, and also a long time friend of deceased, directed the religious services. Dr. Everett has made "preaching his business through life, but has paid his expenses serving the people as their family physician," in which professional relation with the people of his home town and community, he has been successful and is held in highest esteem as well as that of being a minister—indeed, he is another of "God's noble men." So, in a large sense, it was a professional man, speaking the last words at the bier of a business man, but a long time friend of deceased. Another remarkable feature was the profuse floral offering—the flowers with their beauty and fragrance reminding of the gladness that his fine unselfish life of service to the world has brought to human hearts along his way, were piled as high as we ever saw on such an occasion. But, perhaps, the most remarkable feature in the memorial services was the number of people who took part in the services, among whom were several near relatives of deceased, all of whom paid tribute to their departed loved one. A grandson, who is a minister, paid as fine tribute as we ever heard, to the memory of his grandfather; a grandson-in-law, also a minister, spoke in emotional tones of his high and (continued on page two) deep and abiding appreciation of his grandfather-in-law. Another feature was a tribute paid deceased by a long time intimate friend, with whom deceased, many years ago, made an agreement that the one who survived the other would make an address at his funeral. This gentleman was Mr. Yarbrough from Bangs. His tribute was beautiful and full of the most tender sentiment, as he told us to how intimately and well he knew deceased and the more intimacies of his life. But, perhaps, the most remarkably beautiful part was the singing of the sweet old hymns of the church, by near relatives—the hymns deceased had loved and sung throughout the days of his life. And the climax of it all was the sweet old hymn of the church, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus," by three cultured young women from Brownwood, granddaughters, the Misses Allene, Anna Sue and Eddie Lake Tate. This, according to the thinking of the writer, is one of the dearest and sweetest and most comforting of all the songs of the church in hours of sorrow and desolation, and we have heard it sung many, many times on such occasions. But, the rendition of the old hymn Sunday afternoon by those three dear girls was the most beautifully impressive we have ever heard.

Following the religious services the body was carried out to the Water Valley cemetery and there gently placed away by the hands of old time neighbors and friends of deceased and family—to sleep there in that beautiful valley, near where the waters of the North Concho flow on noiselessly to the sea, undisturbed, where the western stars will keep vigil at night and the song birds will chant their requiems by day. But, he is not dead—no still lives and will continue to live on until things earthly shall end. For, "the good that men do lives after them," and B. S. Tate is enthroned in the hearts not only of the one hundred relatives who attended the funeral, but in the hearts of thousands of men, women and children throughout dear old West Texas, in the soil of which his body now sleeps. God bless his memory!
