Clayton comments on state legislature

State representative Bill Clayton of Springlake told the Dimmitt Jaycees at their noon luncheon Thursday that he "felt the legislature made good progress, though hampered by the flood of bills."

CLAYTON TOLD the Jaycees that there were some 3,000 bills introduced in the Texas Legislature this session, and only 800 were passed during the 147 day period.

"I seriously doubt if Texas can remain on the biennial system of legislation," said Clayton. "It's not just to the people to work with an antiquated system such as this. When you have a cutoff date for the session to end, everyone rushes, trying to push their legislation through. Many people come to the sessions and never have a chance to testify. We need to modernize our process of legislation. Annual sessions would be the answer."

According to Clayton, the newly revised Penal Code of Texas will now be more advantageous from the standpoint of the prosecution.

"District and county attorneys will have a much easier chore in prosecuting their cases," he said.

CLAYTON SAID he felt that the addition of several new state programs without raising taxes was "quite an accomplishment on the part of the legislature."

"I don't expect a great deal of change in the form of electing the judiciary when constitutional revisions begin, but I feel the court system needs revamping," said Clayton.

Clayton, who formally announced his candidacy for Speaker of the House Tuesday, estimated his campaign costs at $40,000 to $60,000. He cited travel expenses as his main item of cost, and said he has established finance committees in several of the communities in his district.

"Anybody wants to move forward, and I think I can see some areas where I could improve the house as speaker," he said.

The picture at the right shows the view at the same corner from the inside. Target date for completion of the $210,000 library is sometime next month.

Pioneer executive speaks on available natural gas

K. Bert (Tex) Watson, president and chief executive officer of Pioneer Natural Gas Co., speaking before a luncheon meeting of city officials and civic leaders from area towns about dimmitt and castro county by b. m. n.

I should have mentioned it in this space several weeks ago, but among my non-virtues is that I procrastinate. All of the first sentence is my lead to mentioning a contribution, received from M. A. Kelly of Fort Worth, to the Rhoads Library fund. Old M. A. just hauled off and wrote a check on his personal account, stuck it in an envelope with a short note instructing me to see that the money got into the hands of the right people involved in the library building project. His instructions were carried out to the letter. I would perform the same chore for anyone else who cares to send some money back to their home town to benefit this worthy project. Thanks M. A.

An often made remark is that "I'm tired of hearing about the Watergate mess." It is possible that everybody is tired of the term as it is commonly used, maybe it is time that a new approach to the matter is used, how about "I'm tired of proceedings leading up to the impeachment of the president." Until recently so-called conservative newspapers and well-meaning republicans defended the honesty and reputation of the president. They were sure that he would offer proof that he had no knowledge of the Watergate mess and the subsequent cover up efforts, but apparently they have given up all hope of him having a satisfactory explanation.

in the company's Hereford district Tuesday, said, "Pioneer continues to enjoy an enviable position with reference to its gas reserves."

THE MEETING was the first of a series to be held throughout Pioneer's West Texas system during the month of June. The purpose of these programs is to give the communities served by Pioneer an up-to-date report on the energy problems facing the nation and Pioneer's position in this situation.

Quoting from the company's 1972 Annual Report, Watson pointed out that, based on 1972 gas consumption, Pioneer's reserves are sufficient for approximately 14 years. He went on to say, "After deducting all current contractual commitments to all large industrial customers, the volume of reserves is sufficient to supply all other customers at the 1972 consumption level for a net reserve life index that exceeds 20 years."

Court looks votes over

The Castro County Commissioners' Court canvassed the votes from the recent Nazareth incorporation election at their Monday meeting.

ACCORDING to County Judge Raymond Wilson, the canvass showed that Greg Hoelting has been elected mayor of the new city, and Urban Ball and Joe Drerup will be councilmen.

"I don't know if all these men will accept the positions," said Wilson. "There might possibly be a runoff later," he added.

The court received bids on a truck for use on the roads in Precincts 2 and 3, but found that the dealers making bids were unsure when they could make delivery. Hudiburg-Jones Chevrolet of Amarillo made the low bid of $4364.11, and estimated that delivery could be made in two weeks, but none of the bids were accepted.

"We expect to be able to continue to offer this industrial service, which should prove to be a real competitive advantage for the communities we serve," he added.

Wykes rites set for today

Services for Edward O. Wykes, 78, of Hart will be at 2 p.m. today, (Thursday) in the Hart Baptist Church.

REV. VAN EARL Hughes, interim pastor of the church will officiate.

Burial will be in the Plainview Memorial Park under the direction of Lemons Funeral Home.

Wykes died Tuesday in Central Plains Hospital in Plainview after a lengthy illness.

HE WAS a member of the First United Methodist Church in Quanah, the Quanah Rifle Club, the Quanah Volunteer Fire Department and the American Legion. He was a veteran of World War I.

Prior to his retirement, Wykes was an ice plant manager in Quanah. Survivors include his wife, Ruby; four daughters, Mrs. Robert Risdall of Greenville, Mrs. Richard Danielson of New Orleans, Mrs. Boyd Searcey of Norman, Okla., and Mrs. Warren Lemons of Hart; three sisters, Mrs. Julia Roark of Arlington, Mrs. Nora Juby of Briggs, and Mrs. Mildred Moore of Lampasas; and 10 grandchildren.

and said that projections for gas costs for 1973, made two years ago, were surpassed a year ago, and it is assured that this trend will continue in the foreseeable future.

According to Watson, Pioneer's acquisitions of new gas supplies since the beginning of the year have been promising and the cost of gas adjustment currently in effect has provided the company with the ability to negotiate for new gas supplies in the highly competitive market.

Watson predicted that in the near future it may be necessary to change the cost of gas adjustment to a quarterly basis in order for Pioneer to maintain its position of advantage in the area of gas supply.

"In this rapidly changing business we have stayed in a comparatively good gas supply position, and we can foresee a continuation of this position, although there are numerous pitfalls as the nation proceeds through the extreme energy problems in the near term," said Watson.

Birkenfeld rites held

Funeral services for Chris Birkenfeld, 61, were held Tuesday in Holy Family Catholic Church in Nazareth.

REV. RALPH Zinzer officiated. Burial was in Holy Family Cemetery under the direction of Dennis Funeral Home.

Birkenfeld a Nazareth farmer and stockman, died about 5:30 Sunday morning at his home, following an apparent heart attack. He was born in Rhineland. Survivors include his wife, Rose; five sons, Carol, Joe and Leslie, all of Nazareth, Ronald of Lamar, Colo., and Bryan of Irving; two daughters, Mrs. Alverna Schacher of Lazbuddie and Mrs. Stephanie Dobbmeier of Nazareth; his mother, Mrs. Katherine Homer of Rhineland; six brothers, Lawrence and Leonard of Nazareth, Joe of Goree, and Mike, Luke and Francis, all of Rhineland; two sisters, Teresia Koetter of Dallas and Mrs. Margaret Vita of Seymour; and 19 grandchildren.

Work goes on despite break

It may be vacation time for most of Dimmitt's youngsters as school has been dismissed for the summer months, but it's something less than vacation time for administrators and maintenance personnel.

"I think it's a misconception to call this summer vacation, our work actually picks up during the summer," said Supt. Charlie White.

According to White, maintenance personnel are busy repairing blinds, plumbing and electrical problems. They are also sanding down and refinishing desks, cleaning floors, and getting the buildings ready for another school year.

"We are busy interviewing prospective teachers, filing reports, hiring personnel, and doing many other things right now," said White. "The instructors are supposed to be off right now, but many of them are attending schools and workshops to supplement their academic areas or to complete their education in another field."

The director of special services is currently shipping outdated and damaged books back to the state, and health and driver education classes are being conducted at the high school.

"We have to plan a budget and get it approved prior to the beginning of school," said White.

"We just close out a year and have to start another one during the summer. I've had about a week of vacation time," he added.

So, while most of Dimmitt's students begin to savor their summer of fun in the sun, school administrative and maintenance personnel will proceed with work as usual.

SCHOOL GOES ON during the summer for members of the administrative, curriculum and business offices of local schools. Here, Dena Phillips (left), secretary of the curriculum office, and Evie Froehner, supervisor of instruction, collate sheets for the catalog of audio-visual aids in stock at South Elementary School for the 1973-74 school year. Hundreds of such jobs have to be done while students are enjoying their summer vacation.

Danneviks take 10 day trip in South, see New Orleans

By MYRTLE SHEFFY

Bill and Martha Dannevik and children Leisa, Debbie and Paul are home from a ten-day trip to the South.

The first stop was at A&M in College Station, Bill's school. They saw friends and how big the college has grown. They went south to New Orleans, had lunch at the Court of Two Sisters and tried to see all the French Quarter. They crossed that bridge 7 miles or more across Lake Ponchartraine, then took the Gulf road by Gulport to Mobile, Ala., on to Florida, saw much swamp land but most was pretty. Headed for Disney World, a marvel of manmade things, rode the mono rail to the little islands. Guess you will have to go see for yourself. They came home by Georgia and across Mississippi, stopped in Vicksburg to see the old Civil War burial ground, also the battle ground. Many beautiful gardens and big houses there, then home.

THE GOLDEN boys, the twins, Donald and Vicki and Ronald and Delores are home from a wonderful trip to Hawaii. This was a WTSU graduation gift from the boys' parents, Ward and Oleta Golden. GOD LOOKS ON THE HEART

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Man's first reactions to another is based on outward appearances, and only time will help him to know the heart of another. God knows, immediately, every attitude of the heart, whether it is good or bad. "Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God." There are many rewards for those that follow the Lord. "Let the heart of them rejoice that seek the Lord."

Thrasher also shows a "Brother of the Brush" badge, left over from the last county-wide beard contest in 1966, which will be issued to many bewildered denizens between now and Roundup Week, Aug. 11-19. Many men are cultivating facial stubble now, while others are opting out for the shaving permit. The alternative is a dip in the public horse trough, which the Jaycees are planning to set up this week.

Greetings Comrades.

We had a regular monthly meeting Monday night, June 4. We didn't break any attendance records but we did have a nice crowd.
I WOULD like to announce that it was decided at the meeting to discontinue our Game Night for the summer and resume our program this fall. Just when we'll start up again will be determined later at one of our regular meetings.

If you're wondering why we decided this, it's because there were so many people taking advantage of the extra hour of sunshine to do chores and odd jobs at home that they had been putting off all winter. Also with a lot of people on vacation our attendance was down, so we decided it would be best to discontinue Game Night for a while.

COMRADES and sister auxiliary members I have another important announcement to make. This coming Friday, June 15, our post home will be visited by Mrs. Anne T. James, State President of the Ladies Auxiliary. This will be an official District 13 visit by Mrs. James, and members of posts in our district will convene at our post home at 7:30 for the activities. After the meeting there will be a covered dish supper, compliments of the Ladies Auxiliary.

Let's all make definite plans to attend this event and give Mrs. James a most cordial welcome to our post home that we are so proud of. After all, we are the best and most active post in District 13, so let's make an all out effort to be here Friday night to welcome her and our out of town guests.

WE HAVE made another improvement on our post home, thanks to our good member Fred Bruegel Jr. Fred donated a big down draft evaporative cooler to the post and it was installed this last weekend. The cooler was installed on the east end of the building and the outlet is in the lounge area. I must say it does do a most effective job for added comfort and the good part about it, it is a two-speed cooler.
Our hats are off to you Fred and a big "thank you" to the men who installed it.

Notions should match fabrics

Notions counter visits should happen right after fabric purchases.

"THIS MIGHT save the homemaker another trip to the fabric store," Marilyn Brown, consumer education-clothing and textiles specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said.

"Some notions should be purchased each time a fabric is purchased to insure a proper match and appropriateness to the particular garment and its style.

"Buttons, threads, zippers, bindings, trim and tapes are examples."

Consumers should use the back of the pattern envelope to guide selections, she suggested.

"GENERALLY it's a good idea to keep on hand a supply of the more standard notions, such as pins, needles, hooks and eyes to save frustration and sewing interruptions.

"Other notions are so specialized they're only purchased for specific garments, such as trouser hooks and eyes, weights for tailored-jacket hems or lace seam binding.

"Tapes, laces and bindings in matching colors will give the inside of the garment a custom-made look, not to mention perfectly finished edges.

"This couture finishing — which makes a garment a delight to wear — requires proper sizes and types of notions," she added.

Yards need adequate water

By IRENE KEATING

We had a very good time at State 4-H Roundup last week. The girls were ninth with their Natural Resources demonstration, "Balance of Nature." Congratulations Agnes Acker and Christine Wilhelm for this achievement. The trip home via Six Flags was also fun. (Would you believe it was my first?)

ALL OF US are in the midst of yard and garden work. My reminder to you is to be sure to water adequately due to the hot dry weather we're having. It is best to water yards and gardens so moisture goes down to a depth of 4 to 6 inches rather than watering merely the top of the ground.

HERE IS this month's garden calendar from our Landscape

BUILDING MATERIALS CAPABLE—DEPENDABLE

Horticulturist, Everett Janne.

1. A good mulch helps prevent summer heat damage. Almost any plant will benefit from the use of a good mulch. It conserves water, reduces soil temperature, reduces weeds, prevents compaction and keeps vegetables cleaner. Fresh organic mulch materials may require additional nitrogen fertilizer to overcome the deficiency caused by the decomposition of the organic matter.

2. If beds are not mulched keep soil around plants loose and cultivated to allow better water penetration and aeration. With repeated watering, soils often become compacted.

3. Do not allow hydrangeas, coleus, caladiums and mums to suffer from lack of moisture. Caladiums will go dormant and the foliage will die. The other will get hard woody stems and stop growing.

4. IF IRRIGATION is needed, water thoroughly and allow soil to become dry before watering again. This encourages deeper root penetration and aids in plant growth.

5. You can still plant some of the heat loving summer annuals as vinca, salvia, zinnia, marigold and portulaca. Except for zinnia, it is best to use started plants rather than seed.

6. To keep annuals blooming over a longer period, remove the faded blossoms and provide occasional light applications of a complete fertilizer.

7. If you move house plants out of doors, place them in a shaded garden bed and plunge the pots into the soil.

8. Remember to water container plants and hanging baskets frequently. On a dry windy day several waterings may be necessary.

9. DIG AND divide those beds of crowded spring flowering bulbs as soon as the foliage dies.

10. Observe the beauty of the blooming daylily and select the new varieties you want in your garden.

11. Roses still need monthly applications of fertilizer and weekly spray applications for insect and disease control.

12. Pests to watch for and control this month include:

a. Elm leaf beetle — Sevin spray applied as needed or at weekly intervals. Be sure to cover under side of leaves.

b. Lace Bugs — on pyracantha, azalea, chrysanthemum, sycamore, etc. Injury appears as spotted or mottled grayish discolorations on upper leaf surface. Insects usually on lower leaf surface. Control with diazinon, (spectracide) dimethoate (cygon) or malathion.

c. SPIDER MITES — Small oval reddish mites having 8 legs. Almost need hand lens to see. Usually on under surface of leaf. Attack many types of plants. Control with Kelthane. Indiscriminate use of Sevin in the garden can result in build-up of mite populations due to the eradication of their natural predators.

d. Tent Caterpillars — Frequently found in pecan, mulberry and other trees. High pressure spray of malathion or Sevin will control. Removal of nest or web with cane pole will also expose insects to birds and other natural predators.

f. Aphid, scale and whitefly — control with diazinon or malathion.

g. Powdery Mildew — Attacks roses, crepe myrtle, zinnia, and euonymus as well as many others. Control with Karathane, Acti-dione Pr, or benomyl.

h. Fireblight — Burned looking leaves on pear, loquat, apple and pyracantha. Bacterial disease. Remove dead or infected wood. Disinfect pruning tools after each cut using a 10 percent chlorine solution. (One part clorox to nine parts water.)

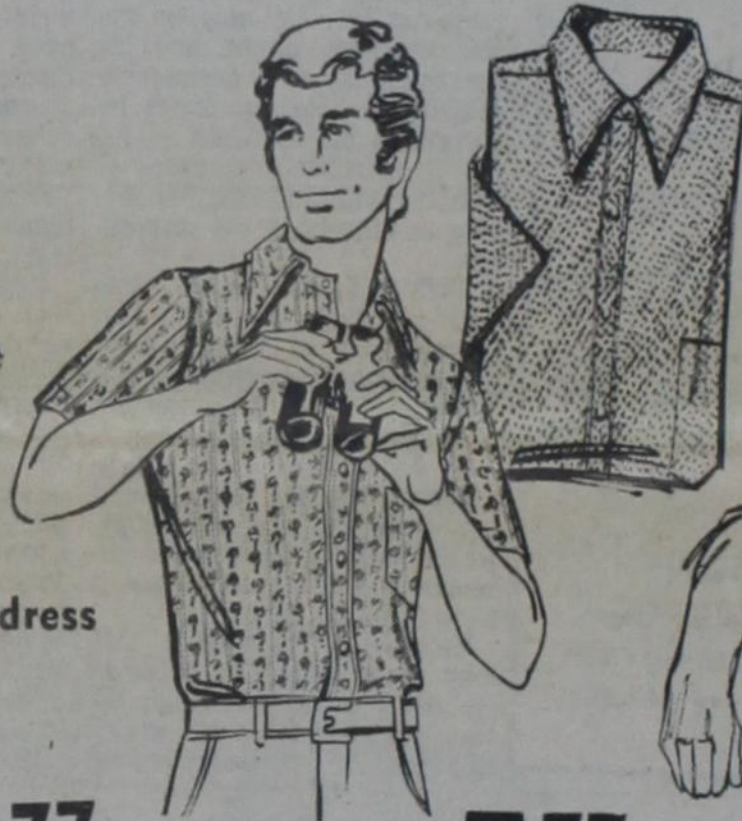

13. TO EDGE grass along flower beds, under chain link fence and around foundations use naphtha in a tank type sprayer using low to moderate pressure. Spray every four to six weeks. Naphtha kills plant tissue on contact. Avoid getting it on tender bark or leaf surface of desirable plants. Use just enough to thoroughly wet the leaves and stems of undesirable plants.

HE MAY DRESS differently or drive his truck more often than his car, but the American farmer is a businessman. He's both management and labor. He knows no eight-hour days, five-day weeks or overtime pay. And he can't strike for higher wages.

The American Farmer

He's succeeding where many corporations fail

(Editor's note: This is the third in a series of articles on the American farmer. The series is furnished courtesy of an effort to increase public understanding of this important industry.)

Who is this man — the American Farmer?

THE VAST majority of farms in the United States are family owned or operated. The primary business of these owners and operators is farming, although some supplement their farm income by off-farm employment.

Perhaps the term "family farmer" is misleading. Mention the words to many, and minds immediately dart back to "the good old days." They conjure up thoughts of a small farm being operated by a self-sufficient and independent family.

But the 1973 version of the family farmer isn't like that. He's not self-sufficient, and he knows it.

HE HAS organized his farm as a business enterprise, and he operates it to achieve a profit. He provides most of the management and capital and he assumes all of the financial risk.

Along with his family, he performs most of the labor. He might hire extra labor, but usually only during peak work periods.

He may own his land or he may rent it. He may be the sole operator, or he and his son might have a partnership established. He sometimes incorporates his operation — for tax or inheritance purposes — with his wife and children serving as officers in the corporation.

HE'S WILLING to go into debt and finds, in fact, that he must rely on credit to keep his operation competitive and efficient enough to support an acceptable standard of living.

Unlike farmers of past generations, he's not suspicious of new ways and new technology. He believes in agricultural research and he's quick to put it to work on his farm.

He's not a "hayseed." He may dress differently or drive his truck more often than his car, but he knows the world. His areas of knowledge range from ecology to economics.

DURING THE past three decades, he's seen more than half of his neighbors leave their farms and seek other employment. They did this, not always by choice, but because the rules of our economy demand efficiency. He is the man who made it this far — the "fittest" survivor of the unrelenting economic pressures of our free-competitive society.

Some express concern that agriculture is under the control of large corporate farms. Of the 2.9 million farms in the United States, less than 0.1 percent of them are owned or operated by corporations with ten or more shareholders, and they account for less than three percent of total farm sales.

Several corporations have entered farming, many of them to their own regret. The results have been nothing short of financial disasters. Farm Journal recently analyzed these corporate flops and cited the major reason for their failures: "Financially oriented brass didn't really understand farming."

FARM JOURNAL found another difference between the corporate farmer and the family farmer — thriftiness! "The front-line manager farmed strictly first class, figuring he had plenty of money to spend because the outfit was big." One of the family farmer's biggest assets is his ability to watch his dollars carefully and invest them wisely, because he's never known it any other way.

Corporate farmers can't afford to overlook the one factor (See AMERICAN, Page 10)

WON'T BE LONG NOW—The sidewalk in front of the new addition to the TG&Y Store was poured last Wednesday, after exterior glass and trim work were completed. Meanwhile, interior finishing work is underway, and Manager Don Shrum anticipates an August opening for the new addition. After completion of the project, the expanded store will be twice its original size, and will be one of the largest variety stores in the TG&Y chain.

Disease hitting grain sorghum

Diseases are hitting the grain sorghum crop in various parts of Texas and producers are urged to keep close check on their crop as the season progresses.

THE MAIN disease culprits showing up at the present time are downy mildew and maize dwarf mosaic virus (MDMV). "Producers should take a critical look at their crop to see if either of these diseases is attacking plants," says Dr. Wendell Horne, plant pathologist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "They can overcome the disease problem by planting a resistant variety next year."

"In other words, the farmer needs to take a business-like approach to the matter with an eye on next year. He needs to keep notes of any disease and other problems he is having this year in order to do a better job next year."

MDMV is generally recognized by mottled upper leaves of plants, explains the specialist. There are certain hybrids that are more susceptible to this disease and some show a prominent red leaf when temperatures range below 60 degrees.

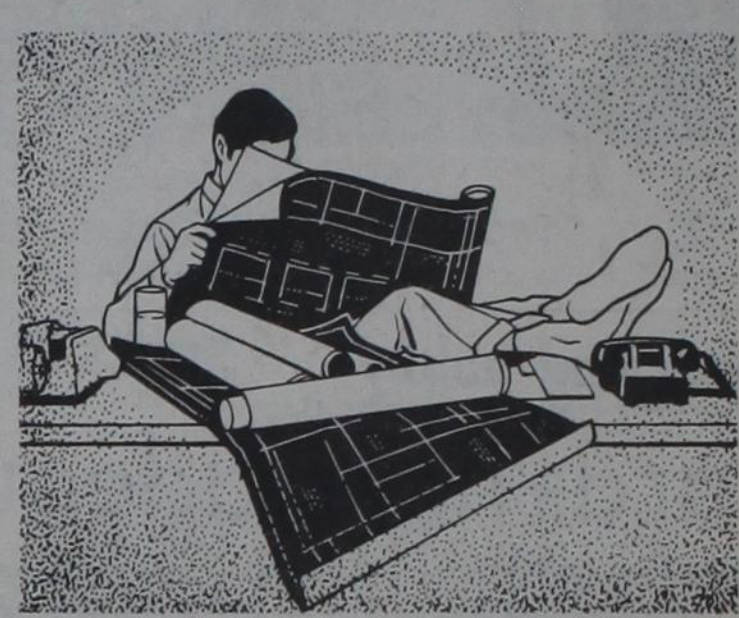

THE VIRUS lives in the rhizomes (underground stems) of Johnsongrass and is transmitted by aphids to corn and grain sorghum.

MDMV will not produce sterility but grain yields will be reduced depending on the degree of infection. Losses are generally heavier when the disease appears when the crop is young, points out Horne. Downy mildew is identified by the striping of a plant's leaves. The striping is prominent and can be easily identified by someone familiar with the disease.

Horne notes that this disease is serious in that it causes sterility in the plant — the plant either does not produce a head or produces a head that does not bear grain.

"COUNTY AGENTS can assist producers in identifying these diseases and can provide information on resistant varieties for next year's crop," says Horne.

Is now the time to build or improve?

A new home, modern buildings, increased efficiency for handling livestock, land improvements — investments like these are too important to postpone. A Federal Land Bank loan, made for extra years and at reasonable cost, makes such things possible for many who might otherwise be forced to delay them.

Building material and labor costs aren't likely to come down in the near future. Loan costs? The Land Bank is committed to provide credit at reasonable interest. And you may prepay your loan at any time without penalty.

Let us analyze your plans for housing or expansion and come up with a practical way to meet your goals. We usually can find ways to get you started toward greater income and more comfortable living without unnecessary waiting.

Besides the good times you'll have cooking out, you enjoy the convenience of having a gas grill. You'll probably find yourself cooking on it just because you wanted to get out of the kitchen or didn't want to mess up the broiler of your kitchen range.

Mustard stains hard to remove

Summer means home runs, roaring crowds and mustard dripping down clothes.

MUSTARD IS one of the hardest stains to remove due to its chemical make-up, according to Marilyn Brown, consumer education-climbing and textiles specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

"It's a combination of salt, spices, oil, vinegar, tannin, turmeric and oxidized oil — which means it needs immediate treatment when you get home.

"Remove mustard in washable, bleachable fabrics by rubbing detergent into dampened stain. Then rinse. If stain isn't removed, soak article in hot detergent solution for several hours, or overnight, if necessary.

"If stain remains, launder in hot water using chlorine bleach. However, since chlorine bleach can't be used on all fabrics, test it first by applying bleach to a hidden part of the garment and examine it for fiber damage and color or appearance changes.

"AS A RULE, chlorine bleach can't be used on non-colorfast fibers, such as wool, silk, acetate, spandex (elastic) and polyester.

For mustard in non-bleachable fabrics, the specialist recommended the same method, "except launder in warm water and omit the chlorine bleach."

"If alcohol can't be used — or if it doesn't remove stain completely, follow treatment for washable articles, omitting the soaking."

Onions may upset tradition and summon smiles.

VALLEY ONIONS helping increase supplies are easing the greatest onion shortage in 50 years — and prices are moderate, according to Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt.

The consumer marketing information specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said economical vegetable choices in upcoming weeks will include corn, potatoes, okra, carrots, green onions, radishes, cabbage and cooking greens.

At fruit counters grapefruit prices swinging upward reflect lighter supplies, but oranges remain plentiful and reasonably priced.

"Texas-grown honeydew melons are making their appearance at first-of-the-season prices, as are fresh peaches.

"AND AT OTHER counters, strawberries, cantaloupes, pineapples, bananas, cherries and watermelons deserve consideration."

Turning to dairy sections, the specialist predicted numerous features.

"Good values will be found on a variety of milks and natural cheddar cheeses. Sour cream, margarine and cottage cheese will also wear special price tags."

At the meat counter, beef prices remain about the same, but more "specials" will be offered, so check carefully, Mrs. Clyatt advised.

SHE CITED chuck cuts, round steaks, ground beef and beef liver as best buys.

Pork features, scattered and limited, will offer values on smoked ham portions, some brands of bacon and frankfurters, picnics and pork shoulder steaks.

"At the poultry counter prices on fryer chickens, at about the same level for three weeks, likely will trend upward as the summer demand increases.

THE LONGEST beard ever recorded was grown by Hans H. Lanoseth of North Dakota. After 36 years, it reached a length of 11 feet, six inches.

PROFESSIONAL LIVESTOCK SUPPLY, INC., HAS WHAT YOU NEED FOR FLY SEASON

There are many ways you can kill flies around livestock, pens and barns: you can bait 'em, spray 'em, dust 'em, strip 'em or fog 'em.

No matter which attack you'd rather use, you can get the fixings and mixings for it at Professional Livestock Supply, Inc. And you'd better make it quick, because flies have a way of taking over the place overnight.

At Professional Livestock Supply, Inc., Mr. and Mrs. Lee Roy Wood can fix you up with all the supplies you need for the fly season. They have Golden Malrin spray and sugar bait, insect strips that hang in the home or barn, Pfizer dust bags, big foggers for three-point hookup to a tractor, and hand foggers to eliminate flies in the home, barn, stock pen or yard.

"That hand fogger is really handy," Wood explains. "You can set it under a house and let it fog a while and you won't have many more problems with insects in your home. And it's good for spot control of insects in the yard and around."

Whether you want to de-fly a room or a whole feedyard, Professional Livestock Supply, Inc., has the equipment and chemicals you need for the job.

If you've been in the store since it opened 3 1/2 months ago, you know Professional Livestock Supply, Inc., has hundreds of other supplies to keep your livestock in the peak of condition—medicines, vaccines, insecticides, doctoring instruments, food supplements, grooming tools and all types of stock-handling accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Wood opened Professional Livestock Supply, Inc., at 111 E. Bedford St. on Feb. 26. It's the first store of its kind in Dimmitt. (Wood served local stockmen out of a Hereford office before moving here.)

Reception of the new store has been great.

"We've been open just over a quarter of a year now, and we're real pleased with the way we've been accepted," Wood said. "Business has been good, and we're looking forward to continuing to serve our old customers and gaining new ones."

While Mrs. Wood manages the office, Wood spends much of his time "loading out of the back" and delivering supplies direct to customers with his well-supplied mobile unit. Wood has been in the cattle business most of his life, and understands the kind of service stockmen need.

FUTURE FIRE FOLLOWER—The county has purchased this army surplus truck and Air Force surplus tank semi-trailer to provide extra water for the county's new rural fire engine which is now being built in Indiana. The truck is a 1952 GMC Army model with automatic transmission. Fire Chief Bobby Murdock said volunteer firemen will remove the truck bed and install a fifth-wheel connection for the tank trailer. The 2,500-gallon tanker unit, which originally carried fuel for Air Force planes, will be outfitted with a pump and motor so it can take up water from a fire plug, irrigation well or lake and pump it to the new truck. When completed, the "water wagon" will follow the new county fire truck to major rural fires when extra water is needed.

FRESHWATER shrimp usually are plentiful anywhere there are floating hyacinths. They are most often concentrated in the spongy roots of these plants.

The view from your library

By MARY EDNA HENDRIX
The Summer Reading Program has started!! We had 6 to sign up for this program last week even though three of our churches were having their Vacation Bible School. We hope many more will come to register in the next few days. Remember, if you read at least 12 books you will get a certificate (if you return all your books) and will be invited to attend the party at the close of the Summer Reading Program.

We will NOT give any prizes this year! Usually the Castro County News, KDHN, and I have given money to the winners but we decided they were reading just for the money instead of the enjoyment they could get from reading. So boys and girls come on in and register for the Summer Reading Program and be a READ-osaurus!

LAST FRIDAY Hazel Merritt and I attended a workshop in Amarillo at the Amarillo Public Library on "The Librarian and the Elderly." This workshop was presented by the Center for Studies in Aging from cooperation with the Governor's Committee on Aging and the Field Services Division from the Texas Library in Austin.

Dr. Sue Erp from Denton conducted the workshop assisted by Don Gilmore also from Denton. A film was shown "Step Aside, Step Down". This film and others on the elderly, "Seasons" and "Art of Ages" are available on loan from the Amarillo Public Library. Maurine Slocum who is with the Governor's Committee on Aging spoke on the State Programs and Resources in Aging and showed some interesting films on the Aging.

For an hour in the afternoon, we worked in small group sessions — on consideration of "How to" for the Librarian in working with the Elderly.

Some of the problems of the Elderly are:

- A. Income most important
- 1. 30 percent of older Texans are below the poverty level.
- B. Housing second most critical need.

- 1. 40 percent experience difficulty in meeting housing costs
- C. Health and Transportation Third most critical
- 1. 25 percent did not have enough money to pay doctor bills

- 2. 26 percent did not have enough money for drugs
- 3. 30 percent have transportation problems
- D. Isolation and Loneliness are critical needs

- 1. More than one-fifth expressed feeling of loneliness
- 2. 17 percent feel they have nothing to live for.

- E. Nutrition and fraud are additional problems.
- 1. From 12-26 percent expressed problems with some aspect of meals
- 2. 65 percent have been the victims of fraud in the past year.

THERE WERE over 50 attending this workshop but most of them were from nursing homes in Amarillo.

WHAT'S GOING ON behind the orange door? The old St. Luke's Methodist Mission Church building in South Dimmitt is getting a new look and a new purpose. The sign above the newly painted orange doorway announces, "Open House," and inside, the mission church is being converted to a "Christian Coffee House" by an interracial group of teenagers. The project is being coordinated by the Young Adults Class of the First United Methodist Church. The aim is to create a teen center where entertainment and refreshments can be combined with discussions of social concerns and mutual interests.

More about: American farmer

that makes farming different from other industries. Because they produce commodities and operate under totally free competition, farmers — unlike many businessmen — have never enjoyed the freedom to tack on a suitable margin of profit to the products they sell. In agriculture, the buyer normally commands more power than the seller. The farmer takes what he can get.

You can bet he'll be mighty careful when it comes time for him to buy equipment. And you can bet, too, that he will use it well. When it comes time to plant corn, and bad weather has set him behind, he'll be on the job 24 hours a day. There are no eight-hour days, five-day weeks or overtime paychecks for the farmer.

The Farm Journal study also revealed that many companies entering farming tried to grow too fast. "They didn't have a chance to make little mistakes before they made big ones." It all seems to point to one conclusion: It takes a farmer to understand farming.

Rev. Altman ends year as 'intern'

Rev. Larry Altman, a senior in the Perkins School of Theology at SMU, left Dimmitt this week after serving a year as an intern with the First United Methodist Church.

REV. ALTMAN was the first minister in training under the church's intern program, which was initiated last year in cooperation with SMU.

An active Jaycee for the past year, Rev. Altman was presented a commendation certificate and a Jaycee chaplain's pin by the Dimmitt Jaycees last Thursday.

Rev. Altman will serve this summer as associate pastor of the Forrest Heights United Methodist Church in Lubbock, working with Rev. Jim T. Pickens, who is being assigned to that church for the coming year. He will work with youth and assist in visitation and worship services at the Lubbock church. THIS FALL he will return to Perkins School of Theology for his senior year of training. His wife, Marlene, who has been with Behrends Insurance Agency here, has already returned to Dallas to work with an agency there this summer.

The new intern at the First United Methodist Church here will be Gene Wisdom, 26, a native of Lake Charles, La., who has just completed his "midding" year at Perkins School of Theology. He will arrive June 22.

Rev. Hester new pastor for Methodist church

Rev. J. Lennox Hester, 53 pastor of the First United Methodist Church of Seymour for the past nine years has been named the new pastor of the First United Methodist Church of Dimmitt.

BISHOP ALSIE H. Carleton made the announcement at the 64th session of the Northwest Texas Conference of the United Methodist Churches Thursday.

Rev. Hester replaces Rev. Jim T. Pickens, pastor of the Dimmitt church for the past five years, who has been transferred to the Forrest Heights United Methodist Church in Lubbock.

Since 1950, Rev. Hester has served as pastor of United Methodist Churches in Dalhart, Snyder, Littlefield, Childress, Phillips, and Seymour.

He has served on various boards and commissions of the Northwest Texas Conference, and was secretary of the Commission on World Service and Finance for four years. For the past eight years he has been chairman of the Commission on Ecumenical Affairs and also chairman of the delegates from the conference to the Texas Conference of Churches. He is now serving as a member of the Division of Education and on the Committee on High-

Rev. Hester

During the nine years Hester has been pastor of the First United Methodist Church in Seymour, the church has received 294 new members and has constructed a modern new church plant at a cost of $375,000.

Rev. Hester and his wife Irene have three daughters: Mrs. Linda Philpott of Glendale, Calif.; Mrs. Jerene Dawson of Fort Worth; and Mrs. Bettye Kuehler of Lubbock.

THEY ALSO have four grandchildren: Angie and Steven Philpott of Glendale, Calif., and Keith and Kevin Dawson of Fort Worth.

New rules to govern parks

State park superintendents across Texas are getting ready for the spring and summer surge of visitors.

THIS YEAR, rules governing conduct in parks have new teeth.

As approved by the Parks and Wildlife Commission and effective Jan. 1, 1973, parks personnel designated by the department will have enforcement powers and full authority to see that regulations are kept.

For years, it was more a matter of individual conscience of the visitor than enforcement. Violations of parks rules can now carry a maximum fine of $200.

NEW PARKS rules adopted by the commission are based on ones which have been in effect for many years with some clarifications and modifications.

Visitors will be furnished with a condensation of all rules when they enter a park or a full text upon request, and the rules will be posted in a prominent place.

Parks Operations supervisor Johnny Buck anticipates little problem this summer with the new rules or the capability of more stringent enforcement.

"Mostly, the new rules are common sense," said Buck. "A person, for the most part, will be within the law if he makes a conscientious effort not to disturb his neighbor and to protect park property."

BUCK ALSO reminds visitors that from May 1 through Sept. 15, the use of overnight facilities in all parks is limited to 14 consecutive days.

Also, a visitor may not leave a camp unit unoccupied during the first night after camping equipment has been set up, or leave a camp unattended for more than 24 hours thereafter without permission from the park superintendent.

With increased demands on all outdoor recreation opportunities, occupancy limits must be established to give the maximum number of citizens a chance to use the state parks.

Hunting, fishing license fee increase effective this fall

In ceremonies held at the State Capitol May 23, Gov. Dolph Briscoe signed legislation which raised fees charged for both hunting and fishing licenses.

MAJOR CHANGES which will affect most Texas sportsmen are increases in the resident hunting license charges from the previous $3.25 to $5.25 and the fishing fees from $2.15 to $4.25. Something new for this year, a combination resident hunting and fishing license for $8.75, was also approved by the Texas Legislature.

Resident hunting licenses are required of every Texan who hunts outside the county of his residence or who hunts deer or turkey. Exceptions are per-

Billing errors are avoidable

With so many people using credit today, the possibility of billing errors increases greatly.

"WHEN AN error occurs, a consumer may have difficulty locating the cause of error and the right person to correct it," says Mrs. Doris Myers, home management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Should an error occur, the specialist offered the following steps to correct it.

1. Notify the store immediately informing them of the error.

2. Obtain the name of the person contacted, making a note of it and date contacted. This information is helpful in case of necessary future contacts.

3. If contact is made in writing, don't send it with the bill — and don't write on the bill itself. Keep a copy of any letters sent for future reference.

4. Send a registered letter to the credit manager or company president if you experience difficulty obtaining adjustments on legitimate complaints.

In the letter, explain complaint in complete detail and give facts in a courteous manner. Also request that the post office furnish the signature of the person receiving the letter.

5. If still unable to settle a complaint, write the local Credit Bureau and Better Business Bureau. Provide details and copies of bills, receipts, cancelled checks or other evidence that prove your point. Also send a carbon copy of this report to the merchant involved.

"Usually with accurate records and a business-like manner, consumers can correct billing errors," the specialist continued.

"Legitimate businesses are anxious to retain 'the consumer's good will' — and keep him as a customer."

Mrs. Myers also listed several things consumers can do to help prevent billing errors in the first place.

— USE A credit card when charging merchandise.

— Examine sales slips to insure all spaces are correctly filled in and no unnecessary marks included.

— Before signing a bill, make sure the total is correct and in the right place.

— Save duplicate sales slips and check bills against them.

— Know when billing dates are and make or mail payments in time to arrive before the deadlines.

— Return the correct portion of a bill with remittance.

— CHECK bills for errors as soon as they're received.

president" started by questioning the lesser lights of the group, and are now hearing from men who were in high positions. It's a sordid mess but it must be exposed.

We are on the verge of the wheat harvest season. Very soon now the combines will begin to roll and the first commercial crop of the area will hit the market. Prices are good and crop prospects are excellent. I will be willing to make some effort to conserve fuel, even if I have to walk a few steps, if the farmer needs it to harvest his crops but I had better not catch him using any petrol on a fishing trip.

People who believe that the president is innocent of any wrongdoing or conniving with the people running his reelection campaign are naive, if not downright gullible. There was no way that all of the illegal and unethical acts that were performed by his closest advisers could take place without his knowledge. Richard Milhouse Nixon was dubbed "Tricky Dick", and with good reason, a long time ago. When he ran for the presidency we were told that he was a new Nixon, but all indications are that he is the same old Dick.

A Lions Club committee, will meet soon with Chamber of Commerce officials to discuss the revival of the local "Miss Grain Sorghum of the Nation" pageant. This has in the past been one of the finest promotional programs in the history of the county and it should be revived under the direction and supervision of the Chamber of Commerce.

If you will remember Richard ran on a "law and order" platform plank. His actions don't bear out his proclamations. This writer firmly believes there is no way to clean up the president, but there is a sure way to clean up the presidency.

Hope you like the paper this week, it is full of local news.

Outdoor game areas are fun

For outdoor fun this summer, consider the yard as an extension of your indoor living space. With this in mind you may decide to plan an outdoor game room, notes Everrett Janne, landscape horticulturist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

KEEPING IN mind the family's recreational interests, the specialist offers these suggestions for planning your outdoor gameroom.

Plan the play area for flexibility. Children do grow and their interests change. For example, a recessed sand box can be remodeled into a reflecting pool. A paved area for bicycles, skates and sidewalk games can later become a shuffleboard court.

Locate the play area for the little folks near the house with all the various elements close together for easy maintenance. A four-foot hedge surrounding the play area can be attractive and provides limited screening and acts as a sound barrier.

Set some space aside for children and adults. This area should be fairly large and somewhat removed from the rest of the outdoor living room.

USE ONE of the coarser grasses designed for heavy traffic to provide a good turf for lawn games. Badminton, volleyball, croquet and other similar sports can utilize the same space.

LL teams take lopsided wins

Little League action last week saw most teams winning by lopsided margins.

IN MONDAY games, the Dodgers downed the Tigers 6-2, while the Astros beat the Yankees 15-4, scoring 6 runs in both the second and third innings. The Cards romped past the Braves 25-3.

In Thursday games the Cards downed the Tigers 13-5, and the Dodgers beat the Yankees 15-6.

The Braves beat the Astros 18-14, but the Astros managed a 13 run comeback in the third inning.

Scores high in 3 Minor games

Last week's Minor League action saw three high-scoring games and one cliffhanger.

IN A GAME played Tuesday, the Cards blasted the Dodgers 21-10, while scoring numerous runs in every inning.

A second Tuesday game saw the Astros outlast the Yankees 10-9. The Astros scored 5 runs in the second inning, but the Yankees came back to score 5 runs of their own in the third.

In Friday games, the Yankees overwhelmed the Dodgers, 21-3, and the Astros downed the Cards 15-5.

County coeds on honor roll

Jacqueline Book of Dimmitt and Geraldine Brockman of Nazareth are among 274 students named to the Honor Roll for the spring semester at West Texas State University.

MISS BOOK, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Book Jr., had a 2.7 average.

Miss Brockman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Brockman, posted a 2.5 average.

To be eligible for the Honor Roll, a student must have a minimum 2.5 average on a 3.0 scale for at least 15 semester hours.

Insulation can conserve fuel

The "energy crisis" may well become each homeowner's concern.

HOMEOWNERS can join in the fight to conserve fuel supplies by assuring that proper insulation is used in their homes, says W. S. Allen, agricultural engineer for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Without sufficient insulation, more energy is required for either heating or cooling a home or building, points out Allen.

All insulating materials are rated with either a "R" or "U" value. The higher the "R" value, the better the insulation. A typical value of "R" is 3.7 for one inch of fiberglass. The "U" value is the reciprocal of "R" (1 divided by R). For example, the "U" value for one inch of fiberglass would be 1 divided by 3.7 or .27. Different types of insulation with the same "R" value will have the same insulating qualities and are thus comparable, explains Allen.

When comparing costs, buyers should consider not only the cost of the insulation but also the associated materials that are needed. A vapor barrier may be required from some buildings although it is usually not necessary for the typical home. Installation costs will also vary and therefore require close comparison.

Trailer fire burns woman

Francis McConnell, 49, of Dimmitt was listed in good condition Wednesday in Plains Memorial Hospital after she received second and third degree burns in a trailer fire early Sunday morning.

THE FIRE, which occurred at the Andrews Trailer Park on East Grant, completely destroyed the trailer home.

According to a report filed by city policemen Ronnie Ballew and Don Elliott, the trailer was in flames when they arrived, and the woman was lying by the back door. They pulled the woman away from the burning trailer and called the fire department and an ambulance.

City Fire Marshall Guy Waldrop said he was unsure what started the fire but it "apparently started in the north end of the trailer."

According to Waldrop, another trailer on the west side of the fire also began to burn, but was put out by members of the Dimmitt Volunteer Fire Department.

Conservation

Conservation, recreation are closely related areas

By DAYNE M. GOLIGHTLY
Soil Conservation and recreation tie very closely together if one will really think about it.

THE NEXT TIME you go out in the country and visit with a friend who is a conservation farmer just look and see what recreation facilities he has. You might think that he does not have any. When hunting season rolls around he does have a place for recreation.

The crops he plants give food and shelter to game birds. The fence rows and tailwater pits give good cover and protection for these birds.

If by any chance he has a large lake with a channel or pit to detour the water into it, you might notice that he has a place for waterfowl. Then again this place makes a very good fishing hole if stocked with fish.

When the farmer has gathered his crops he will leave residue from these crops and that will leave more food and cover for wildlife.

WHEN YOU ARE OUT, look at these things and you will see land that is producing food and fiber as well as a place for recreation.

Conservation and Recreation contact your local Soil Conservation Service.

CUTTING BOARDS — particularly wooden ones — provide ideal breeding grounds for bacteria. Wash board thoroughly with soap and warm water, then disinfect with chlorine bleach, suggests Judy Grubbs, foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.
