Downing Stirrs PTA to Action; Mrs. Richards New President

Delbert Downing, manager of the Midland Chamber of Commerce, told Bronte PTA members Tuesday night that they have a big responsibility in assisting school teachers to give their children the best education possible. Downing was guest speaker at the meeting which was planned to revive the local PTA, after it had had some difficulty in functioning this year.

At a business session following Downing's talk, Mrs. Conda Richards was unanimously elected president of the organization. Her election rounds out the roster of officers for the PTA. Other officers are Mrs. Ben Oglesby, first vice president; Mrs. Royce Lee,

AD-LIB-BEN

There's not much to write about this week. Still haven't heard anything definite about the sewer situation—that is, about the cost of it. Until we get that information, we don't have much to report to you. This certainly doesn't mean that we've lost interest in it, and we sincerely hope, for the good of the town as a whole, that you haven't either.

We hear that our neighbors and friends up at Blackwell are having some difficulty in getting together on how they want the highway routed through town. Seems some of 'em want it to be left where it is, and some more of 'em want to change the route through town. We have it from a reliable source that there is not going to be any new road through the town until they get together and reach an agreement. Then they have to furnish half the money for the right-of-way. A bill passed by the Texas legislature last year provides that the state will buy half the right-of-way. However, as we understand it, the state plans to do nothing about rebuilding this portion of Highway 70 until the residents of Blackwell settle their differences and decide where they want the road to go.

It's most encouraging to see the progress which is being made on new construction here in Bronte. The John Harris Clinic doesn't look like the same place any more. In fact, it's already beginning to look like the architect's drawing of the finished product.

We have noticed several residences in town receiving a face lifting too.

second vice president; Mrs. Garland Black, third vice president; Mrs. E. F. Glenn, fourth vice president; Mrs. J. T. Henry, secretary; Vetal Flores, treasurer; Mrs. C. C. Glenn, parliamentarian; Mrs. T. F. Sims, Jr., publications chairman. Rev. Lin Loeffler presided at the meeting.

Mrs. George Thomas' second grade pupils presented a "Mother Goose Play," before Downing's speech.

Downing, with down to earth illustrations, showed the audience the importance of parents' job in group such as the PTA. He pointed out some of the many projects which the organization can foster, and emphasized that the teachers in a school system are the most important part. "Anything you can do to make their job easier or to help them teach your child more is what you should do," he said. His advice was, "Don't expect someone else to do

Methodist Revival Meeting to Start Monday Night

A week long fall revival meeting and preaching mission will begin Monday evening at the First Methodist Church in Bronte. Rev. Paul Terry of Edcouch will do the preaching. The special services will be concluded Sunday night, Oct. 20.

The pastor, Rev. Lin Loeffler, will lead the singing during the meeting.

Morning services will be at 7 o'clock each day while evening services will begin at 7:30 o'clock. There will be no services Monday morning.

Rev. Terry is a native of Midland and is a graduate of Trinity University and Perkins School of Theology at Southern Methodist University. He has been pastor at Edcouch since 1953.

James Thompson, choir director of the First Methodist Church in San Angelo and high school choral director there, will bring his choir to Bronte Thursday night for the services. Other special music is planned for each of the evening services.

Rev. Loeffler issued an invitation to everyone in the area to attend the meetings. He said, "Rev. Terry is one of the best preachers I know, and I feel everyone who hears him will be greatly benefited."

Bronte, Hermleigh to Tangle

By BILL ALEXANDER

The Bronte Longhorns will find pickings just a shade rough tonight as the Hermleigh Cardinals roll into town to do battle with the locals at the local gridiron. A new time has been set for kickoff, and the contest will get underway at 7:30. This will be the first conference tilt for both clubs.

Hermleigh will bring with them one of the largest class B teams in Texas schoolboy football. The Cardinals have thus far won two games and lost two having won from Knox City and Roby while their defeats came at the hands of Coahoma and Rochester. Hermleigh returns only three starters from last year's team, but they are big and have a considerable amount of speed. Also, the Cardinals are operating under a new field mentor. They got off to a slow start this season due to the changes made by the new coach, but since then they have come on strong as they defeated a good Class A squad from Roby last week 20-7.

The Longhorns will go into the contest as a slight underdog. The local lads have been working hard the past two weeks in preparation for one of the roughest games on tab and they should be in top shape for the Cardinals. Through workouts Wednesday, there had been no injuries reported and the entire squad will be ready if needed.

Starting line-up for the Longhorns was undecided Wednesday, but coach Oscar Dorsey will probably be running the same offensive and defensive units used against the Stamford B team.

Competition between these two teams dates back some six or eight years and the competitive spirit is high on both teams. The Cardinals hold a large margin over the Longhorns as Bronte has managed only one win from the Cardinals since they have been playing each other. That win came in 1954 at the Hermleigh Homecoming game. Since then, the contests between the two clubs have been separated by six points or less. In last year's duel, the Cardinals slipped by the Longhorns 27-21. The Longhorns will be seeking revenge, and the fans are promised a night filled with thrills and spills.

More Fall Rains Drench This Area

More fall rains drenched the Bronte area Tuesday afternoon and night, when nearly four inches of moisture fell south of here in the Tennyson community. From one inch down to .2 inch was reported in Bronte.

Heaviest downpour was reported by Jack Corley, who lives west of Tennyson. He had 3.8 inches. C. E. Arrott, who ranches southwest of town, reported 2.3 inches.

J. I. Murtishaw, who lives on the west edge of town, said he had one inch. Clifford Clarks, who lives east of town, received .2 of an inch, while Jim Mackey, who farms northeast of Bronte, reported a shower.

The fall rains are proving a great help to pastures and small grains, and only minor damage has been reported to cotton which is being harvested.

A full day of activities is planned for Sunday by members of the First Methodist Church in Bronte. Formal dedication of the present building will highlight the morning service, followed by a covered dish luncheon at noon. In the afternoon, special ground breaking ceremonies will kickoff the building program which will start immediately.

District Superintendent Dr. L. Eugene Harris of San Angelo will be on hand for the Sunday program. He will preach at 11 o'clock and will be in charge of the dedication service.

Rev. Lin Loeffler, pastor of the church, said that officials of the church are extremely happy to have the dedication of the church at this time, since, traditionally, Methodist churches are not dedicated until they are paid for. Final notes on the present church building were paid off last month, some four years before they were due.

All ladies of the church are requested to bring two covered dishes of food for the noon meal.

After lunch, at 2 p.m., Dr. Harris will turn the first shovel of dirt at the ground breaking ceremonies. The local pastor, Rev. Loeffler, will turn the second, and then, members of the building committee will take a turn with the shovel. Following them, all members and friends of the church who are present will be asked to participate in the ground breaking.

A contract for the new part and remodeling of the present structure was let last week. James Neson of San Angelo was the successful bidder and plans to start

Funeral Held Here For Charlie Rogers

Funeral services for Charlie B. Rogers, Sr., 73, of Killeen were held at 3:30 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 10, from First Baptist Church in Bronte. Rev. Douglas Brown, pastor of the church, officiated. Burial was in Fairview cemetery here under direction of Clift Funeral home.

Rogers, who had been a resident of Bronte most of his life, died suddenly of a heart attack on Wednesday, Oct. 9, at the home of his son in Killeen. He was making his home there.

He was born March 25, 1884 in Erath County, the son of Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Rogers.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Ammy Fletcher of Fort Worth; three sons, C. B. Rogers, Jr., Waco, Paul Lee Rogers, Belton, and James Rogers, Fort Worth; six grandchildren; four brothers, Verge and Larkin Rogers, Bronte; Lee Rogers, Klye Rogers of San Angelo and one sister, Mrs. Willis Sweeney of San Angelo.

102 Bales of Cotton

One hundred and two bales of cotton had been processed at the Bronte gin by Wednesday of this week. J. D. Luttrell, Jr., manager of the gin, said the rain received this week apparently did little or no damage to cotton in this vicinity. However, he said some damage may result if continued rains fall in the area.

Mrs. DeRiemer Continues Story Of Her Recent Tour of Europe

On the 3rd we arrived in Venice, Italy, which was our next stop of interest. Enroute we stayed at Tinto the night of the 2nd. We had lovely hotel accommodations about 15 miles from Venice right on the beach of the Adriatic Sea.

Sunday we took a ferry to Venice and spent the day seeing the city, with streets of water, along with thousands of other tourists. We visited St. Mark's Square and had lunch at a delightful sidewalk cafe. After lunch we took a Gondola ride through the streets of Venice, seeing many, many historical places, among them being the "Bridge of Sighs." Venice is famous for beautiful glass and crystal and we were fortunate to see a glass blower at work. This is one of the most fascinating things any of us had ever seen. The glass-blower uses a long tube, heating or melting glass, on one end of the tube in an extremely hot, semi-open furnace. The other end is used to blow through, making the glass into the desired shape. While we were there he made a very pretty little flower vase and small glass dog. The shop in front of where the man was demonstrating his trade, had many rooms with tables and shelves holding everything and anything you can imagine in the way of glass and crystal products. The glass-blower works simply for the benefit of the tourist and we were sure there would be a small fee. Surprisingly enough we were not asked for one lira. The rate is 600 to $1.00.

On Monday we gave our feet a rest and enjoyed relaxing on the Beach which was lovely. Tuesday found us in Florence and we took a tour on Wed. A. M. which was almost a waste of time. The tour consisted of a visit to two large cathedrals and the palace of the Royal family, in earlier years. It is now a museum and art gallery with many paintings by Michael Angelo and other famous artists too numerous to mention. We saw more Americans in Florence and I think three-fourths of them were guests in the same hotel we were. Florence is noted for fine leather work and marble, but we only window-shopped as prices are unreasonable.

Our next destination of importance was Lugano, Switzerland. On the way we spent the night and one morning in Milano. It is a very large city, but we did not take any more tours. We passed thru Genoa and stopped long enough for the men to change seats. Both took turns at driving and navigating.

I forgot to tell you that we saw the leaning tower of Pisa on Wed. afternoon, and more churches. There must be thousands of Catholic churches in Italy.

We arrived at the Ranger Camp about 5 p. m. and I spotted Beth the minute we drove in. When she saw the car her emotions of happiness overflowed (so did mine) and after a few tears she assured us she had had a grand time. She proved it by insisting on spending the last night at camp rather than going into Lugano with us. Lugano had many lovely hotels but we found a motel which is a rare sight in Europe. We liked it so well that we stayed an extra night. We left Lugano early Sunday A. M. and drove through the Swiss Alps on our way home. Mother Nature proved what a superior artist she is when she made Switzerland. I feel sure it is the most beautiful and scenic place I have ever seen in my life. Mountains, clear blue lakes, waterfalls, and every shade of green you can imagine in the valleys grace the Switzerland countryside, all crowned majestically by snow-caps. The entire country looks as though it is bathed every day and the homes and Swiss chalets have a charm all their own. All the little villages are clean and the people and even the animals are healthy and ambitious. Obviously Switzerland is a rich country which cannot be said of Italy.

We were amazed at some of the sights we saw, especially in Italy. Some of these personal observations are not mentioned in the guide books and some of them are almost unbelievable. We noticed women washing in public basins or on the banks of the rivers—no hot water, apparently, in the small villages. Many women carry large baskets of laundry, lumber, or fertilizer on their heads or backs. All women, regardless of age, work in the fields while the men sit back and drink wine. The afternoon siesta is almost a ritual and between 1 and 4 p. m. few people are seen in an upright position. All shops are closed while everyone takes a nap—of course in the larger cities the stores are open, but I'm sure employees work in hour shifts during the afternoon. Siesta time, we soon discovered, is the best time to drive in Italy because there are very few natives on the highways.

It is really surprising that there are any Italians left to enjoy the good roads as they drive with one hand on the horn and one foot on the accelerator. At times we wondered if their small cars were even equipped with brakes. The Fiat automobile is used more in Italy than any other car and there are millions of them plus Volkswagens, bicycles, motorcycles, motor scooters, and carts of every description. The carts are drawn by cows, donkeys, dogs, men, women, boys, and girls. The pedestrians walk all over the roads and have no fear at all of any moving vehicle. All Italian and German people prefer the middle of the highway and that's where they drive. Driving manners are non-existent and a two lane highway is never used as such—it's a three lane highway. There are no speed limits in Italy and few road signs. We saw some policemen in the larger cities but had reason to wonder what they were paid for. The amazing thing is that we didn't see one accident the entire trip and managed to get home without a scratch on our car which, let's face it, is far too big to drive in Italy in the first place. We were pushed off the road, honked at, yelled at (not kindly), until we were all in a state of tempers and frustration. The autobahns of Germany, on our return trip, looked wonderful to us, and we are all agreed on our next trip to Italy we'll try the train, or plane. Better still we'll just go to Holland instead!

Two American items are known all over the world—American music and Coca Cola. We were driving through a small Italian village and a fruit vender held up some grapes and called to us "Coca Cola." I'm sure it was the only American word he knew and that was the best way to get our attention. We did enjoy delicious fruit in Italy and all made pigs of ourselves. Fruit is served as a dessert and eaten with knives and forks. At several hotels the waiters would bring large baskets of the most beautiful peaches, pears, grapes, and plums we had seen in years.

The climate in Italy is very much like that of Southern California. Warm, sunny days and cool nights. It gets a bit hotter in some areas than in California, but we enjoyed it very much after a year in Germany where we are lucky to see the sun once a week.

We arrived home Monday, 12 August, to find Elsie and Pat healthy and happy. The house was neat and polished to a high shine. Elsie reported that Pat had been a very good girl and although she wasn't too interested in us to begin with, she finally gave us the official welcome with her Jr. Ipana smile.

Best wishes and Love to all,
Beth, Pat, Dot and Bill

By OFFSIDES ALEXANDER

What makes a winning football team or any other type of team whether it be football, baseball or basketball? After watching the Bronte team play some pretty bad football, many of the prominent backers of the Longhorns have asked me what was wrong with them. For the first time in many years, Bronte has come up with some of the best material to ever participate in the game of football at BHS, but why have they played the type of ball that they have been playing.

The Longhorns opened the season against Bangs and won by an overwhelming score of 41-6, but the following week, they were lucky to ever see the goal posts against Eden. Eden, a much smaller team than Bronte out hit, out charged and out played the Longhorns all over the field. Following Eden came Jim Ned, a team that averaged approximately 150 pounds to the man and a team that was lacking in experience. The results of that contest was the first defeat for the Longhorns. Two weeks ago, the Longhorns shaped up a little better against a fair ball club from Stamford. The Longhorns managed to take a 6-0 victory from the B teamers made up of sophomores.

To be a winning ball team, a club must possess many things. First of all, a team must have the material to build a firm foundation and then on this foundation, there are numerous other items that must be placed on top that produces a winning team. Attitude and the desire to win is placed above all other items. If a team possesses these two things, the rest will come naturally. Team play, hustle, sportsmanship and conditioning all will follow and they will always be on the mind of a player who wants to work hard to make a winning team. Along with these many things, a team must be well coached before they can become the type of team that will be doing their level best to win regardless of their opposition.

Field in Bad Shape

The turf on the local football field is in bad shape and it was brought to my attention by several people that some type of irrigation system is needed to water the grass. At the present time, only water sprinklers are being used and the water is not being distributed to give the field an even spread on the turf. Setting up a system similar to the one used at the local park would not be too expensive, but the water bill will run very high on the school. With a little help from the city, this problem could be reduced and done away with. Anyone care to lend a helping hand to the athletic department of Bronte High School?

District 6-B Statistics

All teams of this district will be in action tonight as the season draws toward the halfway mark. Hermleigh will be at Bronte in the only conference game on tab while Robert Lee takes on Menard at Robert Lee. Loraine goes against Stanton and Trent will battle Roscoe.

In games played last week, Trent jumped out front in District play by downing Loraine 21-13 in the lone conference game. Hermleigh defeated Roby 20-7 and Robert Lee romped past Eldorado 20-7.

ison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway system.

Judging to determine the winners was done first on a county basis; then the district, and finally the statewide. Final selection were made on the basis of the member's leadership and achievement in 4-H; length of membership; participation in community, county, district and state activities; production records, and the overall record submitted by the participant.

Miss Schooler has completed 10 years of 4-H club work; is a freshman student at Texas Tech; has been Gold Star winner; county dress revue Blue Award winner for eight years, district dress revue winner two years, State Fair Honor Award winner in 1956; achievement and foods award winner. She has won many other honors, including awards for her lamb projects. She has saved over $235.00 by making 50 garments and 30 articles of clothing.

Miss Schooler has held every office in her local club and is now chairman of the county 4-H council, was district camp chairman for 1957, and was a delegate to the state 4-H council workshop in Nacogdoches in August.

Miss Schooler has done outstanding work with the younger 4-H clubbers in Coke County as a junior leader in records and clothing. She cooks, cans, does crafts, leads recreation and takes part in community activities. Miss Schooler excels not only in 4-H club work but has an outstanding record in her school work. She proved this by being valedictorian of the 1957 graduation class. She was a member of the Robert Lee High School band and won many honors in this field. She lettered in basketball and was chosen "Miss Robert Lee" in the "Miss Spirit of Christmas" contest in 1956.

Mrs. Fay C. Roe, Coke County Home Demonstration Agent, and Mrs. Pat Rives, adult leader, have supervised Miss Schooler's demonstrations and activities during the past three years.

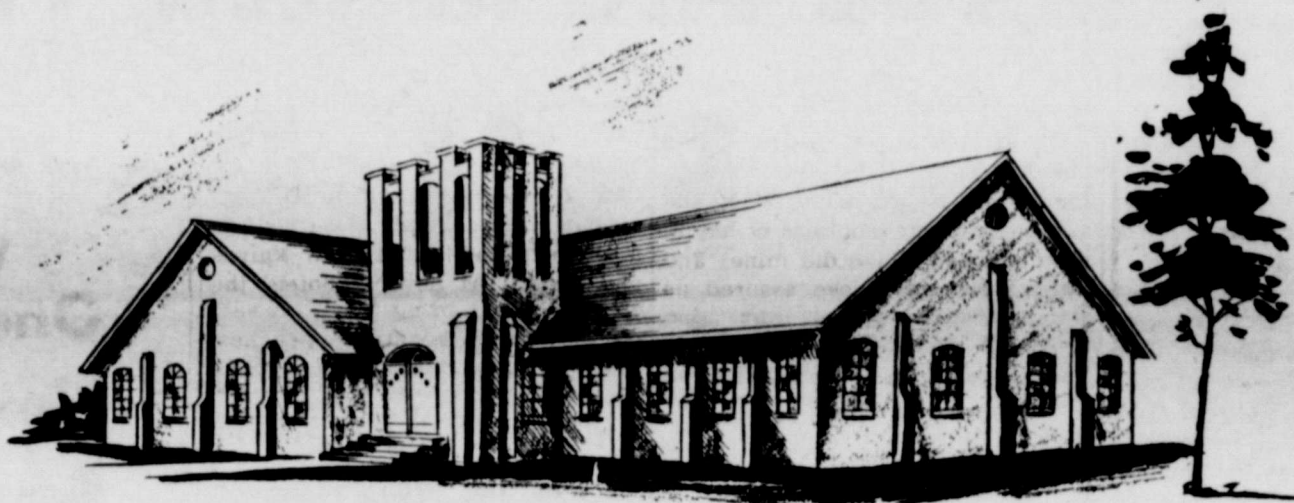

Mary Beth is the second 4-H club girl from Coke County to win the Santa Fe award. Nelda Ann Sheppard, now Mrs. Jack Brock of Shallowater, was a winner in 1947.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Keeney visited their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Irwin and family, in Lubbock, Texas. The Keeneys stayed over the weekend.

Re-Elect Webb SCS Zone No. 4

Tuesday, Oct. 1, was the date of the range tour and election of a supervisor to the board of supervisors for the Coke Soil Conservation District from zone 4, boundaries of which are the same as commissioners precinct 4. C. N. Webb was re-elected to the position.

The range tour was held on the ranch of C. N. Webb, Jr., west of Tennyson, with about 15 land owners attending. They saw a range in very good condition. The range made remarkable recovery after six years of drouth. During the '56 and '57 growing season, the range was deferred to allow the better grasses to make maximum benefits of rainfall received. The range has been stocked each year during the drouth. During the winter of '56 and '57, the 1½ section pasture grazed 56 calves without any supplemental feed. These calves made a good economic return, Webb pointed out.

In connection with the tour, a plant identification contest was held to let the land owners and operators see some very good grasses and try to name them. Top three winners were Wayne Arrott, Joe Rawlings and L. E. Smith. Each was awarded a prize.

scheduled for early next year if there are 8 or 10 persons willing to learn and to pass the information to friends and neighbors.

Mary Frances Wylie, Robert Lee 4-H Club girl returned Sunday from the State Dress Revue held at the State Fair Saturday. Miss Wylie was one of 49 girls to participate in the two showings of the Dress Revue in the Women's Building.

Frances was not an award winner, but she had a wonderful time and an experience worth lots to her. She was accompanied to Dallas by her mother, Mrs. T. M. Wylie, Jr. and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Craddock of Colorado City. First place winner in the Revue was Mary Ann Haisler from Denton County.

Flores Head of English Teachers

District XI English teachers elected Vetal Flores of Bronte as their chairman, selected San Angelo as the site for their 1958 meeting and approved a resolution to improve English teaching standards when they met at Brownwood Saturday.

Flores was present for the Oct. 4-5 meeting at Howard Payne College and presented "Planning and Organizing the Expository Paper."

Flores will also serve on the State Board of the organization. Function of this board is to plan and organize the teaching of English throughout the state.

Grand Jury Is Re-Called For Holdup Charge

Judge Joe L. Mays has called the 51st District Court Grand Jury to reconvene in Robert Lee at 9 a. m. Saturday to consider robbery by assault charges against James Horton, 23, of Sweetwater.

Horton, a Negro, is charged with robbing Turney Casey in the victim's home the night of Sept. 27. Casey and his wife had attended a football game and found the Negro in their home when they returned.

When threatened by the robber, Casey turned over $4.00 to him. The Negro was apprehended a few hours later on the highway north of Bronte and has since been in the county jail.

Former residents of Robert Lee, the Casey family now live at Bronte where Turney is employed as an auto mechanic. They reside in a new home a short distance north of Bronte.

MORE ROOM—Here is the architect's drawing of the addition to and remodeling of, the First Methodist Church in Bronte. Heavy black lines indicate new construction which will be begun immediately. Blank lines indicate existing walls which will remain as they are. Dotted lines show existing walls which will be removed. Present Sunday School rooms will be remodeled to enlarge the kitchen, and will include a pastor's study and church parlor, along with some smaller rooms. The new MYF room will be used as a Fellowship Hall until further expansion takes place. It will have modern-fold partitions so it can be divided into separate classrooms for intermediate and senior young people's classes. A picture window will be placed between the nursery and beginners Sunday school rooms so that the nursery can be supervised from the beginners room during church nursery session.

METHODISTS—

work immediately. Contract calls for construction of four new Sunday school classrooms, and an MYF room. Also included in the plans is a complete remodeling of the present Sunday School section and installation of central heating and refrigerated air conditioning. The present program is part of a master plan which was adopted several months ago by the church. The master plan calls for future construction of a new sanctuary and an adult Sunday school wing.

Serving on the building committee which developed the master plan with the church's architect, Donald R. Goss, of San Angelo, were Conda O. Richards, chairman, Mrs. George Thomas, Mrs. D. K. Glenn and Binks McCutchen.

The church building which is to be dedicated Sunday was built in 1951, when the late Rev. J. E. Fuller was pastor.

PTA—

what you should do yourself." Following the business session, refreshments of punch, coffee and cookies were served to 140 persons, including Downing and two guests from Robert Lee. Mmes. Royce Fancher, D. K. Glenn and Vetal Flores were on the refreshments committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Crow Leave for England

Mr. and Mrs. Linton Crow enplaned early Thursday morning for the first part of a trip to England. The Crows have been visiting the past ten days with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Royce Lee.

Mr. and Mrs. Crow will have a short stop over in New York before leaving for London. They are making the trip in connection with Mr. Crow's work with the M. W. Kellogg Co. He is being transferred to the Kellogg International Corp. for a year and a half to two years. His new position will be at the Imperial Chemical Industries in Wilton, England.

MYF To Have Chili Supper

The public is invited to a chili supper next Wednesday evening sponsored by Methodist Youth Fellowship. A revival meeting will be in progress at the church next week and the young people plan to serve the supper from 5:30 p. m. until church time.

Chili will sell for 35 cents per bowl, tea and coffee will go for a dime, all kinds of pie will be 15 cents, except pecan pie, which will be 20 cents, and cake will be a dime per slice.

Plenty of crackers and catsup will be served free of charge with the meal.

Money derived from the supper will be used by the MYF to carry out their program of work during the year. A spokesman for the youngsters urged everyone to come to the supper.

Mr. and Mrs. Garvin Dedicate Their New Home Near Blackwell

By Mrs. Charles Ragsdale

The new home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Garvin located on Blackwell's main street was dedicated and thrown open to their friends Sunday afternoon. About 90 persons attended.

The Rev. Jerrell Sharp, pastor of the Blackwell Methodist Church, conducted the dedication service at 2:30 o'clock and open house followed. Mrs. Bill Temple read the poem, "Bless This House."

Mr. and Mrs. Garvin moved to Blackwell from Sterling City about 1½ years ago. He ranches and is employed by an oil company. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Garvin of Eldorado.

Mrs. Garvin is the former Miss Dona Hendry of Blackwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Hendry of Sterling City, formerly of Blackwell. She was Nolan County's Gold Star 4-H girl one year and won many honors in school and club work. She is now employed by Dunlap Cleaners in Sweetwater.

The Garvin ranch-style home faces south, is finished with sage green asbestos siding and has four rooms and bath. Mrs. Garvin made draw drapes for all the rooms and her favorite color, lavender, is featured in practically every room in the house. The western motif is to be noted in house decorations and furnishings.

Lavender was the key color of the refreshment table at the Sunday afternoon affair. The table was laid in lavender and the flowers were lavender plumes and lavender mums with white flowers intermingled.

A miniature house which centered the table was a replica of the Garvin home. On the roof were printed the words in glittered letters, "Welcome to Our Home." This greeting was repeated on the registry book.

On the table Mrs. Garvin used several antique pieces which were gifts for her home. One was a bud vase over 100 years old given her by an aunt. The cut glass nut and mint bowls were also antiques. Frosted punch and tea dainties were served by Mrs. Richard Beck and Mrs. M. C. Hendry.

Garden flowers were used throughout the open rooms.

Guests came from Robert Lee, Bronte, Sterling City, San Angelo, Edith, Silver, Eldorado, Blackwell and Pearsall.

The couple's parents assisted them in showing their home.
