2nd TB Test Slated At Catholic Church

Results of the Friday TB tests were being read Wednesday and up to noon a total of 275 children had been inspected with 7 positive reactions. Of the 88 adults who had been read, 25 were positive.

Another opportunity will be given Sunday at 1 p.m. for persons who missed the tuberculosis test last Friday. The test will be given at St. James Catholic Church in Bronte, and anyone who missed the first test is urged to take it.

Due to the large number of positive reactions from the tests, Bronte School and PTA authorities, think it wise to give a test to everyone, particularly all members of families in which one member had a positive reaction.

Armed Forces Day Parade at Angelo

A parade in downtown San Angelo and a military-civilian luncheon at Goodfellow Air Force base will mark the 14th annual observance of Armed Forces day Saturday.

Beginning at the corner of Concho and Irving Streets, the parade will feature military units from the Air Force, Army Reserves, Navy Reserves and Texas National Guard. Bands for five San Angelo junior and senior high schools plus the Goodfellow Drum and Bugle Corps will furnish martial music for the event.

The parade will proceed from Concho and Irving north to Harris and Irving, swing east on Harris to Chadbourne and then end at Chadbourne and Concho.

Military and civilian dignitaries will ride at the front of the parade and disembark at a reviewing stand on South Chadbourne to review the parade. The group will be headed by Maj. Gen. Richard P. Klocko, commander of the US-AF Security Services, San Angelo Mayor Allie T. Hughes and Col. Carl W. Stapleton.

General Klocko's party will also tour the Servicemen's center and then go to the Goodfellow Officers' Open Mess for the Armed Forces Day luncheon at 12:15 p.m. General Klocko will be the principal speaker.

1964 Wheat Program Explained; Voting Scheduled for Next Tuesday, May 31

Farmers over the country will go to the polls next Tuesday, May 21, and decide whether or not they wish to adopt a new government wheat program for 1964. The voting will be held at the ASC office in the courthouse in Robert Lee and the polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

The 1964 wheat program has erupted into one of the most controversial questions to face the American farmer in many years. Receiving the backing of the U.S. Department of Agriculture and its huge organization, the proposed wheat program has been opposed mainly by the American Farm Bureau, including the Coke County part of that organization.

Those favoring the program say it is much like the 1962 program, and that "new provisions represent modifications to improve and bring the program up to date." A marketing quota penalty is one of

Dr. John R. Harris, city health officer, said that it is imperative that all members of families take the test in cases where one member had a positive reaction. He urged all persons to go to the Catholic Church Sunday for a test.

The new Heath test is being used in the current campaign. It is absolutely painless and takes only a moment.

The TB tests, along with inoculations for several communicable diseases are being sponsored by the PTA and Bronte School.

Bill Creating Hospital District Is Passed

It was announced late last week that HB 1013 is ready for Gov. John Connally's signature. The bill, by Rep. Ed Carpenter of Cohoma and legislator from this district, will create the West Coke Hospital District if citizens of the area involved voted to have it.

The bill passed the House several days ago and passed the Senate last Thursday on the calendar of local and uncontested bills. Sen. Dorsey Hardeman handled the bill in the upper house.

The new district would take over all hospital lands, buildings, improvements and equipment now owned by Coke County or towns in the area involved.

If voters in Commissioner Precincts 1 and 3 approve the district, it will have power to levy an annual tax of not more than 25 cents per $100 valuation. This tax revenue would be used to make improvements, pay operating deficits, etc., now carried by Coke County.

UNCLE HUIE from HOG CREEK says

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The fellers at the store Saturday was going a little easy on the Congress fer a change and was devoting the program mostly to personal matters.

One feller we don't see too often did report he had saw a statement by Senator Symington that the Navy has got enough canned hamburger in storage to last fer 59 years and 2 months. He said he wasn't too concerned about this item on account of he knowed this was our regular stockpiling percedure, but he was a little disturbed that they didn't mention no musard, and catchup stored to eat with it.

One of them philosophers chimed in and said if it was all the same, he rather not discuss hamburgers, mustard, catchup and such things. Said he was putting on weight and his old lady was worried about his eating habits. He said she had took to talking about "kalories" and things he ain't heard about till now. He claimed his old lady was the champion worrier in 7 states and he had always left the worrying up to her. He said it was his insurance agin ulcers.

Anyhow, this buddy of mine allowed his old lady has announced that from now on breakfast is gitting cut in half. He told the fellers he didn't eat nothing much fer breakfast but 2 eggs over easy, some country sausage, a couple of hot cakes with molasses, and 2 cups of coffee. Said his big meal come at night.

But from now on, he figgered about all he git fer breakfast was the weather report on radio and it had got so's he couldn't understand that half of the time. It used be he claimed, if it was going to snow or rain the feller on the radio said so, but nowadays everthing is something about "percipitatio" that don't mean nothing to him one way or the other.

Most of the guys agrees that things like kalories and percipitation was bad and ought to be agin the law. One was lamentin that our language is gitting so fancy it's hard fer a one-gallus feller to understand it. Said he recollected reading, when Liz Taylor and Eddie Fisher got hitcher, the piece said they was "joined in holy wedlock." In the old days, the papers just said so-and-so took a wife. Of course, everybody knows it was the other way round, but editors in them days was kind to wimmen folks.

One smart guy was of the opinion that editors ought to keep matters a little more consistant. Fer instant, he said, when Liz and Eddie split up the papers ought to report that they was "disjointed in unholy divorce." Anytime, Mister Editor, you want this smart alec to come to town and git out you paper, just let me know.

Yours truly,
Uncle Huie

County Agents News Column

By STERLING LINDSEY

Many people are concerned about the pecan nut casebearer — when will they be doing damage to our pecan crop? This question has been asked frequently lately.

According to the signs that I have found over the county, the time to spray to prevent casebearer damage is not far away.

Knowing what has happened so far this spring is important in determining when to spray — so, we will start with there. First, the casebearer, according to all reports received from other areas, is 7-12 days earlier than normal. I think that pattern is true here, also. Normally, they make their first entry into the nut clusters between May 20 and June 1 — this year a few are already in the nuts entering on or near May 10. These are the "early birds" but they are indicative of the State-wide pattern.

Back to what has happened — the casebearer has already completed one cycle this spring, living in the small twigs in the terminals of pecan trees. We have had a fairly heavy infestation in most trees checked in the first generation. Usually, this means we had best prepare to spray to prevent their entry into the nut clusters when they start the second cycle.

I checked several different places last week. At that time, some of the casebearers were still in the twigs. In checks made this week, all were out of the twigs and the egg-laying on the small nuts had started. In three places checked, the "early bird" I mentioned had already hatched and started on the first nut. The peak or mass egg laying is expected to come during the next five-to-seven days.

I would suggest spraying twice to give maximum protection. I would put the first application on from Wednesday to Friday (15-17) and the second application on between Monday and Wednesday of next week. (20-22).

If you can put on only one application of insecticide, try to put it on when the peak hatch will occur. According to the present indications, in most trees this should be between Friday and Monday (May 17-20). The only way to determine exactly when to spray a given tree or orchard is to check the trees, see when the eggs are hatching. The spray must be present and active on the nut clusters when the eggs hatch if the desired kill is to be obtained.

To conserve space I will jot down in one, two, three order several things of importance:

1. Peak egg laying is expected this week-end.
2. Only by checking can the exact time be determined.
3. Use DDT, Matathion, toxaphene, sevin or nicotine sulfate to control casebearers.

4. Use enough pressure to part the leaves, place the spray on the nuts.

5. Always add zinc sulfate to your spray to prevent rosette in your trees.

6. We have had a heavier than normal first generation population of casebearers in the twigs.

The Sears swine program completed a cycle in Coke County last week, also. Five registered duroc gilts were returned to the club members selected to enter the program for the coming year. Bob Wells, of Bronte, and Sharon and Rebecca Walker, of Robert Lee, supplied the pigs to keep the cycle going.

The group that received pigs were: Larry and Mike McKown, of Bronte; David and Richard Scott, of Bronte; and Edwin Lindsey, of Robert Lee. This group will show their gilts this fall, be judged on their management in the spring, then return one gilt from each of their litters later in the spring of 1964.

The screwworm situation, state-wide, did not change appreciably. There were 94 cases in the State — an increase of 11. Cases were found in three counties for the first time. The authorities continued their statements regarding the urgency and necessity of samples being submitted for identification. One case missed could seriously hurt the program. Above the buffer zone the spot-treatment of cases continues. If they do not receive the samples, then no sterile flies can be dispatched to stem a possible out-break. It is for the good of all to inspect your animals as regular as possible and submit samples from cases found.

It is not necessary to take Vitamin pills with an adequate selection of foods. Most Americans spend more money for vitamin pills than is justified. Vitamin advertising may have had over-all effect on nutrition. Too many people believe that as long as one vitamin pill is taken daily other requirements can be neglected. This is a fallacy according to Dr. L. R. Richardson, biochemist of A. & M. College. Dr. Richardson who spoke to the H. D. Agents who attended the Human Nutrition Workshop, May 5-10, stated that the American problem of nutrition is mostly over eating. As Dr. Richardson summarized his talk on vitamins, he said as "teachers of nutrition," one should stress the need for foods containing Vitamin A, C, Riboflavin, thiamine, Niacin and Vitamin B 6, stress careful food preparation, and "debunk" all food fallacies. The week long session was filled with talks by outstanding authorities in Foods teaching and research fields. This workshop was interesting and was filled with up-to-date information, which I will be using in programs in Coke County.

Are you one of those food faddists who believe gelatine "will make the finger nails grow?" If so you will be glad to know that a soup bone will do the same and is a whole lot cheaper and more appealing. A person will die if he tries to live on gelatine alone as his protein source. Think this "fallacy over and save your money!"

Almost as quickly as you can say "please pass the potato salad," a tiny microscopic speck of bacterial life can make a shambles of that great American summer-time institution, the picnic.

Called staphylococci — 'staph' for short—these pernicious bits of living matter are said by health authorities to be by far the most common cause of food poisoning.

About the picnic — if you're careless in preparing food, staph may invade and multiply in items on the bill-of-fare. Take, for instance, ham salad, or the chicken salad, or cream filled layer cake. In a matter of hours, once eaten, they can turn a strong man into a cramped tormented weakling.

But it's easy to prevent this fun-wrecking development: simply keep the foods chilled between the time of preparation and service, and serve as soon as possible.

State health authorities are quick to point out that staph-caused food poisoning isn't limited to summer nor to picnics, but can occur whenever conditions are right regardless of the time or place. Conditions are more apt to be right during summer when the outdoor eating is in vogue and staph can team up with heat and lack of refrigeration to spoil food.

As a point of academic interest, it isn't the organisms themselves that do the damage, but a toxin produced by adult organisms. Admittedly, the point is of little consolation to the wrung-out victim, but it does provide a clue to preventing other cases.

Staph germs are so widely distributed in nature — in nose and throat secretions, in exudate of boils and carbuncles, on skin and clothing, in the very air — that there is little chance of avoiding them completely.

The best thing is to keep them from getting in the food to begin with, by washing hands thoroughly before preparing food. Also, if you happen to have a boil, pimple, infected scratch, or a runny nose, leave the food preparation to someone else.

Refrigeration is the key to stunting staph germs. They can't grow in cold temperatures, but thrive in bountiful profusion at room temperature. Therefore, refrigerate susceptible foods at 40 degree temperature. Use shallow pans so the ingredients will chill through.

Keep these facts in mind when you plan your next picnic, then your only worry will be ants and wasps.

Summer's coming, get going!

If this isn't a great time to get yourself a new Chevrolet—well, we just don't know when is. Why, you'd almost have to be anti-summer not to let one of these four convertibles get to you. Or any of Chevrolet's sedans, wagons, sport coupes and sport sedans, for that matter.

And there are a lot of other buy-now reasons besides the season. Like the care-free feeling you get on a long vacation trip in a brand-new car. And it's a smart time to trade, what with your Chevrolet dealer all stocked up for a busy summer. Chances are, he has just the model and color you want — be it Chevrolet, Chevy II, Corvair or Corvette—ready to go right now.

So maybe now you're all wound up? Then spring into summer at your Chevrolet dealer's.

TOWNS ON THE MOVE

Olney

Creates

Home-grown

Industry

When an aeronautical engineer and the business leaders of Olney, Texas, got together, a new home-grown industry was born. The product: an agricultural aircraft especially designed for crop dusting and spraying.

Now, 4½ years later, Snow Aeronautical Company employs 57 skilled workers in this West Texas community of 3872, and has sold aircraft in many agricultural states of the Union and in seven foreign countries.

Success of this thriving local enterprise is evidenced by a plant expansion program which will double the factory size when construction is completed this Fall. It is another reason we say big things are happening in General Telephone towns.

These towns are on the move. Community improvements are under way, local resources are being developed, new businesses, new industries are coming in. If your town seeks additional information about expansion perhaps we can help. Just write our Community Development Department, Box 1001, San Angelo, Texas.
