We wonder how many, if any, reservations in Austin hotels had to be cancelled by Dimmitt basketball fans after the Bobcats dropped their heartbreaker to Perryton? The real basher will be if Fort Stockton wins state. Anyway it was a great season for Dimmitt and all the boys and their coach are to be commended for their bi-district championship.

We know of nothing that will create an "esprit de corps" in a community like high school athletics. Instead of charging the cost of athletics to the school system, it looks to us like this should be more of a municipal expense. We are reasonably certain that local adult fans are just about as exuberant about the Bobcats and Bobbies as the high school students are. While the boys enjoy playing, it still seems to us that these athletics are of more benefit to grown-ups than anyone else. Anyone who likes to criticize too much sports activity in school should stop to realize that perhaps it is more a community than a school function and should be treated as such. This generalization doesn't cover all the objections but it should do until something better comes along.

The state textbook committee hearings—the legislature's attempt at humor this year—got underway and floundered along all day Tuesday in Amarillo and the expected happened: at least one legislator was accused of being a card-carrying communist.

Mrs. Harold Boots, called as a witness during the momentary absence of Rep. Ronald Roberts of Hillsboro, said "I wanted to ask Roberts how long he had been a card-carrying Communist." The audience applauded. However, it's only fair to point out also that the same audience applauded when Larry Williams apologized for Mrs. Boots. Mrs. Boots, who later said Mr. Williams needn't have bothered with any apologies, was most disturbed by the injection of Catholicism into certain studies for youngsters in public schools.

As one might suspect, current textbook authors had no friends at the hearings. In all likelihood, there should be continuing textbook reviews throughout the entire spectrum of school literature by qualified people. It is too easy for a textbook publishing firm to palm off a mediocre product and it is tempting for public school administrators to let well enough alone so some sort of watchdog group seems necessary. But it appears absurd to us for a housewife or businessman who may or may not be a high school graduate trying to review the works of scholars. That's when you get accusations of communism, socialism and non-patriotism.

We received an invite to Mr. J. W. (Old Man) Jordan's birthday party in May. As usual, raccoon meat will be served. It was with a sigh of relief that we learned ham would be available "for those on a diet." We won't have any trouble convincing them we're on a diet. If we're not we ought to be. Some people say panther meat is good too.

Speaking of unusual foods: as a youngster going to school in Austin we spent many pleasant hours in the southeast part of town fishing in the sluggish Colorado river. While walking down the bank one day we ran into a colored friend who pigged metal on the day shift at the place where we worked. We noticed he had a gar on his string. "What are you going to do with that thing? You're not going to eat it?" "Sure," he said. "I'll just take this here gar, clean and skin him, salt and pepper him real good and put him on a pine board and bake him for a couple of hours, real slow-like." "Well, what does it taste like?" "I don't know," he grinned. "When he's done I'll throw away the gar and eat the board." We've heard that same thing again lots of times, told on other fish, but we were sure caught flat-footed that time.

Five Dimmitt Students Participate in Piano Festival Contest

Five Piano students from Dimmitt participated in the Piano Festival contest in Canyon Saturday February 24. They are: Paraly Render, Victor Jean Hughes, Deanna Morgan, Rodney Hutto and Garland Jarvis. Rodney Hutto made a Superior rating and will receive a gold medal. The other students received second and third ratings and will receive award certificates.

To enter these contests a pupil must have reached the seventh grade in public school and thereafter may participate throughout High School. A special award is presented to any High School senior who has not missed a contest since beginning in the seventh grade. Only one such award was granted at the 1962 festival.

New Hospital Hopes Soar with New Possibility of Redistricting

County Judge Raymond Wilson and local hospital officials have evidenced guarded optimism over the prospects for approval in September of Hill-Burton funds for construction of a new Castro County Hospital.

Most recent progress in this direction came last Thursday when an inspection of local hospital facilities was made by Mr. David E. Barker, engineer, Division of Hospital Services of the State Health Department.

Mr. Barker indicated late Thursday he would recommend the removal of Castro County from a hospital district with Deaf Smith and Parmer Counties and making the county an independent district by itself. The relatively large number of hospital beds in the Deaf, Smith-Parmer-Castro hospital district has been a major cause for the county's application remaining in the lowly C priority category.

Since the State Health Department has previously inspected the local hospital, found it inadequate, and declared that they would not recognize the hospital here, this new district would officially have no beds and may be eligible for top priority.

The move will be too late for the March allotments, if it is made. Mr. Barker's recommendations do not necessarily have to be approved by the Department, but officials here are hopeful they will be. Mr. Barker was conducted over Dimmitt and through the hospital by Judge Raymond Wilson and hospital board chairman Charlie Hays.

A concentrated effort has been made recently to procure the Hill-Burton funds as authorized by a bond election here several years ago. The judge, county commissioners, and hospital board have been consistently stymied by the hospital district situation. "As it appears now," Judge Wilson said this week, "we are in a better position to be hopeful than ever before. We're still keeping our fingers crossed, but it looks pretty good at this point."

Although the matching Hill-Burton funds are from federal sources, the administration is on the state level and the State Department of Health has the power to redistrict. Apparently no effect can be made on the program through the federal government level. Many hospitals in Texas have been constructed partly through the use of these funds. The Hill-Burton program matches local expenditures for hospitals.

Bobcats Lose to Perryton in Region Tourney

The Dimmitt Bobcats wound up their season Saturday at about noon when they walked off the court burdened with a 52-47 defeat at the hands of the Perryton Rangers.

The Rangers went on to lose in a breath-taking 46-44 game with Fort Stockton. Fort Stockton will represent the region in the state playoffs this week in Austin.

It looked like Dimmitt's day at first. In fact, the Bobcats led 27-22 at the half, but the Rangers came back looking like a different team and forged ahead in the third, leading 40-36 at the end of the period. Ranger Harry Drake poured in fifteen points himself to lead his team to victory.

Michael Calvert led the Bobcats with 23 points as coach Kenneth Cleveland wound up his first season here. Jim Ratcliff was second with 13.

Calvert was named to the all-state second team by the Texas Sports Writers Association this week as he capped a highly successful season.

THIRTY FIFTH YEAR DIMMITT, CASTRO COUNTY, TEXAS, THURSDAY, MARCH 1, 1962 12 PAGES—NUMBER 19

School Board Elections Set for April 7th

Elections to fill school board vacancies in the county will be held April 7. Deadline for filing is March 8.

George Sides of Precinct 2 and Percy Hart of Precinct 1, both incumbents, have been submitted for re-election to the county school board.

No one has filed for Nazareth or Hart school board vacancies. Anyone filing for either of these boards must do so with County Judge Raymond Wilson. Schools with less than 500 scholastics in Texas must file with the county judge.

Seeking re-election to the Dimmitt School Board are J. G. Davis and Jim Elder. There are no other candidates so far.

Two Accidents Occur at Same Intersection

A two-car collision about 6:10 Sunday afternoon resulted in no injuries, but caused extensive damage to both automobiles.

City Marshal W. W. Jones estimated that a 1962 Chevrolet driven by Calvin Lippard was probably totaled and about $500 damage was done to a 1958 Pontiac driven by Jose DeLeon of Tulia. According to Jones, the brakes apparently failed on the Lippard car, probably because of engine stoppage since the car was equipped with power brakes. It rolled on out into the intersection of Highway 86 and 3rd St. and was struck by the DeLeon car.

An automobile driven by Mr. Percy Estes was in collision Feb. 19 about 8:30 a.m. by one driven by Sharon Anderson. According to police chief W. W. Jones, about $250 damage was sustained by each automobile. Mr. Estes was charged with failing to grant right-of-way through a stop sign. No one was injured. The accident occurred at the intersection of Highway 86 and Third. Both automobiles were driven away.

Five Dimmitt Students Participate in Piano Festival Contest

Tom Anderson, who admits to being a John Birch Society Board member, was the principal speaker at a Jaycee Outstanding Young Farmer Award Banquet in Greenville, Texas on Saturday, February 17th. Attending from Dimmitt were four Jaycees, Pete Wright, president, Ewing Mathis, Bob DuLaney, and Ray Joe Riley, the local organization's candidate for the award.

Anderson, the editor of Farm and Ranch Magazine, often draws a standing ovation at the end of his highly controversial speeches, but this time received a much cooler reception, according to the local Jaycees attending. However, of all the Jaycees here, the Dimmitt delegation was the only one to take active issue with Anderson's talk. They presented a strongly worded statement to the daily Greenville Herald-Banner which subsequently presented it on their Sunday morning front page under a three-column headline. Since very few, if any, communities or organizations have challenged any of Anderson's talks ridiculing American people and American government The News presents below the complete story of the protest as it appeared in the Greenville newspaper:

the Greenville JayCees, we do not believe that Mr. Anderson (the main speaker) added anything constructive to solving the problems that he presented to his audience.

"His general attitude," continued Mathis, "was belligerent, his idea of a form of government for the United States seems to us to be contrary to that specified and included in the Constitution. And his idea that the majority should not rule is also opposed to the Constitution which most of us loyal Americans have defended down through the years.

"We not only disagree with his theories, we resent his calling every respectable Congressman and many loyal government officials pink or inferring that they are full fledged communists or appeasers," Mathis said.

man — a freedom of choice. He is our choice in each individual case and we stand behind this method of electing and choosing our highest leader in the United States.

"We prefer this method of selection by the majority of the people rather than have him elected or selected by some self-appointed group such as Tom Anderson's John Birch Society, which he (Anderson) vaguely infers is the correct way to choose our national leader." End of statement.

Anderson, who is Publisher and Editor of Farm and Ranch magazine is also a national vice president of the Birch Society and told his listeners Saturday night that he strongly supports that organization.

Too, he lambasted former Presidents Eisenhower, Truman, Kennedy and (by inference) Roosevelt, charging each with helping to "Sell us out" to the communists.

Anderson's remarks brought mixed reaction from the audience. His jokes and jibes at President Kennedy, daughter Caroline and brother Bobby, were clever and evoked laughter. But there was general silence when he attacked Eisenhower and President Kennedy personally.

The Dimmitt group said that among the out-of-town JayCees who had rooms at the Washington Hotel where they were staying, "a very minimum" agree with Anderson. Most of them felt the same way about it as we do," he said.

In addition to Spokesman Mathis and Ray Joe Riley, Bob DuLaney and Pete Wright, wished to be included in the statement given to the Herald-Banner."

Early Presbyterian Church Sought Dallas Affiliation

In the following passages from Minister D. C. Lawrence's thesis the most recent years of the Presbyterian Church in Dimmitt are discussed. These are the concluding remarks on this church and next week we will begin Mr. Lawrence's history of the Baptist Church in Dimmitt.

By D. C. LAWRENCE
Minister, Dallas Church of Christ

In the fall of 1913, proceedings were initiated to affiliate the Dimmitt church with the Amarillo Presbytery of the U.S.A. on Sunday, October 19, a business meeting was conducted to discuss the matter. The local church opposed consolidation with the Amarillo Presbytery, but made plans to join the Dallas Presbytery.

After a general discussion of the overture made by (the) Panhandle Presbytery, to (the) Texas Synod for the transfer of (the) Panhandle Presbytery to the Amarillo Presbytery of the U.S.A., it was decided, that this church oppose same but that we do sanction the consolidation of the Panhandle Presbytery with the Dallas Presbytery, and that C. F. Kerr be and is hereby elected to represent this church at (the) approaching meeting of (the) Synod.

The attempt to transfer the Dimmitt Presbyterian Church to the Amarillo Presbytery of the U.S.A. failed.

Two years later, according to the "Statistical Report" of 1915, the Presbyterians were hardly holding their own. Their membership had dwindled to thirty-two, and their contributions for the year amounted to only $286.15. If their ardent spirits had been dampened by this backward trend, they surely should have been brightened again by their "booster" neighbor. A writer for The Hereford Brand in a "special booster edition" of September 10, 1915, described the Castro County area as one of the best farming communities of the Panhandle. Lauding the favorable religious atmosphere, he pointed out that "Dimmitt has a good Church building that is used by three denominations, the Baptists, Methodists, and Presbyterians. Preaching services are held at other points in the county. While its population is small, it is made up of public spirited people that believe in living by the golden rule." In spite of Hereford's "boosting," times were hard; money was difficult to obtain. This is corroborated by an entry in the Ladies Aid Society Record, showing their dues averaged ten cents per week, but were not always paid. However meager their own supply, they manifested an unselfish spirit in their willingness to share what little they had with others. The Society sent $31.00 to help an orphan, and paid a $13.95 insurance premium on the church building. During World War I, the Ladies Aid sent a khaki bound New Testament to each service man from the county.

In 1917, the Dimmitt Presbyterian Church was transferred to the Assembly of the U. S. A. First, the property was transferred from the Trustees of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States to C. F. Kerr, B. T. Bell, E. S. Ireland, and Harvey Cash, Trustees for the First Presbyterian Church in the United States of Dimmitt, Texas, upon payment of $512.50. After a majority of the members of the Dimmitt Church signed a petition, the Trustees were instructed to transfer said property to themselves as Trustees of the First Presbyterian Church in the United States of America in Dimmitt, Texas. The Presbyterian Church in the United States—often called the Southern Presbyterian Church—was largely the result of a withdrawal from the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. in 1861 over Civil War issues.

After the war was over, changes began to take place quickly in the church life of the community. On November 11, 1918, the bell in the church which ordinarily called Dimmitt's citizens to worship, pealed forth the joyful news of the War's end. The victory in war opened other doors of opportunity. Realizing the ravages of a war torn country, the Ladies Aid decided to furnish funds to support one French child for a year. The amount needed was $36.00, and all dues on hand were turned over to this fund.

The Presbyterians planned to take full advantage of improving financial conditions in the furtherance of their cause in Dimmitt. In the Castro County News, June 14, 1923, they stated that the Reverend Clark of Mena, Arkansas, had been secured to serve as full time minister, and that he would be located permanently in Dimmitt. However, in September of that same year, he was replaced by the Reverend G. D. Robinson, who began preaching every second and fourth Sunday, morning and evening.

The church activities in Dimmitt presented a paradox to the conditions found generally during the national depression of 1929 and 1930. In March, 1930, more than 500 people attended the services of the four churches in Dimmitt. About 200 were present at the Methodist Church for the initial services in the basement of their new edifice. Approximately 200 observed "Budget day," at the Baptist Church. At the Church of Christ, H. Earl Smith of Hereford preached to a congregation numbering nearly 140. The Presbyterians reported that some sixty people heard their pastor Reverend Robinson of Lubbock, deliver his message at the morning hour.

The Presbyterians sought various means by which they might encourage their own members and others to attend their services. Outside speakers were invited often to fill their pulpits. On one occasion, Dean Gordon of Texas Techological College in Lubbock, Texas, discussed the subject: "What I Think of My Church."

The Presbyterians maintained the policy of allowing other religious groups to use their building as stated in the Charter. In 1930, J. W. Cundiff of Amarillo, a missionary evangelist for the Baptist Missionary Association of Texas, conducted a meeting in the Presbyterian building.

Presbyterianism in Dimmitt experienced a disastrous decline during the decade 1930-1940. The church, financially unable to support a full time preacher, secured the services of the Reverend J.A. Gaines on a part time basis for a few months in 1930. However, for the next three years the church was without even part time preaching. In 1934, the Reverend F. Louis Grafton endeavored to gather a number of delinquent members, but after one summer returned to study at the Presbyterian Seminary in Chicago. In a final effort to maintain the Presbyterian organization in Dimmitt, J. Hoytt Boles, the regular preacher for the Presbyterian Church in Tulia, began preaching in Dimmitt each Thursday evening during the winter of 1939. In spite of all efforts, the church organization was dissolved officially by the Amarillo Presbytery in the United States of America, September 24, 1942. The remaining members of the church at Dimmitt, were attached to the Presbyterian Church in Hereford, Texas. At the same meeting, upon dissolution of the Dimmitt Presbyterian Church, the church building and grounds "passed to and became the property of said Presbytery of Amarillo." Immediately after taking this action, the property was sold to W. S. Kerr of Hereford, Texas, for $700.00.

In later years, this sale was considered very unwise by some of the leading Presbyterians in the area. Three reasons were submitted. First, in 1947 the lots, without the building which had burned, were worth nearly twice the sale price of $700.00 in 1942; second, because of the desirable location for a church building; and third, because of the extremely high prices for lots in desirable locations when the Presbyterians reorganized in Dimmitt.

Mr. Kerr sold the property which he had secured from the Dimmitt Presbyterian Church, with the exception of the old church bell, to the Assembly of God Church for the sum of $750.00, in 1943. J. Hoytt Boles, Synod Executive, Denton, Texas, recalled that Mr. Kerr took the bell to Hereford for sentiment's sake. Later, when a new church was organized near Houston, Texas, the people there wanted a bell. Mr. Kerr donated his bell, and Mr. Boles remembered paying the freight on it.

On Easter Sunday in 1946, the "little white church," formerly belonging to the Presbyterians, burned. Since its purchase by the Assembly of God Church in 1943, it was used as a home for the minister, J. F. Enades, the local preacher, and his family had just finished lunch Easter Sunday and were preparing an egg hunt for the children, when fire was discovered. Their personal belongings and the piano were saved, but the remainder of the church property was a total loss. Lennie Cauldwell, a telephone operator on duty at the time, turned in the fire alarm, but too late. Half the town gathered to watch this old landmark, the house in which many of them and their fathers had worshipped God, burn to the ground. Thus, one phase of the history of the Presbyterian Church in Dimmitt came to a close.

Later Years
In the fall of 1957, steps were taken to consider formation of another Presbyterian Church in Dimmitt. Soon, a meeting was held in the District Court Room to see how many Presbyterians would be interested in forming a local church. Little was done however until June of 1959, when announcement was made that plans had been completed for the establishment of a new church in Dimmitt. The first services were held in the Community Room in the basement of the court house. Herman Boles of Amarillo, Texas, was chosen pastor of the new church. Boles left private business to enter the ministry. He had served the Presbyterian Church in Alaska, attended a seminary, and served as pastor of the Broadway Presbyterian Church in Louisville, Kentucky, prior to his pastorate in Dimmitt. Boles was also the pas-

Deadly Reckoning by Robt. Day

"MALCOLM, DEAR, I CAN'T GET THE TRUNK OPEN." The Travelers Safety Service
Women drivers were involved in more than 18% of the personal injury accident in 1960.

C. Burns of Littlefield, Texas, called the meeting to order and served as moderator. Joe Cowen read the joint call in which each pledged monthly $100.00 for salary, $65.00 allowance for rent and utilities, and a certain per cent of the contribution for a pension set by the Board of Pensions. The call was extended to Herman S. Boles to serve as joint pastor of the Dimmitt and Muleshoe Churches. Joseph N. Cowen and Dr. J. E. Wohlgemuth were elected Commissioners to present the call to the Presbytery.

The election of Elders and Deacons for the Dimmitt church was held after the joint meeting. Mr. Joe Cowen, Dr. James Wohlgemuth and Mr. M. L. Simpson were elected as Ruling Elders. Subsequently, Mr. J. E. White, Mrs. Ira Clingsmith and Mr. Salvatore DiCuffa were added to the list. Mrs. Jo Kirkpatrick, Mr. Elton Singer, and Mr. R. W. Scoggin were elected to serve as Deacons. Mrs. Joe Cowen was chosen Superintendent of the Sunday School, Mr. M. L. Simpson, Jr. as Director of Music, and Mrs. Earl White was elected Public Relations chairman. In addition to these elections, plans were made to secure land for a future building.
The growth and development of the Presbyterian Church in Dimmitt was almost identical with that of the town and Castro County. The Presbyterians were organized soon after the county was founded. They were first in Dimmitt with a place of worship. Their financial gains and reverses were similar to those enjoyed and suffered by other citizens of Dimmitt and Castro County. The church declined during the depression years, and finally disbanded. Unlike other religious groups which maintained their organization during the period 1930-40, and recovered rapidly during the 1940's the Presbyterians, in 1959, were advancing slowly as a newly formed church.

Friends and relatives are invited to attend an open house honoring Mr. and Mrs. Paul Chance on their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary in their home 8 1/2 miles north of Earh on Sunday March 11 from 3 to 5 p.m.

Panhandle Heritage Foundation Describes Palo Duro's Theatre

At a meeting in the Fine Arts Building at West Texas State College on Tuesday evening, February the twenty-seventh at seven o'clock, the architect of the theatre which is to be built in the Palo Duro State Park in connection with the symphonic drama project presented the model of the theatre which was approved by the Texas State Parks Board on February 20 th in its meeting in Marshall, Texas. Except for minor adjustments, this model represents the theatre as it will actually be. It is drawn to scale and set in the contours of the land in the park where it will be built.

Everyone who wishes to attend the drama will drive down into the Canyon to a point about a quarter of a mile before the turn-off for the little train. A short drive of a hundred yards or so will lead to the parking lot. From the car there will be a walk past the rest room building which the State Parks Board is constructing for the project and past the box office. The walk from the box office to the back of the theater will be stage hides from the audience the buildings on either side which contain dressing rooms, costume storage, workshops, scenery storage, etc. In front of the rises are large stages on each side, and one of these will be the location for the orchestra. Back of these side stages are the light towers.

The theater will seat a thousand people and the seats will be set on a concrete base which fans out on the side of the hill. All of the concrete will be the color of the earth so that the structure will seem to be a part of its surroundings.

When the plans and the pictures of the model were sent to Mr. Green in North Carolina for his approval, he was most enthusiastic and replied that it would be a delight to write his play for these surroundings. He showed the plans to Mr. Harry Davis the director of the fabulously successful symphonic drama "Unto These Hills" which plays in Cherokee, North Carolina and Mr. Davis sent the following comment about the plans: "...This theater seems to be planned with intelligence, imagination and sensitivity."

The architectural firm of Hucker and Parge prepared the plans for the theater in the Park. The senior partner in this firm, Robert Hucker has been practicing in Amarillo since 1946. He was born in St. Louis, Missouri, holds his Bachelor's degree in architecture

Knowing Cancer Symptoms Best Aid To Early Detection

There will be a meeting of the executive board of the Castro County Cancer Society Wednesday March 7 in the commissioner's courtroom of the courthouse.

Members of this committee have secured a film from the National Cancer Society which will be shown this week-end with the regular features at Carlisle Theatre. Title of the film is "The Traitor Within," which is in color and will last approximately 10 to 15 minutes.

The local cancer society is a member of the national organization which has as its goal the education of the general public in regard to the awareness of cancer symptoms, and also the purpose of aiding local persons who may have the disease already to secure the proper treatment when their own resources are inadequate. The ultimate goal of the National Cancer Society is to eradicate cancer by underwriting research program. As the result of the discoveries made in research laboratories, this nation and the world may one day be rid of one of the most grim reapers of death known to man.

According to the Cancer Society there has been a steady rise in the national cancer death rate. In 1935 the number of cancer deaths per 100,000 population was 108. In 1960 the number had increased to 148 out of 100,000 population. In 1959 there were 259,000 deaths resulting from cancer and the following year of 1960 there were 265,000 Americans who died of cancer. It is estimated that 270,000 more people in this country will die of cancer this year. Of every six deaths from all causes in the United States one is caused by cancer. However, the picture is not entirely one of despair. Of those stricken with cancer 170,000 will be saved from cancer this year. There are now more than a million Americans, alive today, who have been cured of cancer. The Cancer Society qualifies the term "cured" as meaning a person who is alive without evidence of the disease at least five years after diagnosis and treatment.

An informed person is likely to be much more aware of any abnormalities in his health than one who knows nothing of cancer symptoms. Such awareness, Dr. Harold Bischoff, vice-president of the local cancer society, states, can lead to early detection. Much information concerning kinds of cancer and symptoms may be obtained by writing to CANCER in care of your local post office.

About Your HEALTH

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health.

HENRY A. WOLLE, M. D. Commissioner of Health

Reported cases of infectious syphilis in Texas increased by 28 percent last year, a tabulation of State Health Department records shows. Communicable disease control authorities say the figure is still significant, but the rate of increase is so much lower than the 93 percent gain registered for 1960 that they are cautiously optimistic about further improvements.

The discovery of penicillin in 1943 marked the beginning of a new era in venereal disease control. Prior to the development of the new drug, treatment was so long and unpleasant that most patients never completed it. Penicillin made successful treatment possible in a matter of days rather than weeks or months. Using it as a tool, medical practitioners and public health officials began an intensive campaign to force syphilis into the ranks of "has been" diseases.

Many infectious patients were located when various states passed laws requiring pregnant women and couples contemplating marriage to have blood tests. Mass blood testing by industries and institutions located still others. Techniques of interviewing "Contacts" of known patients were developed and as each chain of infection was traced and identified, additional cases came under medical treatment. By 1948 the incidence of infectious syphilis began to decline.

The decline continued until 1955 when complacency—perhaps due to over-confidence—caused a lack of interest in syphilis control. The downward spiral leveled off and ease of incidence remained fairly constant until 1958.

The following year's statistics revealed the disease to be on the increase throughout the United States. Texas recorded a gain of 47 percent during 1959 and that astounding 93 percent in 1960. To counteract the menace, the Texas State Department of Health

Senator YARBOROUGH'S REPORT

Dear Fellow Texan: Recently I enjoyed a visit with fifteen young college students from Chile who stopped at my office here in Washington before going on to study for several weeks at the University of Texas in Austin. They are student leaders of today in Chile and will doubtless be governmental leaders of the next generation in that Republic. It was a stimulating visit. I found these young people from South America to be friendly, intelligent, knowledgeable in history and economics, full of questions and thoughtful opinions on the great issues of our time.

Our grave concern about the threat of Communism and the actions of Fidel Castro, arrogant Communist leader in Cuba, and how to meet that threat to the unity of the Americas was discussed. They expressed great hope for the future of South America and are appreciative of what the United States is doing to maintain sound relations with South America. We discussed the Alliance for Progress and the Organization of American States.

As these young people from Chile make new friends in Texas, they are going to continue asking quesions and they will take the answers home. The result cannot help but be beneficial in our relations with their country. Exchanges of people are an important element in the conduct of our foreign relations, and when students exchange with students—that is a people-to-people exchange of the highest importance.

In the school year of 1960-61 there were more than 53,000 foreign students from 143 countries states and dependencies enrolled at 1,600 United States colleges and universities. During that same time, there were more than 15,000 students from the United States at 540 schools in 63 foreign countries. Incidentally, only 1,400 students from Mexico were among those from other countries studying in the United States last year—a very small total that we in Texas should be especially interested in, and that we should be especially interested in seeing doubled and re-doubled. Only about 35 students from Mexico attended the University of Texas last year.

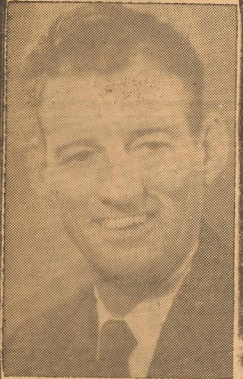

If it's true that the best advertisement is a satisfied customer, we need to encourage more people from foreign countries to see how we in Texas and in the rest of the United States treasure our heritage, and how we are working to develop a better chance in life for The Russians have opened what they call Friendship University of Moscow where they have 597 students from Asia, Africa and Latin America training to be engineers, mathematicians, doctors and lawyers. And when these students are trained and go back to their countries, they will hold jobs in important places. Many of them will be message-bearers for Communism. We need more message-bearers for Democracy and for the liberties of Western Democracy in all of these places. In the last year for which figures are available, 1960-61—1,842 students from foreign countries were studying at 55 Texas colleges and universities. To cite a few examples from this last school year, there were 501 foreign students at the University of Texas, 60 at Baylor University, 170 at the University of Houston, 269 at Texas A & M, 38 at Texas Women's University at Denton, 28 at Rice University, 10 at Prairie View A&M, 65 at Laredo Junior College and

Donald George Has Acclimation Problem

Donald George, now stationed in Italy son of Mr. and Mrs. Woody George of Dimmitt sent them the following clipping from his post newspaper. George has been in service for 2 years and expects to remain in Italy for the duration of his duty.

Verona (PIO)—"I sure have trouble getting to sleep, now that I'm stationed in Italy," says Sp4 Donald W. George, HQ Co, SETAF. George is not suffering from insomnia or nervousness, but from the fact that he arrived here just three weeks ago from the "Land of the Midnight Sun."

"Why, when I was in Iceland," declared George, "it was daylight for almost 24 hours without a sunset. It was strange to see people shopping for groceries in town at 1:30 a.m. or going for a Sunday walk at 3 in the morning," added George.

"I'm just starting to get back to normal sleeping hours since I've been in SETAF," commented George as he gave out with a bear like yawn.

Serving as a member of a four-man transportation outfit, George spent eight months in the city of Reykjavik, Iceland's capital and largest seaport.

"Before arriving in Iceland, I thought it would be extremely cold," said George, "but I found it moderate, since it never got colder than 20 degrees Fahrenheit during the worst part of the winter."

"Some of the oddities which I never expected to find there," explained George "were volcanoes" and earthquakes which occurred frequently."

When asked what was the thing he expected to see and didn't, he replied "Eskimos!"

Necessary or Not???

The Mexican War. Was it necessary or not? For many years historians believed that the war was an unnecessary attack on a weaker nation. Many thought that the United States regarded the war in a light that would give them more land in which to practice slavery. However, in recent years views on the subject have changed a great deal, and many people now believe that the war was inevitable. The United States annexed Texas in 1845, the Mexican government didn't declare war. If small problems had not begun to arise, the dispute might have been battled peacefully. A boundary dispute arose. Texas claimed the Rio Grande as its western boundary, while Mexico said that Texas had never extended farther than the Nueces River.

Mexico owed about $3,000,000 to citizens of the United States in compensation for lives and property lost in Mexico through the revolution. By the 1840's many Americans demanded that the United States collect these debts by force.

Most important was the feeling that the country had a manifest destiny to spread westward into new lands. The frontier movement had brought Americans into Mexican territory, especially California.

In a few short months both nations found themselves tightly bound by a political chain that seemed to keep them on a carpet of sponge which was rapidly absorbing the chance of peace.

In the fall of 1845, President Polk sent John Slidell to Mexico as an American minister. He was to offer to pay Mexico $25,000,000 and cancel all claims for damages if Mexico would accept the Rio Grande boundary and sell New Mexico and California to the United States.

A revolution was in full swing in Mexico when Slidell arrived. Both the old and new presidents were afraid their enemies would denounce them as cowards if they made concessions to the United States, and so they refused to see him.

Polk ordered General Zachary Taylor to advance with 3,000 men to the Rio Grande. Taylor reached the river in April, 1846. A Mexican force crossed the river to meet him, and on April 25, a small body of American cavalry was defeated by a larger body of Mexicans. Polk had already decided to ask Congress to declare war on Mexico, and this battle gave him the chance to say that Mexico had "invaded our territory and shed American blood on American soil."

There has been much question in regard to the fact that the battle took place on American soil. Many people wonder if, perhaps, Mexico didn't have as good a claim as the United States to the soil where the blood was shed. Nevertheless, on May 13, 1846, Congress declared war on Mexico.

The issue was stirred up again by Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy as he told the people of Indonesia that the Mexican War was one that the American people regretted as one that was not "justified" and not a "very bright page in American history." Texas Governor Price Daniel said, "I cannot believe that he intended to leave the impression that he disapproved of the heroic fight for freedom and liberty which was made by Texas in 1836 and the subsequent annexation agreement and defense thereof by the United States."

The question is one that will probably never be settled, but many people thought the attorney general had either been quoted incorrectly "or he is confused on his history."

THE GOOD OLE DAYS

In every person's life there is span of time which they consider to be "the good ole days". All of us have heard our parents talk of their "good ole days", when steaks were only 35 cents. Well, we can't let them get ahead of us! We have had our "good ole days". Even now, we can look back and see our "good ole days". Time was when:

1. A person didn't have to have a pink slip to stick their head out of the door.
2. A person was able to throw their candy wrappers on the floor and cause a little excitement.
3. Wayne Meachem wasn't going steady.
4. Every year we had some cheer leaders left over.
5. Everyone got to eat lunch together.
6. We had more assemblies than classes.
7. It wasn't a major crime to walk your girl to her class and spend a few friendly moments together.
8. A person could wear a fashionable blouse without silly comments.
9. Some of the teachers had new jokes.
10. "Smith" and "Rosy" didn't know everything about everybody.
11. Diwight and Suzanne didn't occupy the stairs.
12. Gene didn't have the taffy!!
13. A reason wasn't necessary for everything.
14. Lowell didn't pester Miss Liltepage.
15. Dean Lilley didn't have a fast car.

FOR GIRLS ONLY!!!

Girls, if you want some hints on getting along with the boys you should read this article. No, it isn't some advertisement for "overnight beauty" or "make-up" which gives you a movie star complexion. It's just some things you can apply to yourself.

Here are a few little reminders of what a boy looks for in a girl. 1. Be neat and well groomed. You don't have to be a "raving beauty" to do this and neatness is always an outstanding trait to acquire.

2. Lead a clean Christian life and be sincere in what you say. Don't say one thing and do another.

3. Boys do not like to go with a little "chatter box" or girls which try to stay up with or spread all the local gossip.

4. Try to always show the best side of your personality and try to be an interesting date. No boy likes to date a girl who makes him feel ill at ease, so do your part to "Break the ice".

5. Be polite! Remember boys are trying to be nice by opening doors, carrying books and other things, and you should at least thank him. After a date be sure to show your appreciation for the nice time he has showed you.

6. When a fellow calls for a date don't give him the "stall", but tell him whether or not you can go. If not, just say so and don't try to feed him some long line, because the truth always manages to come out in the end.

7. Most boys go for girls who show good school spirit and take an active interest in the activities of the school.

8. Boys like girls who are easy to get along with and won't "fly off the handle" at the drop of a pin.

9. Be friendly and try to get along with others. No boy wants to date a "sour grape". So every morning before you do anything, don't forget to put on a genuine friendly smile.

10. And don't forget to "BE YOURSELF". I hope these are helpful hints and happy "BOY HUNTING", Girls.

Limelight Lad--

WANTED DEAD OR ALIVE FOR LIMELIGHT LAD

This hombra was born on November 6, 1943 in Dimmitt, Texas. He might be found in your local picture show if "Come September" is showing. John Wayne and Elizabeth Taylor are his favorite movie stars. Bonneville is the car he's most likely to put his brand on. He likes to spend his time riding his horse, playing his guitar, and if he sings a song or two, it's sure to be one of Johnny Cash's. The reason he's taken to the range is to get away from dumb sophomore girls. You can be sure that before he left, he took along several of Wayne's Specials in his saddlebags.

Oh! If you haven't figured out who this cowpoke is, well I'll tell you. Larry Burks is this week's Limelight Lad. Thanks Larry for being our Limelight Lad and stay away from those Sophomore girls.

CAMPUS CHAT--

I am a red robin; my hobby is snooping around on people. This week I really have not felt very well, so I didn't do as much snooping as I would have liked to.

Friday I woke up and ran around on the ground trying to find a worm for breakfast. I was so interested in this that I didn't see Kathy Gollehon's big black cat. All of a sudden, something made a grab for me; it was that cat. I was flying around looking for a place to hide when I spotted Kathy's car and I hopped in. I stayed in that car all day. That evening I crawled out the window. It was just getting dark and I noticed that people were starting to gather at the auditorium. I saw Jimmy K. and Linda Mc., Michael C. and Pegene C. Later along came Larry Burks with Kay Bradley, Johnny S. and Janet H., Carl B. with Garaldine, and of course Kent G. and Mary G.

After the play I again hopped into Kathy's car as it started for home. When we got there I hopped up on Kathy's shoulder and rode into the house. In a few minutes the kids started arriving. There was Steve and Arlene, Deborah and Dean Kaye and Chuck, Later Kitty and Aaron came followed by Donna and Wayne, George Wall, Jerry Morris, and Mike Patterson were there also.

Saturday around Dimmitt was quiet because all the kids just happened to be in Lubbock. But Saturday night things were almost back to normal. I hopped to the window at the show and was promptly kicked out into the street. So I flew up and went in through a small hole in the wall.

As soon as I could see the people, I saw Steve and Arlene, and all the other kids who had crawled back to Dimmitt.

By the way you might ask Arlene Reid when the girls started wearing aprons? Is this some kind of new fad?

Sunday came and so did the dirt. The sand was so thick on my feathers that I couldn't even walk, much less fly. But I did see Jerry Morris and two girls from Fort Worth riding around. There was also Suzie D. and Gerald S., Mike G. and Sheri, W., and Jim R. and Gayle E., Sue C. and Roy B., and Janiece' C. and Kelton C.

I think that I will take a vacation up California way. I hear that the wind doesn't blow up there. Well, I guess I had better make tracks.

Senior Girl of the Week

Our Senior girl this week is brown-eyed, brown-haired Zandra Singer. Zandra, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Singer, was born on June 4, 1944, in Hereford Texas.

Zandra has been active in high school. Some of her activities include F.H.A. for four years, band, Lyre Club, candidate for Miss Grain Sorghum, Annual Staff, and the Bobcat Tales staff.

Zandra's favorite in colors is blue. She likes the Thunderbird more than any other car, and her favorite movie is "Gone With the Wind." Warren Beatty and Elizabeth Taylor are tops on her list of movie personalities. Zandra's hobbies include listening to the radio and playing records. As pastimes, she enjoys swimming, reading, and riding horses. She especially enjoys reading Rebecca or Shepherd of the Hills. While Johnny Mathis is her favorite singer, the song Zandra enjoys most is "I can't Help Falling in Love with You." Mexican foods rank first on the list of foods Zandra enjoys most. When asked her pet peeve, Zandra answered, "Snotty people." This 5' 2" Senior's ambition is to go to college, and we wish her success.

Show Bizz

"Cheaper by the Dozen", sponsored by Tessian Troop 1821 played before a capacity crowd both Thursday and Friday nights. Even with such incidents as Jacky Great Dane knocking Mike Patterson down the stairs, and Robert McLean falling down on opening night while answering assembly call, the play has been branded a big success.

But like any other production, it could not have been a success without help. Special thanks go to the following for helping make the play a success: Mrs. W. E. Beecher Mrs. Hugh Evan Mrs. Pat Patterson Mrs. Eual Robinson Mrs. Bob McLean Mrs. Howard Scoggin Mrs. H. T. Bartlett Mrs. Elmo Bell Mrs. Roy Meacham Mrs. T. Buckmaster

Senior Boy of the Week

We now present popular Aaron Hutto. Aaron blessed his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Hutto with his presence on January 10, 1944, at Amarillo, Texas.

This 6' 1" Senior prefers the colors blue and white to all others. The Pontiac ranks high for Aaron in cars, and you can be sure that he especially enjoyed the movie "Breakfast at Tiffany's." John Wayne and Sandra Dee are his favorite song, or running around. Brenda Lee earns honors as his favorite singer. Cimmarron is the book that Aaron particularly enjoys.

Brown-eyed, brown haired Aaron's activities include football and F.F.A.

Aaron's ambition is to study law and agriculture at Texas Tech and the University of Texas.

Best wishes in the future, Aaron.

Thought for the Week--

"Your strength is seen in what you stand for, your weakness in what you fall for."

This quotation, though short, is very terse. A strong person can always be detected by what he stands for. He will stand for what he knows to be good and right no matter how his friends behave. A weak person can easily be detected, for although he knows right from wrong, he will inevitably go along with the crowd.

In this modern world, there are temptations all around us. This is especially true in regard to teenagers. We, as teenagers, are in the most important part of our lives, because what we are and what we stand for now will have great bearing on our whole future. Each decision we make, no matter how large or how small, can affect our future life and happiness.

It is for us to ask for wisdom that we might know right from wrong, and for strength to do the right and avoid the wrong.

--SPORTS--

The Bobcats journeyed to Lubbock Saturday to play in the Regional Tournament. There they played the Perryton Rangers Saturday morning at eleven o'clock. The Bobcats were defeated 47-52. Michael Calvert led the Bobcats in scoring for the first half lead by scoring 16 points. He made seven more points in the second half. Perryton jumped into a quick 5-1 lead in the game after three minutes. But the Bobcats came back to lead 13-9 at the end of the quarter. At the half, the Bobcats were still ahead 27-22. After the half, Perryton came back on the court a changed team. When the end of the third quarter rolled around, the score had been set at 40-36 in favor of the Rangers. The Bobcats never were able to catch up. Although the Bobcats didn't win, we congratulate them on a nice try.

Word of the Week--

What would you do if someone gave you a leek? Mikey Waggoner - I would fill it up.

Clay Gabel - I would put it in my locker and leave it there. Donald Smithson - I would exchange it for a different color.

John Nino - I would give it to Bertha. Mr. Dowty - Examine it for holes. Susan Youts - I would use it. Chuck Youts - I would mess it up. Wanda Hrabal - It depends on who gave it to me. Steve Wesson - Would put it in the bucket.

George Wall - would carry it around in my pocket. A leek is an onion like plant and it has the same taste as an onion.

meeting with the birthday accent. Mrs. Othel Fry, wife of the 1962 Chairman of the Board, prepared a program of interest to those attending. This occasion is but the prelude of the Dedication services being planned now to take place on Sunday afternoon of March 11. Next weeks issue of the Castro County News will convey the details of the dedication and revival which will begin that day and continue on through March 18. Attendance in the Bible School during the past two Sundays were the two highest in 1962, and the average for this year is above that of last year. Efforts are being made to set some new high figures for the Church and Bible School on Dedication Sunday. Bible School meets at 9:45 a.m.

tation of some high points in I Corinthians as he continues his sermons from the books of Paul. At the 10:50 a.m. service he will speak on the theme of "A Church Behind in No Gift". At the 6:00 p.m. service he will speak on "The Gospel Paul Preached".
