Census Reveals That Bronte Has 1,069 Persons City Limits

This interesting information was given The Enterprise Wednesday night by I. C. Oden, after a census had been taken to determine how many Salk vaccine shots have been given to people of this area.

The 1,069 persons here are divided into age groups as follows: 349 under 20 years of age, 361 are from 20 to 45 years, and 360 are over 45.

The census, which was taken

AD-LIB-BEN

We must have been mistaken last week when we wrote in this column that quite a few people were interested in investigating a sewer system for the town. We must have mistaken conversation-making for interest. At least, we have heard very few comments about the paragraphs we wrote about the matter. Perhaps there will be some interest later on. We hate to see such an important matter die from the inertia of those who would like to see it studied. What about it? Don't you think it is sufficient importance to look into it?

Your help is needed in the annual campaign to raise funds for the American Red Cross. Your assistance in soliciting funds or just your contribution will be appreciated, according to Claude Word, fund drive chairman. If you would like to give to this worthy organization or will help in soliciting funds, see Mr. Word and let him know about it.

Some very interesting figures are contained in a story in this week's paper. They were provided by I. C. Oden after a census was completed by the Coke County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. Not only is the story interesting in revealing the information sought on the number who have had Salk vaccine shots, but it reveals the number of residents in the town and the rural community. All of us are indebted to those who worked on the project for their extra work in determining this additional information, which was above and beyond what they were called upon to do.

over commissioner precincts 2 and 4, counted the rural people in the area, also. A total of 295 persons live outside the city limits in the two precincts.

The survey showed that approximately two-thirds of the people under 20 have had at least one polio shot, while only a very few over 20 had received even one shot. It was broken down like this:

In town, over 20—5 have had 3 shots, 26 had 2 shots, 3 had 1 shot.

In town, under 20—116 had 3 shots, 115 had 2 shots, and 9 had 1 shot.

Rural, over 20—2 had 3 shots, 7 had 2 shots and 0 had 1 shot.

Rural, under 20—67 had 3 shots, 39 had 2 shots and 3 had 1 shot.

Marvin Corley and Mrs. J. P. Arrott took the census in Precinct 4, while Mrs. I. C. Oden and members of the Junior Study Club did the counting in precinct two.

SCHOOL HOLIDAY TODAY

Bronte Schools are dismissed today, Friday, in order that teachers may attend the district meeting of the Texas State Teachers Association at Brownwood. Almost all Bronte teachers are expected to attend.

Bill Maxwell, a sophomore student at Texas Tech in Lubbock, was a weekend visitor in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. (Bud) Maxwell.

Testimony Begins Thursday At Angelo In Murder Trial

The state was presenting its case against Vernon Glenn, 33, who is being tried for murder, Thursday afternoon at press time for The Enterprise. The testimony got underway Thursday morning at 9 o'clock. The first three days of this week were used in selecting a jury to try the case, which was moved to San Angelo on a change of venue from Coke County.

Glenn is charged with first degree murder in the death of Hollis Stevens, 31. Stevens was shot last July 25 in an alley behind the Bronte post office. He died some 10 hours later from a bullet wound about an inch over the left eye. He died in a San Angelo hospital, after having been transferred from the Bronte Hospital.

First item on the agenda when District Judge Joe L. Mays convened the 51st District Court Thursday morning was to call and swear in the witnesses which had been subpoenaed. After witnesses were sworn and had left the courtroom, the indictment was read to the jury and the defendant pleaded not guilty.

First witness to testify for the state was Dr. John R. Harris of Bronte. He described events of how he was called to the scene of the shooting on the morning of July 25 and described the nature of injuries to the deceased. He was questioned by District Attorney Justin Keever. Earl W. Smith, defense attorney, cross examined the doctor.

Next witness was Neland Carter, Midland, who was employed by Bronte Motor Co. when the shooting occurred. Carter told of how he heard an explosion and ran across the street to help the injured man.

The next witness called by the state was Deputy Sheriff Frank Keezee, who was in the car with Glenn and Stevens before the shooting. He was a few feet away from the automobile when the shooting occurred. Keezee was shot through the finger by a second bullet when retrieving the gun. He was still on the witness stand when court recessed at noon Thursday.

A total of 92 talesmen were questioned by attorneys before the jury was selected. Ten men and two women were accepted, the last one being chosen about 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

They are Horace Heath, J. P. Willows, Bryan Williams, Peter R. Sikes, Mrs. Jack Landers, A. A. Roden, W. H. McMullen, Tom A. Caskey, Harold D. Buckner, Mrs. Kent Elliott, M. H. Dixon and J. H. Finchard. In selecting the jury, the state used 13 of its 15 challenges, while the defense used 11.

Attorneys for the defense are Carl Runge, Sr. and Earl W. Smith. Representing the state is District Attorney Keever and special prosecutors O'Neal Dendy and B. W. Smith.

Bronte Parent-Teachers Association Completing Successful Year of Service

With the largest membership in recent history, over 130, Bronte Parent-Teachers Association is rounding out a very successful year.

Officers who have served this year include Mrs. Ralph Richards, president; Mrs. R. W. Rees, 1st vice president; Mrs. D. K. Glenn, 2nd vice president; Mrs. Garland Black, 3rd vice president; Mrs. J. B. Morrow, 4th vice president; Mrs. J. M. Rippetoe, secretary; Mrs. E. F. Glenn, treasurer; Mrs. A. S. Whatley, publications representative; and Mrs. R. C. Lasswell, parliamentarian.

Sponsoring the annual Halloween Carnival which grossed $993.00 and cleared almost $900.00, proved to be the biggest revenue producer of the year. Receipts from the carnival and memberships enabled the group to carry on several worthwhile projects.

Projects carried out by the local unit this year included, first, the pre-school round-up last summer in which all children scheduled to start to school in the first grade were taken to the John Harris Clinic for free physical examinations and needed vaccinations.

This was followed by the appointing and functioning of a safety committee, to study traffic safety near the local school.

Bronte Parent-Teachers purchased an eye examination machine for use by the school nurse, contributed $200 for purchase of books and equipment for the school library and furnished $200 to provide draperies for a dark room where movies can be shown. They sponsored and awarded prizes to students for the best fire

what's what by whatley

When we say that we had a perfect weekend, that means exactly that and that we spent it in Bronte. We did so enjoy our visit with all our friends but the only bad thing about coming down there is that every one feeds us too much and then for several days we have to watch our calories. Anyway it was so good while we were eating it all. People were not very nice anyway telling me that I looked as if I had put on a few pounds and that is exactly right but I hate to admit it.

When we arrived there last Sat. they were fixing to have a drawing and never did I see that large of a crowd the whole time we lived there. Evidently they shook the bushes because there could not have been a single person that was not on the scene. But with the large crowd, it gave us a better opportunity to see folks. What thrilled us so much was to see the green grass and fields everywhere.

This has certainly been a paint slinging week with me. I don't mean the artist type of paint. I have not been putting it on very artistic like but anyway the wood work is looking very much improved in the house that we bought several weeks ago. If anyone happens around and would like a job of paint slinging for "free" then we would be glad to have you.

For the recipe this week I am giving you a very good congealed salad for this time of the year, since strawberries are coming in now.

Cheese Mold With Fruit

Soften 1 envelope unflavored gelatin in 1/2 cup cold water. Dissolve over hot water. Cream together with a little milk to soften 2 pkgs. white cream cheese, 1/2 teasp. salt, 1/4 teasp. paprika.

Add the gelatin. Fold in 1 cup cream, whipped. (Canned milk may be used.)

Pour into oiled salad ring mold. Chill until set. Unmold and fill the center with fruits. Strawberries are very good with this and make a very attractive and colorful dish.

Attending from here were Gwen Kirkland, Yvonne McCutchen, Jerry McCutchen, Kenneth McCutchen, Alonzo Robbins, Phoebe Casey, Jackie Grace, Ronnie Robbins, Eddie Glenn, Linda Henry, Mrs. H. M. Kirkland, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Henry and Rev. and Mrs. Lin Loeffler.

Twenty-four persons were present. It was announced that the PTA group of the Bronte school will be invited to join the Nolan Council.

Bronte PTA Elects 1957-58 Officers

New officers were elected at the Tuesday night meeting of Bronte Parent Teachers. However the post of President and Publications representative were not acted upon and will take place at a later meeting.

Other officers include Mrs. Ben Oglesby, first vice-president; Mrs. Royce Lee, 2nd vice president; Mrs. Garland Black, 3rd vice president; Mrs. E. F. Glenn, 4th vice president; Mrs. R. W. Rees, secretary; Mrs. Hurlen Lee, treasurer and Mrs. Willie Mae Glenn, parliamentarian.

The meeting, in the auditorium, opened with special numbers by the band, under direction of Jim Verner. Linda Smith gave the devotional.

The revised by-laws were read and adopted. Mrs. J. B. Morrow was elected delegate to accompany Mrs. Ralph Richards, president, to the Spring Conference in Big Spring March 28-29.

The group voted to have the president write legislators on behalf of the PTA urging support of the teacher salary raise bills. The local unit also went on record as backing these bills, Senate Bill 80 and House Bill 8.

It was announced that the annual summer round up, sponsored by the PTA for pre-school youngsters, will be held May 7 from 2 until 4 o'clock at the Harris Clinic. All children present will receive free checkups and necessary vaccinations.

Mrs. Fay C. Roe, home demonstration agent, was speaker for the evening on "Vocational Opportunities." She brought out many vocations that youth today may choose from and stated that it is never too early in a child's life to give thought to ways and means of providing his or her college education and to what vocation they will be best suited.

Next regular meeting of the PTA will be April 9 at 3:40 p.m.

H. A. Springer's Daughter Writes Of Vacationing in Bavarian Alps Area

(Editor's Note: The following letter was received recently by H. A. Springer. It is from his daughter, Mrs. W. A. DeRiemer, who is in Germany with her husband, Captain DeRiemer. The captain is serving there with the U. S. Air Force. We thought it an extremely interesting letter and believe our readers will, too.)

March 4, 1957

Greetings All,

We have just about recuperated from our wonderful vacation in the Bavarian Alps. True is the remark, "No one needs a vacation like the person who has just had one."

Bill, Beth and I left here the 19th of Feb. and drove to Berchtesgaden about 350 miles from here. Munich is the only town we went through, as the autobahn by-passes all other villages and small towns. We arrived in Berchtesgaden at 6 p.m., and before I go any further, we are all agreed, it is one of the most beautiful and unique places we have ever seen! Bill's Commanding Officer, Major Farr and family, and two other couples in the Flight had gone down on Sunday and greeted us when we arrived at our hotel, the Gen. Walker.

The Gen. Walker is one of the many requisitioned hotels in the Alps for American troops and their dependents. It is a fabulous place with all the facilities of any large hotel in the States—but FAR cheaper rates—1.50 per night per person. The Farris had taken their three oldest children and their girl, Teresa, Beth's age, and Beth shared a room just two doors from our room.

Tuesday night we all had dinner in a delightful German restaurant in town with a wonderful atmosphere and delicious German food.

Wednesday, we had breakfast at the hotel and went to Hinterbrand lodge for a skiing session. All ski equipment from skis to mits and caps can be rented for $1.00 a day. Beth, without instruction, managed to stay upright on her skis for the most part. Bill and I took a lesson but did most of our skiing the first day on our "back" sides! It is great sport, however, and since Beth seemed so delighted with it, we bought her ski pants, jacket, sox and mits, which she wore continuously until we came home Sunday night. Wednesday night, the kids had dinner and saw a movie at the hotel, while we adults went to the German place again.

Even though it was the same restaurant we enjoyed a different dining room and the food was even more delicious than the night before. Perhaps the fresh air and extra energy we used on "the slopes" had a bit to do with stimulating our appetites. It snowed all night Wednesday night.

Thursday a.m. it was still snowing, so an ideal day for a tour through the Salt Mines. For this tour we were provided with special clothing, much to Beth's disgust. I'm enclosing pictures to the home office and hope they will forward them to you. You can get an idea of what our attire consisted of from the picture, so I'll not go into detail about the latest fashions for salt mine tours. The reason for the special clothing becomes obvious at the beginning of the tour. We entered the mines (still in operation) on a small train that works its way through damp, narrow tunnels to a long STEEP slide which looked so steep to Beth and me that we decided to descend on steps nearby (for the sissies). We later regretted this as there were two more like slides that we went down and enjoyed ever so much. There is a lake inside the mine which is usually crossed by boat, but it was out of commission when we were there, so we walked around the lake. It is said to contain so much salt that one would float and never sink if he fell in—we took the guide's word for this fact. There are many grottoes and shrines in the mines carved from salt and it proved a most interesting tour for all three of us.

Friday was a beautiful day with the sun sparkling on the snow and perfect for skiing at Skytop Lodge located just 1/4 mile below where we were staying. This is a much better place for beginners as it has two ski tows and eliminates walking back up the hill after the fun of skiing down. Beth spent this day with the rest of the gang skiing, while Bill and I took a tour to Salzburg, Austria. We both received our first stamp on our passports when we crossed the German-Austrian border. Austria is now an independent Republic and civilian clothing must be worn by military personnel visiting Austria. Salzburg is a very ancient city, founded 400 B. C. We visited several churches extremely ornate in decor and constantly in a state of repair, in one part or the other. There is a tremendous castle overlooking the city with a railway leading up to it. It was not operating the day we were there, so rather than walk up the 1,000 steps we enjoyed a view of the exterior from below. A river divides the city in half—the old side and the new (also old, they say). We visited the birthplace of Mozart and saw the first instruments he played along with paintings of him and his family—most interesting. There are 37 churches in the city. Thirty six are Catholic and located on the old side and the one Protestant church is on the new side—perhaps that is the reason it is referred to as being new. After the tour we stopped in at a souvenir shop, but found it had been popular with Americans in the past. We refused to accommodate the owner by being the typical "sucker" for her line of chatter and HIGH prices. We returned to Berchtesgaden about 1 p.m. and decided it was a beautiful afternoon for a ride on the Jennerbahn. It is a ski lift and you can ride in a "bubble" or open car for two. We chose the bubble. It goes up to one of the highest mountains in Bavaria and you can watch the professional skiers gliding down the mountain beneath the lift. When we reached the top people were sitting in deck chairs in 3 or 4 feet of snow getting sun tans. We had a delicious German lunch and watched the skiers from the departing point just in back of the restaurant. We found that Beth had become next to professional on the skis when we returned to the hotel and could hardly wait to go again the next day. We all decided to go back to Salzburg Friday night for dinner. We had a nice meal with lots of atmosphere, up four flights of steps and in a semi-private dining room. It was the end of another perfect day.

Saturday Beth and I both skied and even though Beth could cut capers I would never consider, I managed to stay on my feet enough to know that I could really enjoy the sport, given enough time. Bill was busy shooting pictures and when they are processed we will forward them.

Sunday we left for home with many happy memories and feeling like new people, but most anxious to see Pat.

Bill had a gray flannel suit tailored in Frankfurt. He picked it up Saturday and it is beautiful. Cost of material and tailoring—about $65. I hate to think of the price of the same in the States.

Love,
Beth, Dot, Bill, Pat

Appreciation Day Draws Big Crowd

The first Appreciation Day drawing, which was held at 3:30 last Saturday, drew a large crowd into Bronte. Sid Evans' name was called to receive the first award, but he was not present.

The Appreciation Day drawing will be held each Saturday. Sponsors of the weekly event are Cumble & Mackey, Bronte Ice Co., Estelle's Flowers & Gifts, Central Drug, Pruitt's Store, C. R. Smith & Co., Red Chain Feed Store, Cumble Food Store, Bronte Pharmacy and Sims Food Store.

It has been carefully figured — a gift of $5 to the American Red Cross will provide travel expenses for approximately 280 of the long miles of a trip home by a serviceman called from duty because of a family emergency.
