Baileys' Home Best Groomed

L. O. Clark, Mrs. Bailey and Mayor Martin Lee

Mr. and Mrs. Don Bailey were first place winners in the "Bronte Beautification Week" judging which was done last Friday. Their home in southeast Bronte was selected as the "best groomed" and they were presented with a $10 check and a yard plaque.

Second place winners and receiving a check for $7.50 were Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Moates who live at 219 W. Hudson. Mr. and Mrs. Evert Best, who live on South West Railroad Street were third place winners and received a check for $5.00.

Judges said the selections were most difficult to make, and added there were dozens of well-groomed homes that would have been worthy of placing.

L. O. Clark served as chairman of the beautification event, which was sponsored by the Bronte City Council.

Clark handed the following list of persons and firms to The Enterprise and thanked each of them for their part in making the project a success:

J. T. Henry for making the "Bronte Beautification Home Award" sign.

Women's study clubs for making the selections of winners.

The commissioners of Precincts 2 and 4 for assisting in transporting trash from the community.

Sarah Heaner and Jodie Freeman for making posters and placing them over the city.

Louis Thornton and West Texas Utilities for displaying the street sign.

The Bronte Enterprise for promoting the project.

And the entire community for the fine response in helping make city property as pretty as possible.

County trucks have been hauling off trash this week.

Thoughts

From The Living Bible

And now I want to urgently remind you, dear friends, of the old rule God gave us right from the beginning, that Christians should love one another. If we love God, we will do whatever he tells us to. And he has told us from the very first to love each other. Watch out for the false leaders—and there are many of them around—who don't believe that Jesus Christ came to earth as a human being with a body like ours. Such people are against the truth and against Christ.

Even further savings may be allowed under new competitive rating effective Sept. 1, which allows companies to deviate above and below standard rates set by the board.

However, insurance industry spokesmen warned, other new laws going into effect may drive rates up substantially next year.

Rates cited by the board do not include, for example, effect of new optional additional coverage for medical expenses and wage losses (up to $2500 for driver and passenger). Actually, the coverage is added automatically unless the car owner rejects it in writing.

Industry officials estimated the $2500 additional "personal injury protection" will cost from $8 to $23 a year, which would exceed the cost of savings on other coverage in the same territories.

Changes in the "guest statute" — which will allow passengers other than members of the driver's family to sue in event of accidental injury — will add at least another five per cent to premiums, according to a top industry source.

The new comparative negligence statute will increase property damage liability costs at least 10 per cent, estimates the Texas Automobile Insurance Office, which represents companies writing 98 per cent of Texas auto coverage.

The guest statute and comparative negligence law changes will not be reflected in premiums ordered into effect Aug. 27, since there is no experience to base calculations on.

Rates vary substantially among 40 rating territories. An average statewide cut of 11.2 per cent was ordered last year.

RATE HIKE SOUGHT — Lone Star Gas Co. is applying for an increase in rates it can charge Texas cities to 51.86 cents per 1,000 cubic feet from the present level of 41.40 cents.

However, cities served by the company are seeking State Railroad Commission review of the Lone Star system's market value.

A rate increase by the company got Commission approval three years ago following a value survey of its system.

Meanwhile, the Commission has postponed until July 23 a hearing on Coastal State Gas Corporation's Lo-Vaca distribution subsidiary for a rate hike.

COURTS SPEAK — Texas Supreme Court will review a case involving refusal by the mayor of Flower Mound New Town to call an election to disannex about a mile of territory.

In other recent decisions, the High Court:

* Agreed to review a dispute over whether a Van Zandt County farmer "voluntarily exposed" himself to a bite by a wild boar. The farmer sued a neighbor for $154,179 when the boar bit him.

* Reversed a $57,500 award against a Dallas woman accused of making harmful remarks about a competitor in the field of removing body hair by electrolysis.

AG OPINIONS — Plucking of pigeons' tail feathers to make their flight erratic and then tossing them up to be shot in marksmanship contests might support convictions for torturing, Atty Gen. John Hill held.

NEW GUARD PROGRAM OFFERED — A new enlistment option in the Texas National Guard has been offered non-prior service personnel for a 90 day trial period.

Under the plan, non-veterans can enlist in the Guard for six years with the option of serving three in an active (drill) status and the final three in the Individual Ready Reserve (IRR) Control Group. No monthly drills would be required in the last three years, although summer training may be ordered. Texas is one of 16 states offering the option.

TAX EXPERTS TO BE CALLED — In the search for a solution to school revenue problems, the Legislative Property Tax Committee may be asked to bring in expert witnesses to discuss taxing of intangible property like bank accounts, stocks and bonds.

A House education committee sub-panel is exploring the intangible tax field in determining wealth of school districts, but has encountered little enthusiasm for taxing all such wealth.
