Goodfellow AFB Commander To Speak Here Next Wednesday

Col. A. G. Evanoff, Commander of Goodfellow Air Force Base in San Angelo, will speak here next Wednesday night, April 16, at the regular meeting of the Methodist Men's Club. The group will meet at 7:45 p.m. at the Methodist Church. All men of the community are invited to attend. Evanoff will choose his own subject for his address here.

Evanoff is a native of Belle Plaine, Iowa, and a graduate of the University of Iowa.

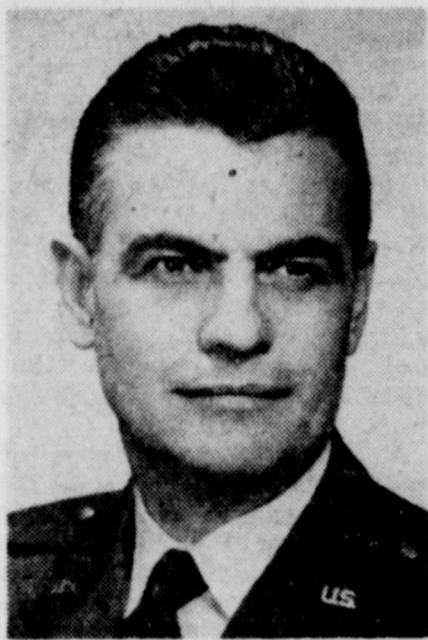

Col. Evanoff completed the flying training program at Randolph and Kelly Air Force Bases in San Antonio in 1939 and left the United States for the Southwest Pacific Theatre of Operation in 1941. He served in the Papua Campaign, Bismarck Archipelago, and the New Guinea Campaign until 1943.

He also served in Korea from July 1953, until August 1, 1954. He was liaison to the Republic of Korea Ministry of Defense and Air Force Liaison to 8th Army during his tour there.

Included among his many medals are the Silver Star, Distinguished Flying Cross and three medals awarded by the South Korean government.

Col. Evanoff is a graduate of the Command and General Staff School, and the Academic Instructor School.

He was Group Commander of Pilot Training at Goodfellow for three years before being elevated to the Wing Commander's post.

COL. A. G. EVANOFF

Evanoff is a scout enthusiast and as one of Bronte's boy scout troops is sponsored by the Methodist organization, it is expected that his talk will touch on that subject.

Refreshments will be served following Evanoff's speech and a business session of the group.

The Methodist Men's Group this week received word that they had been chartered by Methodism's General Board of Lay Activities in Chicago.

AD-LIB-BEN

Men of this area have a real treat coming their way next Wednesday night when Col. A. G. Evanoff, the popular young Wing Commander of Goodfellow Air Force Base speaks at the Methodist Church. The Goodfellow boss is a good speaker and his talk should be thoroughly enjoyable. A story in this paper gives more details of the meeting.

Politics is looking up again this week. We have another candidate for commissioner from this precinct and an announced candidate for U. S. Senate. It's a little hard to tell which one of these offices is more important to folks in this community. At any rate, we'll have plenty to talk about between now and the July primary.

State Representative A. J. Bishop of Winters called us several days ago and announced that he will run for re-election. Bishop said he will have a statement for the voters of the district in the near future, which he will publish in The Enterprise. This district, the 77th, contains Coke, Runnels, Coleman and Concho Counties.

Our Uncle Huie column has been receiving good response from readers. Lots of people can't imagine who is writing it and we certainly can't betray a trust and tell. He might stop writing if we did.

They are: Leonard Fletcher, Bronte; Charlie Fletcher, Sweetwater; Frank Fletcher and Carl Sheppard, Fort Worth; Louie Shoppard, Florida; Mrs. Clara Peeler, San Pedro, Calif.; Mrs. Grace Lowe, Mrs. Ora Hooper and Mrs. Willie Bell Gill, Houston; and Mrs. Lela Mae Brownrigg, San Antonio.

Scout-Sponsored Movie Coming Sunday & Monday

"God Is My Partner" is the name of the movie coming to the Texas Theater Sunday and Monday of this week. The movie is being sponsored by local Boy Scout troops, who are being given half of the proceeds.

Local scouts have been selling tickets since last Tuesday. Adult tickets are 50 cents; children's tickets are 25 cent. The movie is highly recommended as good family entertainment and everyone is urged to help the scouts and see a good movie at the same time. Walter Brennan plays the leading role in the picture.

Proceeds will be used to further work of the local Cub, Explorer and Boy Scout troops.

County Cancer Crusade to Start Monday

A. J. Kirkpatrick, publisher of the Robert Lee Observer, will lead the 1958 Cancer Crusade in Coke County again this year. The educational and fund-raising drive will begin here next week.

As chairman of the local campaign, Mr. Kirkpatrick will direct the raising of $600.00, the quota for this county. The goal of the Volunteer workers for the 1958 Cancer Crusade in Coke County are requested to meet at 8 p.m. next Monday, April 14, in the private dining room of Varnadore Cafe in Robert Lee. It is hoped that all those who helped last year will do so again, and their presence at the meeting is needed.

country-wide campaign is $30,000.00. The money will be used to push the war against cancer on three fronts: research, education, and service. Last year Coke County people gave $821.00 to help combat cancer.

"The whole program of the ACS is directed toward saving lives, countless lives when the mystery of cancer is solved and the disease brought under control," Mr. Kirkpatrick said. "But our annual campaign is also an intensive effort to save lives here and now. I refer to the 75,000 who die needlessly of cancer every year. They die simply because the disease isn't diagnosed in time.

"When our volunteers knock on doors and ring bells during the next two weeks, they will urge every adult in every household to get that checkup we have been talking about. They will leave leaflets that explain why a regular health examination is the best protection against needless death from cancer—the number two di-

Mayor, Councilmen Sworn In Monday

A new mayor and two councilmen were sworn in at a meeting of the city council Monday night, April 7. Former Mayor Ernest Ivey administered the oaths of office to J. A. Stephenson as mayor, and to C. E. Bruton and Bill Thomas as councilman. The other new councilman, H. A. Springer, was ill and unable to attend the meeting.

Routine approval of bills and minutes of the last meeting were approved by the old council before the new members took office.

Steve Badley, who has been in charge of civil defense work in this county for the past several years, met with the governing body and presented the need for an organization to be set up here and at Robert Lee.

Badley told the council that state officials are urging that every incorporated town in the state have a Civil Defense unit. Main purpose of the organization is to set up plans for dealing with emergencies, both natural catastrophes such as tornadoes and floods, and in case of enemy invasion.

The council deferred action on Badley's proposal until next meeting night. Members asked him to secure some data on the cost of such a unit for a town the size of Bronte.

Other members of the council present were Matthew Caperton and Bob Wilson; also Ben Oglesty and Charlie Boecking, both ex-councilmen.

Morrow, Sherrod Renamed Trustees Of Bronte School

A write-in campaign at the Tennyson voting box Saturday failed to gain enough momentum to elect a trustee for the Bronte Independent School District. Allen Sherrod and Jacob Bruce Morrow, the only two candidates whose names were on the ballot, were re-elected.

Voting was light in the box at Bronte, but a good part of the voters in the Tennyson-Brookshire part of the school district turned out to vote for the candidates of their choice.

Morrow led the ticket with 40 votes, Sherrod received 38. Robert Brown received 23 write-ins at Tennyson, and Jack Corley's name was written in eight times. At Tennyson, the vote was as follows:

Sherrod	10
Morrow	12
Brown	23
Corley	8

Both Morrow and Sherrod received 28 votes at Bronte and there were no write-ins.

Other members of the board of trustees whose terms did not expire this year include: Hurlin Lee, Edward Cumbie, Luther McCutchen, J. M. Rippetoe and Joe Rawlings.

EASTER GUESTS

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rogers over Easter included two of their daughters and families, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Hardy and family, Snyder, and Mr. and Mrs. Alvie Wheeler and family of Brownwood, and their granddaughter, Mrs. J. S. Jayroe of Big Spring. Mrs. Jayroe is the former Anne Adams, who was recently married. Her husband is a jet pilot in the Air Force and they live in Big Spring, where he is stationed.

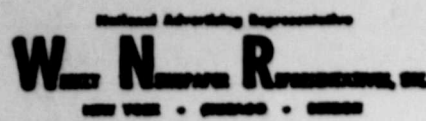

Topographic Maps To Be Made of This Vicinity

The United States Geological Survey in cooperation with the Texas Board of Water Engineers will, in the next few days, start a topographic mapping program in the vicinity of Bronte. The area to be mapped consists of six quadrangles covering approximately 400 square miles, and encompassing portions of Runnels and Coke counties. The area will extend from Ballinger west approximately 24 miles and north approximately 17 miles and will take in the towns of Bronte, Maverick, Norton and Old Fort Chadbourne.

Primary purpose of this detailed mapping program is for water conservation, water development and flood control. The resulting maps will also be useful in the development of irrigation, highway planning, oil exploration, agricultural development and farm to market road planning. The maps will be compiled from aerial photographs flown at approximately 8,000 feet. The maps will be published at a scale of one inch equals 2,000 feet. The contour interval will be ten feet. Maps will be available to the public.

The initial work on this mapping program will be horizontal ground control by tellurometer traverse. The work will be under the direction of Arthur Gervais, Jr., project engineer. He will be assisted by Irvin J. Benes and George M. Barker, topographic engineers. These men will be working along roads and cross-country for several weeks and will appreciate the cooperation, assistance and advice of the folks living in the area.

Information regarding maps and photographs may be obtained by writing to Geological Survey, Topographic Division, Building 25, Denver Federal Center, Denver 2, Colorado.

UNCLE HUIE from HOG CREEK says

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I was reading this morning where the American Public Health Association announced yesterday that more farmers was killed on the job last year than "in any other occupational group." Farming, they allow, is "the third most dangerous occupation."

They don't know the half of it, Mister Editor. Them that survives just barely makes it. Last summer, fer instant, I tried to work the farm by sun time, go to church by standard time, watch television by daylight saving time, and git to bed by God's time. In a manner of speaking, I was having a helluva time. After I wore out three clocks I just went back to Sun time and stayed there.

Them that survives spends about all their time "rotating" and "estimating." Sometimes I think the surviving ain't worth it. Fer instant, after a farmer surveys his patches so's he can rotate according to law, it's time to estimate how much he's going to make fer income purposes. That "estimating" calls fer supernatural powers.

To git a "estimate" that'll be accepted, a farmer has got to guess the annual rainfall, just when it'll come and when it won't. He's got to figger about what date the first frost will hit, which way the boll weevils will be migrating in June.

All of this distracts a farmer's mind from farming. I wouldn't be surprised if some of them that got killed last year fergot and stuck their head in the mowing machine while they was trying to rotate and estimate.

I see by he papers where a feller named Daniel F. Gilmore, writing for the United Press from London, says from now on "world attention will focus on the moon."

I got news fer Mister Gilmore and them United Press fellers. Farmers has been focusiny their attention on the moon fer centuries. Any farmer that's got sense enough to know how to drink out of a gourd knows that agriculture would never have been invented without the moon.

There's certain things that's Farmers has been focusiny their the moon and other things that's go to be planted in the light of the moon. If you do it backwards, you'd just as well sign up the land fer Benson's soil bank. And the saving of hog meat depends entirely on the moon. Salt

Where we stand in the fight against CANCER ...and why your dollars are urgently needed now!

DECISIVE PROGRESS has been made in the fight against cancer in the last decade. Today one in every three persons who have cancer is saved. A few years ago it was only one in four.

Still more lives can be saved with what doctors know now, if all adults will have a health checkup every year. Many cancers are curable if discovered early and treated promptly and properly.

The major hope for the future conquest of cancer lies in research. About twenty million Americans living today are marked for death from cancer unless research finds new means of curing the disease, or preventing its onset.

What new knowledge has been won to brighten cancer's darkness? High on the list is the discovery of chemicals which cause some cancers to shrink . . . and put victims of this disease back on their feet for a time. There are sound, scientific reasons to believe that more effective chemicals will come which may possibly cure one or more forms of cancer.

Equally remarkable are the advances in surgery for cancer . . . permitting wider removal of malignant growths with less risk to patients and far greater chances to control the disease.

The scoreboard of cancer progress also includes methods for treating some cancers with hormones, which prolong the active, useful lives of many patients . . .

tests for early diagnosis of some common forms of cancer . . . development of X-rays with power undreamed of 10 years ago . . . incredibly delicate techniques by which the living chemistry of a single body cell can be studied.

Immense new research projects are under way and might be expanded to answer such questions as:

Are the tiny organisms called viruses significant factors in the cause of cancer in man, as they are in some cancers in animals? Why do cancers grow slowly in some patients, rapidly in others? If some people are immune or more immune to cancer than others, how can that immunity be strengthened? What elements in our environment may be causing cancer?

Important findings must be moved from the laboratory table to the hospital bed. The step from test tube to patient is difficult, time-consuming and costly. As research goes forward, and new leads open up, more and more work will be done directly with patients with cancer. Thus, research costs will snowball as science continues to press towards its goal.

Your support of the American Cancer Society's Crusade has already brought significant gains in the control of cancer. More lie ahead . . . will you make them possible? Let your dollars work for you and for your children and for their children.

Send your check today to "Cancer," c/o your local post office.

C. E. McGuire In Race for Commissioner

C. E. (Eldred) McGuire this week authorized the Enterprise to announce his candidacy for Commissioner, Precinct 2, Coke County. He made the following statement to the voters of this precinct:

"I have thought this matter over very carefully and have had quite a bit of encouragement from people over this precinct in making the race for commissioner. I don't claim to be a politician and can only let you decide my qualifications for the office.

"I have been in business in Bronte for the past 13 years, most of that time operating a welding shop. The last few years, however, I have been engaged in pipeline construction and other oil field work. During this time my experience has covered everything from building roads to big earth tanks. My experience also includes maintaining machinery as well as operating it.

"During the time from now until election I will try my best to see and talk to every voter in this precinct and solicit your vote personally. If I should happen to miss you, let me say now that it will not be intentional, and I will appreciate your vote and support in this race.

"My only campaign promise to the voters of Precinct 2 is that if you see fit to elect me your commissioner, I will serve you honestly, efficiently and the very best I know how."

County Agents News Column

By STERLING LINDSEY

Several demonstrations have been started or will be started in the county in the near future that should be of interest to you.

A couple of 4-H club members, C. L. Sparks and Benny Boykin, have small grain demonstration plots growing. Each boy has 14 varieties of wheat, oats and barley (combined total) with four replications of each. We hope to receive from the tests information of value to Coke County regarding the use of the various varieties in this area.

Pat Havins, Valley View community and Jesse Parker, Olga, will have grain sorghum demonstration plots. These plots will consist of about eight different varieties of grain sorghums. These include common varieties and the new hybrid varieties.

Clark Glenn, Tennyson, and Pat Havins will be conducting Johnson grass control demonstrations this year. We have dalapon available and hope to secure a supply of naphtha and diesel oil. These two sprays have proven effective in controlling Johnson grass and have proven to be more economical than hoeing on clean-tilled, cash crops. We believe they definitely have a place in the county. If you would like a bulletin on spot spraying to control Johnson grass, drop by the office some time.

You probably have seen yellow streaks in plants or on lawns in the area. In most cases this condition—chlorosis—is caused by a deficiency of iron in the particular plant.

We have a supply of chelated iron available for use in two or three demonstrations. It may surprise you what iron feeding will do for a lawn or for certain plants. We hope to start these demonstrations in the near future.

If you get a chance, and are interested, check these demonstrations during the season. The demonstrators will be glad to have you visit them and you might find some information of value to you.

It is time to be thinking about your summer pasture. Temporary summer pastures are the most dependable source of summer grazing. Not only do these temporary summer pastures permit resting permanent pastures, but they also furnish a better quality grazing at a time when it is not available from permanent pastures.

Sudangrass is still best on soils of medium to high fertility. Because of their resistance to leaf diseases, Sweet, Tift, Greenleaf or common variety may be used in this area.

Pearl millet, often called cat-tail millet, should be used where Sudan produces unsatisfactorily. Pearl millet will likely outproduce Sudan on certain soils where Sudan yellows or become chlorotic.

About one acre of temporary summer pasture is the average needed per cow or animal unit. Plant in a well prepared, clean seedbed when the soil is warm and moisture is available for germination and good growth. When moisture conditions are good, several plantings may be made to stretch the grazing season. Plantings should be in 36 to 42 inch rows and grazing should begin when the plants are about 24 inches high.

Two leaflets containing complete information on these two grazing crops are available from our office. Give us a ring if you

COKE SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Present Supervisors —
C. N. Webb, Chairman; W. E. Burns, Vice Chairman; D. K. Glenn, Secretary and Treasurer; Robert Walker; Bryan Yarbrough.

The raising of grass for seed production is gaining popularity in the Coke Soil Conservation District both from the stand point of providing an additional money crop and serving as a soil builder. Grass is one of the best soil conditioners known and in many areas is being used profitably in rotation with regular crops of cotton and grain sorghum.

Planned grass plantings in the district, for seed production, are: Marvin Simpson, who farms north of Robert Lee, plans to seed 4 acres of Green Sprangle Top under irrigation. Simpson has also had Blue Panic under irrigation for seed production.

R. V. Copeland, who farms northwest of Blackwell, is planning to seed 1½ acres of Green Sprangle Top and ¼ acre of Argentina Winter grass. Copeland had 12 acres of Sorghum Alum last year which he harvested for seed.

Otis Smith intends to plant 4 acres of Green Sprangle Top and 1 acre of Plains Bristle Grass under irrigation on his farm north of Bronte. Clark Glenn says he will seed about 4 acres of Side Oats Gnoma, 3 acres of Plains Bristle Grass and 3 acres of Green Sprangle Top, under irrigation, on his place south of Bronte. Vernon Glenn, who also farms south of Bronte, will seed 14.4 acres of Switch Grass under irrigation.

There is currently a good market for native grasses in the Coke SCD as large areas are being retired from cultivation and placed in the Conservation Reserve. Also root plowing and range pitting and seeding are increasing on rangeland thus providing another outlet for the much needed native grass species.

"Let us never forget that the cultivation of the earth is the most important labor of man. Unstable is the future of that country which has lost its taste for Agriculture. If there is one lesson in history which is unmistakable, it is that national strength lies very near the soil." — Daniel Webster.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Ben:

Just to let you know that I read the letter that you recently ran in the paper about the "not raising hogs business." It was such a wonderful idea that I thought that I would follow suit and go in to the business myself. I don't have a farm here in Cisco but do have a big back yard that will be ideal for "not raising hogs."

So while I am in the business anyway, why not make some dough from it. I sincerely think that the government will agree with me and who couldn't use some extra cash anyway. With the prices of pretty shoes, hats and dresses being so high and then by the time the government gets through with my check, I just don't have any left for those sort of things so why not get some of it back by "not raising hogs?" It really doesn't make any difference to me what kind I don't raise, so long as I get paid for it.
