Late wheat crop still a puzzle

The late freeze and wet weather has delayed the wheat harvest for a couple of weeks, meaning that the first load will not come in for another week to 10 days.

Local crop observers say that they really cannot gauge what the 1997 crop has in store for farmers.

"I've heard more mixed opinion about the crop from farmers and producers than anything," said Don Graham at Dimmitt Agri Industries.

"It looked like this was going to be one of the best crops we've had in a while," said County Extension Agent Rebel Royall, "but the late freeze really hurt."

It not only hurt our area, but also wheat in the Oklahoma Panhandle and western Kansas.

Wheat in those areas, as well as here in the Texas Panhandle, was in dire need of rain in early April, and much of the wheat had been weakened by drought even before the freeze occurred.

Farmers caught a break, though. The cool, wet weather we have been having lately allowed the wheat to rebound nicely from the freeze damage.

In fact, according to the USDA 1997 Wheat Crop Forecast, 1.6 billion bushels of wheat is expected to be harvested across the country, which is 8% higher than last year's total.

Still, experts have heard estimates ranging from 20,000 to 200,000 bushels lost to the freeze in mid-April. All of which proves that this year's crop is unpredictable.

"Some of the wheat is so good that it's beginning to lie down in the field," said Ricky Kuntz of Flagg Fertilizer. "But then there are some places where the wheat is not very good at all."

Some of the wheat that is "not very good at all" was not only damaged by the freeze but also rust, hail and wind.

"Rust got some of the fields out here," said Eddie Matthews at Easter Grain, "and some of the heads have broken and fallen to the ground."

"The rust appeared late in the wheat and it is really too late to do anything about it," Royall said. "Also, some wheat near Flagg received some hail damage."

"There is some rust in some fields," said Graham, "but it is really not a major problem."

The major problem for farmers this year could be the prices they get for their harvested wheat.

"The price today (Tuesday) is $3.37 a bushel," Graham said. "Last year on June 17 the price was at $5.72. Of course this is just a product of supply and demand. The drought ruined much of the wheat in Kansas last year, decreasing the supply."

Even though many farmers and experts are at a loss to pinpoint how good the crop will be this year, it is obvious that overall production will be high.

According to the USDA Weekly Crop Progress, 3% of wheat across the country is very poor, 9% is poor, 28% of the crop is fair, 49% is good and 11% is excellent.

"There's no solid opinion," Graham said, "but at this time it looks like we'll have a pretty good crop."

A hail storm Saturday night ended the cotton season for a couple of farmers near Flagg.

"Some farmers have gotten hailed out, but overall there hasn't been that much hail damage to corn or cotton," said Matthews at Easter Grain.

If you want to see a good example of low-cost aerobic exercise, watch a boat-tailed grackle trying to stay on a fence post in a stiff wind.

Two years ago, Evelyn Noble had a skunk problem at her place just east of Dimmitt.

She mentioned it to Chet Braafladt, who came out with a trap and served as the follow-up dispatcher.

They trapped five skunks, all right. And nine raccoons. And three possums.

(Chet didn't dispatch the raccoons and possums; he just relocated them.)

This flat, semi-arid land of ours has never been renowned as a natural habitat for raccoons and possums.

My guess is that the Conservation Reserve Program cover crops, added to the abundance of corn, has made our corner of the world raccoon-friendly.

By the way, Evelyn quit trapping after that one big haul.

"I had a family of skunks getting under my house then," she said. "I still have all kinds of varmints around, but they're not bothering me."

This came over the Internet:

SUMMARY OF THE WORLD

If we could shrink the earth's population to a village of precisely 100 people, with all existing human ratios remaining the same, it would look like this:

There would be 57 Asians, 21 Europeans, 14 from the Western Hemisphere, including North and South America, and 8 from Africa.

51 would be female and 49 would be male.

70 would be non-white and 30 would be white.

66 would be non-Christian while 34 would be Christian.

80 would be living in sub-standard housing.

70 would be unable to read.

50 would suffer from malnutrition.

1 would be near death, and 1 would be near birth.

1 would have a college education.

Half of the entire village's wealth would be in the hands of only 6 people, and all 6 would be citizens of the United States.

Monette Kenmore Ray of Rochester, Minn., writes:

"We enjoyed your article regarding the Hmong people (1:1, May 22) as we have a Hmong Mission of our church, Emmanuel Baptist, here in Rochester. Several hundred Hmongs came to Minnesota after the Vietnam War.

"Most of the Hmong have become US citizens and are very proud of their new country!

"Our Hmong pastor, Nhia Herr, has helped to translate the New Testament into the Hmong language.

"Not only did these people help our government during the war, but they are now very productive citizens in our state and throughout the country.

"Many of the women do very fine, intricate needlework. The women are helping to raise money for the publishing of the Hmong Bibles to send back to their countrymen....

"The Hmong dress in their native dress on special holidays, and the costumes are quite beautiful as well as noisy. Small coins are sewn in great numbers on these headpieces as well as the costumes, and they really 'jingle' as they move about.

PUTTING OUT THE FLAMES—Dimmitt Volunteer Firefighters attempt to squelch a house fire Tuesday afternoon. The trailer house, located out in the country, three-fourths of a mile north of FM 2397 on County Road 510, belonged to Blake Ellis. Local deputies described the fire as pretty well a total loss. Ellis was not at home when the fire started. The cause of the blaze is still under investigation, but it does not appear to be arson. The Hereford Fire Department lent a hand at the fire.

City pulls the plug on Ruskin idea

After hearing almost all negative comments about the city's possible purchase of the Ruskin Racquet Club facility, the Dimmitt City Council voted 6-1 not to buy it.

The vote was taken at the Monday night meeting of the council after hearing comments from 17 people present, mostly residents of the Ruskin Circle and Butler Boulevard areas. Roy Garza cast the dissenting vote. He felt the purchase would be a less costly alternative to replacing the current city pool.

Most of those expressing an opinion at the meeting were concerned about the additional traffic the facility would attract to their isolated neighborhood. Several also mentioned the children who would have to go so far to get to the facility, and would have to deal with the hazard of the heavy truck traffic on Butler.

Rita Ramos, a Dimmitt police officer who also lifeguards at the city pool, said she was concerned that the Ruskin pool would not hold the 132-plus swimmers who frequent the city pool on really hot days. She also said that any increase in the cost of swimming (currently $1.25) would be too much for many of the children who use the facility now.

Mayor Wayne Collins said cost estimates for a new pool range from $200,000 to $300,000, not counting any land or building costs.

In other business, the council voted to advertise for bids from any who are interested in leasing the city's farm land south of Dimmitt.

Sheffy said the current lease holder, Eddie Waggoner, has said that he does not want to renew the lease. City Attorney Jack Edwards said he would draw up a lease agreement for bidders to base their bid on. Also, the council agreed to change the lease term to go from January to December and to require half of the lease amount at the beginning of the lease term. The first contract period of the new lease term would be for about a year and a half, with the cost adjusted accordingly.

A bid for repairs to part of the roof of the city hall building was accepted at a total cost of $5,623. The only bid received was from T&D Roofing of Dimmitt for 3,520 sq. ft. of single ply roof membrane.

A plaque of appreciation was presented to former council member Malcolm Reynolds for his years of service on the council.

Marker dedication set for July Fourth

An honor guard from Canon Air Force Base at Clovis, N.M., will be one of the highlights of the program at the dedication of a memorial marker in Dimmitt on the Fourth of July.

The Castro County Historical Commission has set the dedication ceremony for 11 a.m. at the gazebo on the courthouse square, and the public is invited.

The marker lists the names of 20 Castro County residents who were killed while on active duty in the armed services, including in World War I, World War II, the Korean Conflict and the Vietnam Conflict.

A short biography of each person listed will be read, and family members of the honorees have been invited to attend the ceremony. Also participating will be representatives of the local VFW and American Legion groups and auxiliaries.

The welcome will be presented by Dimmitt Mayor Wayne Collins, and Bill Sava will act as master of ceremonies. The honor guard will perform the presentation of colors, followed by the Pledge of Allegiance.

The invocation will be led by Rev. Rusty Dickerson, pastor of Dimmitt's First United Methodist Church. The reading of the marker will be done by County Judge Irene Miller, with Sava assisting in recognition of any family members present. Also, recognition will be given to all veterans present.

The honor guard will perform a 21-gun salute, followed by the playing of "Taps." The benediction will be led by Rev. Howard Rhodes, pastor of Dimmitt's First Baptist Church.

The marker, which will stand 4' by 2'6", will list the names alphabetically, and is inscribed: "In memory of those who gave their lives in service of their country, during World Wars I & II, Korea and Vietnam."

Those listed are: Carl Turner Adams, Cyrus Andrews Jr., Joe Bailes, Brodie Bronnell Bills, Stanley Bryan Byrnes, Raymond Theodore Dirks, Gene Easley, James David Erwin, Greer H. Estes, Billy Graef, Frank C. Herrera, Lonzo O. McDonald Jr., Vance Harwood Murphy, Roy Nelson, Emilio Nino Jr., Russel E. Slough, John Ray Stephens, Robert Daniel Truelock, George E. Wall, and Arthur Holland Webb.

Law enforcement

Domestic violence policies changing

Local law enforcement officials hope to increase the rate of conviction for domestic violence offenders in Castro County.

A new inter-agency protocol agreement is being worked out between the Castro County Sheriff's Dept., the Dimmitt Police Dept., and the Hart Police Dept., and the County/District Attorney's office.

The protocol will include a written policy for the handling of domestic violence cases.

Last year, city officers reported 24 assault/family violence cases, according to Dimmitt Police Chief Ray Aleman. Out of those cases, 18 arrests were made, but only five convictions were obtained.

A big problem in the past was that officers would gather evidence and build a case against an offender, but the offender or other family mem-

Free helmets Bike safety course, 'rodeo' set Saturday

The Dimmitt Police Dept. will give away 50 bicycle helmets to children who complete a bicycle safety course planned for Saturday.

Children ages 5 to 13 may register to win one of the helmets, which are being donated by the Texas Dept. of Health "Safe Riders" program. Winners will be selected in random drawings.

Registration for the safety course will begin at 9:30 a.m. Saturday at the Dimmitt City Hall meeting room. The safety instruction will begin at 10 a.m. The class should be over between 11:30 a.m. and noon.

The children will be dismissed for lunch, but are encouraged to attend the 'rodeo' portion of the event at 1 p.m. in the south parking lot at the Dimmitt ALCO store. Participants will ride through six different courses to test their skill and demonstrate what they learned.

Some of the stations along the "obstacle course" will include a figure eight (to test maneuverability), a circle (to test balance), and a straight line (for steadiness). It will take 35 to 40 minutes for each participant to complete all six stations.

"We hope all the kids will come out to this event. We feel it will be beneficial and fun," said Dimmitt Police Chief Ray Aleman.

Amy Smithson weds Robert Harbin

Amy Nicole Smithson, daughter of Teddy and Vicki Smithson of Lamesa, exchanged wedding vows with Robert Lee Harbin, son of Larry and Karla Harbin of Crane, in a double-ring ceremony June 7 in the Second Baptist Church of Lamesa with Rev. Howard Rhodes, pastor of Klondike Baptist Church, officiating.

The bride is also the granddaughter of Rayphard and Mary Lu Smithson of Dimmitt and of Gene and Willie Lampp of Sulpher Springs. The groom is the grandson of Mrs. Dannie Seward of Brownwood and Mrs. Hattie Harbin of Lubbock.

Following a Caribbean cruise, the couple plan to make their home in Lamesa before returning to Texas A&M of Commerce in the fall.

Walter Maynard of Dimmitt was the accompanist. Jessica's Theme From Man From Snowy River was the processional and The Maker Said Take Her by Alabama was the recessional. Tami Griffith of Dimmitt sang Wind Beneath My Wings, Somewhere in the World, and Long as I Live. Kenny Ferguson of Lamesa sang Forever's As Far As I'll Go. Amber Smithson of Lubbock, cousin of the bride, sang Love Theme from Terms of Endearment.

The church decorations included a 60-light horseshoe-shaped candelabra adorned with greenery, black and ivory pew bows, and a unity candle centered on the wooden cross podium.

The registry table was covered with a lace cloth and featured a black horseshoe pen holder with the couple's initial. Guests were registered by Tammie Tuggle of Meridian and Tanna Lampp, cousins of the bride.

Brandi Kilgore of Lubbock, friend of the bride, served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Amy Beck of Dimmitt and Angie Kidd of Andrews, friends of the bride. Karla Smithson of Lamesa, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid.

The attendants wore floor-length gowns of black satinback shantung styled with a low, square back. They carried long-stemmed ivory roses.

Morgan Lampp of Sulpher Springs, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a dress of ivory satin styled with petite flowers at the waist and adorning the train. She carried an ivory wicker basket with black ribbon and miniature black horseshoes.

Chris Harbin of Crane served his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Josh Covington of Stephenville and Mark Villines of Crane, friends of the groom. Kory Smith of Lockney, cousin of the groom, was junior groomsman.

Ushers were Wesley Smithson of Lamesa, brother of the bride, and Phillip Hambrick of Midland.

The male members of the wedding party wore black tuxedo jackets, ivory shirts, and black jeans, completing their attire with feather gold vests, black boots, and ivory rose boutonnières.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a gown of ivory Italian silky satin, designed by Mon Cheri. It featured a vee neckline complemented by short pouf sleeves. The neckline and sleeves were trimmed with a ribbon of cafe Italian silky satin, and the sleeves also were enhanced with a cluster of cafe satin petite fleurs. The bodice and sleeves also were accented with Alencon lace beaded with pearls and sequins. The basque waistline allowed the full ball gown skirt to fall gracefully to the floor and sweep into a semi-cathedral-length train. The back featured a deep vee accented with a triple row of cafe ribbon. Cascading from the back waistline were twin back overskirts trimmed with cafe ribbon and petite fleurs. The overskirts were accented with a looped bow and a cluster of rosettes. The skirt and train were further enhanced with appliques of beaded Alencon lace. To complete her ensemble, she chose a wreath of porcelain rosettes finished with a soft pouf and fingertip veiling.

Her bouquet was a contemporary style featuring wild roses, lotus pods, lop berries and pods, and magnolias with caladium leaves. Tucked into the bouquet was a handkerchief from the bride's hanky baby bonnet. For something new, she selected her dress. Something old and blue was a handkerchief belonging to her maternal great-great grandmother. Something borrowed included pearls belonging to her maternal grandmother and a Bible belonging to her paternal grandmother. The Bible had been carried by both her mother and grandmother in their weddings.

A reception followed the ceremony at Second Baptist Church Activity Building. The main table was covered with an ivory tablecloth with ivory tulle. The five-tiered satellite cake was accented with flowers and the bride's Dreamsicle collection. Servers were Rebecca Ruebish and Pamela Kearney. They used a silver cake server belonging to the bride's paternal grandmother.

The drink table was covered with an heirloom cloth that had been used by the bride's great-grandparents on their 50th anniversary. Punch was served by Danielle Hill and coffee was served by Dolores Barrios from a silver coffee service belonging to the bride's grandmother.

The groom's table was covered with a black cloth with ivory tulle. A chocolate horseshoe cake with basketweave chocolate icing was served by Chastity Slaughter, cousin of the groom, and Brandy Kennedy. Decorations included Dreamsicle "Sugar Foot" cowboy, a pair of handmade spurs belonging to the bride's father, and a floral arrangement held in a pair of child's boots.

A graduate of Klondike High School, the bride also attended South Plains College and Texas A&M of Commerce. She is employed at Texas Pest Management Assoc. of Brownwood County in Lamesa.

The groom is a graduate of Crane High School and attended SPC and Texas A&M of Commerce. He is employed by Dean Scott Construction of Lamesa.

Kids, are you finished with your bookmarks yet? So far, only one has been returned to the library. They are due back by next Tuesday, June 24. We'll take any original design that has to do with libraries or reading, but if you need inspiration, the theme of this year's summer reading program is: "The Incredible Dream Machine."

When you bring back your bookmark, sign up for summer reading! Summer reading begins the same day the bookmarks are due ... June 24. The program will continue for five weeks, until July 26.

Both readers and read-to-mes can participate. Here's how it works: Come to the library and sign up. Take home a reading log. On the reading log, record how long you read each week during the program. Read-to-mes will need to have either a grown-up or older sibling help keep track of how long someone reads to them each week.

At the end of each week, bring the reading log back to the library. Report how long you read during the week. If you read the minimum time—100 minutes for readers, 35 minutes for listeners—you can get a prize from the library. When you read extra time, you can get an extra prize for that week.

Sometime in July, we'll have a summer reading party. We're still working on the details.

Here are some answers to a few of the questions we're commonly asked about Summer Reading.

"Do I have to take a test?" No, just read.

"Do I have to read library books?" No, you can read anything. What's important to us is that you do read and that you enjoy whatever you read. We'd like it if you read library books, but you don't have to.

"How many books do I have to read?" That's up to you. Have fun! It's summertime! Just remember to keep track of how long you read and return your reading log to the library during the Summer Reading Program.

On the Go with Mary Edna Hendrix, 647-3343

Edgar and Leta Dennis are back from Alaska where they went on a five day land tour from Fairbanks to Anchorage aboard the train, Midnight Express, and a seven-day cruise from Seward to Vancouver. They did everything that time allowed including flightseeing over Mt. McKinley, touring Donali National Park, river rafting, kayaking and panning for gold. The weather was really nice and the scenery was magnificent. They spotted quite a bit of wildlife such as moose, doll sheep, mountain goats, black and grizzly bear and caribou.

On the cruise portion of the trip, ports of call were Skagway, Juneau and Ketchikan. Sailing into Yakutat Bay to Hubbard Glacier, their ship passed right by an iceberg where a sea lion had just calved. The ship was able to get within about a half mile of Hubbard Glacier. The glacier was really active, calving frequently which produced magnificent "white thunder."

They also saw whales, porpoises, sea lions, otters and quite a few bald eagles. One side excursion took them along the old gold rush trail into Canada's Yukon territory on a narrow gauge railroad.

Rosetta Bellinghausen flew to Dallas to spend her vacation with her son and family, David, Melody, Jordan, Canaan and Shiloh

Bellinghausen in Ovilla. They attended church on Sunday and celebrated Shiloh's first birthday with presents, cake and ice cream. They attended Jordan's ballet recital. They celebrated Rosetta's birthday with a fish fry, french fries, hush puppies, salad, birthday cake and ice cream. One day Rose and Rosetta went to Houston and then back to Huntsville to visit with some of Rose's friends. Rosetta went back to Ovilla where she celebrated her birthday with presents, cake and ice cream. Jordan and Canaan also prepared a meal of manicotti, salad and homemade bread for her and the family. When Rosetta returned to Dimmitt, Mary Edna Hendrix took her to the Pan-

Sunnyside with Teeny Bowden

Ten one-hundredths of rain was received Thursday morning with 1/2 inch received Saturday evening in a heavy downpour, lots of thunder and striking lightning and a little small hail and high wind. South of the draw the amount was less. Alton and Betty Loudder had only .40 inch. There was no rain in my gauge Monday morning, but others may have had some rain about 3 a.m. as the television reported. It must not have been stormy or it would have woke me up.

Verba Sadler fixed a fried fish supper Saturday night honoring all the fathers in the family, Ezell Sadler, James Powell, Larry Sadler, David Sadler and Tex Conard of Dimmitt. Others present were Norma Conard, Patricia Powell, Sharon and Carrie Sadler, Stacy Norman, Jeremy and Joshua, Laura Sadler, Matt and Kristen, Karla and Gay Sadler. Emma Jean King and Teeny Bowden attended the Castro County Historical Commission meeting in the library Thursday afternoon to continue plans for the marker dedication July 4. Others present were Madge Robb, Clara Vick, Beckie Stovall, Lynn West and Martha Jo Hyman.

Betty and Bobby Sutton, and their children Brett and Brandy and girls, all of El Paso arrived Saturday to spend the Father's Day weekend with Billie and Emma Jean King and Marshall and Kaye King, Lance and Lincon of Earth. Brandy and girls went home Sunday evening. Betty, Bobby and Brett went home Monday.

Robert Duke took Frances to Lubbock Thursday for a check-up with her doctor. She got a good report, just needs more time to completely heal. She went to church Sunday morning for the first time since her surgery and then since Sunday was their 45th Anniversary and their kids were gone. They drove to Tulia after church to celebrate both Father's Day and their anniversary by having a good dinner at El Camino since they like Mexican food.

Hershel and Retha Wilson had Father's Day with Lonnie and Renee Wilson and Flossie Jones of Olton. Since their daughter, Debbie Elder of Lubbock missed both Mother's Day and Father's Day with them she fixed a special dinner for them Monday night in Lubbock.

Ray Jo Riley left Saturday for Alaska to spend about ten days on business and a vacation. He plans to do some fishing also.

Jo Eddy Riley spent Father's Day with her dad, Ira Scott and her mother in Hereford. She has been going to be with them at least once a week since her dad is not doing very well.

Cotton needs more hot, dry weather

Cool, wet weather continues to impact the overall progress of the High Plains cotton crop, even though most would agree prospects have not been significantly impacted so far.

According to Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers (PCG) several recent thunderstorms have included isolated areas of hail with probably the hardest hit areas located in Hockley County where an estimated 25,000 acres could be shifted to alternative crops. Poor availability of seed for some alternate crops could influence replant decisions for many growers.

An additional problem associated with the recent round of weather has been the cool temperatures that have limited the number of heat units being accumulated by the crop and the occurrence of blowing sand with many of these storms.

Heat units are used to help gauge the maturity of the crop during the year. Heat units levels correspond with development of the cotton plant and are helpful in knowing how far along the crop is during the year. Daily heat units (DD60s) are calculated as the average daily temperature minus 60.

"Based on long-term average heat unit accumulations, it appears we are 155 DD60s below normal at the Halfway Experiment Station in Hale County, 115 DD60s below average at Lubbock and 90 DD60s below average at Lamesa," explains Texas Agricultural Extension Service (TAEX) Cotton Specialist, Randy Boman of Lubbock.

"Essentially this means that young cotton is not growing as fast as we would like, additional cool, wet weather could adversely affect seedling health."

Boman notes that the solution to this problem is a return to warm, seasonal temperatures and lots of sunshine.

Insect pressure is also on the rise as producers are keeping an eye on rising fleahopper populations as well as emerging boll weevils throughout the area.

More and more cotton is reaching the pinhead square stage in areas south of Lubbock and producers, who have been witnessing some of the highest boll weevil emergence levels ever seen on the High Plains, are now beginning to make overwintered weevil applications in hopes of reducing populations somewhat during the summer months when the crop is blooming and setting fruit.

Peak boll weevil emergence appears to have been somewhat delayed by the cool, wet weather but should occur sometime during the 2-4 weeks. The probability that peak emergence will occur during a time when the majority of the crop will be squaring means producers need to be especially watchful. Taking preventive action as necessary to delay population increases can provide relief for producers during the early portions of the summer.

Members of the recently appointed Southern High Plains-Caprock (SHP/C) Zone Advisory Committee met Tuesday, June 10, in Lamesa to begin discussions for their recommendations to the Texas Department of Agriculture (TDA) Commissioner Rick Perry.

Members of the 18-person committee agreed on proposals for several aspects of the SHP/C Program. Producers in the 19-county Zone will have the opportunity to vote on the future of their fight against the boll weevil August 1.

Highlights of preliminary action taken by the Committee are as follows:

1. Establish the SHP/C Zone as spelled out by recently passed legislation governing the program.
2. Recommend that growers have the opportunity to choose Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. as the primary contractor for carrying out boll weevil program operations in the SHP/C Zone.
3. Establish an assessment structure utilizing a post-harvest collection system in conjunction with area gins and an assessment level of $6 per planted acre (taken to harvest) plus $10 per bale produced.
4. Recommend that producers who paid 1996 boll weevil assessments to be given the opportunity to apply for credits equal to those assessments. Credits would be applied at a rate of 25% per year to any future assessment rate.
5. Determine producer support for authorization of borrowing authority for the Texas Boll Weevil Eradication Foundation on behalf of the SHP/C Zone.

The next step in the process of developing recommendations for Commissioner Perry to consider will come today (Thursday) when a public hearing is to be held in Lamesa at the Dawson County Community Building.

The hearing, designed to receive comments from producers about the future of the boll weevil eradication effort in the SHP/C Zone, is scheduled to begin at 10:30 a.m. Following the time-line necessary to complete the August 1 referendum in the SHP/C Zone, all ballot items must be finalized by June 25.

Clarification

The News reported in last week's edition that the Texas Corn Producers Board had approved expenditures of $111,590 for studies aimed at improving insect control, irrigation practices, drought tolerance and soil fertility for High Plains producers.

This was part of more than $258,000 approved overall in 1997 by the TCPB for corn research projects.

The article quoted Doug Higgins of Hart, TCPB Research Committee chairman, from the TCPB's newsletter, The Kernel.

Higgins said the article forgot to mention that TCPB also had granted $60,000 to the US Feed Grains Council this year.

Buying a Franchise—How to avoid the pitfalls

For a would-be, small-business owner the lure of the franchise is strong. We often hear that franchises are growing at faster rates than the overall economy. Franchise proponents tell us that risk is virtually eliminated because of proven systems and methods. We also hear that franchisors look out for the best interests of their franchisees.

Unfortunately, not all we read and hear is true. While there are advantages in owning a franchise, there are also pitfalls. Please consider the following myths and suggestions before you part with your hard-earned money.

Five franchising myths

1. A franchise is a safe investment. Opening any business is a gamble. Even with tested formulas, there is risk. A 1992 congressional hearing found that nearly 40% of franchisees fail within the first five years.
2. Franchisors look out for franchisees. Don't bet the farm on it. Some franchisors are better than others, but their goal is to grow and increase profits and that may often conflict with individual franchisees' needs.
3. Franchisees are easy to sell. If things don't work out you can sell a franchise quickly, right? Wrong. All franchisees come complete with a contract. Some have buy-back clauses and most restrict the sale of the franchise.
4. Franchisees prosper in bad times. No business is recession-proof. Poor management can cause a franchise to fail in good economic times. In tough times, even well-run franchises can suffer decline or failure.
5. All franchises are about the same. Not true. Franchises vary and are like an ever-changing kaleidoscope. Some offer brilliant opportunities, while others become dull and unimaginative almost overnight.

How to pick a winner

Before you invest heavily in any venture, take a little time to avoid the most common pitfalls. Here are some suggestions to get you started.

- ◆ Begin with an honest self-evaluation. What skills, knowledge and abilities do you possess that will help you be successful? Are you really willing to work 70-80 hours every week? Are you comfortable earning less initially? Can you handle the tough parts of the business such as personnel, financial management, accounting and marketing? Do you understand financial statements, labor laws and insurance requirements?
- ◆ Do your homework. Learn about the industry surrounding any franchise you might consider. Study the products and services offered. Know the competition. Take a hard look at the trade area. There are many sources of information, but you'll have to dig data out.
- ◆ Study individual franchisors. Not all franchisors offer equal opportunities. Look at the company's track record. Learn about their growth, marketshare and paperwork requirements. Carefully study the company's disclosure documents. Look at information from two or more companies. Bring in professionals when you get ready to negotiate the contract.
- ◆ Visit and interview existing franchisees. Look for successful owners in markets that approximate your potential trade area. Visit in person all those you can. Find out what the franchising company provides and how cooperative it is. Ask about training. Were there any surprises? Would they do it again knowing what they know now? What changes would they make? Franchisees are an excellent, experienced source of information.
- ◆ Visit the corporate office and talk to the staff. You wouldn't buy a house just by driving by, so check out the inside of your first-choice franchisor. Is quality obvious? Are all the staff members friendly and courteous? Are they knowledgeable and forthright in answering your questions? Do they show interest in you, and your needs?

As with any business start, planning and gathering information are important to your success. Armed with a good plan and the right information, your franchise experience can be a positive one.

Thornberry joins in pressing Glickman on CRP enrollment

US Rep. Mac Thornberry (R-Tex) joined recently with other members of the Texas congressional delegation in writing Agriculture Secretary Dan Glickman to express their concern over the Clinton Administration's recent decision to drastically cut back the number of acres enrolled in the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP).

The decision, announced by the USDA on May 23, resulted in a 26% reduction in the number of CRP acres enrolled across Texas. According to Thornberry, the letter was written to convey three important points:

1. That the Administration's decision to enroll 16.1 acres falls short not only of the 36.4 million cap set by congress, but also of the 19.1 acres provided for in the Administration's own budget for Fiscal Year 1998;

2. That because Texas lost so much CRP acreage, the Administration's decision will have a "disproportionately negative" impact on the quality of agriculture and the environment in the state; and

3. That the remaining acres of environmentally sensitive land in Texas originally intended to be enrolled in CRP should be considered in the next CRP sign up scheduled for this fall.

The text of the letter said:

"We are writing to express our concern over the US Dept. of Agriculture's recent announcement of acres to be enrolled in the CRP's 15th sign up. Congress and the Administration made a commitment to address the environmental concerns relating to agriculture when it reauthorized the CRP in the Federal Agricultural Improvement and Reform Act of 1996. We expect the Administration to honor this commitment.

"The department's announcement of a 16.1 million acre enrollment is well short of both the congressional intent, falling over 9 million acres short of the 36.4 million acre cap, and the Administration's own budget of 19.1 million acres. As a result, Texans are being forced to bear a 26% reduction in participation in this very successful voluntary conservation program.

"Texas has almost 4 million acres of cropland currently enrolled in the CRP. Your decision not to fully utilize this program will have a disproportionately negative impact on the quality of agriculture and the environment in Texas.

"We expect that the remaining acres of environmentally sensitive land originally intended to be enrolled in the CRP will be considered in the next CRP sign up. We look forward to your timely response so that our farmers can make informed management decisions."

Crop year off to a good start

By REBEL ROYALL and GRETA SCHUSTER, County Extension Agents
General Crop Situation

The 1997 crop year is off to a good start. With the exception of some grain sorghum, all crops have been planted and emerged. Overall, cotton and corn are growing as expected. Due to hail in parts of the county, some fields may have been replanted. All areas in the county are above average rainfall. At present we have received 1.19 inches of rainfall since the first of June. Overall daily temperatures have been below normal, however, soil temperatures remain relatively warm (the 10 day average at the two inch mark being 67°F and 70°F at the 6 inch mark).

The wheat crop is nearing the harvest stage. Rust has been spotted in several fields around the county. However, at this stage it is too late to spray and in most cases unless a large yield is expected, it would not be cost effective.

What we need at the moment is some warmer weather in order to accumulate heat units and increase crop growth. The cool, wet weather we have been having facilitates several plant disease problems so be on the lookout.

Corn

In Castro County, corn is in the early whorl stage ranging from 6 to 8 leaves. We have been finding European corn borer (ECB) and southwestern corn borer (SWC) egg masses. ECB eggs are 15 to 30 in mass, overlap like fish scales and are normally deposited near the midribs on the undersides of the leaves. Eggs hatch in 3 to 7 days.

An insecticide application is justified if 50% of the plants are found to be infested with an average of at least one live larvae per plant.

SWC borers emerge from corn stubble, especially from corn adjacent to or near unplowed stubble. Fields next to these experience higher densities of SWC borer larvae feeding the whorl. Eggs are laid on the upper and lower surfaces.

Freshly laid eggs are creamy white and after about 24 hours three red bands appear on each egg. Larval feeding in the whorl is longitudinal, and transparent. Traps have been light with 50 to 150 moths per trap per week.

Expect to start seeing western corn root worm feeding in the next weeks. In the last couple of years, data from Greg Cronholm has shown that around June 14, 2nd and 3rd instar larvae have been observed.

Rescue treatments with Furadan® 4F has been very effective in the past when the product is incorporated and followed by rain fall or on irrigation. Adults should emerge around the end of the month.

We have seen a few corn earworm eggs. Larvae leaf feeding by corn earworm is generally considered to be minor. Corn earworm is variable in color ranging from green to tan to pink. These larvae have numerous small projections over the body called micro spines. Larval feeding will cause the leaves to appear ragged, but insecticide treatments are seldom recommended.

Cotton

Area cotton ranges from the 3-4 leaf stage. Between hail damage and excessive cool, wet weather, cotton has really had a hard time. Thrips have increased in many of the fields (even those fields with soil insecticide down).

Damage to most cotton ranges from the light to moderate level; although, fields with no soil insecticide show damage moderate to heavy with a high population of immature thrips. Producers will need to control these critters, especially if we keep having cool wet weather.

Boll weevils are being found throughout Lamb County traps. There are a number of traps around Castro and Lamb counties being checked by the TAEX Agri-partners Demo-Techs. Castro County traps have not shown any weevils so far. When making an overwintering weevil application, remember that if you are finding 4 or more weevils per trap per week, treatment is probably justified.

Recently, emerged weevils feed on squares for 4 to 8 days before mating. Soon after the first squares are one-third grown, egg laying begins. On the average, a female lays about 100 eggs during their life period of about 30 days. Treatment decisions must be made at matchhead square which is approximately 45 days after emergence of cotton. Pheromone traps are a good way of monitoring boll weevil emergence and the need for overwintering weevil sprays.

If you need traps sources and supplies, here are a few listings: Hercon Environmental (717) 764-1191, Iselin Associates (602) 897-2051, and Great Lakes IPM (517) 268-5693.

The best time to put traps out is just after a field is planted. You need 4 traps per 160 acres as well as enough pheromone and kill strips for 8 weeks. The pheromone lasts 2 weeks and the kill strips last 4 weeks.

The following products are recommended for overwintering weevil control: Guthion®, Methyl Parathion® 4E, Phasor/Thiodan® 3E, Vydate®, Malathion® 91% and PennCap® M 2F.

Demo-techs and scouts

We have two new scouts this year. They are Jessica Kern and Justin Bingham, both of Nazareth. Those producers in the scouting program need to make sure they contact the office and/or these scouts when application of pesticides are used.

We also have several demonstration technicians this summer. In Castro County we have Amy Matthews and Emilo Nino, both of Dimmitt. In Lamb County, we have Morgan Hanlin and Brandi DeLeon.

This group is responsible for running corn borer, earworm, bollworm and boll weevil traps. They are also responsible for collecting data from all of our Research/Result Demonstration plots. So far we have 18 Result Demonstration plots in Castro and 8 in Lamb. This will tell you that we will be having one heck of a crop year.

Some of our tests include seed treatment vs. infurrow insecticides on cotton for thrip control, fungicide seed treatment for seedling diseases in cotton, Bt corn, 30 corn varieties, a herbicide trial in cotton, corn and sorghum, and a drought tolerant corn test (as if we needed this one.)

Deana Beames, R.T., department manager, and Michelle Miller, R.T.

We've Gone Nuclear.

Nuclear medicine is our newest service at Plains Memorial Hospital. We received our state license six weeks ago to perform on-site nuclear medicine studies.

So what is nuclear medicine? "It's a diagnostic tool," says Deana Beames, manager of the new Nuclear Medicine Dept. "The procedures include mainly bone scans, and also brain scans and abdominal scans."

"It's another method you can use in diagnosing specific situations. Say, if you have an X-ray and the reading isn't really definite, a nuclear scan would give you a different look that would be helpful in further evaluation for diagnosis. X-ray, cat-scans, ultrasound, MRI (magnetic resonance imaging), nuclear scans—these are all tools that are used for different types of evaluations."

She emphasized that the service we provide is nuclear medicine studies, not treatment.

"The treatment that involves radioactive materials is radiation therapy," she explained, "and for that you'd need to go to a facility that specializes in that type of treatment."

Until now, when a local doctor felt that a nuclear scan was necessary for a proper diagnosis, the patient would have to go to a larger city for it. But now the scan can be performed here, saving the patient both time and trouble.

"As far as I know, only one other hospital the size of ours in this area provides this service," Beames said.

The hospital district didn't have to buy expensive new equipment to provide the service. What makes it feasible for us is a mobile nuclear medicine scanner that is brought in from Lubbock when needed. The scanner is provided by MASI Healthcare Services, based in Fort Worth.

"A registered nuclear technologist comes with the unit," Beames explained. "They set up in our ultrasound room (in the northeast wing of the hospital). They do a complete study and leave the films with us. We send them to our radiologist to have them interpreted. MASI also provides all the nuclear material needed for the operation, and they always check the room before they leave and make sure there's no residual radiation."

If you ever need to have this special type of "diagnostic picture" made, ask your physician to call us and we'll set up an appointment for you, at your convenience.

Letter 'Divide money equitably'

Dear Editor:

We have a serious problem in Castro County. The money is not divided up legally. The state laws say the county is to divide up the money judiciously and equitably between the precincts, which they don't do.

Precinct 4 is mostly dry land and they are not assessed the taxes that is assessed on the irrigated land. Also, it doesn't cost near as much to maintain the roads, so that has caused the precinct to have much better roads and better machinery, and more money in the bank; and in the irrigated area to have roads not satisfactory for 1997.

They teach in the road building school to build all-weather roads and improve the road with all-weather road building material and not to continue spending your tax dollars on this obsolete way in building and maintaining the county roads.

It has proven out that by adding a small amount of fly-ash and bottom ash from the Tolk plant to our roads it makes good all-weather roads.

County students attend Boys and Girls State

Ten county students have been chosen to attend Boys and Girls State this summer.

Boys State ran from May 31 to June 6 at the University of Texas in Austin. Those attending were Charley Sanders of Dimmitt, Stacey Schulte and Dustin Ramaekers, both of Nazareth, and Lupe Delafuente and Eric Montemayor, both of Hart.

Area girls are at Texas Lutheran College in Seguin for Girls State which started Tuesday and will continue until June 27.

Representing Dimmitt at Girls State are Jill Davis and Heidi Weaver. Amy Pohlmeier and Sara Birkenfeld are there from Nazareth, and Dora Rodriguez was selected to go from Hart.

Boys and Girls State are annual events sponsored by the American Legion.

They teach incoming seniors the basics of government first hand. The students are divided into counties and cities and are encouraged to run for local and state offices.

bers would put pressure on the victim to dismiss the charges. A new state law allows officers to pursue the case without cooperation from the victim.

"It takes the responsibility off of the victim," said Sheriff CD Fitzgerald. "Hopefully, it will stop some of it if they know the victim can't drop the case."

Aleman and Fitzgerald both said that family violence incidents will be treated as homicides from now on, with the case not hinging on cooperation or statements from the victim, although the victims may make a statement if they want to.

The new policy will put a greater burden of investigation on the officers who first answer the disturbance call, Aleman said. He has requested additional cameras for his department so that one can be placed in each patrol car to be used to record any damages or injuries in a disturbance call.

Officers are encouraged to record all circumstances of any disturbance call. Written statements from the victim, witnesses and the offender, if willing, would be taken at the scene, instead of taking sworn affidavits later.

Police Calls

A 41-year-old Hart man was jailed Sunday evening on charges of assault/family violence.

On June 10, two Dimmitt men were picked up on violation of probation warrants—a 49-year-old whose probation stemmed from charges of disorderly conduct and contempt of court and a 21-year-old on charges of DWI and burglary of a vehicle.

Alvin Kleman of Nazareth told deputies Monday that a Plainview man had used his pickup without permission back in April to pull another vehicle out of a muddy bar ditch and caused $233 in damage to the clutch in his pickup. Kleman said the man said he would pay for the damage, but has failed to do so. Kleman has filed charges of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

Juan Peralta told deputies June 10 that a three-day-old calf valued at $40 is missing from his place two miles east of US 385 on CR 614. He said it was taken some time between 8 a.m. and noon on June 2.

Miguel Velasquez, manager of the Azteca Complex, told police Friday morning that someone had painted graffiti on the walls of the buildings.

Tuesday afternoon at 1 p.m. a house fire was reported out in the county, three-fourths of a mile north of FM 2397 on CR 510. A trailer house belonging to Blake Ellis was pretty well a total loss, according to deputies. A deputy said Ellis was not at home at the time the fire started, but returned to discover it. He went to the Raincat office to use the phone and personnel there helped try to put out the fire.

The Hereford Fire Dept. and EMS and the Dimmitt Volunteer Fire Dept. and Sheriff's deputies reported to the scene. An investigator said the cause of the fire is still under investigation, but it did not appear to be arson.

The policy being viewed for adoption states that although the initial decision to make an arrest is up to the law enforcement officer at the scene, the ultimate decision to pursue a case will be made by the prosecutor, and at no time in the process will the victim be asked whether or not he or she wants to pursue prosecution.

"A policy has been established that from now on there will be no dismissal of charges," said County/District Attorney Jerry Matthews. "Many times officers are called out, and the next day the victim comes in and wants to drop the charges. They'll say, 'he didn't mean to, he won't do it again,' but now if the cops go out and charges are filed, there will be no dismissal. This takes the pressure off the victim. A lot of times, the victims are pressured into dropping the charges."

"It will be beneficial in that—it won't stop it—but maybe it will make a few people think before they decide to start beating on a spouse, because, hopefully, they will know they will be prosecuted and they can't talk the spouse out of it," Matthews said.

Aleman said he and Assistant Chief Santos Perez attended a domestic violence update school in Amarillo in late April, and that is where they obtained the draft agreement they are working from to establish the local protocol agreement. He said they plan to attend another update session later this summer or in the early fall.

Aleman said his department has already had one case to fall under the new policy. Matthews said the victim did come to his office and try to get the charges dismissed, but he re-

PUBLIC NOTICE
BRIEF EXPLANATORY STATEMENT
OF PROPOSED
CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT
SPECIAL ELECTION
AUGUST 9, 1997

PROPOSITION NO. 1
ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 4 proposes a constitutional amendment which would increase the school property tax residence homestead exemption from $5,000 to $15,000. The amendment would also authorize the Legislature to limit all or part of the exemption to political subdivisions that are the principal providers of elementary and secondary education within their boundaries.

In addition, the amendment would authorize the Legislature to allow the transfer of all or part of the age 65-and-over tax freeze to another homestead. Specifically, the Legislature would be authorized to provide that the current limitation against increasing school property taxes on the residence homesteads of persons age 65 or older, or their surviving spouse who is eligible to receive the exemption, may be transferred if the person establishes a different residence homestead.

The amendment would also allow the $10,000 additional amount for the standard exemption to be used to lower the tax rate of persons currently receiving the 65-and-over tax freeze. Specifically, for a homestead affected by this limitation in 1996 or in an earlier tax year, the Legislature must provide for a reduction in the school property tax limitation in the 1997 tax year and subsequent tax years in an amount equal to $10,000 multiplied by the 1997 school property tax rate.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment providing school property tax relief by increasing the residence homestead exemption by $10,000 and providing for the transfer of the tax limitation to another qualified homestead for persons over 65 and a reduction in taxes subject to the limitation."

Este es el informe explicatorio sobre la enmienda propuesta a la constitución que aparecerá en la boleta el día 9 de agosto de 1997. Martin earns honors

Lezly Martin, a Dimmitt High School junior, was chosen by essay to appear in Who's Who Among American High School Students.

Martin also received notification of her nomination to attend a session of the National Youth Leadership Forum on Law and the Constitution, to be held December 2-7 in Washington, D.C.

The Forum was aware of Martin through the Talent Identification Program (TIP), an in-classroom survey that assists institutions of high education and professional organization by identifying the academic abilities and career interests of secondary students.

She is one of 350 juniors and seniors to be selected throughout the United States.

Martin will be seeking the assistance and support of the community in order to attend.

She is the daughter of Jeanette Martin and the granddaughter of Don and Ramona Leinen and the late Fred Annen.

Correction

In the obituary of Jose Perez Sr., in last week's edition of the News, it was incorrectly reported that he married in 1986. The actual year of his marriage was 1956. The News regrets the error.

"Our church also teaches 'English as a Second Language' to the many different internationals living in Rochester. These include Japanese, Chinese, Russians, French, Italians, Ukrainians, Laotians, as well as others, so you can see we are learning about a lot of different cultures. Some of them have a difficult time explaining how they learned West Texan English in Minnesota.

"Our lives have truly been enriched these past three years as George has served as pastor of Emmanuel Baptist.

"George enjoys working the Texas Crossword each week to keep us up on our Texas roots."

George and Monette (her maiden name was Kenmore) both are Dimmitt High School grads, circa mid-'50s.

Christine Bagwell Bell of Perryton, who grew up in the Bethel community, writes:

"I have enjoyed so many stories in the Castro County News through the years, and especially the recent one about Junior Coffey. That story made me proud to call Dimmitt my hometown."

Christine provided us with biographical information on Bethel pioneer William Smith in preparation for the Bethel centennial celebration coming up July 4.

Her book, Memories of Bethel, a 135-page illustrated history of early settlers, the Bethel school and community and her memories of growing up here, will be on sale at the celebration.

Jack Copeland (Dimmitt High School, 1953) has found fame and fortune as the founder and chairman of Copeland Consulting International.

But his main source of pride seems to be his daughter, Robin. Can you imagine that?

Jack sent an article from the front page of the Journal of Commerce on "skimming" that has been uncovered in our foreign aid to Russia:

"Nearly half the American aid intended for destitute Russian nuclear scientists is being siphoned off by duties, regional taxes, overhead charges and suspected payoffs, US energy officials said.

"The concerns were raised by a Dept. of Energy official in a recent cable from Moscow about a DOE program to assure that Russian scientists are not tempted to sell nuclear technologies or materials to countries like Iran. . . ."

That DOE official in Moscow who spotted the skimming and alerted Washington was Robin Copeland.

"Thought you'd be interested," Jack wrote. "This is what the little girl who used to go to the Colonial Inn is doing."

Nazareth

with Uirgie Gerber, 945-2669

The annual Andrew Acker, Katherine Paetzold family reunion was hosted by Josetta and Franklin Heinrich and family in the city park in Slaton last Saturday.

After dinner, the family enjoyed a raffle and auction. The afternoon was cut short by a sudden rain shower. Most of the family relocated to the Heinrich home for the remainder of the afternoon and evening. Activities there were watching the clouds, cards, watching the clouds, dominoes, watching the clouds and visiting.

Attending from this area were Shirley and Dicky Schacher, Francis and Bea Acker, Aurelia Schoenenberger; Michael, Lissa, Kiri and Ky Schoenenberger; David, Trish and Kaylen Gidden; and James and Pearl Acker. Les and Brenda Goad, former teachers in the Nazareth School system sent a message of greetings to all in Nazareth. They are now teaching in the San Antonio area.

Hart FFA members attend judging camp

Three Hart FFA members attended the Livestock Judging Camp May 31 through June 2 at EOSC campus in Wilburton, Okla.

Josue Beaves, Zach Smith and Aaron Hart participated in judging seminars from cattle, sheep and swine experts in their chosen field.

Their advisor, John Rhine, accompanied them on the trip.

They also listened to motivational speakers from all over the country on how to "improve your life as well as others around you."

The speakers taught the FFA members that nothing in life worth having comes easy; you have to work hard to achieve your goals.

"I think these young men learned a lot from this camp that will carry them all their life," Mr. Rhine said. "These young men have bright futures ahead of them, and I expect great things from them in years to come."
