Glenn Is Named Bank President

Earl F. (Tuny) Glenn was named chairman of the board and president of First National Bank in Bronte when the board of directors met Wednesday. Glenn succeeds the late L. T. Youngblood as the bank's head officer. He has been serving as executive vice president.

At the same meeting of directors, Mrs. Charlie (Virginia) Boecking, assistant cashier of the bank, was named a member of the board.

No other changes were made in the board of directors or officers of the bank at the meeting which was the first since the death of Mr. Youngblood. He had been president of the Bronte bank since 1922.

Bronte Native

Glenn is a native of Bronte, the son of Mrs. Mattie Glenn and the late Bryant Glenn. The family home is located between Bronte and Tennyson. He is a graduate of Bronte High School and Texas A&M University. He is a veteran of World War II, having served in Europe as an infantry officer. He was released from the Army in 1946 and was recalled to active duty in November 1950 and served during the Korean Conflict as a finance officer.

He is married to the former Mary Ruth Youngblood. They have three daughters: Mrs. Garry (Marilyn) Elvins and Mrs. Mickey (Frances) Pierce, both of San Angelo, and Laura, a seventh grader in Bronte School. They also have two granddaughters.

Glenn started working at the local bank in 1946. He was an assistant cashier until 1956 when he was named executive vice president. He has been a director since that time, also.

In addition to his banking interests, Glenn has farming interests and operates an insurance agency. He was in partners with Mr. Youngblood until several months ago when he bought out the Youngblood interest in the agency. The Glenns belong to First Baptist Church where he is a deacon. He is a director of the Bronte Housing Authority and East Coke County Hospital District.

Mrs. Boecking has been employed at the bank at various times since 1937, when she graduated from Baylor University. She is also a graduate of Bronte High School. She is married to Charlie Boecking who is engaged in the garage business and has farming and ranching interests. The Boeckings have one son, Tom, who is employed at First National Bank in Ballinger. They attend First Baptist Church in Bronte.

The First National Bank in Bronte has grown steadily during past years. First information found in Enterprise files show $47,122 on deposit in 1911. Sixty years later, on Jan. 1, 1971, the deposits totaled $3,233,034.

Other officers of the bank are B. D. Sneed, vice president and cashier and Mrs. Jerry Parker, assistant cashier. Directors, in addition to Glenn and Mrs. Boecking are D. K. Glenn, J. B. Mackey, Edward Rawlings and Thelrel Burwick.

HUD Okays 12 Housing Units

A wire from Sen. John Tower Thursday afternoon at The Enterprise office stated that the Dept. of Housing and Urban Development has approved a $222,741 contract for construction of 12 low rent housing units in the City of Bronte.

A bid of $185,640 was received last July from BFW Construction Co. of Temple to build the new units. Just what the increase was for could not be determined at press time Thursday. However, it is thought at least part of the difference may be to cover increases in building costs since the bids were taken last summer.

The new houses will be located on the west half of the block where the city hall, post office, car wash and Scott Butane Co. are located. The old Conoco station in the area will be removed. Six of the 12 units will be designed especially for elderly persons. Two more will be regular single bedroom homes and the other four will be two bedroom units.

A. E. Bell Jr., executive director of Bronte Housing Authority, said he expects construction to begin shortly.

Volleyball Team Off to Regional

The high school girls volleyball team and their sponsor, Mrs. Zula Sweeten, will be in Leveland Saturday to compete in the regional tournament. They downed Eola last week in the first round of regional play.

The girls will play at 10:45 a.m. Saturday and will play a team from Hedley, the winner of a match between Districts 3-B and 4-B.

Funeral Held for Mrs. Ruth Spencer

Funeral services for Mrs. Ruth Spencer, 93, were held at 3 p.m. Wednesday at First Baptist Church. The pastor, the Rev. Harry Morris, the Rev. M. E. Patterson, pastor of Central Baptist Church, and the Rev. Wayne N. Stout, Baptist minister, officiated.

Burial was in Fairview Cemetery under direction of Newby Funeral Home.

Mrs. Spencer died at 6:30 p.m. Monday in the Bronte Hospital after a long illness.

One of Coke County's oldest citizens in years and length of residence, she was born Nov. 2, 1877, in Kaufman County and moved to Coke County in 1879. She was married to Andrew Spencer in Coke County in 1897. Mr. Spencer died in 1936. One son also preceded her in death. She was a member of the Baptist Church.

Survivors include one son, Garland Spencer of Bronte; three daughters, Mrs. Myrtle Morrow of Dallas, Mrs. Leamon (Lola) Walters and Mrs. Joe (Agnes) Walter, both of San Angelo; eight grandchildren, 19 great-grandchildren and six great-great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers were Hollis Ensor, Floyd Fancher, Bill Landers, Clifford Clark, Sid Eubanks and Bill Magness.

AD-LIB-BEN

Mrs. Dwain Pruitt shared an interesting bit of information with us this week. Her nephew, Bob Pittman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Pittmann of Houston, attends the University of Houston College of Optometry. One of his classmates is named Bronte Baker. The young man, who is from Victoria, said his father, Jesse C. Baker Jr., lived in Bronte in 1937 when he was 13 years old. He said at that time his first son would be named after Bronte, and sure enough he is. The younger Baker has never visited in Bronte, but hopes to some day.

Our apologies to Susan Cumbie for leaving her name off the list of students who will participate in the regional literary meet in Lubbock April 24. Susan won second in shorthand in district competition and therefore qualifies for regional competition. The meet will be held on the campus of Texas Tech.

Others who will participate are Paula Landers, Dixie Versyp, Larry Hooper and Gin Sneed.

We'd like to blame our mistake on Mr. G., but that wouldn't really be fair because Susan's name was on the list he furnished us.

Austin — Serious financial business faced the Legislators on their return to the capitol after spending the Easter holiday with the homefolk.

A Senate sub-committee immediately began drafting a tax bill which is expected to exceed $550 million. That is the minimum amount needed to balance the upper house version of the budget—from a smorgasborg of proposals already aired.

Both the House and the Senate are due to take up and pass their respective appropriations bills, already drafted, and move the issue of budgeting into a 10-member conference committee of top legislators.

Big battle in the Senate, over revenue raising, may be on a liberal backed proposal to levy a new corporation income tax. More than a dozen votes are regarded as firm for the corporate profits tax, with three or four more senators rated as "possibles."

Senators are cool toward the $492.5 million tax package sent over earlier from the House — first, because they regard it as inadequate and, second, because it places the bulk of the load on consumers and students. Bill would raise the sales tax three-fourths of one per cent to four per cent, hike college tuitions and mark up the corporate franchise tax 50 cents per $1,000.

Earlier, and for the first time, the Senate voted against permitting floor amendments on tax proposals which have not been subject to public hearing.

Here are some of the major tax proposals which have been made to the Senate State Affairs Committee:

- * A corporate profits tax of six per cent, which would produce an estimated $600 million in two years.
* A corporate profits tax boost, to gross about $39.5 million.
* Increase the sales tax to four per cent, to bring in $279.8 million.
* Two cents a gallon gasoline tax increase, to promote $92 million to the state and $30 million to cities and counties for highway matters.
* A beer tax boost to $10 a barrel, $96 million.
* Pipeline tax, $30 million.

AMENDMENT FIGHT LOOMS — Battle lines are forming for the May 18 constitutional amendments election. Conservation leaders and Texas AFL-CIO executive board have declared war on Proposition 4, which would create a $100 million bond fund to assist local governmental units with sewage treatment plant construction.

AFL-CIO also announced opposition to an amendment creating a state commission to set legislators' pay and ethical standards for officials. Support was given to raising welfare ceiling and the amendment which would allow constitutional changes to be proposed in special sessions as well as regular legislative sessions.

Governor Smith announced appointment of Richard D. Brown, executive director of Texas Municipal League, to head a Committee on Clean Water, promoting passage of the water bond amendment which would raise maximum interest rate on Texas Water Development Board bonds from four to six per cent.

A committee of 12 will serve as the coordinators of Texas Citizens for Welfare Reform, promoting passage of Amendment 3 to raise the aid ceiling.

COURTS SPEAK — State has given notice of appeal in an historic federal court cause at Corpus Christi where a three-judge panel held that Texas' annual voter registration requirement is unconstitutional.

Court of Criminal Appeals ordered a new trial for a Texarkana man convicted of murder on grounds that the trial court did not rule correctly on whether a statement by the defendant was voluntary and that the man should be heard on the issue of accidental shooting.

Fifty-sixth district court of Galveston County has enjoined the Gulf Chemical and Metallurgical Corp. near Texas City, directing it to install specified air pollution abatement equipment by Sept. 10.

Third Court of Civil Appeals was told, in arguments by attorneys, that the defunct Sharpstown State Bank did not adequately check the identity of a man who gave it $470,000 in surety bonds.

BONDS FAIL TO SELL — A $25 million offer of Texas Water Development Bonds failed to draw bidders. It was felt that the four per cent ceiling on interest discouraged buyers.

Board members said another offer will be made later in the month if a "favorable" market develops.

A representative of a Dallas bank was about to offer a bid, but moments before the opening he announced he had changed his mind. Board succeeded in selling $15.1 million worth of bonds late in February at 3.9984 per cent.

CAR DEALER LICENSING DUE — Governor Smith signed into law legislation establishing a six member Texas Motor Vehicle Commission to license major new car dealers and manufacturers.

Consumers are assured by law that warranties will be performed by dealers and manufacturers. False advertising and misrepresentation of products and services are also prohibited.

Short Snorts Reduction and eventual repeal of the chain store tax, which produces about $5 million a year in revenue, was voted by the House.

A bill changing the Texas Unemployment Compensation System to conform with minimum new federal requirements was passed by the House.

Transfer of $6.5 million in welfare contingency funds to prevent a cut in aid to families with dependent children was ordered by the Senate.

A law just signed by Governor Smith allows city bus companies to provide lower fares for aged, blind and disabled.

A controversial code of ethics bill was passed by the House. Consumer groups and the AFL-CIO directed their wrath against the so-called uniform consumer credit code and its proposed steep increases in loan interest rates.

Drought, Lack of Cover Responsible For Dust Storms, Damage to Land

Dust storms that have ravaged Texas in recent weeks may get worse before they get better, warns the head of the state's U. S. Conservation Service.

Clyde W. Graham, SCS state

O. T. Colvin
Martin N. Lee

conservationist, says Texas dust storms have reached alarming intensity. "Acres damaged by wind erosion this blow season are already higher than any year since 1965," Graham reports. "If we don't get widespread rains soon, wind erosion damages may reach mid-1950 levels."

Graham said the record breaking drought is a major cause of the problem. Many areas report winter rainfall to be the lowest since records were started.

"Dry weather last fall kept many farmers from planting cover crops," Graham continued. "The drought has also reduced the effectiveness of emergency tillage which some farmers rely on to prevent wind erosion. And high wind velocities in the December to May blow season always seem to accompany a severe drought."

He said the combination of drought, high winds and lack of cover was causing serious land damage across a wide section of the state. The storms are also creating health problems for people with respiratory ailments. Reports from SCS offices tell of roads and streets blocked with sand and 6 foot drifts against houses. And it's not just a farm problem. Sandy land being stripped bare for urban developments is blowing, too.

About 2 million acres of land in Texas has been damaged by wind erosion this year which is about the same as 1965. This compares to only 126,000 damaged last year. The most wind erosion in the past 20 years occurred during the 1956 blow season when 2.7 million acres were damaged.

Graham expressed concern that the 2 million figure for 1971 may double unless it rains soon.

He pointed out, however, that conservation programs pushed by his agency and by local soil and water conservation districts have been extremely valuable in curtailing wind damages this year. While the 2 million acre figure is high, it isn't close to the 15 million acres damaged during Dust Bowl days of the 1930s.

"It's remarkable how land covered with a good surface mulch of crop residue is being protected from wind erosion," Graham said. "Farms and ranches covered with conservation measures installed under the Great Plains Conservation Program are weathering the wind storms especially well."

Graham said that in the last 15 years some 500,000 acres of cropland subject to wind damage in Northwest Texas have been planted to protective grasses. Nearly a million acres of depleted rangeland have also been seeded. Better grassland management is holding down wind erosion on range and pasture land.

"But 2 million acres of land being damaged by wind this year is simply intolerable," Graham said, "especially when you realize it could have been prevented. It's easy to blame it all on the drought but that's only part of the cause. We've been urging people for years to do a better job of leaving crop residues on the soil surface. Many listen but some do not."

Graham said that when you have good moisture, as we have had in recent years, wind velocity drops. And emergency tillage works as a good standby measure. As a result, people get by without wind damage during good rainfall years in spite of the fact that their land may be bare. This lulls many farmers into complacency and they ignore sound conservation farming principles.

But right now, the state conservationist said all that will help is a good rain.

Cloud Seeding Started in Area

Wednesday was the first day for the Colorado River Municipal Water District's cloud seeding program to go into effect.

CRMWD has contracted with Atmospherics, Inc., a California firm specializing in weather modification, for a six month cloud seeding project for which the district is paying $66,000.

By seeding clouds over some 3,600 square miles of the river's drainage basin, the district hopes to bring about enough rainfall to put some water in Lake J. B. Thomas near Snyder and Lake E. V. Spence at Robert Lee. The lakes are supposed to furnish water for Big Spring, Midland, Odessa, Snyder, Stanton and San Angelo.

And, for a change there were a few clouds to seed in this area Wednesday. It was a welcome relief from the severe dust storms and winds of the past few weeks.

San Angelo will begin a similar program May 1, sponsored by the Texas Water Development Board and funded by the Bureau of Reclamation. This program, for the Concho Rivers will continue for three years.

More Wives Work Now

As any working woman knows, in grandmother's day, heaven protected the working girl. All the working wife had going for her was the 19th Amendment — which gave women the right to vote. This is not too surprising, when you consider that during 1920, only one out of 10 married women were in the country's labor force.

In fact, in grandma's time, a woman who combined a job with keeping house, and maybe child-bearing, was often looked upon with interest usually reserved for a novelty act on the vaudeville circuit. What was surprising was not to see it done well, but that it was done at all.

Things have certainly picked up since then. In 1970 working women made up no less than 41 per cent of the married female population. The figure just 10 years earlier was 31 per cent.

The main reasons married women work, reports the Institute of Life Insurance, are the same as for their earlier day counterparts: to contribute toward rent or to help buy a home; to help pay for children's education; or to resume an interrupted career. Often all three.

How does the average woman worker of today differ from her counterpart of 50 years ago?

For one thing, she is more apt to be a high school graduate and to have gone beyond that to college. She is also more likely to be a clerical worker. A half century ago, she would probably have worked in a factory.

Most importantly, she has a great many more opportunities in choosing a career — from astronomy to space selling — than the working wife of 50 years ago had. Also, if asked how she manages to combine marriage and a job, she is more apt to bristle, and wonder how come nobody ever asks a man that.

Women Still Make Less

If she sometimes feels that her job situation is still less than perfect she is frequently right. According to the government's own figures, women tend to make at least $3,500 on the average less than men—and sometimes at the same jobs.

One point most everyone agrees on: a working wife can be a decided financial asset to her family.

A married woman with a job is likely to add at least an additional $2,000 to family income, and often more.

Moreover, the working wife brings home other valuable assets. One is her group life insurance — which would help to replace her earnings, should something happen to her. Then, there is her group health insurance, which frequently extends her family's protection by supplementing her husband's coverage.

In addition, each quarter year the wife works she builds credits toward Social Security for later years.

And to think they all laughed the first time a woman punched a time card!

Seedless Grapefruit Coming

A seedless, darker red and sweeter tasting grapefruit is headed for the produce markets, developed and produced in the Rio Grande Valley. The "Star Ruby" grapefruit will be in addition to the TexaSweat Ruby Reds.

The new citrus is threefold deeper red and has a sweeter taste in addition to having no seeds.

The texture of the Star Ruby flesh is said to be smooth and firm and suited to sectioning. It is said to have sufficient pigmentation so that processing will result in truly red juice.

Expected production for restaurant use and consumption is 1975.

Consumer Clips

When you thaw that chicken you froze last month, allow time to thaw it in the refrigerator, rather than at room temperature, to help assure wholesomeness. Cook it promptly after thawing. U. S. Department of Agriculture inspectors recommend that these rules be applied, where practical, in thawing all frozen meats and poultry.

When you roast a chicken, you can either use a meat thermometer or test if the bird is done by pressing the fleshy part with your fingers. Poultry is done when the meat feels soft. Pink juice in a poultry product indicates it needs further cooking to assure wholesome eating.

There's a difference between "chicken soup" and "chicken-flavored soup." Chicken soup must contain at least two per cent cooked, deboned chicken meat, under U. S. Department of Agriculture poultry standards. There is no minimum requirement for chicken content in chicken flavored soup.

Half of the morning will be spent in consulting groups with various careers being presented.

Consulting groups will also take up most of the afternoon.

Hospital Board Names Officers

Election results were canvassed when the East Coke County Hospital District board of directors met Tuesday night. Rev. C. R. Blake was renamed chairman of the group; LeDrew Arrott was named vice president to replace Matthew Caperton, who did not seek reelection to the board; E. F. Glenn was renamed treasurer and Dwain Pruitt was re-elected secretary.

C. E. Bruton was declared a new member of the board, although he was not able to be present for the meeting.

In other business, the board voted to name the nursing home "Bronte Nursing Home." Now under construction, the home will continue to be operated by the East Coke County Hospital District.

It was reported that construction is proceeding on schedule.

life to travel more in search of food, affording a greater chance for rabies to develop.

If pets have not been immunized within the last year, vaccination or re-vaccination is recommended. Pets three months of age or older will usually develop an immunity to rabies when vaccinated with cultures used by veterinarians. Owners of pets under three months of age should secure Dr. Hudman's recommendation Friday morning.

Several cases of rabies have been found in Sterling County this year. Also, one case involving the Mitt Arrott family of Orient has been reported. Several strange acting varmints have been sighted in Coke County.

Caution should be practiced around strange acting animals, pets or varmints. Also, annual vaccination of pets gives added protection around the home and will help control rabies in a given area.
