A QUICK READ OF THE NEWS

Medal goes over the moon

A runner who was disqualified after dropping his shorts to moon the crowd at the Canada Games has the bronze medal after all, thanks to the athlete who took his place on the stand.

Daniel Blouin, who finished third in the 3,000-meter steeplechase at the Games, got his medal from fourth-place finisher Reid Coolsaet at an unofficial ceremony.

The official records of the games still will show Coolsaet as the third-place finisher.

Blouin decided for unspecified reasons to moon a section of the crowd after the race. Organizers promptly disqualified him under sportsmanship rules of track's world federation.

Busboy's honesty could pay

A 22-year-old Los Angeles busboy returned a sack containing $203,000 that apparently fell out of an armored truck, police said.

"I'm poor, but I'm honest," said Ascension Franco Gonzales.

He told police that he had a difficult time sleeping because he didn't know what to do after he found the money, but on Tuesday morning he called 911 to report the find, Sgt. Rick Sánchez said.

Gonzales could receive a $25,000 reward offered by armored-car company AT Systems.

Wood after scrimmage: 'We'll be ready for Caprock'

By DELTON WILHITE
Journal correspondent

The Mules scored often and easily in their first offensive series against Amarillo's River Road Wildcats on Thursday night.

Muleshoe had the ball in the end zone twice after executing only eight plays.

The first series opened with a pass from Lincoln Riley to Kyle Atwood.

Riley, Jesús Tovar and A.J. Flores powered the ball to the Wildcat two-yard line with five consecutive running plays. The Mules scored as they had started the series, with a pass from Riley to Atwood in the end zone.

After the first score, the Mules reversed their field and starting on their own 30-yard line reminded Mule fans of why the Hammer is one of their favorite plays. The Mule line opened the defense and Tovar scampered 70 yards to paydirt for the second Mule score.

"We may have scored to quickly and easily in our first offensive series," Mules coach David Wood said, "that we sort of lost our concentration for awhile after that. It took our defense several plays to get on track and begin to stop their offense.

"We are asking many young players to step-up and play varsity ball this year and as coaches, we use the scrimmages to put people in adverse conditions to see how they will respond. There is no better place to find out how a young player will react than in a scrimmage," he said.

Wood pointed out Tad Lutz's efforts, not just in the scrimmage, but every day in practice as well. "We call him the 'Little Iron Man.' He continues to step up and do the job we ask him to do. He is the lead block on the Hammer and he gets better every day."

"Brian Smith is getting excited about the game and had to come in Thursday night and fill some positions on defense.

JOURNAL STAFF REPORT

The annual open membership meeting of the Muleshoe Heritage Foundation will be held at 6:30 p.m. Sept. 29 at the Heritage Center, not Sept. 2 as originally reported.

The possibility of a black-tie, white-shirt ball in the ballroom of the Janes ranch house also is being discussed.

"It should be a very exciting night at the Heritage Center, and the whole area will be invited," spokeswoman Jean Allison said.

This will be the first annual meeting with increased representation on the board from southern Bailey County, where residents are discussing the donation of several historic structures to the Heritage Center. Sammie Simpson and Betty Kirby were recently voted on to the board of directors.

Emergency aid flows to farmers

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL WASHINGTON — The U.S. Department of Agriculture announced Tuesday that 95 percent of the $4.6 billion in direct emergency payments has been sent to farmers and that $84.7 million in supplemental cottonseed payments are going to ginners.

Eligible farmers who have not received their emergency payment should contact their local USDA Service Center or Farm Service Agency county office.

The cottonseed payments are being made to ginners based on their payment applications made earlier this year under the Agricultural Risk Protection Act of 2000.

Phlebotomy class scheduled

LEVELLAND — A short course in basic phlebotomy begins Sept. 10 at South Plains College.

The course will cover theoretical and practical aspects of specimen collection for clinical laboratories.

Extensive additional clinical assignments are required in order to complete pre-certification requirements.

Twenty-four hours of classroom instruction will be held from 6:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays through Oct. 26 in Room 101 of the Technical Arts Building.

Under those applications, ginners agreed to share payments with the cotton producers to the extent that the low cottonseed prices were borne by the producers rather than the ginner.

These supplemental payments are subject to the terms and conditions of that prior application, and anyone who fail to handle the funds in that manner will be liable for a full refund of the funds as well as other sanctions.

Farm Service estimates that the average payment rate is $13.0058 per ton of cottonseed or about $5.0665 per average-weight bale.

The payment rate was based on the quantity of cottonseed estimated to have been produced from the bales and lint weight certified on the applications received from ginners.

More information on the cottonseed program is available by contacting Gene Rosera at (202) 720-8481 or gene_rosera@wdc.usda.gov.

Tech crowd to seek world record

As the culmination of the four-day Buddy Holly Symposium being staged in Lubbock, the crowd in the stands will be encouraged during halftime to sing "Peggy Sue," one of Holly's biggest hits, and thus become part of the world's largest simultaneous sing-along. The current record included 15,352 people who attended a Sept. 9, 1999, benefit for the Hansel Foundation, a Scottish charity for adults with special needs. The Tech event is expected to double that number.

Game tickets are available by calling (806) 742-TECH or (888) GO BIG 12. They also are available on the Internet at athletic.tickets@ttu.edu.

South Plains Health Provider Offers Services Based Upon Ability To Pay — Changes Clinic Hours To Assist Patients

South Plains Health Provider Organization in Muleshoe is located at 208 West Second Street. The clinic is available for all your primary health care needs. Our clinic provides services to anyone, which means we take Medicare, Medicaid, CHIP, private insurance or patients with no insurance. Charges for patients without insurance are based on ability to pay. We are also enrolled with most managed care plans. South Plains Health Provider is an excellent choice for you and your family if you are employed but have no insurance through your employer.

South Plains Health Provider receives federal and state funds to help us assist you with your primary health care needs. Patients merely present proof of income and family size to help us determine what they should be charged. Some patients pay as low as $15 for an office visit. It all depends upon where a patient falls on a sliding fee scale; however, the majority of patients do receive a discount.

South Plains Health Provider can also help patients with their pharmacy and insurance needs. We assist our patients with their drug needs through our patient assistance program which provides selective drugs at a low cost to the patient. Concerning insurance, we have a dedicated staff to help patients who are eligible for various insurance programs, Medicaid and Children's Health Insurance Program (CHIP), complete applications and get the insurance they need.

Our clinic hours are convenient for patients as well. Effective September 1, 2001, the clinic is open for appointments and walk-ins during the following hours:

You never know in football when you may be asked to step up, and last night Brian did just that."

"Bradley Thomason and A.J. Flores will be back in the line-up for the Caprock game, and that will allow us to move some people back to their normal positions.

"The bumps and bruises are healing, and we should be at full strength for the opening game. You prepare differently for a game than for a scrimmage; we will be ready to take on Caprock," Wood added.

The Mules' season opener is with Caprock in Dick Bivins Stadium at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 6 — Thursday, not Friday.

Clovis tour shows popularity of water gardens

By RONN SMITH
Editor

The success of last weekend's Clovis Pond and Garden Club tour — and the fact that it included 15 water gardens — indicates how popular this type of gardening has become in recent years.

The lure isn't hard to figure out. Research leaves little doubt about the ability of water gardens to soothe the stresses of modern life.

You don't need much water to have an effect, either, especially if it includes dripping or a gently running flow.

With water gardens becoming so popular, the investment required is getting so everyone can afford it. Of course, there has always been the half a whiskey barrel equipped with a small pump and a bamboo tube or other pipe to force a little water to fall into the "pond."

But now prices have reached the point where you might want to consider a more elaborate project. An insert in the newspaper recently featured a cast plastic pond 36 inches long for about $40. Even if you spend nearly that much again on plants or accessories for it, that's getting down to where most of us can afford it if we do a little financial planning.

As for advice, there's more of it out there than your brain can process. Magazines often have articles about do-it-yourself pond projects, and there are several books that deal entirely with water gardening.

The books mentioned here are all popular, and should be available through inter-library loan (though I'm not confirming that as I write).

One of the more popular books has the obvious title Water Gardening With Derek Fell, and its subtitle — Practical Advice and Personal Favorites from the Best-Selling Author and Television Show Host just about tells it all.

This is one of a series of gardening books by Fell, and is written in his usual straightforward style.

A valuable feature of this book is that much of it is given over to plants that can be used in water and bog gardens.

These plants include many popular garden flowers that are ordinarily tough to grow in our climate because of their moisture requirements, but once the moisture is taken care of by installing a pond or bog, the plants became a snap.

One example is the hummingbird favorite known as cardinal flower (Lobelia cardinalis). There are people who have struggled with trying to grow it here without benefit of bog, but success is bound to be limited.

Let me point out that while I highly recommend the cardinal flower for a bog garden or shallow standing water (1 1/2 inches is about the limit, I think), it is a favorite of more critters than just hummingbirds. If your yard is subject to roaming cottontails or pheasants, plan to put some wire over the cardinal flower — it makes new growth in the fall that is green and irresistibly juicy in the winter when fresh greens are scarce, and if it's available it will be eaten!

Another book that is chock-full of good advice (and has color photos illustrating everything) is Low-Maintenance Water Gardens by Helen Nash.

According to the book's dust jacket, Nash is the owner of a wholesale aquatic-plant business that specializes in water lilies. This is an excellent book, as far as I can tell, and the index is well-organized — so you should be able to go back and find that one point you read about but only vaguely remember.

Another book by the same author is The Complete Pond Builder, and it's just as detailed and complete as Low-Maintenance Water Gardens. You can find out how much mortar or lumber or plastic you'll need for a specific size of pond before you begin work on it (how's that for a concept?).

With that book to get your project started, Nash also is the author of The Pond Doctor, which I have not seen but is supposed to be her most highly acclaimed book. It should tell you what's wrong when your established pond isn't doing as well as it should.

Happy planting!

State slaps unscrupulous notaries

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL
 AUSTIN — Secretary of State Henry Cuellar today sent a message that unscrupulous behavior on behalf of notaries public will not be tolerated.

The secretary of state commissions notaries and has the authority to take disciplinary action, such as revocation of a commission, against a notary.

Cuellar released his message in Harlingen accompanied by Immigration and Naturalization Service officials, who have been monitoring notaries who prey on innocent residents.

In recent months, Immigration officials have received a large number of reports of residents relying on notaries in a quest for immigration benefits, only to find out they have been victims of a scam.

During the recent adjustment-of-immigration-status period, a large number of residents apparently were misinformed by notaries.

These residents were charged from $500 to $1,500 for a benefit to which they were not entitled. The victims reported to Immigration officers that notaries had assured them they met immigration eligibility requirements, but they never received proper documentation that listed their legal immigrant status.

"We cannot allow this behavior to continue," Cuellar said. "My office will not accept this."

His staff is working to heighten awareness of HB 3134, passed by the 77th Legislature, which strengthens, clarifies and expands the prohibitions against notaries representing themselves as attorneys. A violation of this law is the basis for revocation or suspension of the notary's commission.

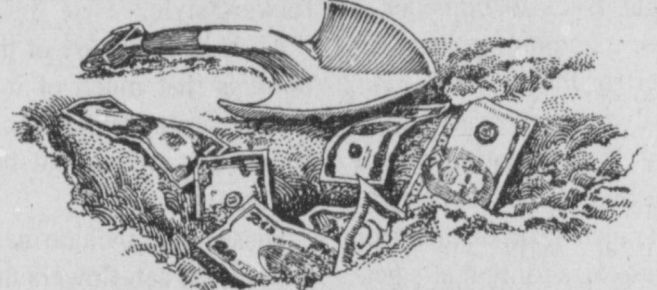

The measure also establishes criminal penalties for notaries who represent themselves as attorneys. If it is shown that the defendant has previously been convicted of a violation of this section, an offense under the section is enhanced to a felony of the third degree.

"INS Investigations Department in the Harlingen District remains dedicated to identify and prosecute persons who violate federal laws," said Mike Trominski, Harlingen District director. "It is inconceivable how anyone can claim to be providing a service to help persons seeking a benefit, when in reality they're preying on unsuspecting victims."

"It is unfortunate that someone in a role that engenders trust would seek to prey on those who are least able to defend themselves," Cuellar noted. "I won't accept this and the people of Texas shouldn't accept this. I will actively cooperate with state and federal prosecutors to stop the problem."

Here's one prescription for improving Medicare

Thirty-six years ago, when Medicare was created to provide health coverage for elderly Americans, hospital stays and doctors' treatments were the most costly portion of the care that was to be provided. Prescription drugs represented only a small percentage of medical expenditures.

Today, that picture is very different. Nearly 400 new drugs have been developed in the last decade alone. While the drugs themselves are expensive, their use has proven to save health-care dollars in the long run.

Take, for example, anticoagulants: A year's worth of these blood-thinning agents, which help prevent the recurrence of strokes, costs $1,000.

Compare that to $100,000 in lifetime costs for taking care of an individual who has suffered a stroke. Similarly, the new H2 antagonist drugs are used to treat ulcers in patients who otherwise would need surgery costing $28,000 or more. A year's worth of such drugs can cost $900.

CAPITOL COMMENT

U.S. SENATOR

Medicare would pay for the ulcer surgery but does not provide prescription drug coverage.

Although 2/3 of seniors have private, supplementary coverage that helps with the cost of prescription drugs, the other third are paying 100 percent of their escalating drug costs.

It is unfortunate that while more than 98 percent of employer-sponsored health plans pay for prescription drugs,

Medicare has yet to be updated to include this benefit.

Congress and the Bush administration are trying to figure out the best way to provide prescription drugs to those who need them but are unable to afford them.

The elderly should not be handed a government program that decides which drugs they may and may not have.

An effective prescription drug benefit proposal has to meet certain criteria for common sense and effectiveness. Government should not set up a plan that would duplicate coverage that already exists in the private sector, nor should we have to wait five or 10 years for a plan to take effect.

The approach I favor would have two main components:

- It has to provide immediate assistance to the states to expand or initiate their prescription-drug support programs for moderate-to-low-income seniors.

In many states, these programs have put needed drugs within the reach of many elderly individuals who otherwise were going without. We should provide immediate and ongoing relief to the millions of seniors forced to pay full retail prices for prescription drugs.

To accomplish this, the president has proposed making available to Medicare beneficiaries a prescription-drug discount card, either free of charge or for a nominal fee, sponsored and administered by private entities.

Medicare then would require the card sponsors to publish the discounted prices for most prescription drugs bought by seniors.

- There should be a Medicare prescription drug benefit as part of a broader Medicare modernization plan that gives seniors more choice and control over their health care.

Today, medical advances mean patients can be treated at home or in the doctor's office, and the emphasis has shifted to preventative care.

Still more effective prescription drugs are expected to be available to the elderly in the years ahead to help treat breast and prostate cancers, Alzheimer's disease and diabetes. We need to strengthen the system and make it as effective as 21st century medicine.

Open container ban started this weekend

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL

Labor Day drivers face stepped-up law enforcement activity — and a long-awaited open container law to combat drinking and driving.

The new open container law went into effect Sept. 1, just as Department of Public Safety and other law enforcement increase patrols for the Labor Day weekend.

A tougher, expanded Administrative License Revocation Law also goes into effect the same day.

"Alcohol and cars don't mix, period," said DPS Director Col. Thomas Davis Jr. "The Legislature has given law enforcement a much-needed open-container law to help us drive that point home."

As part of Operation CARE (Combined Accident Reduction Effort) — a nationwide effort by all state police agencies to reduce fatalities during holiday periods — all available troopers will actively search for drunken drivers, speeders and seat belt violators Labor Day weekend.

The increased patrols will take place from 6 p.m. to midnight through Sept. 3.

House Bill 5 makes it a Class C misdemeanor to possess an open container in the passenger compartment of a vehicle.

It also strengthens the punishment for repeat DWI offenses. A second DWI conviction within five years now requires a mandatory one-year suspension of the offender's driver license.

Upon reinstatement, they must have an ignition interlock device installed on their vehicle for an additional year. During the suspension, the offender is not even eligible for an occupational license to drive to work.

DPS has observed that in the majority of alcohol-related crashes an open container is present. The law also reinforces that it is illegal to drink while driving.

House Bill 63, which also took effect Sept. 1, requires law enforcement officers to confiscate the driver's license of anyone charged with DWI — and increases suspensions outlined in the license-revocation laws.

For example, if a driver refuses a breath test, he or she now faces a license suspension of six months — double the prior law. The updated statute applies license-revocation punishments to boating while intoxicated if the suspect refuses a breath test.

In that circumstance, boaters also face confiscation of their driver's license and possible license suspensions.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

THIS IS A DRAMATIZED VERSION OF FACTS TAKEN FROM THE BOOK OF AMOS, CHRONOLOGICALLY AND AUTHENTICALLY CONSOLIDATED

AMOS • THE SHEPHERD TURNED PROPHET
 ON HIS WAY NORTH TO WARN ALL SINNERS IN ISRAEL THAT THE LORD IS DISPLEASED WITH THEM, AMOS PAUSES TO VIEW THE CITY OF JERUSALEM FROM AFAR....

BUT HE HAS NO TIME TO WASTE, THERE IS WORK TO BE DONE FURTHER NORTH IN BETHEL....

...NOW HE TURNS HIS BACK ON THE FABLED CITY AND CONTINUES HIS JOURNEY, FOR THE LORD HAS COMMANDED HIM TO GO TO BETHEL AND HE MUST NOT STOP....

TRAVEL IS VERY DIFFICULT IN THIS MOUNTAINOUS LAND, AND THE SUMMER HEAT IS OPPRESSIVE, BUT HE PREGGES ON.

AND WHILE AMOS STRUGGLES TO REACH BETHEL, THERE, IN THE SUMMER PALACE OF THIS CITY, GUESTS OF KING JEROBOAM THE NOBLES AND PRINCES OF ISRAEL CONTINUE TO REVEL IN LUXURY IN RITIOUS WASTEFUL LIVING WITH NO THOUGHT OF THE RIGHTEOUS WAY OF LIFE!

Next Week INTO THE TEMPLE BETHEL!

She is a registered nurse at Cooke Children's Hospital Pediatric Clinic in Denton. The prospective groom is a 1994 graduate of Robert E. Lee High School in Tyler and has a bachelor's degree in accounting/finance from the University North Texas in Denton. He is a loan officer at Centex Mortgage in Dallas. TOPS NEWS

Laverne James, leader, presided over the Aug. 30 meeting of TOPS No. 34, held at the regular meeting site in the Muleshoe Church of Christ.

Both songs were led by Alma Robertson—"The Slimmer We'll Be" and "The Goodnight Song."

Secretary Tommie Fulcher presented the previous week's minutes, which were approved as read.

Fourteen members were present for the roll call and weigh-in, the latter conducted by Linda White and Alene Bryant.

Bryant and Retha Knowles tied for the best loser position, and Fulcher was the first runner-up.

The program presented by James could be titled simply "Water."

She mentioned the importance and necessity of drinking water, which makes up 60 percent of the human body, and that water is necessary for every living cell.

She cited an article stating that coffee and tea intake should be limited in favor of water. Some people have eliminated coffee and tea for lunch and have begun drinking strictly water with those meals, she reported.

To make water more flavorful, slices of orange or lemon may be used, as well as mint. The article also stated that water is best drunk at 50 degrees — with no ice.

Physicians have for years recommended drinking eight 8-ounce glasses of water per day, James added. The body is usually losing more water than is being replaced, and thirst is often mistaken for hunger. That can lead to eating high-fat snacks when the person should be drinking water.

James suggested drinking a glass of cool water when hunger pangs begin, then waiting a few minutes to see if the feeling of hunger goes away. If it doesn't, then a light snack may be in order.

The next meeting is scheduled for 5:30 p.m. Sept. 6 at the same site. Visitors are welcome.

Whatever Our Names, God's People Wear His

I mailed 50 letters to Shelburnes today. Depending upon the response, or lack thereof, from these, my Shelburne kinsmen, none of whom I know, I'll probably go ahead and send 350 more to just about cover all the 400 or so Shelburne households that an Internet name search tells me exist in these United States. All of these people wear my name, or I wear theirs, or we all wear the name our illustrious (surely, they were illustrious?) ancestors bequeathed to us. I'm told that anyone who duce a real rainbow. But, as it happens, there's one Shelburne sitting under my hat who can give these other Shelburnes a genuine opportunity to buy one. Yes, my book. How To Measure a Rainbow. I mean, how many chances does your average Shelburne get to purchase a rainbow dutifully signed by, well, you guessed it, a Shelburne, and, at the same time, help send some Shelburne kids to college? What a deal!

And it gets better. I've actually heard of one Shelburne who gave his wife a microwave on their first anniversary. Sorry clod. At least that's what I think I remember my wife calling me, though the last part of that particular speech was a bit garbled by sobs. But rainbows like the Rainbow I'm offering make great gifts. They don't plug in, and they are useless for cooking.

So far, my first 50 addresses just have me into the C Shelburnes, but if the A-B-C Shelburnes are any indication, I've got more than a few kinsmen up in Tennessee and Virginia. (Believe it or not, my brothers and I just received an invitation from the Virginia clan to show up one Sunday in the fall of 2002 and each fill one of the pulpits of six Christian Churches begun in Lee County, Virginia, by Shelburnes. (I guess two of us could preach twice or two pulpits will just have to be Shelburne-less.) If my kinsmen will commit to a few books, this Shelburne might even be able to afford that hop over to Virginia.

Names. I'm sure yours is as at least as interesting as mine. But what's really important is that we each wear His.

pronounces their name "shell-burn" is kin, no matter how they spell it. Shelburne. Shelburn. Shelburne. Shelbourne. All kin. But my letters are selective, going just to the folks who spell it right. Like me, you know.

This probably wouldn't work if my name were Smith or Jones. Don't get me wrong. Smith & Jones are fine names. But Internet search pages on either would probably fill a library or sink a battleship. 400 Shelburne households are a bit more manageable.

What I'm offering my kinsmen is a chance to buy a book written by, autographed by, and mailed to them by a fellow Shelburne. And this opportunity is unique because, you see, though I'm pleased and happy to wear the Shelburne monicker, I doubt even the smartest Shelburne on that list can pro-

Juice not always right choice for babies

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL COLLEGE STATION — Panicked parents of picky eaters may think fruit juice is the answer to their nutritional prayers.

After all, fruit juice is nourishing, healthful and, best of all, even their young picky eaters — who don't like anything else — love juice.

Sounds like a win-win situation, right?

Well, not quite, said Dr. Sharon Robinson, Texas Cooperative Extension food and nutrition specialist. While fruit juice is part of a healthy diet for young children, it should not become the beverage of choice.

"According to the American Academy of Pediatrics," she said, "too much juice is ... not a good thing."

Even though it is sweet and tasty and children may like it better than milk or formula, juice doesn't come close to containing the essential nutrients that milk has.

And that is a critical factor when it comes to providing the best nutrition for very young children. In fact, Robinson said, "New AAP guidelines recommend that children under the age of 6 months not receive any juice. Children between the ages of 6 months and 12 months should have no more than 6 ounces of juice per day."

Even though it might not be good news for parents whose children don't want to drink anything but juice, milk or formula is still the best source of vital nutrients for young children, she said.

"Juice can add vitamin C to the diets of children," she said. "However, because of its lack of protein and other vitamins and minerals, juice may not make a significant overall contribution to a healthy diet."

Even juices that have been fortified with calcium are not a good substitute for milk or formula, she added. "Calcium-fortified juice does not have the protein and other nutrients needed by growing children."

Robinson recommends sticking to the Food Guide Pyramid for Young Children when determining a healthy diet for children.

When it comes to juice, she said, the guideline recommends a child between the ages of 2 years and 6 years should consume at least two daily servings from the fruit group.

"One fruit serving equals 3/4 cup (6 ounces) of juice," she added.

But not just any juice or juice product will do. "Offer children 100 percent juice instead of sweetened juice blends or sport drinks," Robinson said. "Juices with added sweeteners, such as high fructose corn sweetener and sugar, add calories without the added benefit of extra nutrition."

The idea is to get as many nutrient-dense foods into the child's diet as possible.

And above all, don't worry too much, she said. If the child is healthy, is gaining the right amount of height and weight, is typically energetic and isn't sick too often, then parents can rest assured that he or she is getting enough nutrients.

And always, if still worried about their children's finicky eating habits, "parents should discuss any concerns about their child's diet, growth or development with their doctor," Robinson said.

Shower honors Magby

A bridal shower brunch honored Mandy Magby Aug. 5 in the home of Janice Bradshaw.

The table was covered with a white puddled tablecloth with colored crystal mosaic-tiled fruit arranged throughout the dishes. The centerpiece was a crystal vase of long-stemmed seasonal flowers with crystal marbles at its base.

Guests were served a variety of homemade breakfast pizzas on crystal dishes, including sun-dried tomato, sausage-cheese and green chili-cheese. A large crystal bowl of fresh summer fruit, accompanied by a crystal and silver juice service containing orange punch, completed the table.

Make-A-Wish fund-raiser set

LUBBOCK — The Make-A-Wish Foundation of the Texas Plains has scheduled its fifth annual Fajita Fest for 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. Sept. 29 at the Lubbock Memorial Coliseum.

Several bands are scheduled to play throughout the day, and there will be a silent auction of items donated by local merchants.

Fox Television's Channel 34 will premier Disney's animated Tarzan movie.

Money raised will be used to help pay for wishes in the 28-county Lubbock area, where more than 100 children annually are diagnosed with an illness that qualifies for Make-A-Wish.

The organization's purpose is to "enrich the human experience with hope, strength and joy" by granting wishes to children who have life-threatening illnesses. Hostesses other than Bradshaw were Sheryl Engelking, Lori Hendricks, Paulette Foster, Claire Brown, Reta Mimms, Letha Gammon, Stephanie Foster, Connie Kemp, Sarah Black, Jana St. Clair and Linda Rice.

The hostess gift was a 4.5-quart white-on-white Kitchen-Aid mixer. Mandy Magby married Mackie Hursh on Aug. 6 at the Little Chapel of Flowers in Las Vegas, Nev. They live in Colorado City, Texas.
