Haines is to go with Dr. Cooke to Robert Lee in the evening to assist in the Quarterly Conference to be held there.

Rev. Lester Haines also asks that we announce that there will be a Communion service at the Methodist Church upon Friday evening at 8:45. Of this service Rev. Haines said, "Upon this evening when we recall to mind in a special way the sacrifice which our Lord made for our salvation, how he died that we might live, and as we commemorate the eating of the first Supper in the Upper Room just before our Masters death, let us also gather to dine with our Lord. Let us remember His love and compassion for us, and in our own humble ways make our confession to All Mighty God and pledge our allegiance to his cause. Let those who love our Lord meet in memory of his death as we celebrate again the Holy Eucharist."

Texas NYA Opens Shops To Girls

Austin, April 2.—NYA's War Work Center in Waco will open in April for 64 young women who will obtain experience in radio, sheetmetal, machine shop and production sewing machine work, according to J. C. Kellam, state NYA administrator. Later assignments to the Waco NYA Center will bring the total number of girls employed to 200.

After preliminary work experience and related training in Waco the girls who qualify will be transferred to the Corpus Christi NYA War Work Center for further experience pointing toward employment by the Civil Service Commission at the Corpus Christi Naval Air Station shops.

These young women will be referred to the NYA War Work Center by the United States Employment Service. While assigned to the Center they also will attend classes in related information and training taught by instructors furnished through the Waco Public Schools and the State Board for Vocational Education.

The girls will live in dormitories at the Center adjacent to the shops, and each one will receive $30 a month from which the cost of food, housing, medical attention, and laundry will be deducted, leaving her approximately $11 a month for personal use.

Boehme's Bakery Celebrates Its 29th Anniversary

Did you ever eat any of "Mrs. Boehme's Butter Nut Bread?"—but, pshaw, the question is superfluous!—for, "grampa" and "gram'ma" ate it nearly a third of a century ago, and their children and grandchildren, following their ancestors, also eat the delicious bread, and all with one accord, acclaim, "Yum-Yum!—how delicious!"

And this famous West Texas bakery is celebrating its 29th anniversary. The Enterprise editor heard about the celebration and we went "just to see for ourselves," exactly what they had. And, "believe it or not," we got "our kitten eyes open." Why, folks, multitudes of housewives who are classed as firstclass culinary artists could get hints worthwhile about how to have their kitchens spotless and snow-white—for, every department of this mammoth baking plant is simply "spic and span," it is so neat and clean!

Lee Rochester is the manager of this big modern baking institution—and Mr. Rochester "knows his bread baking" to the nth degree, as well as does every employe who works in the plant. There is no "guess work" about baking at Boehme's—everything is according to the very latest methods and with the most up-to-the-minute equipment. Really, folks, it will be well worth your while to pay this institution a visit—and everybody from the owner and manager to the janitor will be glad to see you and will make you "feel at home."

And in the meantime, should it be that you have never eaten Boehme's Butter Nut bread, we suggest you get a trial loaf and know for yourself its deliciousness.

Southwest-wide Industrial Scrap Collection Campaign.

Dallas, Texas, March 28.—Industrial leaders here were today asked to co-operate in a southwest-wide industrial scrap collection campaign to help the War Production Board to "get in the scrap."

Announcement of the co-ordination of all southwestern industrial scrap collection activities and appointment of George C. Gibbons of Dallas as their regional director was received here today from George T. Weymouth chief of the WPB's industrial salvage section in Washington. The southwestern industrial scrap program will use chambers of commerce, trade associations and other bodies already prepared to help their members collect and move the scrap metal and rubber now needed for the nation's war program.

Mr. Gibbons is executive vice-president of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association which has just sponsored a Texas petroleum industry scrap drive which netted over 65,000,000 pounds of scrap. Serving the government as a dollar-a-year man, he will continue his association duties in addition.

The campaign of local industries to collect the scrap from their own plants supplements the general domestic salvage drive now under way. Mr. Gibbons emphasized in a statement accompanying the announcement "The shortage of scrap is so acute we must get in more of it immediately if we are to keep the stream of tanks, ships and planes moving." Mr. Gibbons said, "For that reason, the War Production Board is asking Texas industrial leaders to co-ordinate the collection of their own scrap iron, steel, aluminum and other metals and rubber, in a southwestern drive conducted by themselves.

"In many places, this work is already well under way. In others, it will be organized at once through the chambers of commerce, trade bodies and other groups. The campaign does NOT conflict in any way with the general domestic scrap drives. In fact, it will supplement these so as to get large quantities of scrap back to the mills needing it, in the shortest possible time."

Heads of industries here and throughout the southwestern states are being asked to see that all the scrap metals and rubber now at their own plants, yards and other properties are gathered and sold to scrap-dealers. The government has requested that the scrap NOT be donated.

The Passing Of John Black

In the last issue of The Enterprise a brief statement of the death of John Black, which occurred Thursday, was given, and it was stated that a more full account of the life of deceased would be given in this issue of The Enterprise:

Religious services were held at the Bronte Methodist church Friday afternoon. Rev. John Merritt, pastor of the Norton Methodist church, assisted by the local pastor, Rev. L. H. Haines, conducted the religious services. Interment was in the Bronte cemetery, with Agnes Funeral Home of Ballinger in charge.

Deceased was born in 1874, in Milam county, near Cameron, making him to be 68 years old.

Mr. Black came West with his family in 1900, settling at Marie in Runnels county—there he lived and died, giving the strength of his years to his community, to his church and to his county. He established a store at Marie, and later a post office was given the community through the efforts of Mr. Black and others of the community. Mr. Black was postmaster and operated his store until a few years ago, due to failing health he gave up active work.

Mr. Black always took an active part in the affairs of his community and county and always stood for the things he conceived to be for the moral good of the people. He always enjoyed singing religious hymns and therefore was counted on always at the worship of the church and other public gatherings of his community to lead the song-services. He was forward looking and progressive in his ideas and ideals of life and stood for the things that would make for the good of the greatest number as he saw things.

Truly, he was a good man and he will be missed not only by those of the family circle but by his community and Runnels county at large. We sorrow with his family and others of his friends at his passing, but he has left a glorious heritage to all who knew him. May he rest in peace!

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this opportunity to express our sincere appreciation to our dear friends at Ballinger, Norton, Marie Bronte and elsewhere for your love, sympathy and kindly ministries in the passing of our loved one, and for the beautiful floral offerings. May the dear Father be kind and gracious to you, in giving you friends in such hours as you were to us.

Mrs. John Black and children.

Jesse Bird Tannehill who is stationed at Las Vegas, Nevada in the parachute division of the army, is home, being called here on account of the serious illness of his grand father. The elder Mr. Tannehill has been ill for some time—and the ripe old age to which he has come makes it doubtful as to his recovery. Jesse Bird has a leave of absence until today.

I am greatly interested in our small cities and towns throughout the country. Due to the decentralization of industry which is now going on and to other factors, they have a great future. Now, with tire rationing, they should immediately benefit, provided the local merchants wake up. This is a clear case of one man's poison being another man's meat!

While we may soon have plenty of tires, their quality will be poor and their cost will be high. Hence, country people will have to conserve their tires even more than city residents who at least gain the benefits of smooth pavements for driving. No longer will rural residents drive to the large centers to trade. Instead, they will again patronize the nearest store where they used to buy before they went "high hat." I am certainly bullish on the little local general store. It should take on a new lease of life and again be the center of activity in its community.

I hope that the owner of such stores will stock up, brush up and wake up! They have an opportunity now to give such good service as will enable them to hold their trade after World War II is over! Certainly, there will be changes in rural buying habits which merchants can cash in on. I am not speaking only of grocery stores, but of every type of small town retail business. Such establishments should now increase and diversify their lines. Above all, where a local paper exists, they should do some advertising.

Just as the small manufacturer has to hustle, and in most cases successfully, for war contracts to replace former production, so the small-town merchant must now hustle for substitute to keep his shelves display cases and windows filled. However he can get attractive and satisfying goods even though some lines may necess-

Things Electrical Soon Will Be Hard to Secure

Factories that once hummed busy as a bee turning out electric appliances today are roaring like a lion following conversion to the manufacture of war materials. Hence, the West Texas Utilities foresees a time when rationing will be applied to all appliances, in addition to refrigerators—a day when floor sweepers, iron and similar items will become as hard as a new tire or a hundred pounds of sugar.

So the company is advising that you "be good to your electric appliances and they'll be good to you."

Refrigerators, it was pointed out, are vital to the conservation and protection of food and, therefore, steps should be taken to keep them in good repair and to prevent unnecessary deteriorations. Most all appliances, it was said, are important in maintaining civilian morale, performing many household tasks and allowing more time for war efforts.

Special care was urged for all appliance parts and cords for lamps in which rubber or copper is used.

VACCINATE AGAINST TYPHOID FEVER, SAYS
 STATE HEALTH OFFICER

Austin, Texas, April 1—"If you have not been vaccinated against typhoid fever within the last two or three years, go to your doctor and be protected against it," Doctor Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, advises prospective campers, Boy and Girl Scouts, summer vacationists and all other users of the open road-whether for business or pleasure-as the out-of-doors season approaches.

"Typhoid fever," he continued, "is unnecessary and preventable. Every case is due either to community negligence or to the ignorance or carelessness of some individual.

"A carrier is a person who has had typhoid at some time and who even after recovery carries the germ of the disease in the urine and the discharges from the intestinal tract. Carriers who are careless in their personal habits are likely to infect any food they handle with unwashed hands. Some of the most serious and far reaching outbreaks of the disease have been caused by drinking milk or eating foods that have been handled by carriers. Persons may be carriers without knowing it.

"Typhoid germs are hitchhikers. They are picked up and spread from person to person by water, milk, flies, fingers, food. Every case of typhoid is contracted by way of the mouth and the digestive system. The State Department of Health and the local health departments can be depended upon to continue their fight against the disease, but there will still be sources of infection that can be warded off only through the protection afforded by vaccination against the disease."

Incendiary Bomb Control Is Outlined

AUSTIN, Mar. 15—Described as essential information which every person should know, Marvin Hall, State Fire Insurance Commissioner and Fire Defense

Coordinator of the National Defense Committee for Texas, today outlined the ways in which incendiary bombs may be most effectively controlled.

"As long as there is a possibility of attack on the United States," Hall stated, "it is imperative that each of us know what to do in the event of a bombing raid."

The Fire Insurance Commissioner said training classes in Civilian Defense are giving careful study to the control of fire bombs, but added that only a small percentage of citizens are enrolled in the classes, and that thousands of Texans in the rural areas have had no opportunity to attend the wartime emergency training classes.

Discussing the effect of incendiary bombing raids, Hall said the chief threat is that they set a large number of simultaneous fires over a wide area. Because American fire departments have been organized and equipped to deal with one fire at a time, a series of wide-spread fires would present a very serious problem.

The incendiary bomb must be recognized as one among the enemy's most destructive weapons under limited raiding conditions. Fires spreading over an area, unless controlled, could destroy more production and resources with greater damage than a few high explosive bombs dropped from hit-and-run raiding planes.

Incendiary Bombs Different

The incendiary bomb is vastly different from the high explosive bomb. While the explosive bombs vary in weight from several hundred to a few thousand pounds, they are designed to demolish whatever they strike. The more commonly used incendiary bombs weigh approximately 2 pounds each and a large plane can carry hundreds of them, and in a few seconds they can be scattered over a wide area.

The aerial incendiary bomb most frequently used consists of a magnesium tube filled with a mixture of powdered aluminum and iron oxide known as "thermit." When this bomb strikes, the thermit is ignited and burns fiercely at high degrees of temperature, melting and setting fire to the magnesium casing.

When dropped from 5,000 feet or more this small bomb will penetrate any ordinary roof of wood, tile, slate or metal and an underlying plaster ceiling, but probably not a wooden floor below.

Burning incendiaries cannot be extinguished, except by special methods not ordinarily available in the home, but they can be controlled by prompt action and the use of simple tools, with a minimum amount of damage resulting from the fires started.

Although the incendiary bomb should be put under control as soon as possible, do not approach within 50 feet for approximately 2 minutes after it strikes. Some few bombs have a small explosive charge timed to go off about 2 minutes after impact. Furthermore, the violent phase of its burning action lasts for about 60 seconds after igniting.

If left alone the ordinary bomb will burn out in 15 to 20 minutes, but the heat generated will set fire to anything combustible within several feet.

Two Methods of Control

There are two methods of controlling the bombs, either of which may be effectively used in the home. One is using a fine spray of water and the other is the use of dry sand.

Do not expose yourself to the intense heat. Use a shield such as an overturned table, chair or partially opened door.

To control the bomb action by water USE ONLY A FINE MIST

OR SPRAY from a garden hose or a hand pump with spray nozzle.

In contact with the burning metal, the water spray is converted into steam, thereby producing a cooling effect. Water spray will reduce burning time 10 minutes or more. The floor and surrounding combustible materials are cooled, thus preventing the spread of fire until the bomb has burned out.

Never apply a solid stream of water, and never dash a bucket of water on the bomb. THIS WILL CAUSE AN EXPLOSION and scatter burning metal.
