Mrs. Charlie Eubanks Dies In San Angelo

Mrs. C. A. Eubanks died in a hospital in San Angelo, Monday morning, July 26, 1943, after an illness of some weeks. Interment was in the Bronte cemetery, Tuesday afternoon following religious services at the Bronte Church of Christ, conducted by the writer, as an old friend of the family of deceased, which friendship began fifty years ago.

The following biographical sketch was read at the religious services, which were attended by a goodly number of old time friends and acquaintances of the family:

Miss Jimmie Sanfodd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Sanfodd, deceased, was born at McGregor, Texas, November 26, 1881, making her to be sixty-one years and eight months old when death took her away.

Deceased came with her parents to Brown county when yet quite young, later moving with them to San Saba county, at Richland Springs.

July 26, 1904 deceased was married to C. A. Eubanks, making them to have been married 39 years the day of her death. The figure 6 has had a prominent place in the life of deceased and husband as they have recounted the figure in their lives. Her husband was born May 26, 1881, and she was born November 26, 1881, making just 6 months difference in their ages. Their sixth child was born August 26, and she passed away July 26th.

Seven children were born to the union, three of whom survive, with the husband, to sorrow over her passing. The surviving children are Ellis, who is in defense work at San Diego, California—he came recently to be awhile with his mother; Mack of Bronte, and Mrs. Elizabeth Crisp of Menard, all the children are present for the funeral, except Ellis. Besides the husband and children she is survived by the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. Eva Napier, San Diego, California; Mrs. Ethel Salisbury, Tahoka; Archie Sanford, Three Rivers; Alvie Sanford, Las Cruces, New Mexico; Mrs. Ida Parker, Brady.

Deceased united with the Church of Christ when she was twenty-one years old, and thus she lived and passed.

Pallbearers were I. M. Cumbie, Alex McQueen, C. E. Bruton, Willoughby.

Oscar Hays, Jack Muston, O. H. Vautrain Funeral Home, San Angelo was in charge of arrangements.

Some days ago Rev. A. Hanson, pastor of the Bronte Methodist church, became ill. His daughter, Mrs. Herbert Harkrider, whose home is in Brady, came for her parents and carried them home with her, so that her father could have an operation. But upon examination the attending physician advised that an operation was not yet necessary and put Rev. Hanson under proper professional routine. Mr. and Mrs. Harkrider came Saturday and brought Rev. and Mrs. Hanson home. Rev. Hanson is doing well as could be expected and he thinks he will be out in his duties in a day or two.

Mrs. Maggie Scott has received a letter from her son, Edward. He is now fireman on a ship on an island in the Pacific.

Vernon Muston Completes His Bomber's Course

To The Enterprise:

West Texas Bombardier Quadrangle, July 15.—Four large classes of the men who are trained to write history's headlines with bombs moved a big step nearer combat duty today as graduates graduation exercises were held by the schools of the vast West Texas Bombardier Quadrangle at Midland, Big Spring, San Angelo and Childress.

While the actual number of today's graduates is a military secret, there are enough, officials said, "to level a great German city in a single blockbuster raid." Among the men who received their silver bombardier wings and were appointed second lieutenants or flight officers today were Vernon D. Muston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Muston, Bronte, Texas.

Included in the twelve weeks of intensive training at Bombardier Quadrangle schools that now lies behind today's graduates was a variety of schooling unparalleled in scope. Not only did the "Hell from Heaven Men" learn the intricacies of their super-accurate U. S. bombsight, along with its operation under all possible conditions, but they also drilled in related fields ranging from use of blinker code to camouflage detection. A rigorous course of physical education throughout their entire training period built them up to "pink" of condition.

Especially emphasized was placed on the stimulation of combat conditions in the schooling of these Axis blasters. They learned to use their bombsights with the minimum "run," which combat experience has proved necessary to avoid enemy flak; their training planes simulated evasive action on the target approaches. At the combat camps, the cadet bombardiers lived under the most primitive conditions, learning to get along with short rations of food and their own bombs, too—shrdl m water, learning to fuse and load their own bombs, to service their bombsights.

James Vinson returned to his post in the service at Albuquerque, New Mexico, Monday, after a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Vinson. James called and gave us "the glad hand." We were glad to see him and to see him looking so well. James is pleased with his place in the Quarter Master's Corps, and likes military life.

SUMMER CARE OF LAMBS

By H. B. EDMONDSON
Vocational Agriculture Teacher

Now is the time to dope lambs for stomach worms, claims Vocational Agriculture man of Bronte. This should be done since ewes are not giving much milk at this time and the lambs are having to change to grass for nourishment. As long as a lamb is doing well, Edmondson says, the stomach worm usually doesn't cause trouble, but as the lamb is forced to change from milk that he has been depending on, his vitality will naturally decrease some. This affords the worm a chance to get in a telling blow.

Edmondson recommends that a drench with phenothiazine base be used for several reasons. First, the lambs don't have to be starved before or after administering the drench; it doesn't make the lambs sick; and it thoroughly does the job.

In this area a lamb weighing up to 50 pounds gets about 1-2 oz. of phenothiazine, and heavier ones get around 3-4 ounce. However, he has found that larger doses will not necessarily harm the animals but the cost is high enough to demand careful attention to the quantity.

As soon as lambs are drenched, they are turned into a pen or pasture where water is readily available. This increases the effectiveness of the treatment, Edmondson states.

Edmondson believes that now is also the time to shear the lamb's legs and eyes that are grazing in needle grass pastures. Ran hers in this area shear and drench their lambs at the same time and report very good results. If a lamb is not sheared, needle grass collects in its wool and in the corner of its eyes and can readily lower the vitality of the animal enough to cause its death. In less severe cases, infections can set in where the grass has penetrated the hide and worms can cause costly damage. The elimination of this possibility alone is enough to justify summer shearing of lambs.

Methodist Revival Meeting Begins Thursday Night

A revival meeting is scheduled to begin at the Bronte Methodist church, Thursday evening, August 5, according to announcement given The Enterprise by the pastor, Rev. A. Hanson.

Rev. L. D. Hardt, pastor of the Methodist church at Melvin, will do the preaching. Rev. Hanson states that Rev. Hardt is a splendid gospel preacher and a most excellent Christian gentleman. "I believe the people will enjoy hearing Rev. Hardt, and I know he will bring messages that will be a blessing to our town and community if heeded. I want the folks to come and hear Bro. Hardt," said Rev. Hanson.

Worship will be in the morning and evening, daily. Hours for worship will be announced when the meeting starts.

Mr. and Mrs. Noah Pruitt send The Enterprise to their son, Francis, who is now a Pfc. The Enterprise that he may know what is happening at home. He is at Keesler Field, Mississippi. Mr. and Mrs. Pruitt now have three sons in the service. Noah Jr. is in Australia and Dwaine is at Mineral Wells.

WAYMAN PERCIFULL IN BLIND INSTRUMENT FLYING CONTEST

Wayman Percifull was the successful contestant in a blind instrument flying contest at Strother Field in Kansas, Friday.

We have accidentally lost the data we had on the contest and, therefore, we cannot write intelligently about the contest.

Anyhow, it was a contest in blind flying, as we understand it. There were 200 contestants at the beginning. This number was reduced by elimination until there were only 17 in the final contest. And in the final test of the 17 Wayman was first.

It resulted in Wayman being placed in charge of a plane and was blindfolded. He could see the instruments of his plane

Allen Coppedge Writes From "Way Off Over Here"

Allen Coppedge who is in North Africa writes the editor an appreciated letter. He says, "it sure is grand to get the good 'ol' home town' paper, 'a way off over here.'"

Allen reports that everything is "swell", with him; that he has a nice job and has a fine group of boys to work with. "I bet," he says, "you can hear us at night for five miles as we romp and play—sounds like a bunch of outlaws."

"But, feature, this," says Allen, "everyone calls me 'cattle rustler.' They think that just because I am from Texas, I am a 'cow thief.' But you can tell from the way they joke me they would not mind living there themselves. C."

Allen sends appreciation and congratulations to The Enterprise, and closes by saying, "keep the 'ol' home town' paper coming—for, it sure is great to receive it here."

Mrs. Alfred Allison returned to her home at Portales, New Mexico, Wednesday, after a visit with Mr. Allison's father, Lee Allison, and others of the Allison family. Alfred is in the service at Camp McCoy, Wisconsin. Before returning home Mrs. Allison ordered The Enterprise sent to her husband, that he may keep in touch with the happenings of his boyhood home.

but he could not see the ground below him. In that situation he had to operate his plane.

Well—just to be plain honest about it—it is all too deep for us to explain unless we had the data before us. But, it sounds to us like a most daring venture, and none but daredevils of the air would dare make the venture. But to be an airman of Uncle Sam a boy has to tear the word "fear" out of his vocabulary.

And, we are glad, of course, that it was a Bronte boy who won in this venturesome contest.

PREPARE CHILD FOR SCHOOL NOW SAYS
STATE HEALTH OFFICER

Austin, Texas, July 29.—“Be sure that your preschool child will be ready to go to school in September,” Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, urges the parents of all children who will respond to the school bells for the first time next fall. “If you have not already done so, start now to prepare your child for the added strain of school life.

“First and foremost is the need for vaccination against small pox. Parents and physicians should see that children are vaccinated before they are one year of age; the matter is entirely in the hands of parents and their doctors during the earliest years of life. At school age, however, vaccination becomes absolutely necessary. If your child has not been vaccinated, have it done immediately so that the scar will be completely healed before school opens.”

Immunization against diphetheria is also highly desirable, Dr.
Cox believes. This disease, which causes serious illness and
death among young children,
can be prevented with toxoid.
The child who has never been protected should be given this safeguard against a dreaded disease. Eventhough he may have been immunized as a baby, doctors and health officers usually recommend an additional dose of toxoid to strengthen immunity before entrance into school.

“In addition, before entrance
into school.

“In addition, before you send your child to school you are urged to take him to your physician or to the nearest clinic for a complete physical examination,” Dr. Cox adds. “You will want to know that he is in good physical condition and can compete with the other children on equal terms. If the check-up reveals any weakness or defect
there will be time to build up his general health and correct defects before Septembr. Don't let your child start his school

Who are non-essential travelers?

You are the judge of whether or not your trip is essential—and your judgment is what our government is relying upon.

Please consider these points when you think of traveling on the railroads this summer and for the duration:

1. Your trip may take a Pullman berth or chair car seat needed by men in uniform traveling under orders.
 2. Your trip may delay war workers, not in uniform, in reaching their vital jobs.
 3. Your trip may deprive men and women in the service of a furlough trip to visit their homefolks.
- If you do take a trip, plan for it in advance, travel light, consider taking a box lunch to avoid delayed meals in the diners, and make up your mind to put up with certain inconveniences and crowded conditions.

WHAT ABOUT VACATION TRAVEL?

Vacations should be spread out over the year, not confined to summer months.

A vacation trip should be confined to one round trip only, starting and returning on Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday.

Travel in chair cars whenever possible, and please carry only one piece of luggage.

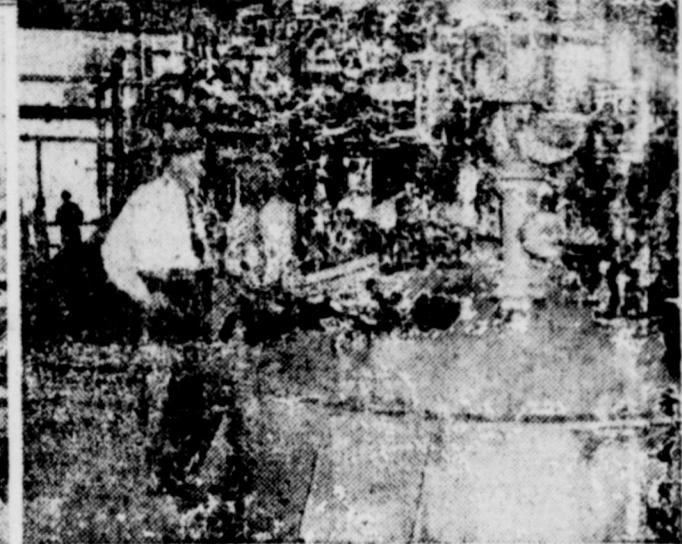

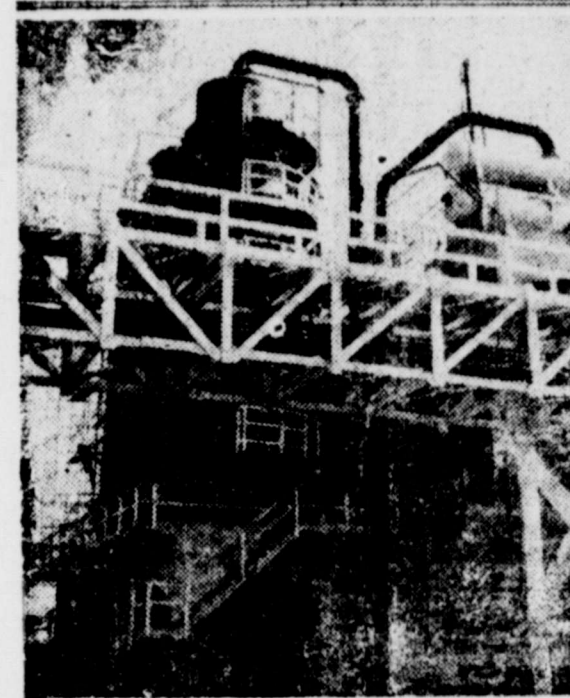

Consult your Santa Fe Agent about your travel plans. You'll find his friendly advice helpful.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Coppedge were called to Abilene last week to be with their daughter, Mrs. D. L. Terry, who underwent surgery. The patient is reported as recovering most satisfactorily.

These synthetic rubber plants in southeastern Texas, nearing completion and scheduled to start production this summer, are the first in the new industry. Built by the Goodyear

At the top left is a process building in a 60,000-ton plant while the picture beside it shows three reactors in place and space for another. Below, left, are the stripping towers which remove excess butadiene and styrene from the latex while beside it, is a picture of Glenn A.
