AD-LIB-BEN

It is impossible for us to write words to tell all our friends how much your expressions of sympathy have helped the bleak and utter desolation which has hung over us the last several days.

The death of Libby, as all of you know, is a giant loss to us personally; and we can't believe anybody will think we are being boastful to say it is a loss to our community.

She was a fine writer and editor and could do just about anything around a weekly newspaper shop. Not only could she do all these things, but she did do them for over 24 years and she did them willingly and happily.

Maybe all of her work was not completely happy, because she always did our bookkeeping, and honestly she didn't like to do it, and she did gripe about it sometimes. Really, she was just human.

One of the little known things of her life, even to her closest friends, was her pet project of refusing no child who needed school supplies. She very good naturedly took a lot of ribbing from us here at The Enterprise, who, I suppose, were about the only ones who knew about this private project of hers except its recipients.

It was her philosophy that she would rather have any child in Bronte to be allowed to charge

The Coke County group presented priority programs for the county for the next fiscal year. They requested continuance of the Adult Basic Education and NYC programs and requested a summer recreation program with a and everybody is invited to bring rakes, hoes, tillers and other equipment to help with the project.

This project is a joint effort of the Bronte Noon Lions Club and the Bronte Evening Lions Club, who are sponsors.

The work will begin at 8 a.m., according to Administrator L. O. Clark. He said that most of the weeds around the home are dead, as they were sprayed some time ago, but a great deal of help is needed in cleaning up the grounds.

WASHINGTON
"As it looks from here"
OMAR BURLESON
Congressman
17th District

Washington — Given time the Federal Government will attempt to make perfect all the imperfections of man and machine.

Thus it was a year and a half ago that Congress passed the Occupational Safety and Health Act. The law went into effect on April 28, 1971. Employers and employees have been struggling to comply with the law and its regulations since that time. It may be another year or two before any appraisal can be given to the law's effectiveness.

In the meantime, there are many complaints about the requirements and some think it is too sweeping and detailed in its regulations to be workable. In many instances it is something like the little boy who had to write a book report on a 400 page volume dealing with penguins. His report was summed up in one sentence: "This book told me more about penguins that I really wanted to know." Experience suggests that there is more "law" in the Safety Act than is needed.

Like a great many other pieces of legislation, the law was passed on sobering statistics picturing conditions in need of correction. Figures presented showed some 14,500 persons died and more than two million suffered disabling injuries in industrial accidents in the year 1970. An estimated 250 million man days of work were lost. The conclusion is that many employers have been negligent and many workers have been careless.

Granted all this, there is growing evidence that industrial safety requirements are developing into a lawyer's dream and an engineer's nightmare.

Figures now show that of the 22,000 inspections made by safety inspectors of the Labor Department, penalties have been recommended in 40 per cent of the cases, adding up to about $1.5 million in fines. Some have been in the nature of rather trivial charges. All sorts of reports come in, such as an electric extension cord not secured in a certain way.

a hardhat not precisely the approved weight, a toilet seat not exactly so many inches off the floor, and an appropriate receptacle not provided for cups at the water container.

Under the law the burden of maintaining safe conditions is entirely the responsibility of management and if an inspector finds a worker bareheaded when he should have on a hardhat, the employer is socked with a penalty.

Small employers are protesting that the heavy burden of record keeping is impossible for them but statistics to a government agency are like cud for a cow. Of course, the Labor Department is charged with the enforcement of the law passed by Congress and can't be too much to blame but on the other hand it seems that unless fault is found the inspector may not be doing a good job.

Accidents cost money but so does safety. Any of us who might be an operator of a large piece of machinery, such as an earth mover, would like to have a roll-over bar for greatest protection. Something like 70,000 machines of this type are produced annually and under the law each must be equipped with a new roll-over bar at an estimated cost of $2,000 each. This represents $140,000,000 increased cost, which somehow must be paid for.

Like clean air, clean water, pure food and non-flammable nighties, there is no question that greatest precautions should be provided and sanitary conditions maintained in industrial plants. Industry and science have come a long way in improving conditions where people work but usually there is room for further improvement. Except in surgical operating rooms, it is doubtful that all noise, all dust and all hazards can be immediately eliminated in all manufacturing and building trades. If reasonableness can be applied in the initial stages, success in keeping costs down and cooperation up could be better achieved.

Amendments have already been offered to the 1970 Act to try to eliminate some of the more impractical aspects. Just recently an amendment to the Labor Department's appropriation bill provided that businesses covered by the law who employ 25 or fewer people be exempt. This was adopted in the House of Representatives and, if approved by the Senate and signed by the President, it would give relief to smaller businesses which are finding the present law to be exceedingly burdensome.

Rosson Studying Insurance Rates

Rep. Renal B. Rosson was co-author of H. S. R. 79, a resolution adopted by the House of Representatives to set up a study of insurance rates in the different areas of Texas. Results are to be reported to the 63rd Legislature at its regular session next January.

Rosson and others researched discrepancies in insurance rates for a comparison among the three territories which have been used for insurance purposes in Texas. Coke County is in the North-Northwest territory. Rosson gave the example that the rate in our territory for a $10,000 frame house is $108.00, as compared to a rate cost of $49 for the same house or building in the Seacoast Territory and with a rate cost of only $30.00 for the same building in the Central Inland Territory.

The committee will try to determine if this high rate in our area, compared to the others, is justifiable.

Rosson said, "In the 63rd Legislature we hope to make a recommendation to prove that owning a home in our West Texas area is not as hazardous to weather factors as has been charged to us by the State Board of Insurance and too, in this manner, bring other matters to the attention of the Board that will cause a substantial reduction in the area of Extended Coverage (commonly thought of as hail and windstorm coverage). We also feel that such a study could possibly lead to the dividing of the state into maybe 12, 15 or 18 such districts, instead of the three areas. For the purpose of setting rates in automobile insurance, the state is divided into some 38-40 districts. Most other types of insurance coverage have a more realistic basis for setting the rates, as is done in fire insurance."

He said they hope to gather information that will lead to a reduction in rates in the West Texas area.

The barbecue, featuring goat and beef, will begin at 6:30 p.m. at the American Legion Club at Lake Nasworthy.

The Bronte Enterprise

By Bill Boykin

Austin — Parks and Wildlife Commissioners presented Texans twin surprise with the announcement of the purchase of beachfront property in Jefferson County for development as the state's second largest park and a decision to buy the controversial, long debated Mustang Island property in Nueces County for another beach park.

The Jefferson County purchase of 14,360 acres includes a five and a half mile waterway to the beachfront with a vast saltwater marsh inland. The $2,154,000 purchase lies due south of Port Arthur and stretches from the intracoastal waterway to the Gulf of Mexico.

Palo Duro State Park, in the Panhandle near Canyon and Amarillo, still holds its ranking as biggest of the state parks with 15,103 acres.

The Mustang Island purchase, delayed by court wrangles for nearly two and a half years, if no new stumbling blocks suddenly appear, will cost about $600,000 less than the original $4.2 million asking price of the island property owner, Mrs. Sam E. Willson Jr. of Corpus Christi.

The amount of property involved is less than the original 3,965 acres the state was looking at. Seems a survey of the property revealed the state already owned some of the property. Per acre price, however, remains the same — $1.100.

STATE HUNTS "CHOO CHOO" TRAIN — Gov. Preston Smith has asked the U. S. Navy to make available to the State of Texas surplus authentic steam locomotives for use in developing the 33.7 state owned railroad between Rusk and Palestine in East Texas as a tourist attraction. The Legislature last year said the Parks Department could operate the full gauge railroad as a public recreational facility.

The Parks Department is currently rehabilitating 26 miles of the railroad and hopes to operate public excursion trains using historically authentic steam locomotives.

Smith wrote to Navy officials saying he had been informed several military steam engines have been declared surplus and asked for assistance in acquiring one or two of the "iron horses."

DRUG FUNDS GRANTED STATE — Texas is one of three states selected by the federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration to take part in a pilot program designed to stop the flow of legal drugs into illegal channels.

Texas Criminal Justice Council will be funded $333,011 to be sub-granted to the Texas Department of Public Safety to operate a diversion investigation unit. Primary goal is to curtail diversion of controlled substances at the retail level. It is estimated by federal officials that half the legitimately produced amphetamines and barbiturates are diverted to the illicit market.

Headquarters will be in Austin, with cities to be chosen over the state to assure widespread coverage, officials say. Michigan and Mississippi are the other two pilot program states.

FARM-RANCH SAFETY WEEK — Fires, drownings and machinery and tractor accidents continue to be main sources of accidental deaths on Texas farms and ranches, the Texas Safety Association says.

The Association hopes to focus public attention on the continuing upward trends of deaths in nearly every category during Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Week, July 25-31.

TSA spokesmen say 35 deaths were recorded last year from fires, explosions or burns on farms and ranches in the state. Other leading causes of accidental death last year on farms and ranches included 29 drownings, 28 accidental shootings, 26 machinery accidents, 22 tractor accidents, 22 falls and 17 accidents involving animals.

MONEY GRANTED FOR ALCOHOL ABUSE STUDY — Texas is the first state in the nation to be awarded federal funds for prevention, treatment, education and rehabilitation programs to deal with alcohol abuse and alcoholism.

The $1.6 million grant will go to the Texas Commission on Alcoholism which in accordance with new federal law developed and submitted the first state plan for such a program.

The TCA estimates there are 425,000 alcoholic persons in Texas, equivalent to about 3.8 per cent of the state's population.

NO ELECTION MONEY — Officials in the office of Secretary of State Bob Bullock say the Legislature in its special session made no provision for funds needed to wind up the cost to the state of financing elections in Texas counties.

Bullock aides say the Legislature's budget writers were asked for $400,000 to wind up the bill paying for the primary and runoff elections. No money was provided.

Bullock will make another effort to get the additional funds when the Legislature comes back to Austin for its 63rd Session in January 1973. In the meantime, enough money is believed to be available to at least enable election officials to pay Texans who worked in voting boxes. Printing companies apparently will have to wait for final payment after the first of the year, aides say.

Short Snorts

The Texas Animal Health Commission has lifted the hog cholera quarantine from Jim Wells County, but continues to impose the movement ban on hogs in Nueces, Dawson, Terry, and portions of Harris, Bexar, Webb, Mitchell and Nolan counties.

U. S. Transportation Secretary John Volpe has released $24 million in federal highway funds to Texas. The funds had been withheld pending adoption by the Texas Legislature of regulations complying with the Highway Beautification ((Billboard) Act.

Parks and Wildlife Commission has adopted a regulation banning use of firearms and crossbows while hunting deer or turkey during the special archery season.

Screwworm Cases Take Big Jump

By Sterling Lindsey

The number of confirmed screwworm cases jumped sharply last week with 21 cases being confirmed and making the year's total 59 cases.

The western portion of the county has been hit the hardest, but cases are being reported from all sections of the county. In the northwest portion cases were reported by M. C. Hendry, Bill Casey, Foster S. Price, Raymond Bloodworth (3), Mathers & Son (2), Curtis Walker (2), an Tommy Walker.

In the Blackwell area, cases have been reported by Walter King, Bill Hamilton and Charlie Cave. From the Tennyson area, Roy Baker reported one case. The southwest area of the county has sustained cases reported by Conrad Millican, Mrs. L. C. Clark, C. G. Munn, John A. March and Mims and Coulter.

Elsewhere in the county cases were submitted by Finnell and Eula Smith, Frank and H. C. Allen, Mrs. J. W. Arledge Jr., Wayne Drennan, L. W. Duncan, Wayne McCabe, Wilbern Millican and L. E. Wink.

Several people have wondered about sterile fly drops since no contacts have been made lately by program officials to mark the drop area. Since the fly boxes have been found in several locations in the county and because the infestation is wide spread, we are presuming flies are being dropped in a grid pattern in this area of the state. All counties in this area are having some screwworms which would give further incentive to use the "broadcast" system in dropping sterile flies.

Rev. and Mrs. Harry Morris and Becky will leave Monday for a vacation visit in Canadian and Higgins.

school supplies at our place rather than to have to steal them or do without them.

Many is the time that we have had kids by themselves or with their parents approach our office and all the rest of us would fade into the background with the somewhat snide remark that "here comes one of Libby's customers." So we would always try to let her wait on them.

And wait on them she would. They always got what they needed from her. Would you believe that we have been paid for an unbelievable amount of the things she sold like this. Of course, she didn't bat 1000, but she didn't expect to.

There is one thing that we are terribly proud of and terribly humble about: any child who had the courage or whatever it takes to come in and let her know he needed school supplies received them. They didn't know it, but they really had a guarantee.

We have a number of unpaid bills on our ledger which reflect this project which was exclusively hers for many years, and every time we come across one of these pages we shall consider it as a beautiful memorial to one of God's most beautiful and generous children.

She was a friend to all the children and young people who knew her, and was so dearly loved by so many of them. Most particularly we have to recall the many young people who have worked for us during the last 20-odd years. I think that without exception, all of them loved her most of all besides their own parents.

She was a wonderful and loving wife and mother, and was always ready to extend her love, help and sympathy to us when we needed them. She was always very proud of her two daughters and was seldom too busy to listen to them about their problems while they were growing up. She would work long hours into the night to make them new dresses or whatever they needed.

She was a great gal. We thank each of the hundreds of you for every way you have told us that you loved her and that you are sorry for our great loss.

Our prayer is that each of you, when you need it, will receive the wonderful consolation that we have received from you.

paid director. They also requested vocational on-the-job training programs and day care centers to care for children of low income mothers while they are working. Other suggested programs were a senior citizens organization with social and educational programs.

Money for these type programs has been appropriated by the Federal government and Coke County comes under the Tom Green County area.

County and city officials said that to date most of the money has been spent in Tom Green County and that is why they are seeking representation on the board of directors in order to insure the rights of Coke, Sterling and Irion counties. They also said that persons in these counties should contact their mayors and county judges showing an interest in the programs and their possible economic impact on the smaller counties.

Mayor Martin Lee of Bronte said, "The money is available, it will be spent, and we need to work to get our share of the programs."

Election Judges Named for Coke

Coke County Commissioners' Court in a session last week appointed election officials and places for general and special elections held during the year 1972-73.

Voting precincts, place of elections, presiding judges and alternate judges are as follows:

Precinct 1: Recreation Hall in Robert Lee, Mrs. Patricia Ivey and Mrs. Willie Clark.

Precinct 2: City Hall in Bronte, Royce Fancher and Wayne Arrott.

Precinct 3: Courthouse in Robert Lee, Robert Large and Mrs. Jessie Yarbrough.

Precinct 4: School House at Tennyson, J. P. Arrott and Mrs. Lora Bell Brown.

Precinct 5: School House in Bronte, Noah Pruitt and Calvin McCutchen.

Precinct 9: Community Center at Green Mountain, D. O. King and Connie Millican.

Kenneth Lackey, Bill Wrinkle and Tom Williams were re-appointed to serve on the Absentee Canvassing Board during the coming year.

Polls will remain open from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. and judges and clerks will be allowed $1.50 per hour and $1.50 per hour for overtime. The judge who delivers returns of an election will be allowed $5.00 for that service.

Voting Precinct 8 at Silver will be consolidated with Precinct 1 and registered voters of the Silver area will vote at the Recreation Hall in Robert Lee beginning at the start of a new voting year on March 1, 1973.

Boundary lines of Voting Precincts 2 and 5 were changed to coincide with recent changes in the boundary lines of Commissioner Precincts 2 and 4. Main effect of this change is to place the Bronte City Hall in Precinct 2.

Letter Explains Why No Money

(Editor note: The following letter was received recently by County Democratic Chairman D. K. Glenn. It is an explanation why some expenses incurred in holding the two Democratic Primaries have not been paid.)

Dear County Chairman:

This letter is to inform you that the special session of the legislature has adjourned without appropriating the $400,000 I requested to pay the outstanding debts of the primary elections.

I know that many of you have bills that have not been paid. I am also aware that people and suppliers to whom money is owed hold you responsible for the unpaid debts. The debt is not yours, however, it is the State's and I urge each of you to contact your State Senator and State Representative and explain to them the critical need for appropriating this money in January 1973 on an emergency basis.

The cost of this primary election far exceeded anyone's expectations. In 1968 and 1970 the primaries cost approximately $1.7 million. This year it appears that the cost exceeded $2.8 million, an increase of almost 80 per cent over previous years.

Although I originally estimated a 30 per cent increase in expenditures over prior years, the huge increases in cost, caused by the record voter turnout and the expansion of the Republican Party primary operations were not foreseeable.

The result was that the original appropriation fell short by some $370,000. This money cannot now be appropriated until January, 1973 when the legislature convenes. However, as the State's chief election officer I feel responsible for getting this money to your workers and creditors as soon as possible. I assure you that I am pursuing every possible source for this money and will send it as soon as possible.

Sincerely,
BOB BULLOCK
Secretary of State

Of The Texas Department of Agriculture
John C. White, Commissioner

Export pens progressing... Fresh vegetables in abundance... Crop prospects good...

CONSTRUCTION of new livestock facilities at Houston, Del Rio and Eagle Pass is underway, and an appropriation for possibly two more was in the 1972-73 budget adopted in the recent special session of the Texas Legislature. The appropriation for $450,000 is believed adequate for two more sheltered facilities which may be built at El Paso and Brownsville. The new facilities will replace the present facilities which have been condemned as inadequate by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and which have brought a threat from the Mexican government to halt export of Texas cattle through border cities.

If exports through Mexican border towns were halted, livestock exports would have to be re-routed through Miami, Fla., facilities which would cost livestock men considerably more in transportation costs. Texas livestock exports have been averaging over $12 million annually.

The new facilities, which Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has said will far exceed standards set by the USDA and Mexican authorities, will be operated by the Texas Department of Agriculture. The USDA will furnish inspection services.

The new facilities will have concrete floors throughout, covered pens, specially designed loading and inspection chutes, a new hydraulic type multivat for dipping animals, offices and laboratory space. USDA requires sufficient pens at export departing points to hold all of the animals in a shipment so that the entire lot may be given a clinical veterinary inspection while at rest. Each pen will be separated by curbing that will permit flushing and disinfecting of individual pens.

TEXAS GARDEN FRESH vegetables are in abundance now, and most consumers agree that these Texas agricultural products are first in quantity and quality. There are 105 counties in 13 areas of the state growing vegetables in commercial quantities on a total of 214,140 acres. The state ranks third in the nation, behind California and Florida, in production of fresh market vegetables; and is first among the states in production of watermelons, spinach and cabbage.

The state is a major producer of 17 vegetable crops, including the three named above and tomatoes, strawberries, cucumbers, honeydew melons, lettuce, beans, potatoes, cauliflower, broccoli, sweet corn, cantaloupe, carrots, onions and green pepper.

CROP PROSPECTS over Texas are good, according to the regular reports put out by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. Grain sorghum prospects are good and wheat yields are higher than were expected earlier. Rice harvest is getting underway, and yields have been cut some by rains and high winds in a few places. A few bales of cotton have been picked in the Rio Grande Valley, and soybeans are making good progress on the Gulf Coast.

In the Rio Grande Valley where cotton harvest is beginning and grain sorghum harvest is nearing completion, land preparation for the fall vegetable crops is well along and next year's citrus crop is making satisfactory progress.

Rains and scattered showers during the past 10 days provided moisture to finish planting peanuts, sorghums and soybeans in the northern parts of the state. Corn is making good growth on the High Plains, and little insect damage has been noted.

A Stock Tank on a Coke County Ranch STOCK PONDS VALUABLE SOURCE OF LIVESTOCK WATER IN COUNTY

By L. L. Wilkins
Soil Conservation Service

Earthen ponds continue to be popular with farmers and ranchers for providing livestock water in Coke County. Fifty-two ponds were constructed in 1971 and 1972. These were primarily cost shared through the Rural Environmental Assistance Program (REAP) and the Great Plains Conservation Program. Besides providing livestock water, ponds have added benefits for recreation, wildlife and fishing.

The demand for water has increased tremendously in recent years. Although there are other sources of water, ponds are one of the most reliable and economical.

Water is as important as forage in the production of livestock. Clean water and ample forage are essential for livestock to be finished out in marketable condition. Inadequate stock water development on rangeland contributes to instability in livestock production.

In order to help achieve proper grazing use of all the rangeland, water must be properly distributed in relation to the available forage. A better understanding will help plan a pond large enough to meet the water needs of the livestock. The following tabulation of the average daily consumption of water by different kinds of livestock will help in estimating water needs. Daily requirements for beef cattle and horses, 12-15 gallons; sheep and goats, 2 gallons; hogs, 4 gallons.

The depth should be such that would insure a dependable supply, considering beneficial use, sedimentation, season of use, evaporation, and seepage losses. In Coke County a pond should normally be 15 feet or deeper, since evaporation is 7 feet per year.

The two types of ponds used in Coke County are "embankment" (dam type) and "excavated" (pit type). The type of pond needed will depend on the site, size and type of drainage area, and size of pasture. Ponds should not have much shallow area due to evaporation losses. By keeping the water deep and below ground level evaporation by hot winds will be reduced.

This information is based on the field experience and observation of successful land users and Soil Conservation technicians.

Local information is essential and land users are encouraged to consult with the local Soil Conservation Service in constructing ponds.
