Calcium content alone is enough reason for drinking milk.

Calcium is needed all during life for healthy bones. Along with calcium, though, milk contains many other nutrients — minerals, vitamins, sugars, protein elements — which altogether make milk a very special food for the well being of everyone from infants to the senior citizens.

The simplest way to get milk into family meals is to serve it as a beverage. You have a wide choice to suit the tastes of your family — fresh whole milk, fresh skimmed milk, buttermilk, chocolate or flavored milk, reconstituted dry milk and canned milk products. Whatever you prefer, chill the milk thoroughly to enhance the flavor.

If you use nonfat dry milk as a beverage, reconstitute it several hours before serving and keep it cold.

Almost all fresh milk and cream on the market is pasteurized to protect you. In pasteurizing, milk is heated briefly to kill harmful bacteria. Then it is chilled rapidly.

In addition most fresh whole pasteurized milk on the market is homogenized. The homogenizing process disperses the fat evenly through the milk.

June is dairy month. Milk and dairy products are in plentiful supplies in all areas of the United States. In using milk in cooking, remember to heat milk slowly. At high temperatures, the protein in milk coagulates into a film on top and a coating on sides of the pan. Prolonged high temperatures also cause off-flavors and — sometimes scorching. Milk mixtures thickened with flour or cornstarch need constant stirring during cooking to prevent lumping.

Dairy-fool salads make tempting summer fare. This one makes six servings.

She wore an elbow length veil of imported illusion edged in scalloped Alencon lace. She carried a cascade bouquet of white butterfly roses and miniature English ivy centered with gardenias atop a white Bible.

AUSTIN, TEX. — Texas lawmakers have written the record of the 61st regular session, but their toughest job — levying the taxes to pay for what they have ordered — remains to be done.

In adopting a $2.8 billion one-year state budget (for 1970), they invited a special session to complete appropriations for 1971 and to decide on the inevitable major tax bill. Legislative leaders, Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes and House Speaker Gus Mutscher, claim the latter will be smaller if the finance showdown can be delayed until next year.

Gov. Preston Smith, who holds the key to the timing of the special session, has made it clear from the start that he feels the Legislature should face up to a biennial budget and the raising of needed revenue. He could veto the single year bill and call another session immediately — or accept it and schedule the remaining financial work whenever he pleases.

Many all-time legislative records have topped at this session.

Certainly, the 61st session passed more legislation than any before it, and it was committed in advance to spending more money.

A multitude of laudable ends were attained. Giant strides were made in the field of education. Teachers got a $61.9 million pay raise. Overhauls were ordered in the field of vocational and technical education. Three new medical schools, a dental school and two new nursing schools were authorized. Also, three new universities, plus an experimental upper level branch college in Laredo. Never have so many new higher educational facilities been launched in a single session.

A master plan got all the legislative support it could expect. Workmen's compensation laws were updated. Sweeping controls were approved over air and water pollution. A constitutional amendment to legalize the sale of liquor by the drink was submitted, along with many other proposed changes in the constitution. State employees got a 6.8 percent pay raise.

Texas' 61st Legislature was a busy, productive session. It was a liberal spending one with the bills yet to be paid.

"The citizenship of Texas will applaud our work at this session and give us their full support when we return to appropriate and finance the second year of the biennium," concluded Speaker Mutscher.

LAW ENFORCEMENT PLAN ADVANCED — Texas' new State Criminal Justice Council has recommended a comprehensive $1.1 million law enforcement plan that covers a wide scope of activities.

Governor Smith will analyze it before it goes to the U. S. Department of Justice for approval and funding under the Federal Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968. Funds for a two-year operation must be committed by June 30.

Texas received $234,000 for riot control and $830,350 in planning money six months ago.

Council voted priority funding to these programs: Prevention of juvenile delinquency, education and training in all elements of the criminal justice system, regional and statewide information and communications systems, community relations programs, experimental and demonstration projects to test and evaluate new approaches to solving problems in criminal justice system.

Approved funds will be disbursed to 21 geographical planning regions of the state. Congress now is considering funding which would provide Texas more than $11 million in action money, plus planning aid for next year to develop a long-range plan and begin putting it into effect.
