State and National Officials Come To See Old Fort

A group of state and national dignitaries visited Fort Chadbourne last Friday morning as part of a tour of old Texas forts. The group was headed by Representative Gene Hendryx of Alpine, who represents Coke County in the state legislature.

Mayor Royce Lee welcomed the visitors in the Bronte area, and on behalf of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Wylie, to their ranch, which has its headquarters at the site of the old fort.

Among other visitors in the group were Senator J. P. Word of Meridian; Representative Richard Slack of Pecos, Randy Pendleton of Andrews, and Grant Jones of Abilene; Will Odom, chairman of the Parks and Wildlife Commission; Charles Pope, architect from the National Park Service; Richard West of the Texas Legislative Council and two press members.

The group came by cars, furnished by West Texas Utilities Co., from Abilene and were going to San Angelo from here.

Members of the Coke County Historical Survey Committee present to welcome the visitors were Mrs. Bryan Yarbrough, chairman, and Royce Fancher and Ben Oglesby, members.

Following the get-acquainted session at the Wylie home, Mr. Wylie told the visitors they were welcome to inspect the buildings and ruins of the old fort buildings.

SCHOOL NOTES

Board Considers Reserve Seats At Ball Games

The school board and administration are still interested in obtaining a list of persons who would like to have reserved seats for next fall's Longhorn home football games. Tentative plans call for reserving the center section of the home side bleachers if enough fans want to purchase season tickets at $6.25 for five home games. The 25 cents increase in price of admission to each game would assure fans of having good seats, it was pointed out.

The proposed reserved section is being filled in at the rear with tile to serve as a windbreak on the north side and other work is being done to make the seats more comfortable.

Anyone who wishes to reserve seats in this special section is requested to come by The Enterprise office in the next few days and sign a list of prospective customers.

Early reservations are necessary as the school board plans to make its final decision on the matter at the July meeting.

The pre-school class of Bronte School is planning a big day next Wednesday. The youngsters will go by school bus to Ringling Bros. Circus at the Coliseum in San Angelo. Circus time is 2 p.m. Refreshments are planned after the show.

Supt. C. B. Barbee said this week that the contractor will be ready to pour the main floor of the new school building in the next few days. The superintendent said the building should go up in a hurry after this last big pour of concrete.

The entire group of 15 students taking drivers education have passed their written tests and are now getting in their hours of practice driving. The class is being instructed by Coach James N. Raughton.

Religious Census Reveals Interesting Info

A religious survey taken in Bronte last Saturday provided this analysis of the community:

—96 per cent is protestant.
—4 percent is Roman Catholic —None are Jewish.

A survey team of 20 students from Abilene Christian College called on 272 homes and found 73 percent of the occupants at home. The actual survey was taken from 212 homes.

The breakdown of religious affiliation of the 212 families interviewed show that 21 percent of the people of the community are First Baptist; 10 percent are Central Baptist; 17 per cent are Methodists; 8 per cent are Church of Christ; 6 percent are Catholic and the other 38 percent, including childreligious groups.

Among the findings: 98 percent of the homes interviewed had Bibles, and a total of 755 Bibles were counted. Of these, 83 percent were the King James version; 5 percent were Revised Version; 6 percent were American Standard; 3 percent were New English or Phillips Bibles; 2 percent were Catholic Bibles and .9 were other versions.

Other findings include: Sixty percent of those contacted including children said they are members of some religious body. Seventy-eight percent said their children attend Sunday morning Bible school weekly. The survey also revealed that 15 percent attend seldom while 7 percent are not enrolled in any Sunday School program.

Forty percent said they attend church services weekly and 28 percent more than once a week. Sixty percent of one percent answered that they attend only on special occasions while 32 percent of the families interviewed seldom or never attend.

Opinions on the inspiration of the Bible, baptism, and the resurrection of Christ were also asked.

When asked, "Do you believe that the Bible is the only book given by God to save men?", 83 percent said "yes", 1 percent said "no", 5 percent were undecided and 5 percent refused to answer.

When asked, "Is Baptism sprinkling, pouring, or immersion?" 24 percent said "sprinkling", 58 percent said "immersion", 7 percent said it was up to the individual and 4 percent refused to answer.

When asked "Do you believe that Jesus lived, died, and was raised from the dead?" 95 percent said "yes", 1 percent said "no", 2 percent were undecided and 2 percent refused to answer.

When asked "Do you believe a more personal relationship with Jesus would make you happier," 89 percent said "yes", 4 percent said "no", 4 percent were undecided, and 4 percent refused to answer.

Cecil Cox, local Church of Christ minister said, "We wish to thank everyone in the community for your splendid cooperation in making this survey a success. The students who made the survey said that this was the friendliest community they had ever seen. As soon as homes where people were not at home are contacted, a card file containing this information will be placed in the city hall and will be available for anyone to consult.

"There were 102 families who requested to see the colored films on a survey of the Bible. We have purchased several extra sets of equipment and will try to show these films to everyone just as soon as possible. Because so many have asked to see them, we only ask that everyone be patient until we can make an appointment."

dist Church, Bronte.

Mrs. Yarbrough said designation of the Hayrick Lodge Building is a distinct honor to the local lodge and to the town. She urged everyone in the area to attend the program.

Wording on the marker reads as follows:

"Hayrick Lodge 696, A.F. & A.M. Organized 1890 at Hayrick, first county seat of Coke County. Moved to Robert Lee 1891. This hall was built by contractor S. C. Wilkins, of concrete blocks mixed and cast by hand. First story has housed many businesses, U. S. Offices."

BRONTE MERCHANTS WOULD LIKE YOUR VACATION BUSINESS

Vacations are the order of the day and will continue to be for the next couple of months. Many residents of Bronte will be taking to the road soon. Some will travel hundreds of miles and spend lots of time and money, while others will have to be content with a few days outing or maybe just a Sunday outing for the family.

At any rate, most folks, this time of the year, are looking for some recreation.

Vacationing and tourism are big business now days, and everyone is out to try to get his share of the tourist's dollar.

Bronte merchants are aware of the fact that local vacationers can't spend all their money before they leave home, but they are ready and willing to serve in any way possible to get you ready for any sized trip you are about to take.

Two pages of advertisements in this week's Enterprise will serve as a reminder of the many items and services that are available right here at home before you leave. The offerings of these business people are conceived with the idea of making your trip more pleasant and trouble-free.

For instance an automobile that has something wrong with it is not much fun on a vacation. The fun of an outing is cut down to nothing if you don't have the proper equipment or clothing to do what you want to. Travel insurance gives you peace of mind while you're away. Matters like these can easily be taken care of before you leave Bronte, and usually at much lower cost than at some resort or vacation spot.

Your local businessman will appreciate your business before you go and you'll be glad you took care of everything possible in advance. Read the ads in this week's Enterprise and patronize the firms which can supply you with required merchandise and services.

Bennie Carol Oglesby spent last week in Midland with her cousins. Jimmy McCullough returned home with her and is spending this week here.

Full Responsibility

When we accept a call from a bereaved family, we also accept complete responsibility for all aspects of the service from that moment until all members of the funeral cortege have been escorted safely from the cemetery. And even afterward, if we can be of any service to the family in the weeks following their bereavement, we are always happy to do so. This is a professional obligation we have always been ready to assume with full understanding of the many difficulties it entails, and also of the spiritual reward which helping others can confer.

Choosing Lace Fabrics

This is the year for lace and with summer weddings in full swing, many will choose this fabric for these special occasion garments.

Lace is not difficult to sew with, but it is helpful to follow certain guides. When selecting a pattern, choose one with a minimum number of seams, darts and special details, so that the lace itself will show to the best advantage. Take into consideration the weight and type of lace. Is it a one way design, all-over pattern or a panel design?

Lace may be worn over slip, or be underlined completely. The method you choose depends on your personal preference, the lace you are using and your pattern. An underlining is usually required for sheer laces with lightly embroidered patterns on net like backgrounds such as Alencon and Chantilly.

The underlining adds strength and body which takes some of the strain of wear off the fragile lace. The sleeves may be left unlined for a transparent effect. Heavier or re-embroidered laces such as Cluny or Venice may be underlined for an opaque effect or they can be worn over a slip. A nude color underlining gives a sheerer effect than a darker color.

When selecting linings, choose china silk for softly draped lines and taffeta for crisp, bouffant effects. Check the label on taffeta for color fastness. A lining of good quality cotton or man-made fibers is satisfactory for the semi-sheer look. The cotton lining is especially suitable for cotton lace.

Add Nutrition to Your Beverages

For a summer treat for your youngsters and their small fry friends, you may want to use chilled grape juice. This colorful and nutritious food is plentiful and a good buy.

There are varied ways for using grape juice. Try some of these suggestions from USDA home economists and Extension nutritionists:

1. Grape freeze is a breeze to make. Prepare whipped dessert topping according to package directions and fold in frozen undiluted grape juice, at the mush stage, until the flavor suits your taste. Brighten with red food coloring if you like. Pour into a refrigerator tray or individual sherbert glasses and freeze until firm.

2. Grape-pineapple drink appeals to those who like the unusual. Mix 1 quart of grape juice with a No. 2 can of pineapple juice. Sweeten to taste with a mild flavored honey. Grated lemon peel adds a tang that many like.

3. Sparkling grape punch is good for teenage parties. Follow your favorite punch recipe and substitute grape juice for at least half of the total fruit juice. The distinctive flavor appeals to the younger set.

4. Grape-orange float is sure to please as a dessert for teenage parties. Fill a sherbert glass a little less than half full of chilled grape juice and add a scoop of orange sherbert. It's both colorful and good.

5. Grape juice appetizer starts a meal with a colorful flair. Dilute frozen grape juice, following package directions and serve with a thin slice of lemon floated on top of each glass of juice. It's pretty and a little extra lemon juice will increase the tartness and popularity of the drink.

Picnic Foods Now Plentiful in Stores

College Station, June 23 — July is Picnic Month. And with July comes a variety of picnic foods in abundant supply, reports the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Such fruits as fresh plums, peaches and watermelons make the perfect climax to the best picnics. Young chicken — fried and ready for the family outing — will provide the perfect main course. And there are lots of fresh vegetables, such as tomatoes, onions and fresh corn, that will make tasty additions to your picnic meals.

All these foods will be arriving at local markets in plentiful supply this month, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service.

This year's California plum production is estimated at 115,000 tons — slightly below crops of the two preceding years but 21 percent greater than average. Since most of the crop is marketed fresh, you'll find lots of plums available for your eating pleasure this July.

Peach production is also estimated slightly below that of last year but well above average.

Barring adverse weather, July should be a prime month for watermelons. Watermelon acreage is almost up to last year, when large harvests went to market. Fresh vegetables will be present in abundance during this big summer vegetable month.

Marketing of frying-sized chickens is expected to run around 10 percent greater than a year ago. So supplies should be heavy.

Watch for these plentiful foods when you do your July shopping.

Frank Grimes is home after being hospitalized in Shannon Hospital in San Angelo. His condition remains serious.

VA Representative Coming to Angelo

A Veterans Administration contact representative will be in San Angelo one day a week to personally assist veterans interested in benefits provided by the new GI Bill.

The VA representative will be in the basement, Room 1-B, Tom Green County Court House from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. each Tuesday, Jack Coker, manager of the VA Regional Office in Waco announced.

The service is temporary and is being provided now because of the high volume of inquiries being received about the new GI Bill, the VA manager said.

Veterans discharged from the Armed Forces after January 31, 1955, are eligible for benefits provided by the new law. These are educational assistance, home and farm loans, medical care, job counseling, job placement, federal employment preference and issuance of burial flags.

GOLF TOURNEY RESULTS

Winner of the Scotch Threesome Best Ball tournament Sunday at the local golf course were:

1st — A. E. Bell, Clyde and Ronnie Lee with a record low score of 54.

Cumbie Ivey Jr., Royce Lee, C. O. Richards and Randy Barbee defeated Roy Stout, J. W. Caudle and Eddie Alexander in a playoff for 2nd and 3rd place.

Game Laws Tough For Violators

Austin, June 23 — The "hard luck" sports who can't do anything right are moving from outlaw hunting to good old summer time fishing but with the same negative results.

That is, the latest Texas Parks and Wildlife Department arrest report swings the emphasis from hunting in closed seasons, hunting at night and such to fishing without a license.

The gunning bracket included only 59 cases yet no-fishing-license violations totalled 495.

Individual fishing licenses cost $2.15. The fines usually start at $27.50 plus costs.

There was also an upswing in selling fish without a license with a total of 63 cases. Licenses to sell fish, in several categories, ranges upwards from $3.00.

Some of the outriggers tried to get theirs the easy way and were filed on for netting in closed waters.

The tariff got rough in a few instances, like the Houston man who paid a $200 fine plus costs for killing a doe deer out of season in Wharton County.

One fish netter paid a $50 fine and costs and another $25 and costs. Both were in Morris County.

Water safety violations included 24 for lacking life jackets for each person in boats.

Fines and court costs for the month totalled $16,578.47.

Boaters Warned To Use Caution

Austin, June 23 — Two tragic drownings already this summer from trying to retrieve drifting boats prompted the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department to caution water recreationalists on this hazard. In the latest case, an adult man leaped into a lake when his unfettered boat began drifting away from a dock. His intention was to swim to the craft.

In this instance, like the previous one also involving an adult, the speed of the boat exceeded that of the swimmer. Finally, exhausted, he sank.

The Department emphasized the buoyancy of an unoccupied boat since such light craft sits high in the water and thus catches the full impact of any breezes.

"It requires a pretty fast and well-trained swimmer to catch up with a drifting boat under these circumstances," said a Department spokesman. Another common cause of drownings noted by the Department involves swimmers setting up a distant target and then on arriving finding a non-bouyant floating object instead of a fixed resting place.

"The surprise under such circumstances borders on shock and can well trigger fatal panic," said the Department spokesman.

"Of course, the only recourse then is to utilize rest tactics, such as rolling over on the back and simulating a resting, floating pose."

The drowning rate, as unofficially counted by the Department, is running substantially ahead of the 1965 Texas toll when 200 persons perished in water recreational accidents.

Game wardens are now cooperating in enforcing a new water safety code that stresses standard use of life preservers.

Coke Man Making Campers, Trailers

Matthew Caperton of Bronte is a partner in a new industry in San Angelo. The new firm has been in operation about six weeks and is manufacturing a complete line of pickup campers and camper trailers. Caperton's partner in the venture is Al Lichnovsky, who is in charge of the plant, located at 2511 North Randolph.

Known as Caribou Craft, the new line includes pickup camper shells and over-cab campers as well as camper trailers. Caperton said they plan to manufacture other sporting goods, such as lightweight deer blinds in the near future.

Most of their work so far has been custom building to the customer's specifications. They can supply the campers either furnished or unfurnished.

The new firm is now in the process of setting up dealerships over West Texas, and the owners believe their business will boom once they secure dealers in most towns and cities of the area. Caperton said he will serve as dealer for the campers in Bronte.

He said anyone who is interested in being a dealer should contact him at Bronte or Lichnovsky at San Angelo.

Historians Want To Save Trees

In a move to preserve the natural beauty of Coke County, a scenic country gaining more notice since the location of the Robert Lee Dam here, the Coke County Historical Survey Committee, has passed a resolution calling upon the ASCS and cooperating landowners to preserve the groves of liveoak and pecan trees that might be included in brush clearing projects.

At the same time, the committee has called attention to the hearth sites of ancient people along the creeks, many of which have already been destroyed by bulldozers on ranches where owners and government agencies have not been conscious of their presence.

These small round clusters of burned rocks marked the wigwam sites of people who inhabited this country or passed through it for well over a thousand years.

The resolution follows: "The Coke County Historical Survey Committee respectfully calls attention of the ASCS and cooperating landowners or any other government agency assisting landowners in soil conservation or brush clearing work, to the little mounds that marked the ancient hearth sites in Coke County, and urges that these be located and preserved wherever at all possible.

"Also we urge that particular care be given to preservation of the old groves of trees that have stood through the centuries and help to make his county a place of beauty for both the tourists and those who live on the land."
