Phillips Opens Art Studio Here

Rayce Phillips, local artist, has opened a studio and art supply store in Bronte. It is located in the building which also houses Eubanks TV Repair Shop, next door to Ragsdale's Barber Shop.

Phillips said he would not be able to keep the place open all time since he has classes in Ballinger and Winters each week. He is conducting a class here on Wednesday afternoons for all ages, and said anyone who is interested and cannot come at that time may arrange special classes at another time.

In addition to giving lessons, Phillips is carrying a complete line of art supplies, including brushes, paints, sketching pads, etc.

He also has a large number of his own paintings on exhibit. Some 20 of his paintings will be sent to Waco Monday and will be on exhibit there for about 30 days. Then they will be taken to Washington for a showing there. Phillips has been seriously pursuing art for the last three years.

Mr. and Mrs. Baxter Evatt and Mary Sue of Bayard, N. M., visited last weekend with her father, Ernest Seay, who was confined to the hospital. They were joined here by Mr. and Mrs. Sam Seay of San Angelo. The Evatts left Wednesday for Brownwood to visit his mother.

About 35 unhappy land owners appeared Wednesday morning at the courthouse in Robert Lee to protest a proposed increase in tax valuations of their land. It was the first day of a meeting of the commissioners court sitting as a board of equalization, to set county tax values.

County officials said all the increases were on real estate in an effort to bring it up in line with the tax valuations on city property in Robert Lee and Bronte.

The average valuation of land in Coke County has been about $4.50 an acre, officials said, with some as low as $2 and some as high as $10. The new values which the board seeks to use, would place the lowest figure at $6 an acre and the highest at $10 an acre, with most of Coke County's acreage falling somewhere in between these two figures.

The meeting Wednesday began in the county court room, and County Judge W. W. Thetford explained the proposed increases to those present. Following his talk, a question and answer session was held. At its conclusion, those who wanted to discuss their individual cases with the board drew numbers which determined the order in which they would be heard.

Some of the land in question is having its value doubled, and this amount of increase looks excessive to those on whom it is falling. However, officials pointed out that in cases where this amount of increase is proposed, the land was valued at an extremely low figure. Judge Thetford pointed out in his talk early in the meeting that this is the first time since 1939 that an effort has been made to equalize values of land over the entire county.

It has been the policy to value city property at 20 to 25 per cent of its market value for tax purposes. The commissioners pointed out that even the top valuation of $10 per acre represents a market value of only $40 to $50, which is low, according to the going price of land.

Austin — A blue-ribbon insurance study committee has recommended exploring Texas' compulsory auto liability coverage and a careful look at allegations that garages charge more for policy-covered repairs.

Report went to Gov. Preston Smith prior to the State Insurance Board hearing July 14-15 on inclusion of insurance company investment income in the auto rate-making formula.

Smith indicated that the Board may not be ready this soon to evaluate the full effect of the formula change which also is backed by the study committee he named last summer after an auto policy rate hike was recommended.

Most observers think motorists are in for another increase in their premiums after the main Aug. 17 rate hearing, regardless of whether the Board determines that investments should be figured in the base.

Study committee, headed by former Gov. Price Daniel, noted that North Carolina rates appear to be consistently low, although it also has mandatory liability coverage. Massachusetts and New York, other mandatory auto liability insurance states, have higher rates.

Committee recommended that the Legislature look into ways to stop "excessive charges being made on repairs of insured automobiles" which, in turn, lead to escalating rates year after year.

Insurance industry is expected to ask new increases as high as 15 to 20 per cent at the August hearing.

Smith may ask Daniel's committee to examine the Board's final recommendation, as they did in 1969 (when rate adjustment was 9.9 per cent upward instead of 11.4 as originally recommended by the Board). However, the majority of the committee is cool toward going into more extended hearings like those required by their study last year.

CAPITOL ADDITION ASKED — An important part of state government may be going underground if a Building Commission proposal is approved.

Commission, in new budget requests, laid out plan for a 45,000-square-foot, $2.5 million underground addition to the capitol building, providing office space for legislators. Enlargement would be in a natural depression to the west of the present historic structure.

Commission also proposed these new projects:

* 1.26 million revamping of the north approaches to the capitol.

* $3 million parking facility for 320 cars.

* $215,000 renovation of the old Highway building for use by the Parks and Wildlife Department when Highway Department's new headquarters is completed.

* $200,000 face-lifting of old Parks and Wildlife offices in the virtually new John Reagan State Office Building—for use by the Welfare Department when P&W moves.

* $25,000 in repairs to the Governor's mansion.

COURTS SPEAK — Court of Criminal Appeals upheld a Fort Worth trial court order blocking further civil suits under the Sunday closing law until 13 cases are finally adjudicated.

State officials have taken to the 10th U. S. Court of Appeals their fight to stop spraying of land in northeast New Mexico with pesticide Toxaphene (to control tent caterpillars). State claims Toxaphene would jeopardize purity of Lake Meredith and thereby endanger water supplies of 11 Texas cities in the Panhandle and Great Plains.

Houston Court of Civil Appeals upheld constitutionality of the Texas Clean Air Act.

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin brought suit in Galveston County District Court to prevent 145 developers from encroaching on public beaches.

AG OPINIONS — Person who faces drivers license suspension as a result of refusing to submit to chemical breath analysis is entitled to have his hearing in the county of his residence, Attorney General Martin says. Martin held that county attorneys can, but don't have to, represent the state in such proceedings.

In other new opinions, Martin ruled that:

* Special option purchase agreement between the State Department of Agriculture and International Business Machines Corporation on data processing equipment is constitutional, since there is no obligation to spend money beyond revenues available at the time the debt is due.

* Legislature left to Commissioners Court determination as to whether office space should be furnished by the county for its home demonstration agent and county farm agent. In the absence of contractual obligation, says the AG, the Court isn't required to provide offices but has authorization to do so.

GAS RATE HIKE — State Railroad Commission granted Pioneer Natural Gas Company, serving 61 West Texas communities, a new rate of 32 cents per 1,000 cubic feet on its gas.

That amounts to four cents of the 6.43 cent increase the company requested.

Rate is still subject to approval by individual city governing bodies before it finally goes into effect.

CHARTERS FORFEITED — Secretary of State Martin Dies Jr. announced that his office is forfeiting charters of 10,907 corporations for failure to pay state franchise taxes.

Figure, said Dies, is almost double last year's and indicates to him "this is a barometer reflecting general economic decline throughout the nation."

WASHINGTON

"As it looks from here"

OMAR BURLESON

Congressman
17th District

Washington — For more than 50 years there has been before the United States Senate for ratification an instrument known as the Genocide Treaty.

The proposed treaty defines genocide as "acts committed with intent to destroy, in whole or in part, a national ethnic, racial or religious group, as such."

The specified acts are already prohibited by law against an individual. It is superfluous to contend that the nature of the crime changes when committed against a group of individuals. The language of the treaty seems to suggest that it is more evil to murder a group of people falling in this definition than it would be to murder one person of each a group.

The wording, therefore, is of dubious definition with no commonly accepted interpretation. It is no wonder that the term genocide is loosely thrown at the United States, connected with every controversy from attacks by the Black Panthers to our air raids on North Vietnam.

For more than two decades the United States Senate has refused to consider the proposed treaty, the full name of which is "The Convention of the Prevention and Punishment of the Crime of Genocide." Actually, 74 nations have signed the treaty since 1951 but it has never been applied to or by any of them.

The fact remains that if the United States were to ratify, those nations which dislike us, of which there are many, would be able to exploit our peculiar position as a powerful nation in the world, subjecting us to propaganda and international pressures. As a nation we could be charged before international tribunals and as citizens could be dragged before foreign courts without any of the guarantees in our own system of justice. The American Bar Association has been against the proposal because it realizes that the provisions of such an agreement would work contrary to the American system of law and the rights which Americans enjoy under its Constitution.

Some organizations in this country are advising people in their publications that a ratification of the treaty by the Senate is imminent and call for donations to fight it. It is perfectly well to fight it but there is no indication that any action is about to take place in the Senate and nothing is scheduled on it at all. Certainly, it is wise for all of us as citizens to be aware that a resolution is pending for the ratification of the treaty and oppose any consideration of it. The United States has no business, and it would in fact be dangerous to our freedom, to enter agreement whereby any United States citizen could be tried in the country where alleged acts under the treaty were committed and punished under the laws of that country. In theory, a United States citizen could be convicted of a crime without definition, under rules and procedures of foreign courts and liable to punishments not yet named.

Already some of our men in Vietnam are being charged with atrocities against civilians. Conceivable, since no statute of limitations is involved in the treaty, our men in Vietnam might be charged and tried at some future date for acts taken in the lawful prosecution of the war against the communists.

One of the obligations which parties to the treaty assume is to pass legislation outlawing and punishing the crime of genocide. Should the Congress decline, it is supposed that any one of the 74 nations could charge us as a nation before the International Court of Justice. In such instance, our whole legislative process could come under the definition of international affairs. It is unthinkable for the United States to submit its sovereignty or any part of its legal system to the judgment of any other nation or group of nations.

Those who agree with this position may wish to write our senators. A direct contact is more effective than having some self-appointed agent doing it for us. VIGILANCE CONTINUES TO BE THE PRICE OF LIBERTY.
