Large Number Entries Expected At County Livestock Show

By STERLING LINDSEY
County Agent

Annual Coke County Livestock Show will be held at the Show barns in Robert Lee on Monday, January 12. Approximately 35 F. F. A. and 4-H boys and girls will be exhibiting 15 beef cattle, 70 hogs and 120 sheep for the top honors and prize money.

AD-LIB-BEN

We don't claim to be an expert on economics and finance, but we'd like to present a few thoughts about money in this column this week for your consideration.

Before we start our list of things right here in Bronte which need your financial support, and before you have a chance to reject them, let us remind you that some or all of these projects could well mean more in the future than the money you might save by not supporting them. Most of our suggestions we think are for the good of the town and area, but one is primarily for the benefit of individuals.

Most assuredly we are not writing against savings or investments, but we do feel these projects are good investments and will pay you large dividends, maybe not in money, but in the satisfaction of knowing you helped and supported something worthwhile.

One of the most pressing projects at the moment is curbing for U. S. Highway 277 through the city limits of Bronte. Right now while the new highway is being constructed is the time to get the ball to rolling. If a little money were spent by individuals and the city, it would improve the looks of our town immeasurably. It will cost some money.

Another pressing need is to raise more money for our school. A virtual necessity, more school tax money will have to be voted by the people of this district. Your support is earnestly solicited by school officials. How could you better spend your money than to help the boys and girls of this area receive the kind of education that is demanded by the atomic and space age. It will cost some money.

The City of Bronte doesn't have enough tax money to do the things and perform the services you want from your city government. Probably this need isn't as immediate as the above-mentioned two, but is worthy of your consideration. More tax money wisely spent would help make Bronte a better town. It will cost some money.

The Golden Age Home which is being considered for Bronte needs your financial support also. If this home for 68 elderly persons is built here, some $87,000 must be raised as Bronte's part of the $347,000 cost. $61,000 has been raised. That means that another $26,000 is needed and your bank account is the only place this money can come from. Can you think of anything better to spend some of your money for than to provide a home for an old person who needs it? Looking at it from the mercenary side, it will help Bronte to be a better town, too. It will cost you some more money.

Probably there are other projects which need your help, but these, we believe, are the most urgent for residents of this area at this time. Think them over.

Judging the show will be Dawson Coleman, V. A. teacher at Miles, who judged the show in 1958. John Atkins, district salesman for an insurance company and a former V. A. teacher, will classify the animals. In order to keep the showmanship judge's name a secret, it will not be published this week.

Judging of the prize animals will begin at 10 a. m. with the judging of swine. Sheep judging is scheduled to begin at 11:00 a. m. followed by the beef cattle judging at 2 p. m.

Twenty-five lambs and hogs will be offered for sale by auction after the show. Each boy or girl qualifying an animal for the sale is allowed to sell one animal. Everyone is welcomed and encouraged to attend the show.

Directors of the County Stock Show Association responsible for preparing for the show are: Buster Burson, Crowley Harmon, Douglas Gartman, Nolan Pentecost, Leslie Wink, J. F. McCabe, Edward Cumbie, D. K. Glenn, R. H. Sims, Hollis Ensor, Marvin Corley and J. P. Arrott.

Superintendents of the various division's in Monday's show are: Beef cattle — Douglas Gartman and Nolan Pentecost

Annual March of Dimes Drive Plans Announced for County

Plans for the annual March of Dimes fund-raising campaign were being made this week by chairman Matthew Caperton and his co-workers. Events being planned include a tamale sale, road block, Mother's march, solicitation of the business district, containers for business houses, cards for school children and the annual MOD dance at Tad Richards.

Caperton said Wednesday that although no dates have been set for these events, workers are being contacted and dates will be announced next week.

Caperton also said that the National Foundation, which has formerly aided only victims of polio, this year is starting to work on other diseases, including birth defects, arthritis and rheumatism and other diseases which attack the central nervous system.

At the same time, he said, the Foundation will continue its research on the Salk vaccine and infantile paralysis and will continue to care for victims of polio. Four Coke County polio patients are being helped at the present time.

Workers who have been appointed to help this year include: Cumbie Ivey, Jr., Robert Lee chairman; John Stewart, Silver; Mrs. Tyrus Davis, Mrs. Fred McCabe and Sue Millican, Divide-Edith; Mrs. C. O. Richards, Ft. Chadbourne, Mrs. C. E. Arrott, Lometa; and James Arrott, Tennyson. The mother's march will be sponsored again this year by Bronte Women's clubs.

During the next week other helpers will be named and it is hoped that the drive will be in full swing by next week.

Deposits High At First National Bank in Bronte

A total of $2,433,027.02 was on deposit at the First National Bank in Bronte on Dec. 31, 1958, according to a statement which is being published in this issue of The Enterprise. This represents an increase, since the last statement was published on Sept. 24, of $290,376.92.

A comparison of deposits at the end of this year as compared with 1956 and 1957 reveals substantial increases, also. The amount on Dec. 31, 1958 was $37,236.96 more than was on deposit the same date of 1957, and $290,376.58 more than Dec. 31, 1956.

At the same time loans have increased, indicating that the local financial institution is doing more business. Loans stack up as follows:

Dec. 31, 1956	$529,091.34
Dec. 31, 1957	574,975.88
Sept. 24, 1958	580,856.69
Dec. 31, 1958	715,144.72

At the annual stockholders meeting held recently, the surplus account of the First National was increased from $100,000 to $150,000 making the Capital Accounts total $240,000. In addition to the surplus account the bank carries capital stock valued at $50,000 and had $40,000 in its undivided profits account.

On Dec. 31, 1958, the bank had assets totalling $2,673,027.02.

Methodist Talent Program Ends Sunday; Money Called In

Profits from the Talent Program of the First Methodist Church in Bronte will be turned in Sunday. Rev. James W. Campbell, pastor of the church, announced this week that the program has been running a little more than three months.

The program began on Sept. 21 when ushers passed out $5 bills to everybody who wanted to take them. Those who took the bills were asked to invest it for three months and see what they could make for the church. The idea for the program was based on the Bible story of the three men who were given talents by their master.

Campbell said that most of the persons who are participating in the program have been extremely busy raising money, and that a good return on the investment is expected.

Dozens of sidelines have been put into operation to make money. Members of the church have baked pies, cakes, bread, hot tamales, etc. and sold them. Christmas cards, napkins and other objects were sold. Christmas corsages were sold by Robbie Wilson, 6-years-old, and he reportedly made a "boxfull" of money. Others have sold magazines and newspaper subscription, cold drinks, ceramics and dozens of other items.

Campbell said that in addition to raising money, the program was designed to "give our members a real insight into Christian stewardship."

He urged that everyone who has completed his talent program to bring the money to Sunday morning church services, when it will be counted, and the results announced at the conclusion of the services.

He added, however, that anyone who has not completed his program is more than welcome to wait until it is finished to turn in the money, and asked that persons who have not completed their program to bring a note to that effect Sunday morning to place in the talent box. He urged, too, that any person who wishes to continue his program is urged to do so.

UNCLE HUIE from HOG CREEK says

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I didn't git to church Sunday on account of what you might call post war improvements. My old lady bought one of them new electric irons and it has slowed up progress at our house considerable.

You turn the button one way fer one kind of cloth, another way fer another kind. You also got to git the morning paper and look up the weather report. If it's damp you turn somepun else, and if it's cloudy you have another gadget to work. Up to now she's three weeks behind with her ironing, trying to figger out the dern thing. She's leaving my other shirt till last and if this keeps up I might not make it to church fer Easter services.

Back in the days when folks was using more horse sense and less post war improvements, they just set a few irons in the fire, wiped 'em off, spit on 'em to see how the temperature was, then lit in and did a day's ironing.

I'm always interested, Mister Editro, in items in the paper about the lady folks and I always turn to them first. I was reading this piece last night about wimmen's feet gitting bigger on account of them wearing open-toe and open heel shoes with flat heels. This feller that was writing the piece said the average size shoe fer wimmen 10 year ago was from five to six and now it's from seven to seven and a half. I think the wimmen is going to feel a heap better with bigger feet, because their feet has been big all the time, only they tried to hide it by buying shoes two sizes too small. Now that it's gitting fashionable to have big feet, it'll be a heap more comfortable for 'em. And speaking of post war improvements, this is the first one I've saw that had any practical value in it.

I see by the papers where them steel fellers is thinking about raising prices again. It's a funny thing. A steel man wakes up some morning with a hangover and decides that steel ought to be $5 a ton higher, and everbody starts paying $5 a ton more fer steel right away. But if a farmer or rancher wakes up after plowing 12 hours the day before and decides cotton is $5 a bale higher or wheat $1 a bushel more and nobody pays any attention to him. When he hauls it to town he gits what he was gitting yesterday, or maybe less. The way I see it, farmers and ranchers is the only folks on earth that don't know what they are going to git next. But I got a good idea, which is one reason I don't do no more farm work than I have to.

Yours truly,
Uncle Huie.

Whatever happened to the windmill??

Old "High Lonesome" has virtually disappeared from the rural scene along with the wood stove, cistern and kerosene lamp, swept into obscurity by rural electrification. They are remnants of a romantic past. In their place is the new way of life that electricity brings.

No one can say what electrical marvels the future holds. But hundreds of thousands of rural Texans know that the Rural Electric Cooperatives they own, operate, and enjoy are equal to the task. With nearly a quarter century's experience behind them, these elements of democracy, if unhampered, can continue the great service for which they were founded: Rural Electrification

THE FANTASTIC STORY of MUSA-SHIYA THE SHIRTMAKER

(Also Sometimes Drygoods Selling)

If the shipping department of a factory had not made an error, the world would never have known of Musa-shiya the Shirtmaker and the most astounding advertising campaign in history would never have been launched.

Following World War I an English textile factory was getting back on a peacetime basis. In error it sent a full five year backorder of shirting material to Musa-shiya, a Japanese shirtmaker who operated a small shop in Honolulu. Business was poor and Musa-shiya was near bankruptcy, when the customs office informed him that certain bales of cloth and a fat bill for duties awaited his pleasure at the port of Honolulu.

When the little shirtmaker realized what had descended upon him, he asked for time and went into the silence for purpose of mental refreshment. Remembering a friend in a big mercantile establishment, he hid himself there and sought counsel. How in the name of the horned prophet of evil was he ever to get rid of all that English shirting? And in the meantime where was he to put it? His little box of a shop wouldn't hold one bale.

"You'll have to advertise," advised his friend. "Leave it to me. I'll have our advertising agents help you out."

This merely compounded the little Japanese shirtmaker's troubles. Advertising to him was an uncharted sea. The advertising agent called on Musa-shiya and suggested $300 as a modest starter. "Too-o-o much. Maybe I think thirty dollar plenty," said the shirtmaker. He was told that wouldn't even get him in print. The agent explained the costs of various advertisements and finally Musa-shiya agreed to try the plan and what was destined to be the most astounding and far reaching campaign in the history of advertising was launched.

Two column by five inch ads then started appearing regularly in the Saturday Honolulu Star-Bulletin. The ads were written just the way Musa-shiya talked—in colorful pidgen English which is used throughout the Orient. Here is an example of one of Musa-shiya's ads:

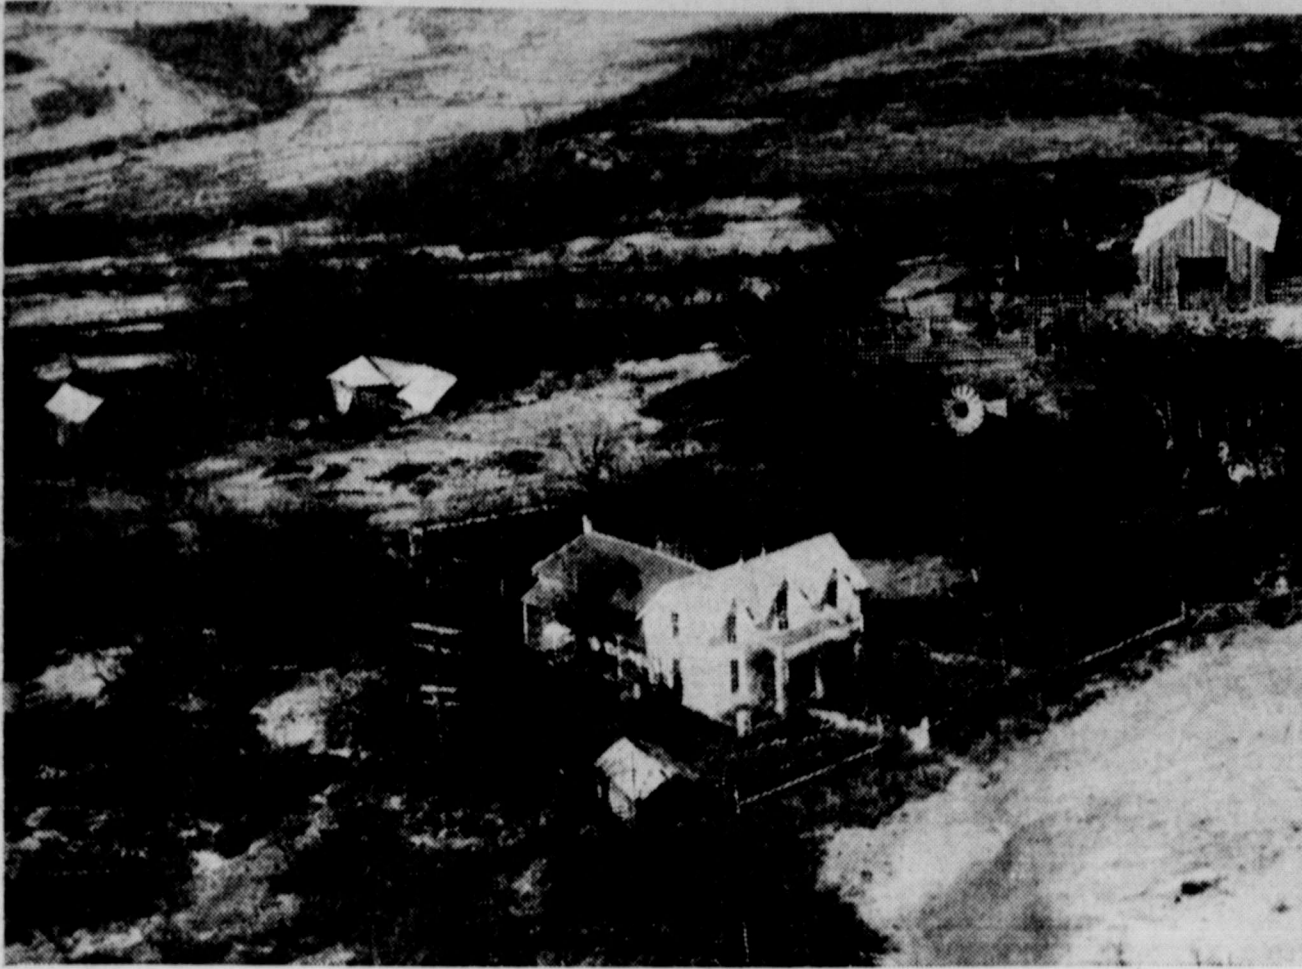

"Well here come storek again—but Musa-shiya, the shirtmaker, is able prepare. Wonderful accumulation of baby things in dry goods selling corner of Musa shop. Everything for the baby—especially diaper. Exclusive of storek, which find most easily, many persons not finding little shop of Musa-shiya the shirtmaker in King Street, Makai side, between fish market and river."

Tourists started sending copies of Musa-shiya's ads to their friends in many countries. Soon Musa-shiya was receiving orders from all over the world as well as doing a thriving business in Hawaii.

And that is the story of how a well planned, small advertising campaign made an unknown Japanese shirtmaker not only wealthy but world famous.

Your local newspaper doesn't promise to duplicate this story for its advertisers, but it does take your sales message into the homes of your customers where full and careful consideration is given your suggestions. Who knows, perhaps you too can be a Musa-shiya.

W. D. 'Pete' McDonald Owns Mystery Farm

The mystery farm which appeared in last week's Enterprise is located on the farm belonging to Mr. and Mrs. W. D. (Pete) McDonald. It is located ten miles north of Bronte near the old town of Fort Chadbourne.

The place has been in the McDonald family since 1898, when W. C. McDonald bought the place. The house shown in the picture was built in that year. W. C. McDonald was the father of the late Fred McDonald Sr. of Bronte. He was the grandfather of Mrs. Albert Rawling, Bill McDonald of San Angelo, the late Fred McDonald Jr. and the present owner of the farm. The farm belonged to the elder McDonald until 1927 when he was killed in an accident. Fred McDonald Sr. bought the interest of the other heirs and was owner until his death in 1954. At that time Pete McDonald became the owner.

The house has been vacant for the past six years, when Mr. and Mrs. Pete McDonald bought a house in Bronte and moved into town. Only Thursday of this week the W. E. Burns family moved into the house.

The place consists of 2100 acres, 360 of which are in cultivation. All of the cultivated acreage is in the Soil Bank. When McDonald was farming the place he raised small grains, grain sorghums and cotton. He also ran a good number of cattle and sheep and fed out calves and lambs each winter. He has had no stock on the place for the past three years.

All the cultivated land is terraced and stock tanks and other conservation structures have been built on the pasture land.

At the present time McDonald is business manager of the Bronte Hospital. He has held this position for about two years. He and the former Maxine Walton were married in 1940. Their hobby is raising flowers and they have a beautiful assortment around their home here in Bronte.

McDonald pointed out that this farm completely surrounds the old town of Fort Chadbourne. He said his grandfather gave 80 acres of land for the original townsite. McDonald has been able to buy back most of the lots of the now ghost town and has them back in the original farm.

The Longhorns are due back Benny Corley, Mickey Black, Stanley Daulong, Neil Black, Lanny Denman, Danny Scott, Kenneth Shaver, Jerry McCutchen, Kenneth McCutchen, Reyes Olivas,

Mrs. Carroll Leathers and Ann of Odessa were New Year guests in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Herron. John Robert Leathers, who had been visiting his grandparents since Christmas, returned home with them.

Today, the March of Dimes is fighting the dread "crippling problems" of our nation: polio, arthritis, and birth defects. In polio, it is estimated that 150,000 people already stricken, can still benefit by help. The rheumatic diseases, including arthritis, are afflicting at least 11 million persons. Birth defects are the largest unsolved child-health problem, and some 250,000 infants are born malformed each year! You can give all of these people hope of living normally again! Give ... and give generously ... from your heart!

Social Security Changes Go Into Effect Jan. 1st

With their first paychecks of the New Year, the Nation's workers will begin to pay more for their social security protection. The increase amounts to 25 cents more on each $100 of earnings.

For the first time, annual earnings of up to $4800 will be subject to the social security tax and credited toward social security benefits. Until now, only the first $4200 of earnings in a year has been taxed and counted toward the amount of benefits payable to a worker or his family.

If you are one of the 75 million Americans whose work is covered by social security, you'll begin this month to pay a social security tax of 2½ percent on the first $4800 of your earnings. Your employer will match this tax with an equal amount out of his own pocket.

The tax in 1958 was 2¼ percent for the employee and for the employer on wages up to $4200. The new tax rate applies to wages paid in 1959, even if the wages are paid for work done in 1958.

The New Year will also bring increased benefit checks to the 12½ million men, women, and children now receiving monthly old-age, survivors, or disability in-

COKE SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Present Supervisors —

C. N. Webb, chairman; Robert Walker, Vice Chairman; D. K. Glenn, Secretary and Treasurer; Bryan Yarbrough and W. E. Burns.

Aubrey Denman, Bronte, has made application for assistance under the Great Plains Conservation Program. A soil survey has been made on his place to facilitate working out his plan to meet the needs of the land.

A Great Plains Conservation Plan has just been completed by M. R. Stewart, Edith. His plan includes rootplowing, range seeding, deferment, and constructing a net wire cross fence, concrete storage tank and trough.

Coke Soil Conservation District's accomplishments for the year of 1958 include: technical assistance and counseling given to 300 district cooperators of whom 216 applied one or more conservation practices during 1958; 51 miles of new terraces in the district and 346 miles repaired under the flood repair program; 1800 acres of new contour farming, 21,883 feet of new diversions and 134,102 feet rebuilt; six new stock ponds; 42 new ponds put in as replacements of flood damage; 26 ponds repaired; and 5,872 feet of net wire diversions.

District cooperators have planted some 9,240 acres of cover crops during the year and managed some 6,531 acres of stubble and crop residue for soil protection and improvement. Approximately 44,000 acres of range land was deferred and properly used. Range seeding was practiced on about 2,762 acres. Over 1700 acres of cedar and mesquite were mechanically controlled last year. Various cooperators set aside a total of 44 acres for the exclusive use of wildlife on their farms and ranches last year and at least 9 ponds were stocked with fish.

RESOLVE — to meet the needs of YOUR land in 1959. Information about the Coke Soil Conservation District, the Great Plains Conservation Program, and assistance with conservation practices can be obtained from the local Soil Conservation office in the Court House.
