Austin — A governor's committee has come up with proposals to withhold state money from segregated school districts and to create a Texas fair employment commission and department of housing.

Far reaching recommendations in other areas were offered by the 50-member Governor's Committee on Human Relations which also urged that a permanent commission with increased funds and power be set up in the civil rights area.

A sub-committee panel was told there are 36 Texas school districts which have at least one all-Negro school. State funds finance about 80 per cent of school operations.

Dr. Abner McCall, president of Baylor University, Waco, led an unsuccessful fight to defeat the recommended cut-off of funds, arguing that the action would "punish children," not responsible officials. McCall said the remedy for segregated schools lies in federal courts.

All recommendations of the Committee, when finally drafted, will go to the Legislature, where many obviously will face cool reception. Among the proposals were these:

- * Adoption of state housing and building codes;
- * Open housing legislation and state aid on low-cost housing;
- * Review of school textbooks to eliminate those which are "culturally or historically biased;"
- * Free lunches in school for needy;
- * A state minimum wage law in line with federal scales (now $1.60 an hour);
- * Broadened vocational-technical education;
- * Establishment of a civil grievance mechanism;

* Review of methods of juror selection in trials to eliminate racial discrimination;

* Better training for all police officers and more rigorous selection and review procedures for officers;

* Study of more humane crowd control methods, prompt punishment for police brutality and strengthened community relations programs for police and prosecutors.

NEW VOTERS UNDER 21? — Secretary of State Martin Dies Jr. calculates there could be as many as 395,000 voters added to Texas registration rolls if the federal 18-year-old vote act stands.

State's chief election officer cited the Bureau of Census and University of Texas studies estimating there are approximately 594,000 Texans who are over 18 and under 21. About 66 per cent of eligible voters of all ages now register and in general elections about 75 per cent of those registered actually vote.

Dies predicted the U. S. Supreme Court will rule on the constitutionality of the new federal act before Jan. 1, its effective date. He said he hopes the ruling will be before Oct. 1, start of the state's voter registration period for the 1971 voting year.

If there is no decision by that time, Dies said, problems will be created for registrars. In event the statute is ruled unconstitutional after October, tax assessors would have to go back and remove newly-added names of 18 to 21-year-olds.

COURTS SPEAK — U. S. District Judge Jack Roberts in Austin held that a suit for libel and slander brought by a former Richmond State School superintendent against state mental health-mental retardation officials posed no substantial federal question.

State has appealed to the U. S. Court of Appeals in New Orleans a June 12 ruling by Federal Judge Reynaldo Garza at Brownsville taking jurisdiction in Platoro Inc. suit claiming treasure it recovered from Padre Island shipwreck.

State Supreme Court set arguments for July 22 on whether irregularly scheduled tour-charter buses need state permits to operate outside city limits.

Federal court in Albuquerque granted a temporary order restraining New Mexico ranchers and cattle raisers from spraying insecticide toxaphene on 2,000,000 acres of land which is a portion of the Canadian River inter-state watershed from which 11 Texas cities get their water supply in Moore, Hutchinson and Potter Counties.

State Supreme Court held that a firm that circulated an erroneous report of bankruptcy about a Midland man was not responsible for damages.

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin is appealing a Dallas federal court decision that Texas' abortion laws are unconstitutional.

AG OPINIONS — Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System has no statutory authority to fix enrollment limits for public colleges and universities, Attorney General Martin has held.

In other recent opinions Martin concluded that:

* Texas Department of Corrections is authorized to make application for permit to conduct a barber school and receive a license on meeting rules.

* Sheriff of Harris County is authorized to seize goats running at large in the county and impound them at fee.

Washington — In writing about the Secret Service last week, it was indicated the subject this week would be counterfeit money. The Secret Service, which has the responsibility of coping with counterfeiting, has a big job.

Counterfeiting is one of the oldest games in history and is today on the rise. One reason is the fact that large quantities can be produced by improvements in photography and printing equipment. The Secret Service says that the counterfeiter, unlike earlier times, need not be a master craftsman. Amateurs, working in legitimate print shops, have been able to produce passable currency.

Although our bills are produced from plates made by the finest engravers in the world, counterfeiters are able to fool the unsuspecting. The Treasury Department is now studying ways to make it even more difficult to copy our currency.

Counterfeiters usually stick to producing bills of $10 and $20 denominations although $1 to $50 bills have been in circulation.

The producer of bogus bills usually sells them to a dealer for 10 cents or 15 cents on the dollar. The dealer then sells them to a distributor for another reduction and finally to the passer who pays from 25 cents to 35 cents on the dollar, depending on the quality. These people are expert and the appearance of genuineness reduces the risk of being caught. The risk is great and counterfeiters are finally apprehended but not before a lot of people have been their victims. It is a very difficult task but the Secret Service is doggedly expert in its work.

The passer or "shover," as they are referred to, practices certain procedures to avoid detection. Large stores are usually passed up mainly because currency goes to a cashier and there is a waiting period to receive change. If the cashier is suspicious, the police may have been called in the meantime. The passer is constantly on the move.

People are cheated before the Secret Service learns of the spurious money. By careful observation, most anyone can tell good money from bad. A belief has been common that rubbing a bill on white paper is a test of its genuineness. This is not the case since ink on both good and bad will rub off.

A few pointers are helpful in identifying counterfeit bills. It is important to examine the portrait. The portrait is most intricate and an example of the fine art of engraving. Counterfeiters have never been able to exactly duplicate the picture. The fine screen of regular lines forming the background in genuine currency usually becomes broken and ragged on counterfeit. This is particularly true of the eyes. On the genuine currency they stand out, almost sparkling. They are clear and on a clean background. The counterfeit blends into a sort of smudgy background and will likely be too light or too dark.

Another point is the portrait distinguishes the bill's denomination. Some counterfeiters raise the denomination by scraping off the number on small bills and replacing a higher one. The denomination and the portrait always go together from the portrait of George Washington on the $1 to that of Chase on the $10,000 bill. This leaves nine in between and presents a pretty good game to be able to name the denomination which goes with the picture.

The seal on the bill is tell-tale, if examined carefully. On good currency the saw-tooth points around the circle are identical and sharp at the tips. Fake notes are likely to be irregular and broken.

Color is important. Federal Reserve notes have a green seal and serial number while United States notes have a red seal. Should colors of the seal and serial number differ, it is an imitation. Unevenly spaced serial numbers should be a warning.

Counterfeiters have a difficult time imitating the blue, silk threads imbedded below the surface in genuine bills. More often the threads in counterfeit are more coarse and the color not true. Some manage to imitate these threads with pen and ink lines but they are detectable on close examination.

The thickness of currency is often a sign of good or bad money.

To be profitable, large batches of bogus money must be produced. Swindlers smuggling counterfeit out of the United States to people in foreign countries run a double risk but it has been done. Right now Ireland is experiencing a wave of fake U. S. bills. Since American money is acceptable most any place around the world, foreigners are likely to be easier prey but Americans, somewhere, are swindled about every day.

46 Texans can live.

46 Texans can live through this Fourth of July weekend. They should live. They deserve to be alive Monday after a relaxing holiday. But, according to estimates based on previous holidays in Texas, 46 Texans will die.

The Governor's Office and the Texas Department of Public Safety have urged motorists to DRIVE FRIENDLY. This means obeying state and local traffic laws, planning your travel so you won't have to rush, avoiding driving and drinking. In other words, maintain a friendly driving attitude toward the other families who are also enjoying this holiday.

How to Buy Towels

Washable Towels: People Dryers—Room Decorators.

Before White Sale signs go up in stores is a good time to check the linen closet. Inventory may show that some towels were left at the beach or campsite. Others are just getting worn. If a new bathroom decor is planned, towels will play a part in the scheme. Or new sheets may be needed and coordinated towels for the bath are an elegant go-with.

Because quality towels may be laundered many many times without signs of wear or fading, the same towels are likely to be a part of the bathroom scene for a long time. So a homemaker should consider carefully before buying. A towel should do three things. Obviously, it is a functional item meant for drying people. In addition, it should wear well, and finally, it should help "make" the bathroom decor.

In drying terms, the deeper and thicker the pile the greater the absorbency. Choose textures and sizes according to family preferences. Male members usually like a rough rubdown after showering, with larger towels reserved for the big men. The distaff side may like gentle patting with a luxurious sheared terry towel.

Terrycloth is manufactured by weaving lengthwise looped threads into a plain weave which supports the loops or pile. When shopping, look for a firm, close underweave for wear and durability. In addition to the closeness of the weave and the loops, other features that help determine the quality—and the cost—of a towel include the grade of cotton used, the way the yarn is spun, amount of color, type of design, and finishing.

One needn't be a fabric expert to recognize a good towel. Just remember to look for a close, firm underweave and dense, thick loops. And be sure that any non-terry border design is woven loosely enough not to pucker after washing. This is the practical side to towel shopping. As for color and pattern, the homemaker can have fun mixing, matching and contrasting. Take swatches of paint or wallpaper and curtain fabric along, if possible, for the range of towel shades is so vast.

To keep new towels fluffy, fresh, and absorbent, wash them frequently. Use the regular cycle on the washer. Pastel towels, if they are colorfast, may be washed with other sturdy white and colorfast items. Deep or dark towels should be laundered separately because some bleeding of color may be expected. The use of a fabric softener, added in the final rinse, imparts a fluffiness to towels. Follow directions for recommended amounts since too little is ineffective and too much can reduce the amount of moisture absorbed by towels. Since the effects of a softener are cumulative, skip their use after every few washes.

Generally speaking, towels are designated as bath sheets, bath towels, hand or face towels, and guest towels. As for color, solids start with white and run through pastels, medium tones into deep vibrant shades, right down to black. In some families, each member has a color with combinations creating a harmonizing palette of shades. Then there are floral and abstract prints and stripes. These are often coordinated with shower curtains. And, third, there are jacquard-weave towels, in special weave in which side are reversed on the other. It all adds up to making towel the pattern and colors on one buying fun and laundering as easy as ever.

Time for Fruit Goodies

Jelly, jam, conserve, marmalade and preserves can all add zest to meals. Most of them also provide a good way to use fruit not at its best for canning or freezing, such as the largest or smallest fruit and berries and those that are irregularly shaped.

Surprise your family with a batch of sparkling, colorful, jellies, jams or preserves. You can make good use of fresh fruits now available and others coming to the market soon.

Basically all of these products are much alike; all of them are fruit preserved by means of sugar, and usually all are jellied to some extent. Their individual characteristics depend on the kind of fruit used and the way it is prepared, the proportions of different ingredients in the mixture and the method of cooking.

Many have asked what the differences are among preserved fruit products.

Jelly is made from fruit juice; the product is clear and firm enough to hold its shape when turned out of the container. Jam, made from crushed or ground fruit, tends to hold its shape but generally is less firm than jelly.

Conserves are jams made from a mixture of fruits, usually including citrus fruit; often raisins and nuts are added.

Marmalade is a tender jelly with small pieces of fruit distributed evenly throughout; a marmalade commonly contains citrus fruit.

Preserves are whole fruit or large pieces of fruit in a thick syrup, often slightly jellied.

Pectin, acid and sugar form the jelly trio.

Pectin is the natural substance found in fruit which makes the jelly "jel". The amount varies in different kinds of fruit, and to take the guesswork out of present day jelly making, natural pectin is carefully extracted from apples or the skins of citrus fruits, refined, concentrated and standardized to specific jelling strength.

The two commercial forms are liquid fruit pectin and powdered fruit pectin. These differ slightly in composition and can't be used interchangeably. Powdered fruit pectin won't dissolve in high sugar concentration and must be added to the fruit before the sugar. Liquid fruit pectin, on the other hand, must be added last of all, after the fruit and sugar are boiled.

Acid is needed for flavor and for gel formation. The acid content varies in different fruits and is higher in underripe than fully ripe fruits. With fruits that are low in acid, lemon juice or citric acid is commonly added in making jellied products.

Sugar helps in gel formation, serves as a preserving agent, and contributes to the flavor of the jellied product. It also has a firming effect on fruit, a property that is useful in making preserves.

Because we can't calculate accurately the fruit's content of sugar and pectin, standardized recipes are essential. Guesswork is foolhardy and can be costly; it's best to select recipes from reliable sources and follow instructions to the letter.

Experiment a bit by adding flavorful herbs and spices to jams and jellies or substitute flake coconut in conserves for the nuts called for in the recipe, but never change the specified amounts of sugar, prepared fruit, and fruit pectin.

For more information on the subject call, write or come by the office for a free bulletin.

Mrs. Gary Don Allen

Miss Kathy Rae Kiker and Gary Don Allen Exchange Wedding Vows in Ceremony at First Baptist Church

Miss Kathy Rae Kiker became the bride of Gary Don Allen during a ceremony Saturday in First Baptist Church. Officiating was the Rev. Bill Swindler, Baptist minister of Eola. Vows were exchanged before an arch entwined with greenery and flanked by baskets of white gladioli.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Norman R. Kiker and Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Allen, all of Bronte.

Wedding music was presented by Mrs. Martin Lee, organist, and by a vocal trio made up of Misses Dee Ann Percifull, Melissa Lee and Susan Cumbie.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal A-line gown of lace, with a scalloped neckline, accented with sequins. Her veil was attached to a pearl tiara. She carried a pearl Bible belonging to Mrs. E. F. Glenn. Carrying out the wedding tradition for something old, she wore a gold and pearl cross belonging to her great-grandmother, and was also worn by her mother and sisters at their weddings.

Mrs. Ronnie Lee of Arlington, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaid was Miss Debbie Daniel of Fort Worth.

Don Hageman of College Station was best man. Groomsman was Rowland Allen of Abilene. Ushers were Ronnie Lee of Arlington and David Allen of Abilene.

A reception followed the ceremony in the fellowship hall of the church. The bride's table was laid with white lace and centered with an arrangement of gardenias and yellow tapers.

Mrs. Tommy Joe Walter of Ranger, Miss Jolene Vaughn and Miss Cynthia Robinson registered guests and served. Others in the houseparty were Mrs. Dwain Pruitt, Mrs. R. T. Caperton and Mrs. Carroll Robbins.

Following a wedding trip the couple will make their home in Abilene until fall when they will move to Lubbock. Both Mr. and Mrs. Allen are graduates of Bronte High School. Mrs. Allen will enter nursing school this fall and Mr. Allen will return to Texas Tech University where he is a junior industrial engineering major.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Allen Friday evening.
