Absentee Voting Ends April 28

Voters in the May Primary who have not lived in the county for six months preceding the Primary Election, May 2, 1970, must vote in the office of the county clerk in the county of their present residence during the period of absentee voting, April 13 through April 28.

A law enacted last year permits registered voters with less than six months' residence in the county to vote on all statewide offices and issues if they have lived in the state longer than one year, but they must vote in the county clerk's office under procedures similar to absentee voting. The new law puts into effect a constitutional amendment adopted in November 1969.

Formerly, a person who moved from one county to another within the state was totally disfranchised for the first six months after he moved, unless one of more of the various types of districts (congressional, legislative, judicial, etc.) included both the county of his former residence and the county of his new residence. If he had lived in a district for six months before the election he could vote on statewide offices and issues and on the offices for districts in which he had six months' residence, but he could not vote on local office and issues within the county.

The new law preserves the voting rights which existed under the old law, but the procedure for voting has been changed. Heretofore, a person entitled to vote on the basis of six months' residence in a district voted an election day at the regular polling place for the voting precinct of his new residence. Under the law, no one who has resided in the county less than six months may vote at a regular polling place, and all voting by such persons must be done through the county clerk's office between the twentieth day and the fourth day preceding the election unless he is unable to appear because of sickness or physical disability or unless he is absent from the county during that period. Sick or disabled voters and those temporarily absent from the county may obtain a ballot by mail.

County Clerk Mrs. Winnie Waldrop said this week that absentee voting for the May 2 Primary has been extremely light. She pointed out that April 28 is the last day of absentee voting.

Letter Tells It Like It Is

Dear Editor:

I recently had the pleasure of a visit from Mr. Carl Lewis of Norton. Mr. Lewis has closed his store at Norton and it left the good people of that community without a place to purchase any of the everyday necessities which everyone has to have.

Mr. Lewis told me he had tried through the years to carry a stock of groceries and other merchandise which would fill at least most of the needs of his customers. The problem was most of them didn't bother to patronize him except when they got in a tight and ran out of bread or milk or something else and it was most inconvenient for them to go into a bigger town.

As a result of this lack of support Norton is completely without any kind of business establishment. This lack of support and desire to "save" a few cents by spending a few extra dollars driving to a larger town has been the principal cause of the demise of hundreds of small towns in this country.

The whole point of this letter is to say, "It can happen here." Already, we have lost a number of businesses which were here 10 years ago. Do you think they would have closed their doors if they had been thriving and making money as they should have been if the people of Bronte had only given them their business?

It is not as far-fetched as some may think that Bronte could end with not one business establishment if the residents of the town and community continue to buy from local merchants only when it is inconvenient for them to go elsewhere.

And just as surely as two and two make four, when we lose our business community, we will also lose our school and probably even our churches. It seems that the prosperity of the business community is a direct index to the prosperity of the rest of our community. Our schools, our churches, our park and swimming pool, and our residential area could become empty monuments to a once prosperous and happy community if we lose our businesses.

No body wants to live where they cannot buy at least most of the merchandise they require; but it becomes mighty hard for a merchant to stock everything needed when his wares are purchased only when his customers forget to buy it in San Angelo.

I think these points as brought out by Mr. Lewis apply very well to Bronte, and I would like to ask all your readers to think about them seriously. All of us who like the good life of the small town should consider that we may be on the verge of losing it and having to move into one of the dope-infested, crime-ridden big towns in order to make a living. All the residents of the Bronte community who like it here should give serious thought to this matter. It is serious and IT CAN HAPPEN HERE.

Yours very truly,
(Name withheld by request)

Austin—Adequacy of planned public school education programs on the dangers of drug abuse drew a challenge last week from Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes as the war on narcotics increased in tempo.

Barnes told newsmen he feels the program can be "redeemed" and straightened out by the beginning of the next school year. He suggested that bona fide authorities on drugs and former addicts should be included among teacher-resource personnel.

Meanwhile, the Lieutenant Governor told a narcotics seminar for law officers and prosecutors that Texas is spending far too little money on drug law enforcement.

Gov. Preston Smith, in the opening address to the conference, said the primary obligation of law enforcement is to rid society of pushers who traffic in narcotics for profit. Smith also said education is the key weapon in fighting drug abuse by addicts and experimenters.

Barnes said the new school course on narcotics should be made as "personal" as possible. Both Smith and Barnes agreed that teaching must be done by those who know what they are talking about.

Lieutenant Governor believes that lowering of penalties for first-offense possession of marijuana to misdemeanors would end the reluctance of juries to convict. He reported heavy response to his suggestion, and said that correspondence is running four to one in favor of lighter sentences. Pushers, he emphasized, should get tougher punishment than at present.

Spending for enforcement, the Lieutenant Governor claims, could be increased "200, 300 to 400 per cent" without undue burden on taxpayers—by "reevaluation of priorities."

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES—State Board of Health may adopt reasonable rules and regulations relating to minimal equipment for ambulances, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has held.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that:

- * Members of Chambers-Liberty Counties Navigation District are authorized to receive $25 a day or "reasonable per diem" for time spent on duty as fixed by county commissioners.

- * Board of trustees for firemen's relief and retirement fund may not invest in mutual funds.

- * Changes in boundaries of county election precincts may be made only during July and August terms of county commissioners' court and the month of September 1970. Changes do not become effective until the following voting year. Voters in the new Bailey County precincts must vote in precincts where they are residents.

APPOINTMENTS — Governor Smith named Wayland Holt of Snyder, judge of the 132nd judicial district to succeed Judge Sterling Williams who resigned. Holt has been serving as district attorney, and Governor named Tammie J. Mills, also from Snyder, to replace him in D.A.'s office.

Smith also filled these positions. Runnels County Water Authority Board of Directors — E. E. King of Ballinger and Harley Hilliard of Norton for six-year terms.

Smith also appointed the 12-member advisory council for children with learning difficulties.

OIL PRODUCTION — Texas Railroad Commission trimmed statewide oil allowable for May to 64.5 per cent of potential.

Reduction follows four months of 68 per cent level. Commission said a restudy of the productivity of Texas oil wells and increases in above-ground stocks of crude oil led to the cutback.

May allowable will mean maximum production of 3,505,377 barrels a day, or 147,530 less than April. Estimated actual production will decline only about 43,750, Commission figures.

HOSPITAL GRANTS CLEAR-
ED—State Board of Health has approved $10.1 million in federal grant allocations for 24 hospital-health facility construction or improvement projects. Program pays up to 50 per cent of construction or modernization costs.

COURTS SPEAK — State Supreme Court held that an El Pasoan should be repaid his investment on a car repossessed by a finance company and resold, although the man claimed he was promised more time on payments. High court threw out punitive damages assessed against the finance company in a lower court, finding no proof of malice.

Fifth federal circuit court of appeals ordered Crosby Independent School District to implement a school desegregation pairing plan by June 1. District previously had been given until September 1.

CHOLERA FUNDS PROVIDED—Governor Smith has asked the Comptroller to transfer $50,000 to the nearly depleted Hog Cholera Eradication Program. These transferred funds are to be used to indemnify owners whose swine are exterminated to prevent the spread of the disease.

This program, administered by the Texas Animal Health Commission as part of a nationwide program to eradicate the disease, is about to run out of money. Smith said only $5,000 of the $200,000 appropriated for the fiscal year ending Aug. 31, 1970, remains for the program. Money will come from unbudgeted funds of the meat inspection program of the State Department of Health.

Money is needed for the state to maintain its Phase III status in the program, Smith said. Phase III is the top federal classification in eradication of the disease.

PARKS—Parks and Wildlife Commission is being called upon to renovate Abilene and Possum Kingdom State Parks and five historic West Texas Forts. Last Legislature appropriated specific money for each of the projects, and the P&W staff has drawn up proposals which are to be approved by Commission members.

Restoration Project includes Fort Richardson at Jacksboro; Fort Griffin, 15 miles north of Albany; Fort McKavett, 23 miles west of Menard; Fort Lancaster, 14 miles east of Sheffield, and Fort Leaton at Presidio.

EDUCATION AIDES — State funds to pay teacher aides, non-professional helpers trained to take over the more routine tasks of classroom and laboratory, will be available for the first time during the 1970-71 school year.

Texas Education Agency Commissioner J. W. Edgar said the State Foundation School Program will provide $300 a month for 10 months for each aide authorized. Salaries can be supplemented by the local districts.

Short Snorts

U. S. Senate will hold hearings June 12 in the Beaumont area on plans to create Big Thicket National Park in Hardin, Polk, Tyler, Liberty and San Jacinto counties.

"Severe crisis" due to shortage of mortgage money will send the Governor and a Texas group to Washington April 30 to confer with federal Housing and Urban Renewal Secretary George Romney.

Plans for establishing 27 new manufacturing plants and expansion of 31 existing Texas plants are in the mill, according to University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

New state-federal study will seek to determine feasibility of building sea water desalting plant to serve Brownsville.

Washington — Now that conservation used in connection with dilution has become more popular, everyone is climbing aboard the bandwagon. The only thing wrong with it is the "crash programs" approach.

Good men have been turned back in their efforts for conservation for years. Now the public has really gotten environmental religion. Some of our most prominent magazines appear to have just discovered that dilution is happening and even young protesters seems to think it just started yesterday. They say it is time to stop raping our environment, killing our citizens, degrading life, destroying human values—and, of course, they are right.

It is acknowledged that more cleanup is going on now than ever before but that it is not happening fast enough. It is charged that the ratio of lip service to the pollution problem to action is more disproportionate than ever before. Again, they are probably right.

It is charged that the "system" is largely to blame for allowing our environmental degradation to reach the present level.

Here, again, they are probably right in some respects but the system did not make the mess. We, as human, individual persons, made it.

There is not much use to blame anyone particularly. There is not much use to blame the so-called system, which in this context means industry. There is of much need to charge the fault to progress—whatever that.

Since 1899 under a law known as the Refuse Act, there has been a prohibition against depositing "refuse" into navigable waters except under a permit issued by the Corps of Engineers. The definition given "refuse" is readily interpreted to include all foreign substances and pollutant other than municipal sewage from streets and sewers in a liquid form.

Under this act there is a sort of a bounty involved. Individuals who find industry refuse being discharged into navigable waters without a Corps of Engineers permit, may inform proper Federal officials whose duty it is to prosecute offenders. As interpreted, the law provides that one-half of a maximum fine of $2,500 for each instance or day of violation may be paid to the person who gives information leading to conviction. If, in a reasonable time, the Government fails to prosecute a violator, the informer may sue in the name of the United States to collect his reward.

Although pollution of various sorts and kinds has been with us since we took over from the Indians, just now is it becoming popular to be against it. Sea and water conservation, a very real victim of pollution, has had a difficult time over the years in selling its efforts. Air has not been a part of it until recently because we could not see it. For a long time people in the cities could see what the air was carrying but really did not know what it was. Actually there is a greater emphasis on air pollution than other types, mainly because there are more victims of it than those denied benefits from other conservation measures.

All sorts of remedies are being championed. Some are proposed by real experts who have been in the business and had concern for many years. Others are more recent self-appointed experts who find fault with about every thing. Among the recommendations of the more recent professionals in the field of eliminating pollution, is a return to the Stanley Steamer, which must have been a pretty good automobile in its time. There is one being developed now in Ambler, Pa., which uses water and kerosene and reportedly produces 80 per cent less harmful residuals than today's cars.

A United States senator says that it will be the American consumer, and particularly the American woman, who can bring significant influences by buying selectively products which cause less damage to the environment than others. He said the woman shopper should buy soft drink in returnable bottles, spurning the throw-aways. She should also buy substitutes for the high-phosphate detergents which contribute to the pollution of our lakes and streams. The senator said that each year this country is massively cluttered with 78 BILLION throw-away bottles, cans and jars which averages 30 containers for every man, woman and child in the world.

To somewhat repeat, appropriating dollars by the Federal Government alone is not the total answer. Qualified scientific efforts in an orderly fashion should result not only in savings but will come nearer getting the job done, along with the consciousness of the problem now on the minds of so many individual citizens.
