Alligator Bites Small Boy

An alligator bit a four year old boy in Bronte Sunday night.

Residents of the south part of town were in a tizzy after a baby alligator bit Randy Caston, little son of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Caston, on the leg. After it was discovered what had happened, the lad was taken to Bronte Hospital, where he spent the night with his leg in ice packs. He was dismissed Monday morning, and his parents were told to keep the alligator under surveillance for two weeks in order to make sure it was not rabid.

The Castons live just off Church Street in the rent house of Charlie Knierim. He is employed by Collins Construction Co., contractor on the highway project south of Brone. Mrs. Caston related events leading up to the story as follows:

Randy came in the house complaining that his leg was hurting, and upon examination, his parents found two small marks resembling the fang prints of a snake. They also noticed that his leg was swelling. The little boy, upon being asked what had happened to him, kept pointing to the back door step. His father went out and raised he step and the reptile ran out from under it.

He was captured and Monday when the above picture was made, seemed to be reasonably happy with his new home in a tub of water. At the time the picture was made, the varmint was being held under the custody of Doak Snead, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Snead, who live in the same block as the Castons.

Randy's doctor told his parents to let him resume normal activities Monday.

Revival Starts Sunday at First Baptist Church

First Baptist Church of Bronte will be engaged in a series of Revival services beginning with the morning preaching hour Sunday, July 24th. These services will continue through the evening preaching hour Sunday, July 31.

The Rev. James C. Shipman, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church of Texas City, is to be the evangelist. Shipman is a former pastor of Robert Lee Baptist Church, a graduate of Hardin Simmons University and a former student of the New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary.

His wife is the former Jackie Briley of Winters. The Shipmans have four children.

Sammy Beam III will serve as evangelistic singer and will direct youth activities during the week. At present he is the educational director for the First Baptist Church of O'Brien. Mr. Beam is a nephew of Mrs. Clint Wilkins of Bronte.

Week-day morning services will be conducted at 7:00 until 7:45 a. m. Monday through Saturday in order that working people might be able to attend.

The evening services will begin at 8:00 p. m. They will be preceded at 7:45 by special prayer groups for all ages. Following each night's services there will be a youth fellowship under the direction of Mr. Beam.

A cordial invitation was extended to each member of the community to be present by the pastor of the church, Rev. Lester Vinson.

SCATTERED SHOWERS

Scattered thunder showers during the weekend and the first of the week have brought welcome moisture and some relief from the heat to most parts of this area. The rains in Bronte have caused a lessening of irrigation and has eased the water shortage in town, although water rationing rules remain in effect.

Crop Prospects Good

By STERLING LINDSEY
County Agent

The cotton crop situation varies over the county, but generally speaking, the outlook is promising. I believe the cotton plants are stronger than they have been in recent years. We have had a period of hot, dry weather that forced the plants to root downward into the moisture below.

The cotton is fruiting well in all fields I have checked. We are still a long ways from the gin, but potentially I feel elated over the prospects.

We have had the grasshoppers and jack rabbits — and still have them in damaging numbers in places — now cotton farmers should be watching for the bollworm. Rain and showers from around July 15 on will usually stimulate boll worm reproduction. In the fields checked, only a few eggs have been found, but to be safe the cotton fields should be checked at three to five day intervals from here on. Get your sprayer or duster ready and when you find five or more worm per 100 terminals checked and numerous eggs being layed, I would

City Asks Customers To Sign Up for Sewer

Progress is being made toward actual construction of Bronte's new sewer system, but city officials are reluctant to predict when the actual contract can be let.

A letter was received by Mayor J. A. Stephenson last week from the Housing and Home Finance Agency, the federal agency to which the city is trying to sell the $85,000 revenue bond issue voted. The letter read as if the agency would be ready to purchase the bonds if and when certain conditions were met. City officials plan

One of the specifications set forth in the letter is that the city should start signing up prospective sewer system users. City Councilman Cecil Kemp said Wednesday morning that everyone who wishes to tie on to the sewer system should make his $25 tie-in deposit as soon as possible. The money should be left at the city hall with the city secretary.

Kemp said the money will be put in the First National Bank in escrow account and when the sewer is completed it will go into an operational fund for the sewer system. He emphasized that this $25 tie-in fee will be increased to $50 after the sewer is completed. The extra money will be due to the added expense of tying on at a later date.

The city is asking that prospective users go ahead and make their $25 deposit because the bonding company requires a certain amount on deposit before they will make the bond money available.

a meeting in the next few days to map out plans to meet the conditions set forth.

A letter was also received this week from Scott Engineering Co., the engineer retained by the city to oversee the project, stating that plans have been submitted to the State Health Department.

City Secretary, Mrs. Helen Kirkland, said that there are lots of details to be worked out before a contract can be let.

BETH IVEY TO TEMPLE

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Ivey and daughter, Beth, were scheduled to leave Wednesday for Temple where Beth will undergo a medical examination at Scott-White Hospital. It is expected that she will undergo leg surgery in the near future but they did not know for certain that it would be done at this time. Beth was a victim of polio four years ago and was scheduled to go to the Lions Club Camp at Kerrville again this year but was forced to cancel her reservation due to the appointment at Temple.

AD-LIB-BEN

We heard a good deal of talk from newsmen and commentators last week concerning the Democratic National convention nominees. The only one we heard that came right out and predicted a Kennedy-Johnson ticket, and who wasn't surprised at the outcome was A. J. Kirkpatrick over at Robert Lee. He predicted in his Observer last Wednesday that Kennedy had the presidential nomination sewed up and that Lyndon Johnson would be called to fill the vice-presidential nominee spot on the ballot. He's predicting this week a Democratic victory in November. We hope his political predictions this week are as accurate as last.

There been quite a bit of speculation as to where the alligator came from last Sunday night. Several local boys had one of the reptiles as a pet several months ago, but say this animal is smaller than the one they had. Someone has suggested that he shrunk during the past several months of hot dry weather. We don't know but it is a little unusual to get an alligator bite outside your door step in Bronte. Rattlesnakes, maybe, but alligators — no.

FAMILY PUTS 2,000 MILES A MONTH ON CORVAIR THINKS IT'S MARVELOUS GAS MILEAGE "OUT OF THIS WORLD"

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kahelin of Plant City, Florida, couldn't be happier with the way their new Corvair has worked out as a combination family and business car. On their newspaper distribution route alone they travel more than 400 miles a week over all kinds of roads. Little wonder they're so pleased with the gas mileage they've been getting — "at least twenty-three miles to the gallon with an automatic transmission . . . and we've had no trouble with our Corvair." The Kahelins have equally good things to say about Corvair's easy-going comfort and unique convenience features. They especially like the way the fold-down seat doubles as a built-in baby sitter.

Grasshopper Infestation Very Serious

By STERLING LINDSEY
County Agent

The grasshopper situation is critical in many areas of the County, and adjoining counties also. Where green vegetation is available. As the vegetation in the hatching areas was or is being consumed or matures, grasshoppers begin searching for better food that can be found in the fields, gardens and around homesteads.

And, being realistic rather than pessimistic, the problem may get worse in some areas before it gets better. The grasshopper, unless destroyed by man, nature or birds and animals, feels and grows through the summer, then lays eggs and dies with the advent of cool weather in the fall.

Greatest damage and largest infestations have been found in areas adjoining fields in the conservation reserve, adjoining the river or creeks or other areas that had a heavy growth of vegetation last fall. Also in fruit and ornamental trees in yards adjacent to a pasture area.

Control measures of any kind will not give complete control when grasshoppers are large, have developed a protective coat and have grown wings. Controlling them while they are small and still in the hatching stage is easiest and most effective.

A good, hard rain would help to alleviate some of them and indirectly by producing new, green vegetation in the pastures, idle fields, around tanks and in the bottoms.

Where they have moved into fields or gardens a combination of spraying and baiting will give the greatest protection. To insure good and quicker kills on the large hoppers the normal recommended dosage of insecticide should be increased, even doubled if precautions are used.

Chemicals recommended for bait are aldrin, heptachlor, chlordane, or toxaphene. If you desire a spray the above four plus malathion and dieldrin have been used successfully. Spray dilution recommendations can be secured from the County Agricultural Agent's office or from the insecticide dealer.

Be sure to follow precautions listed on the labels, particularly where a vegetable or fruit is to be sprayed.

Crop Outlook Is Good In County;

The grasshoppers have not left and will not until the advent of cool weather when they find a grassy, weedy, growthy fence row, field or bottom, lay their eggs and die. In many cases where rainfall greened up native plants, they have slowed down their migration to field crops.

Coke County has been designated at a Type II Brucellosis control area by the Texas Animal Health Commission. The steering committee of the group interested in controlling the disease received word last week that the designation will become effective Aug. 17. No word has been received regarding testing of the cattle, but it will probably begin sometime in the early fall. The State Animal Health Commission does the testing at no expense to the local operator.

Chlorosis and the extended hot, dry period recently weakened and set back many trees and shrubs. Chelated iron or iron sulfate (copperas) will greatly help to correct a chlorotic plant—one that shows yellow color on the mid veins of the leaves and if the condition is severe enough will die around the edge of the leaf. Also a coarse mulch — oat straw, grass hay or spagnum moss — will help, particularly to protect plants from the summer heat and to conserve moisture. A combination of the two, mulching and a feeding of iron, along with an assist from nature in the form of a good rain should return the rich green color to shrubs, trees and other plants suffering from the heat or showing signs of chlorosis.
