DAMS ARE READY

Flood control dams on the Kickapoo Creeks are ready for some water to fall behind them. Finishing touches are being put on one of the dams here under the supervision of Otis Smith who was in charge of getting the structures seeded with grass. The slope of the dams requires a unique rig to do the work. Shown here are James Allen and Rupert Robbins plowing a tractor on the right, doing the work. However, the main-tainer, left, is pretty important, as it is attached to the tractor by cables to keep the vehicle from sliding down the slope. The dams were chiseled, then had a layer of hay spread on them. The next operation was to spread the grass seed, after which the surface was run over with a mulch treader which is similar to a disc plow, to help make the hay more secure. Smith was in charge of the plowing and seeding operations, and B. E. Modgling was in charge of the hay spreading detail. Several workers were employed spreading the hay, which had to be done by hand.

The dams are all complete, but have not been accepted by the water control district, since they are supposed to have a good cover of grass before being turned over to the local group.

3-Inch Rains Change Farm - Ranch Picture

Earth soaking rains have painted a new outlook on this area of West Texas during the past week. More than three inches of rain fell here in three different down-pours.

The rain was not as heavy over the entire area as it was in town, but it was sufficient to do much good, and some reports showed more than three inches.

The first moisture fell last Wednesday morning and was reported in last week's Enterprise. It totaled one and a half inches. Another shower early Thursday morning was gauged at .5 inch. The final rain for the week was late Thursday afternoon and night, when an inch fell here, accompanied by high damaging winds.

Heaviest damage reported in the Thursday storm was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Mullins in north Bronte. The front porch on their home was taken off by the wind, blown over the house and landed on a clothes line in the back yard.

Bronte was without electricity for awhile during and after the big blow. Most of the city had lights in about 40 minutes, but the south part of town was in darkness for about three hours. A big primary

He completed degree requirements at midterm and is now employed by a consulting engineering firm at Cape Kennedy, Fla.

Demo Primary To Be Held in Bronte, R-Lee

The second Democratic Primary will be held over the State of Texas, Saturday, June 6.

The only race on which Coke countians will vote is the contest for congressman-at-large. Joe Pool and Robert W. Baker are the two candidates. Pool, the incumbent, led the ticket in the first primary but failed to get a majority in the field of five candidates.

Coke County Democratic committeemen decided to open only two boxes for the runoff election, in Robert Lee and Bronte. This decision was made because of the small amount of interest in the election because of the shortage of contest. Coke County voters may vote in either box they prefer.

Having only two voting boxes will result in considerable savings to local candidates who sought offices in the first primary, as they have to pay expenses of the balloting.

In the Republican primary to be held at Robert Lee, Sanco and Silver, Coke voters will vote between Jack Cox and George Bush, candidates for the Republican nomination to oppose Ralph Yarborough in November.

Senior Team Beats Coleman Lads, 5-2

Bronte's Senior Baseball team took advantage of errors Monday night to down Coleman 5-2 in a game played at the local ball park. The Bronte boys got only two hits to make their five runs, while Coleman picked up three hits, but had only two runs.

Robert Virden pitched for the locals, while Guthrie and Monroe shared mound chores for Coleman.

This was the first game of the season, and neither team had practiced together before the contest opened. They expect to do away with some of their errors with a little practice.

Next game involving the local team will be Saturday night at Winters.

On the local squad are the following players:

Lynn White 2b, Gary Brown cf and 1b, David Prince c and infield, Tony Virden 1b, Robert Virden p, Bobby Tom Bailey p, Robby Cook p and field, Larry Patton field, Royce Lee ss and outfield, Jim Morrow outfield, Jimmy Wells 3b, Ron Johns 3b and infield, Manuel Reyes ss, Tad Richards outfield and 1b. Other players may sign up before other games come up on the schedule.

Clyde Lee and J. B. Morrow are managers for the local team.

Mrs. Jeff Ivey Mother of Year At Hale Center

Mrs. Jeff Ivey of Hale Center and a former resident of Bronte, has been named "Mother of the Year" in the Plainview area and was the recipient of 70 gifts from Plainview merchants.

Mrs. Ivey was presented with an orchid corsage from the Plainview Daily Herald and a special plaque from Radio Station KPLA and KVOP, co-sponsors, with the merchants, of the annual contest.

The award came as a complete surprise to Mrs. Ivey; she was not aware the contest was in progress.

Mrs. Ivey, widow of a retired rancher and farmer who died in 1962, is the mother of three married daughters, Mrs. Orville (Janelle) Hicks, a first grade teacher at Canyon; Mrs. Jack Hicks and Mrs. Escar (Patsy Beth) Parker, both housewives of Hale Center.

Her nine grandchildren include seven girls and two boys.

This year's contest winner has many and varied interests. Her first concern is her church, the First Baptist. She is prayer chairman of Women's Missionary Union and participates in all WMU activities. Much of her time is taken up with visiting the sick, as well as members and prospects of the Sunday School class she teaches for young matrons.

She is also a member at large of Daughters of the Republic of Texas, the Pioneer Study Club; frequently serves as librarian and is a past worthy matron of Le-mond chapter No. 38, Order of the Eastern Star.

Mrs. Ivey's mother, Mrs. J. J. Caudle, is a patient in a Plainview Nursing Home.

Special Notice To Democratic Voters

The Texas Democratic Party will hold a runoff primary election on Saturday, June 6.

The only contest which Coke County voters will have to make a selection is the race for Congressman-At-Large. The candidates, who won the top two places in the first primary May 2, are Joe Pool of Dallas and Robert W. Baker of Houston.

Since Coke County people have shown little interest in this contest, a light vote is anticipated. For that reason the Coke County Democratic Executive Committee has decided that only two voting boxes will be open for the June 6 runoff.

They will be at the regular polling places in Robert Lee and Bronte, and eligible voters from all sections of the county may cast their ballots at either of these places.

This will mean a saving of several hundred dollars from the Democratic Campaign Fund which was made up almost entirely by assessments paid by local Democratic candidates.

WASHINGTON AND

"SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

This column is addressed principally to parents of grammar school children. Can you imagine having the following conversation with your child?

"Look, son, which is worse, spitting on the Bible, or spitting on the American Flag?"

Now you know if you asked this of your son or daughter within earshot of responsible citizens, you would most likely be brought into court to either

C. W. Harder test your fitness as a parent, or to decide on your sanity.

But this is just one of the questions being asked school children by so-called counselors paid for in part by the United States Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Rep. John Ashbrook of Ohio would like to see this misuse of tax money stopped.

For under the guise of scientific psychiatric child personality analysis school children all over the land are being asked not only the question quoted above, but many others of the same type.

For example, other questions are "Which is more important: taking the oath of allegiance to the United States or joining a church?"

And here is another dilly being asked, "Which is worse: denying the existence of God or laughing while the Star Spangled

© National Federation of Independent Business

Banner is being played."

These programs are all being carried out under the National Defense Education Act of 1958, Section V entitled "Guidance, Counseling, Identification and Encouragement of Able Students."

Thus according to the weird viewpoint of the weird minds in the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, the best way to determine able students is to find if he would prefer to spit on a Bible or the American Flag. Presumably, if he expressed no preference, he goes down in the records as a backward student.

It is little wonder the nation's independent businessmen, voting through the National Federation of Independent Business have consistently opposed more Federal spending on education.

For who can tell what questions the Washington bureaucrats will dream up next to ask children. There are many possibilities such as "Would it be best to murder your mother with an axe or a shotgun?" Or perhaps something along this line would meet the approval of this scientific evaluation "Is it better to steal a car, or a diamond ring?"

But perhaps this latest manifestation of national madness was but inevitable.

For what mind, but that of a bureaucrat, could ever dream up such a method of evaluating what children are mentally sound, and well adjusted. After all, a bureaucrat's standards are reached by comparing fellow bureaucrats.

County Agents News Column

By STERLING LINDSEY

The most noteworthy news of late is the rains received last week, apparently all areas of the county received some welcomed relief. The rainfall reports vary considerably, but everyone must have received as much as an inch and a half. The only thing that could have made it better would be for the rain to have arrived sooner.

Crop activities show rise sharply in the next few days — some cultivating, some planting. If they can stay ahead of the weeds and insects, some operators should be in pretty good shape for the immediate future. This rain should give the plant roots a chance to develop and reach the subsoil moisture we already had. And may be it will rain sooner next time.

The rains will probably increase the screwworm activity in the State. The authorities are fearful of what could happen if our guard is relaxed.

The number of cases reported last week dropped — from 15 to 7 — but of concern is the fact that one case was reported from Coryell County, near Copperas Cove.

Now that we have some moisture, fertilizing hay and forage crops would be in order in many cases. The addition of commercial fertilizers, where they are needed, can increase yields considerably. This is particularly true of the addition of nitrogen to hay and forage crops. Also, the protein content of the crop will be increased.

If you have moisture, I would seriously consider top dressing your grass or hay crops with some commercial fertilizer.

U. S. imports of all red meats in January-February 1964 totaled 186.7 million pounds, 13 percent less than the same period in 1963. Beef imports were 11 percent lower; pork imports were about the same; lamb imports were down 22 percent and goat meat imports were down 51 percent, according to the USDA.

Here's information from the University of Kentucky School of Dentistry that should be of interest to many parents. If Johnny comes home with a front tooth in his hand instead of in his mouth, don't panic, says an official at the University.

He suggests that parents head for the nearest dentist's office on the double, "and don't forget to take the tooth with you for it can be put back where it belongs," says Dr. John R. Mink of the University.

Permanent teeth can be replaced, if they are treated quickly enough, and are likely to last six months to six years. There have been a number of instances where parents just push a loose tooth back onto the bond that holds it in the jaw, he says.

The trouble when a tooth is knocked out usually is that parents forget to bring the tooth with them when they come to the dentist.

"Even if it's dirty, we can clean it up and have a good chance of replanting it," Dr. Mink says.

It's time to put away winter woollens. But before you do, be sure they are moth free. Moth eggs and larvae may already be in your clothes — hidden away in pockets and cuffs, under lapels and along seams.

Before you store your woollens take them outside for a good airing. Brush them thoroughly to destroy possible eggs and larvae.

Better yet, have your clothes dry cleaned. Drycleaning kills all stages of clothes moths.

However, don't rely on this protection all summer long. Unless a special mothproofing treatment is applied, you have no assurance that the moths won't find your clothes later. Careful storage is still necessary.

It's best to store garments in a tight chest or trunk along with naphthalene flakes or paradichlorobenzene crystals. Use about 1 pound of these chemicals for a small trunk. Place the flakes or crystals between layers of garments and then scatter some on top so the fumes can work downward.

In a closet use 1 pound of chemical for each 100 cubic feet of space. Again place the crystals high — on a shelf or tied in a thin cloth bag from a clothes rod. And be sure the closet is tight. For best results, use it only for storage and keep it shut all summer long.
