native and moved back here after living several years in Colorado.

A narrative report presented by the Coke County Soil and Water Conservation District tells the story of the operation which won Percifull the honor for 1969. It follows:

Percifull became a district operator soon after moving to the Bronte community. He immediately became a booster of the work being carried on by the local soil and water conservation district. By his leadership as an example of good conservation work, he has led others to realize the importance of wise use and management of soil and water resources. Visitors to his farm are not only local neighbors but also state and nationwide. One group of foreign visitors interested in conservation came last year, and Percifull took time to show and discuss his operations with them. By his enthusiasm for conservation, he is able to tell his story in such a way as to have a lasting effect on his audience. Percifull also stresses the fact that his operations are profitable from a monetary standpoint.

He is an outstanding leader in his community and participates regularly in its activities. He is presently a director of the Coke County Kickapoo Water Control and Improvement District and East Coke County Hospital District.

In 1967, he and his wife purchased a farm and complete their planned program of improvements in 14 months. This was a complete job of reclaiming brush infested pastureland and seeding of old eroded field to permanent grasses. During this time, they have had to develop water for house and live stock use. In addition, they have built a home and constructed Austin—"Things" are going to get worse unless we plan and fight a war against drug abuse in Texas.

Noting that in the past 10 years "arrests of teenagers for drug abuse increased 800 per cent," Smith urged the conference to come up with new means of controlling and preventing drug problems.

"We need to examine penalties," he said.

"The drug offender who is caught is often very young. He may have been pressured into experimentation with drugs.

"Yet, within the legal machinery, his punishment can be as severe as that of a dope pusher, or seller.

"Is this fair? Or is it out of proportion with the crime?" Smith asked.

Earlier, Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes—accompanied by newsmen, law officers and government officials—toured drug treatment and mental health facilities over the state. On the trip, Barnes proposed a State drug center near a medical school for treatment, rehabilitation and research.

Later, Barnes joined Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin at the meeting of the Crime and Narcotics Advisory Committee with the Texas Education Agency to hear what plans the agency has developed for teaching a course on the dangers of drugs and crime, as required by the last legislature.

Speaking to the meeting, Martin expressed concern over the increasing use of heroin, which, he said, is becoming a major problem.

Involving young people in the program will be necessary if it is successful, the Attorney General said, because "no program of narcotics control can ever be effective unless the young people themselves want it to be effective."

Registration — a record total of 4,150,645 Texans are qualified to vote during the primary and general elections this year. Secretary of State Martin Dies Jr. reported that count as the State Chief Election officer.

Statewide total is almost 80,000 more than in the 1968 presidential year.

Metropolitan area county registrations rose dramatically from 1969. Harris County (Houston) alone accounted for 650,612 of the votes, Dallas 466,925 and Bexar (San Antonio) 260,225.

Dies said he is confident new procedures for registration and various drives by groups produced the record sign-up, which he had predicted, even though 1970 is a non-presidential year.

Road Development Asked — South Texas highway boosters called on the Highway Commission for $150.8 million worth of highway developments ranging over 1,275 miles during the next decade.

Projects are in District 15 which includes Atacosa, Bandera, Bexar, Comal, Frio, Guadalupe, Kendall, Kerr, LaSalle, McMullen, Medina and Wilson Counties.

Delegation urged state expenditures of $146.5 million for construction and $4.2 million for right-of-way in "Plan for '70's". About $87.9 million of the total would go to farm-to-market roads.

Long-range plan does not include interstate projects, those programmed for later construction or strictly-urban facilities.

Bilingual Districts Picked — Thirteen Texas school districts have been selected by the U. S. Department of Education to submit plans for a bilingual education program during the 1970-71 school year.

They are Alamo Heights, Northside Independent School District and South Side ISD, all of San Antonio; Alice; Colorado City; Corpus Christi; Del Valle; Edinburg; El Paso; Galveston; Kingsville; Orange Grove and Port Isabel.

Children three to 18 with limited English speaking ability will be benefitted. Seventy-six other districts now operate under bilingual program funding.

$1 Million Park Accepted — State officially took deed to the 4,800 acre scenic Wheatley Ranch for a state park, after Governor Smith handed a $930,465 check to Mrs. C. A. Wheatley of San Antonio.

The major park development, with anticipated federal aid, is in the planning stage. Reporters could not help pointing out that the state could have had the entire Wheatley property — with wild game, river frontage, waterfalls, fish and stands of trees—absolutely free eight years ago.

Meanwhile, the Governor has requested federal study of possible release of the Matagorda Island military installation in Calhoun County for recreational purposes.

Courts Speak—Supreme Court set an April 29 hearing on the question whether a businessman can collect damages for libel if a credit rating agency puts out an incorrect report that he has filed for bankruptcy.

High Court heard arguments on the question of whether the residence of the district superintendent of the Methodist Church conference is tax exempt. Also booked for hearing is the tax-exempt status of officially declared historic sites.

Court of Criminal Appeals upheld the life sentence for robbery by assault given a Lubbock man, despite expert testimony he was mentally retarded.

Unsubstantiated testimony of one who may have been an accomplice cannot be used alone to sustain a conviction for possession of marijuana, Court of Criminal Appeals held.

Lawsuits have been filed in federal court in El Paso to force district courts, courts of civil appeals and justice of the peace courts redistricting in line with the one-man, one-vote ruling of the U. S. Supreme Court.

Building Designers Selected — Two Austin architectural firms Page - Southerland - Page and Brooks, Barr, Graeber and White were picked to design the new multi-million, 10 story State Highway Building here.

Strict rules declare that the building must harmonize with the nearby governor's mansion, state capitol and other structures in the capitol complex. It also must include the old Lundberg Bakery, an Austin landmark which actually will be a part of the new building, serving as a tourist information center.

Estimated design and construction will take about three years.

Consumer complaints jumped from 53 in 1967 to 2,757 in 1969 with creation of the new attorney general's consumer protection division and credit code enactment.

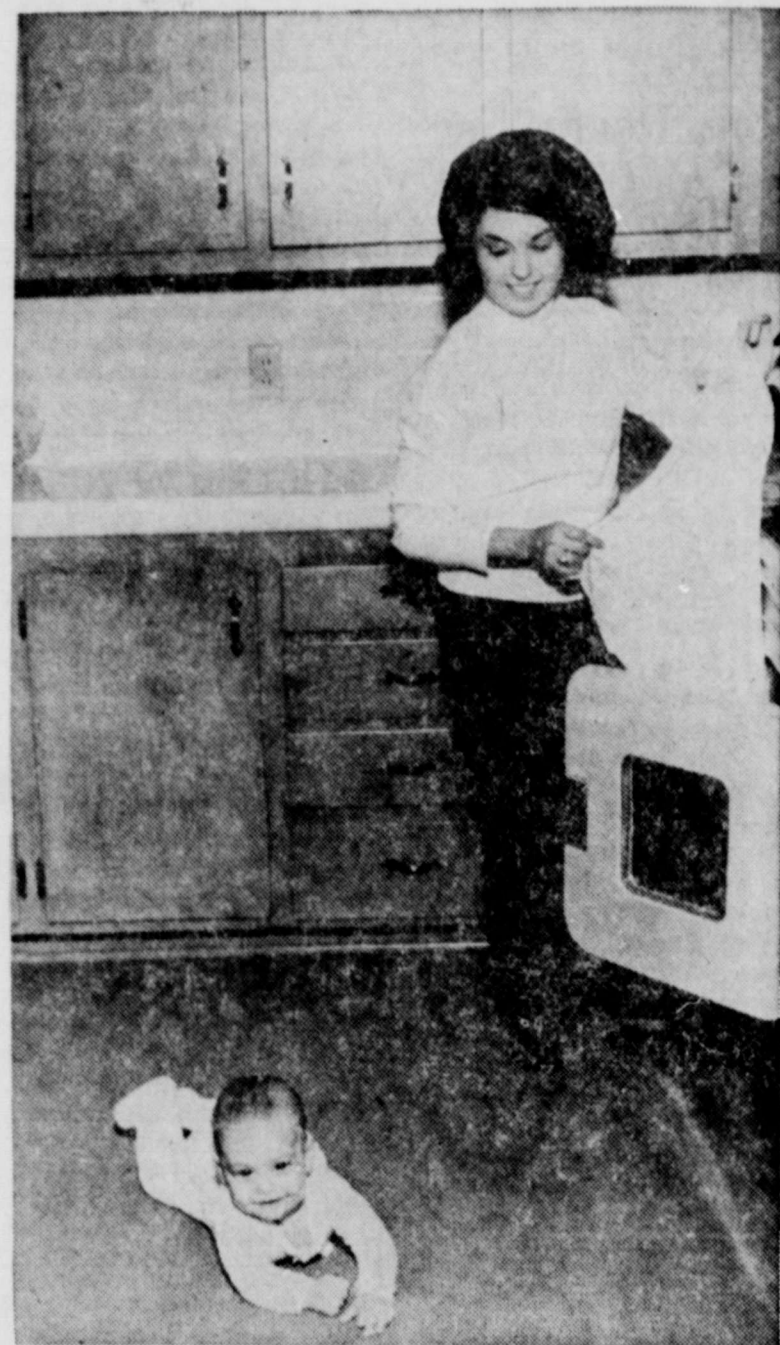

State's first public auction of surplus property (cars, outboard motors, two-way radios, etc.) will be held here April 25.

National Highway Safety program grants went to McKinney and Fort Arthur for breath testing devices.

Marlin L. Brochette, a key executive on the Texas Education Agency staff since 1968, has been appointed deputy commissioner of education, succeeding the late J. Warren Hitt in the number two post.

Washington — Hearings before the Ways and Means Committee continue on a revamping of medicaid and medicare.

Numerous witnesses have been before the committee, including representatives of the American Medical Association, hospital associations, insurance carriers, private physicians and others who give an appraisal of present operations of these programs and make recommendations for change.

About everyone agrees that failures and weaknesses in medicare and medicaid have not resulted from a lack of dollars from the Federal Government.

As has been mentioned here before, the cost of medicare and medicaid has skyrocketed, much of it due to inflation but other factors have influenced it also. The effort is to search out the difficulties in our health care system and seek ways of remedying the faults.

A doctor member of the Congress proposes that the Federal Government purchase annual insurance for each one qualified for medicare. He suggests that the Federal Government pay 85 per cent of the average $400 health care expense and the State assume the balance.

Under this system, the cost to the Federal Government would be approximately $1 billion more a year but would not be subject to unexpected escalation as is the present case. The proposal would actually intend to eliminate medicaid, which is a problem to the States, and to operate one program of medicare.

The cost to those who contribute to Social Security for insurance would be 4 per cent of their taxable earnings. All other with salaries or earnings would pay on their income tax return. It is estimated that receipts from this source would total roughly $2 billion annually which would go into a pool of funds from which the Social Security Administration would reimburse 90 per cent of medical expenses under a prescribed formula. Persons over 65, because they have medicare protection expenses, would apply to the extent of those actually paid by the individual in excess of 25 per cent of his gross income.

The present medicare program is heavily burdened with large administrative costs involving processing rather small claims. It takes about as much time and effort to work out a small claim as it does one for catastrophic or high cost illness.

The American Medical Association recommends a type of prepaid insurance shared by the Federal Government and the various States. Some hospital associations of which there are a number recommend a "group practice" system something like a mutual insurance arrangement. In fact there are a number already in operation—some on an experimental basis. The Kaiser Company operating in the northwest States is the largest. Under this type of organization, individuals simply pay insurance in a group and the managers of the group contract with doctors and hospitals to take care of illness when it occurs.

Whatever changes may result from hearings now in progress there is no doubt about the need for some changes. Two very direct problems should be solved. The cost of health care continues to increase at a rate which will soon be beyond the reach of those who need it. The other is more efficiency at less cost to the government.

Since the Federal Government is in the health care business, along with the several States implementing medicaid, it is a matter of trying to find better answers and to try to improve these programs before the country reaches a real crisis in health care for its citizens.

You save when you buy it. You save when you drive it.

When you buy any Impala V8 model during our "400" Sale, here's how you can get two popular extras at no extra charge.

You order your Impala equipped with a Turbo Hydra-matic transmission, radio, Comfortilt steering wheel, front and rear bumper guards and white stripe tires. Items you'd probably order anyway.

Then we add our big 400-cubic-inch V8 at 265 hp that runs on regular gas, along with dual exhausts—both at no charge. (The manufacturer's suggested retail price including Federal excise tax for the regular fuel 400 V8 and dual exhausts is $93.75.)

But that's only the beginning. Because your Chevrolet dealer is really anxious to deal these days.

And the Impala you're buying, of course, got to be America's No. 1 car, because of all the value features built right in. Features like flush-and-dry rocker panels that fight rust. Inner fenders to protect the outer fenders. Long lasting bias belted ply tires, steel guard beams in every door for added protection, an acrylic lacquer finish over its solid Body by Fisher.

All of which contributes to Impala's traditionally high resale value, too.

Last Rites Held For Arthur Tubb

(From Robert Lee Observer)

Funeral services were held for Arthur Milton Tubb, 75, Friday at 3 p.m. in First United Methodist Church, with the Rev. A. A. Kendall, pastor, officiating. Burial was in Fairview Cemetery at Bronte under direction of Newby Funeral Home.

Mr. Tubb died, apparently from a heart attack, at 9 p.m. Wednesday at his home in Robert Lee.

He was born Nov. 15, 1894, in Leon County and came to Coke County with his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Tubb, as a young child. The family settled in the Sanco community and moved from there to Robert Lee in 1905.

He married Mary Maxwell on May 13, 1922, in Robert Lee. A disabled veteran of World War I, he served 35 years as post adjutant for the local American Legion Post. He was a member of the First United Methodist Church.

Mr. Tubb was preceded in death by two sons: Frank Maxwell Tubb, who was killed in World War II, and Jack Dean Tubb who was killed in an automobile wreck three miles south of Robert Lee in 1941.

Survivors include his wife; a daughter, Mrs. E. C. (Ava Lou) Davis of Robert Lee; a son, Mack Arthur Tubb of Los Angeles, Calif.; a sister, Mrs. Mabel Parker of Tulsa, Okla.; four grandchildren; and a nephew, Howard G. Parker of Tulsa.

Pallbearers were Raymond Blair, Hadley Richards, Tom Wiginton, Chris Millican, Fern Havins, Gerald Allen, Freeman Clark, all of Robert Lee, and J. J. Isaacks of Levelland.

New Type Terrace Easier to Work

A new type terrace system for cropland is becoming more popular with producers in the Coke Soil and Water Conservation District. It is the level parallel terrace, designed to take the inconvenience out of farming terraced land, such as point rows.

A number of cooperators with the district have just recently put in parallel systems. John Dyess, north of Bronte, and Weldon Fikes, north of Robert Lee, have completed this week 44,000 feet. Luttrell Construction Co of Bronte was the contractor on the Dyess farm and Harmon Construction of Robert Lee did the work for Fikes.

This type of terrace is more expensive to construct than the regular level terrace, but does much more to increase the production of crops, and makes the field easier to work. The extra leveling and land farming between terraces gives a more uniform distribution of water, especially from rainfall of heavy downpours. This levelness helps to reduce erosion and movement of soil between terraces. Following heavy rains, parallel terraces also have the advantage of practically eliminating the dry and wet spots that usually occur in fields that have regular terrace systems.

Both Great Plains and ACP cost share programs are available in Coke County for construction of parallel terraces. Staking and checking out assistance can be obtained by contacting the local Soil Conservation Service office.

"HIS LAND" TO BE SHOWN AT FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

A Billy Graham movie entitled "His Land," will be shown at First Baptist Church April 16.

The movie is the thrilling story of Israel from ancient to modern times. The one-hour color feature takes viewers through space, time and current events.

Graphically shown is the fact that Israel today is a living testimony to the words of the prophets when they proclaimed Israel would take its place among the nations of the world.

Everyone is invited to make plans to attend the movie.

ATTEND FUNERAL

Jessie Eads of Robert Lee and Mrs. Oscar Renshaw attended funeral services March 30 for Darlene Hardin in DeLeon. She was a cousin of the Coke County residents. She was killed in a car accident at Comanche and was a granddaughter of Carroll Eads. Mrs. W. J. Eads accompanied them and visited in DeLeon.

The Percifulls have completely reversed the downward trend in productivity of this farm. In a very short period of time, this has become one of the most highly productive operating units in the district. Adapted conservation practices are established for all fields and pastures. Two conservation practices not generally used by producers in the district are being carried out to increase production. Fertilizer has been applied to all fields and pastures according to needs of the soil as indicated by soil analysis. They are making full use of water stored in a small flood control retarding structure, located on the north side of the farm. This supplemental irrigation water has helped to establish field crops and pasture grasses. Coastal Bermuda Grass is being grown for hay and grazing on about 70 acres.

They agreed that this type of operation is confining and time consuming but has its advantages. They have one daughter at home, Dee Ann, who spent the summer helping with farming operations, which included moving irrigation pipe several times each week.

The Percifulls are still improving their method of operations.

They have as a goal to make the place one of the more efficient livestock operations in West Texas.
