Richard Sims Takes New Job

(Editor's note: The following story was taken from a Pasadena newspaper and concerns Richard Sims, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sims of Robert Lee.)

Mayor John Ray Harrison of Pasadena has a new administrative assistant.

He is 30 year old Richard D. Sims, a veteran broadcaster and civic leader who lives in Clear Lake City with his wife, Jackie, and 10 year old daughter, Teri.

Mayor Harrison says Sims' job will be "more on the community relations and in liaison work between the mayor and department heads."

He will also represent the mayor when the mayor has more appointments than he can fill, Harrison said of Sims.

Sims is from Robert Lee, Texas, where he attended high school and was a track and football star. He attended Sul Ross College at Alpine on a track scholarship, and while attending Angelo State University he was athletic director at Sacred Heart Junior High.

He became interested in radio work while still in school, and has been a broadcaster for 14 years.

He came to the Houston area nine years ago, working at KXYZ and KULF and for the past 1 1/2 years, at KIKK in Pasadena.

He has been interested in civic work, and is a member of the official board at Clear Lake United Methodist Church.

An Eagle Scout, he works with Scouting, is an active worker in the Gulf Coast Chapter, Cystic Fibrosis.

Former Bronte Resident Shot

A former Bronte resident is in serious condition in a Shreveport, La., hospital after being shot during a robbery of the Lakeshore Branch of Louisiana Bank and Trust Co.

She is Sharon Ewing, 27, who was a customer in the bank and was one of five persons shot during the robbery.

Mrs. Ewing is the former Sharon Mackey, the daughter of Mrs. Pat Mackey of San Angelo and the late Neely Mackey. She grew up in Bronte and is a graduate of Bronte High School.

Mrs. Ewing was wounded in the right arm and chest and at last report was in the intensive care unit of the hospital. Her address was listed as Waskom, Tex.

Police captured two robbery suspects at a residence near the bank minutes after the holdup.

Mrs. Ewing is a granddaughter of Mrs. Sam McDonald of Robert Lee and Mrs. Jessie Mackey of Bronte.

It was learned Wednesday that Mrs. Pat Mackey has returned to her home in San Angelo after going to Shreveport to be with her daughter and that Mrs. Ewing was considerably improved.

Funeral Held For L. B. Raney

By Mrs. Rockey Thompson

Mr. Raney died Friday, Jan. 18, in a San Angelo nursing home after a long illness.

He was born Aug. 8, 1880, in Coryell County and had lived in San Angelo the past 24 years. He was a retired carpenter.

Survivors include one son, Harold B. Raney of San Angelo, three grandchildren, 10 great-grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

FIRE BURNS GRASS OUT OF CREEK BED

Bronte firemen had a pretty good fire on their hands late last Thursday afternoon when dead grass and weeds in the North Kickapoo Creek caught fire. The blaze spread quickly and caused motorists approaching Bronte to say they thought the whole town was burning.

Firemen were able to extinguish the blaze before it spread enough to cause damage to nearby buildings.

Members of the fire department asked that Bronte area residents be very careful with fire, since dead vegetation is extremely dry and easy to set afire.

Weather Offers Good Variety

Small amounts of rain, sleet and snow plus some sunshine have made up the weather menu in the Bronte area the past few days. Unseasonable springlike weather brought residents out in their shirt sleeves over the weekend.

Cooler weather came into the area Wednesday and brought heavy snowfall north and west of here, but the small amount of snow that fell here early Thursday morning melted as it hit the ground. Some rain also fell Wednesday and early Thursday morning and sleet fell for a short time Wednesday.

By noon Thursday the sun was shining intermittently and the temperature was up to about 48 degrees.

Forecast calls for continued cloudiness and a good possibility for rain. Farmers and ranchers are hoping the forecast holds true, as rain is badly needed.

Poinsettias, Can They Be Made To Reflower?

This question is frequently asked by those receiving one as a gift. There is no easy answer. If one has the time and patience as well as the ability to accept disappointment it can be attempted.

Poinsettias are perhaps the most difficult flowering potted plants to rebloom in the home. Unless there is special interest to try the technique, discard the plant after flowering. If you must try follow the instructions carefully.

After blooming, gradually withhold water. The leaves will then yellow and fall. Store the dried off plant in a cool place with temperatures 50 to 60 degrees until spring. Water only enough to keep the roots from drying out.

In spring place the plant in a warm room, and prune the stems back to about six inches. If there is more than one plant in the pot, divide and repot them at this time.

For repotting use a well drained soil. House plant potting soils available at garden shops are satisfactory. Or use one part garden soil, one part peat moss or leaf mold, and one part sand or perlite.

After repotting, place the plants in a bright sunny south window until frost danger is past. Sink the pot outdoors where it gets some wind protection but where it gets sun most of the day. Light shade in the hottest part of the summer afternoon is desirable. Lift the pot occasionally to keep the roots from growing into the surrounding soil.

As new shoots develop, cut them back to allow two nodes or pairs of leaves to remain. Do not pinch back shoots after mid-August.

Plants may be started from cuttings, but rooting is fairly difficult under home conditions.

Keep the plant in good growing condition by watering and feeding regularly during the summer. Add a complete liquid fertilizer about once every two weeks.

Watch carefully for insect or disease problems and control immediately. Discard diseased plants.

Before the weather becomes cool in the fall, bring the plant indoors and place it at a bright, sunny south window. Night temperatures for flower development should be between 60 and 62 degrees. At higher temperatures, flower development will be poor. Day temperatures may be 70 to 75 degrees.

The poinsettia is a short day (long night) plant. Make sure that it receives no additional light at night while flowers are forming. This critical period begins about Oct. 1 and continues until colored bracts and flower buds are visible. Even short periods of dim light can prevent flowering. If the plant is kept in a light room, cover it every night at dusk with a light tight bag or cover. Remove the cover at about 8 each morning.

If these procedures are followed carefully, the plants should flower by mid-winter.

Using Poinsettias in the Landscape

In South Texas poinsettias can be planted directly outdoors as soon as danger of spring frost is past. If placed in a protected area where early frosts won't harm it, they will make beautiful plants for the next holiday season. They should be cut back to eight to 10 inches each spring to encourage new growth from the base. As new shoots develop, cut them back to allow two pairs of leaves per shoot to remain. Every time a new shoot produces about four or five pairs of leaves prune it again. Do not prune after mid-August or flower buds and color bracts may not form in time for Christmas.

Extra illumination from a street or yard light will have the same effect on a poinsettia growing outdoors as it does on plants growing indoors. If you want them to flower, be careful in selecting the location in the landscape. Place the plant so it will receive no additional light after Oct. 1 until the time the bracts show color if they are to bloom by Christmas.

For best results poinsettias must have a well drained soil and must be fertilized regularly. While poinsettias will not tolerate a wet, poorly drained soil, they do require plenty of water for optimum growth, as they tend to drop their leaves if they are allowed to become dry.

Research at Ohio State University concluded in 1971 indicates that the Poinsettia (Euphorbia pulcherrima) is not poisonous.

The cost of not saving keeps going up.

If you need cash and you haven't saved it, you have to borrow. And that means paying through the nose to use someone else's money.

So it makes sense to put away a few dollars of your own. One great way to do just that is by purchasing U. S. Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. It's an easy way to build a nest egg.

Now there's a bonus interest rate on all U. S. Savings Bonds—for E Bonds, 5½% when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4% the first year). That extra ½%, payable as a bonus at maturity, applies to all Bonds issued since June 1, 1970... with comparable improvement for all older Bonds.

Buy U. S. Savings Bonds. It's a lot better to be receiving interest on your own money than paying it out on someone else's.

Bonds are safe. If lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace them. When needed, they can be cashed at your bank. Tax may be deferred until redemption. And always remember, Bonds are a proud way to save.

Take stock in America.
Now Bonds pay a bonus at maturity.

Thoughts

From The Living Bible

In the Temple area he saw merchants selling cattle, sheep, and doves for sacrifices, and money changers. Jesus made a whip from some ropes and chased them all out, and drove out the sheep and oxen, scattering the money changers' coins over the floor and turning over their tables! Then, going over to the men selling doves, he told them, "Get these things out of here. Don't turn my Father's House into a market!" Then his disciples remembered this prophecy from the Scriptures: "Concern for God's House will be my undoing."

The consumer's right to know:

An open letter from Lone Star Gas

In 1962, President Kennedy sent an historic message to Congress—the first of its kind devoted entirely to consumer interests. He pointed out that two-thirds of all spending in our economy is by consumers, that the problems consumers face today are greater than they have ever been in history and are likely to become more complex as time goes on. In the intervening years, Presidents Johnson and Nixon restated this message and cited the four basic rights of the consumer: The right to safety, the right to choose, the right to be heard and the right to be informed.

Lone Star Gas recently launched a new advertising program to inform consumers about our company and our principal product—natural gas. We believe that only by knowing the facts can you fully understand issues such as gas supply, rates (your cost of natural gas service) together with the rising costs of finding and delivering natural gas to our more than one million customers.

This in large part relates to the much publicized Energy Crisis, a label which suggests there are timely remedies available. There are. Studies by experts show there are vast potential reserves of natural gas—enough in the United States to last well into the 21st century. But adequate financial incentives are needed before enough producers will accept the risks of costly deep drilling. As most of you know, Lone Star has undertaken ultradeep wildcat drilling in Oklahoma's Anadarko Basin. Be assured that we and the natural gas industry will diligently pursue the search for those potentially vast energy reserves so necessary to sustain and improve the quality of life for everyone.

The subject of rates is much abused because many consumers and public representatives seem not to understand that cheap energy is a thing of the past. You may not have known that just a few years ago, the most expensive gas that Lone Star purchased cost less than 20 cents per thousand cubic feet. By comparison we now have paid in excess of 85 cents a thousand for major new supplies. We pay the price because we must if you, the consumer, are to be served. And because the consumer must pay his share of the cost, we have asked that your gas bill be adjusted fairly. Meanwhile, we continually strive to keep our operating costs in line with the requirements of efficient management of all resources, whether they be natural gas, manpower, plant and equipment, or the exercise of good judgment on advertising expenditures.

The right to be informed by industry and government is a protection of the consumer's right to safety, to be heard and to choose. Lone Star, in the years to come, will continue to inform you about matters vital to both ourselves and you—to assist you in the proper exercise of those rights.

Moores to Hold Special Services

The Rev. Gene Moore and his wife, Bobbie, will conduct evangelistic services at the Robert Lee United Methodist Church Jan. 27-30. The Moores have organized a new evangelistic association entitled Music and the Word. They have witnessed with music to thousands of people.

Serving in full time evangelism for 12 years, the Moores have been around the world and participated in many citywide and local church crusades. They and their daughter, Susan, and son, Jonathan, reside in Anson.

It was music that brought the couple together. They met at an Oklahoma college and were married in 1953. Their ducts have thrilled thousands since then. They have sung for gospel meetings, camp meetings, retreats and civic clubs. In 1968 the Moores sang in Indonesia and their latest missionary tour was in India. A large part of their title goes for India missions. Currently they are building a church in central India in memory of their son, Timothy.

They have four record albums, the latest of which was arranged by Kurt Kaiser and accompanied by the London Orchestra. Moore is an accomplished songwriter and has had several songs published. Among his familiar songs are "Fill Your Life with Love," "Jesus Set My Heart to Singing" and "Do Unto Others." His latest song, "God's Newest Angel," was written several days after the death of their nine year old son, Timothy.

The Moores sing for people of all ages. Perhaps they sum up their own witness when they say, "Through our music we are trying to tell the message of what God has done for us."

Everyone is cordially invited to attend the special services. Time of services is 11 a.m. Sunday and 7:30 p.m. each of the four nights.

FREEZONE IS FOR CORNS THAT HURT.

Why fool around with painful corns, when Freezone can help you remove them. Try it. You'll see. In just days, the corn will be gone... the hurt will be gone. Painlessly. No dangerous cutting. No ugly pads or plasters. Drop on Freezone—take off corns.

R-Lee Cemetery Marker Dedicated

Dedication ceremonies for the Official Texas Historical Marker for Robert Lee Cemetery were held Sunday at 2 p.m. in the Robert Lee High School Auditorium. A large crowd attended with 185 persons registering.

The marker was sponsored jointly by the Coke County Historical Survey Committee and the Hayrick Masonic Lodge No. 696. The Robert Lee Chapter No. 187, Order of the Eastern Star, donated $100 toward payment of the marker.

The cemetery is owned by the Hayrick Lodge, which acquired the land for $1 from L. B. Harris and members of the Cartledge family and was formally established in 1891.

Robert Lee High School Band, under the direction of George Strickland, presented patriotic music as people assembled for the program and after the ceremonies as the audience gathered in the cafeteria for refreshments.

Supt. Jimmy Bickley was master of ceremonies. The invocation was given by Rev. Roy Epperson, pastor of the Robert Lee Baptist Church. The colors were presented by Shell Williams, Randy Bessent and Walter Flowers of Boy Scout Troop No. 461 as the band played the National Anthem. They also led the audience in reciting the Pledge of Allegiance.

With Mrs. Wilson Bryson at the piano and George Strickland leading, the audience sang "America."

Mayor S. E. Adams gave the welcome, and Mrs. Bryson Yarborough, chairman of the Coke County Historical Survey Committee, introduced special guests.

J. T. Henry of Bronte, past District Deputy Grand Master, 77th Masonic District, gave the history of the Hayrick Lodge which was organized Dec. 11, 1890, at Hayrick.

C. R. (Butch) Service, Master of the Hayrick Lodge, introduced the Hon. Thomas C. Yantis of Brownwood, Grand Senior Warden of the Grand Lodge of Texas, who was the featured speaker for the occasion.

F. C. Clark and C. S. Brown, 50 year members of the lodge, unveiled the marker. The marker is to be erected at the cemetery with a base including the Masonic square and compass symbol. L. B. Menielle of San Angelo, a member of Hayrick Lodge and past Master of Big Lake Lodge, read the inscription, which follows:

Robert Lee Cemetery

Established in 1891, two years after the founding of the City of Robert Lee. Developers L. B. Harris and Eugene Cartledge, as president and secretary of the Austin & Northern Land & Cattle Company, on Sept. 29, 1892, sold for $1.00 this 11.7 acre burial ground. Already site of several graves, it was deeded to Hayrick Lodge No. 696, A. F. & A. M. for "sole use as cemetery grounds for the members, relatives, and friends." Later it was named by the Lodge.

Buried here are 34 Civil War veterans, as well as soldiers of later wars and members of many of the families in Robert Lee.

The cost of the material and labor for erecting the concrete triangle and the square and compass built out of tile, was donated by Mr. and Mrs. Menielle. Menielle, who is also chairman of the Cemetery Association, recognized the Cemetery Association members.

Elton T. Mims of Water Valley, vice chairman of the Coke County Historical Survey Committee, made a short talk in memory of the late Hawley C. Allen. Mr. Allen was a 60 year member of the Masonic Lodge and a well known law enforcement officer. Mims said "he was the Grand Old Man of Coke County." Mims also gave the benediction.

County Historical Survey Committees were represented from Coke, Runnels and Tom Green Counties.

Towns represented were Austin, Brownwood, San Angelo, Carlsbad, Water Valley, Winters, Abilene, Silver, Bronte and Robert Lee.

Retirement.
The end of work,
or the beginning of worry?

Most people look toward retirement as a time of relaxation and enjoyment. And it can be if you prepare for it. But if you don't, it can be a time of worry and discontentment. A time when you can look back and think of a million ways that you could have saved, but didn't.

Well, there's no better time to think about retirement than now, while you're working.

One easy way to save on a regular basis is by purchasing U.S. Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work.

Now there's a bonus interest rate on all U.S. Savings Bonds—for E Bonds; 5½% when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months

(4% the first year). That extra ½%, payable as a bonus at maturity, applies to all Bonds issued since June 1, 1970... with a comparable improvement for all older Bonds.

Buy U.S. Savings Bonds. They'll help make your retirement just what you want it to be.

Bonds are safe. If lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace them. When needed, they can be cashed at your bank. Tax may be deferred until redemption. And always remember, Bonds are a proud way to save.

After high school, will your kid go to work, or to college?

High school is the end of Free Education.

If your child decides to go on to college it'll take money. Lots of money. Money that you should probably be saving right now.

And there's no better way to start a college savings fund than by joining the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. That way an amount you specify will be set aside from each paycheck and used to buy U. S. Savings Bonds. Before you know it you'll have a nice little college fund on hand.

Now there's a bonus interest rate on all U. S. Savings Bonds—for E Bonds, 5 1/4% when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4% the first year). That extra 3/4%, payable as a bonus at maturity, applies to all Bonds issued since June 1, 1970... with a comparable improvement for all older Bonds.

Join the Payroll Savings Plan. And, if your child keeps studying and you keep saving, you'll both be ready for college.

Bonds are safe. If lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace them. When needed, they can be cashed at your bank. Tax may be deferred until redemption. And always remember: Bonds are a proud way to save.
