Castro County Farmers Approve 1966 Cotton Marketing Quotas

Castro County farmers approved marketing quotas on the 1966 cotton crop by a heavy-yes vote of 301 in a total turnout of 350 voters Tuesday.

A total of 350 votes were cast as county farmers joined in a national cotton referendum.

In a side issue on the ballot, the transfer of allotments to other growers across county lines was approved by a narrow margin of 185 votes. The allotment transfer issue drew 164 no votes in the county.

The referendum marked the first time that growers have voted on the question of permitting cotton allotments to be transferred to other producers across county lines but within the "home" state.

This issue was decided on strictly a county-by-county basis. The question of whether marketing quotas will apply to the 1966 crop however, was decided on the basis of national vote.

Marketing quotas, which have never been rejected in a national cotton referendum, had to be approved by a two-thirds majority of those voting across the nation to remain in effect in 1966.

Castro County growers approved quotas by 301 to 48, a margin of 86.71.

"Operation Christmas Greetings" Is Sponsored By Hospital Auxiliary

"Join Operation Christmas Greetings and send a more permanent greeting than a tinselled card," urged Mrs. Chet Braafladt, chairman of the Greetings committee for the Hospital Auxiliary.

The Plains Memorial Hospital Auxiliary is sponsoring the drive this year to buy needed equipment for the hospital. The Hospital will use the money to purchase a Videx attachment for the present X-Ray machine. This special attachment will cut down on the radiation dosage to the patient.

Instead of sending Christmas cards each year, a number of people have deposited money they would have spent on cards in the First State Bank of Dimmitt or the Farmers State Bank of Hart.

The names of these contributors are printed each year in the Castro County News underneath a Christmas greeting worded to all the people of Castro County. "Why take the chance of missing someone when you can send a greeting to everyone by simply making a donation to Plains Memorial Hospital," says Mrs. Braafladt.

"Elect to give money you ordinarily spend for Christmas cards to 'Operation Christmas Greetings', the Auxiliary urges.

The Hospital Auxiliary says, "Operation Christmas Greetings" not only will help purchase needed equipment for the hospital, but it also takes the work out of buying, addressing and mailing Christmas cards.

Worldwide Bible Reading Program To Get Underway

More than 20 million persons all over the world will participate this year in the Worldwide Bible Reading program of the American Bible Society, according to the Rev. Weldon McCormick, President of the local Ministerial Association.

In extending an invitation to all residents of Dimmitt to participate, the Rev. McCormick said today that many individuals of the Dimmitt area are expected to join in the observance.

The Worldwide Bible Reading Program, now in its 22nd year, is observed annually between Thanksgiving and Christmas as a spiritual bond to unite the peoples of the world. This period is also known as advent for Christians all over the world. The theme for 1965 is "Faith for a New Age."

Each day, all persons participating read exactly the same verse from the Bible, Mr. McCormick explained. Selections are printed in advance on book-marks and distributed, without charge, to churches, hotels, libraries, stores, banks and to people who request them.

This year, the first selection will be Psalm I, to be read on Thanksgiving, November 25, and the last selection, to be read on Christmas, will be Luke 2:1-20. Different selections are listed for (Continued on Page 16)

Farm Bureau Members Attend Texas Convention

Castro County Farm Bureau delegation has just returned from the Texas Farm Bureau Convention held November 14-17, at the Adolphus Hotel, Dallas, Texas. Representing Castro County at the State's 95,000 member organization were, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Walser, Mr. and Mrs. James Proffitt, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Maxwell, Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Oldham, Mr. and Mrs. Theo Campbell, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Flynt.

The approximately 2,000 members attending the convention heard the featured speakers, John Waggoner Carr, compliment the organization on its continued efforts of doing for itself rather than requesting government Federal Aid. The delegates passed the resolutions in rapid fire order without decension, since the Federal Farm Program, the main issue of other conventions, has already become the law of the land. Most of the members adopted a wait and see attitude to these new programs, because of the wide authority invested in the Secretary of Agriculture.

C. H. DeVaney, President of the Texas Farm Bureau organization, in his opening statements to the assembly stated that if the elimination of skip-row practices pertaining to cotton is an example of the uses of the discretionary powers of the secretary, the form of this bill could change considerably in the next four years.

In the special recognition program in front of the delegate body, Castro County Insurance Agency, Theo Campbell, Agency Manager, Eugene Hochstein, and Jack Flynt, Special Agents, were recognized as the 2nd highest county in the State in Life Insurance Sales. Also in the top 10 agents in the State of Texas, Special Agent, Jack Flynt, ranked 7th in the State.

Bobbies Attend Wayland Clinic

Bright and early Saturday morning, quite a few basketball girls crawled out of bed in order to prepare for the coming day at Plainview. Since some people don't eat breakfast at home, a car load left at 7:15 a.m. to eat in Plainview. The rest of the group left at 8:00 and they all met together at the Plainview High School gym.

The Clinic began at 9:00 with a registration and then a welcome. First, Dalton Morrison and his Shallowater team demonstrated the fundamentals of getting a team in physical condition for the first game. Trapping with the forwards was shown next by Bud Roberts and his Tulia team. At 10:00 two Flying Queen Seniors, Betty Ramson and Judy Wallek, presented the door prizes to the girls and coaches. At 10:00 there was a 20 minute break and then the Flying Queens demonstrated some of their fundamentals and some of their pregame drills. Those drills were a real show.

At this time some of the basketball girls came home to get ready for a certain banquet while the rest (all 9) and Mrs. Kountz packed in one car and rode to Lubbock to see Tech beat Baylor 34 to 22.

After the game everyone returned to Plainview to see the scrimmage games. Sundown and Springlake played one another, and Shallowater and Vega played together. This was very helpful since the girls play two of the teams the following week.

Even though the day was most enjoyable and very exciting most of the group were glad to return home that night.

Dear Blabby:

BRIGHTEN UP YOUR WORLD

By Oma Siler

Dear Blabby: I'm mad and in a bad spot. You see, Blabby, I had my hair lightened a week or so ago, and some poison-pen has written my family telling of seeing my fiance out with a strange blonde. They were sure upset till I explained. Should I turn my hair back to dark? —LIKES BEING BLONDE.

DEAR BLONDIE: Of course not. It's always a good idea to brighten up with a new look. That's why so many people go to ALLENS HOME FURNISHINGS... to get the new furniture and appliances... that peeps up a home. While you're in the business of smartening up, why not see ALLENS for that new living room furniture and refrigerator you've been wishing for?—BLABBY.

The Marvels of God's Creations

WHY DO FISH LIVE IN WATER? We can answer this question partially by saying: that their lungs were created to draw oxygen from the water. However, to know how and why, we must look to God's word.

"In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth." ... "And God said, let the waters bring forth abundantly the moving creature that hath life..."

Attend Church and worship the one who created these marvels.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Dental Assistants' Society Met Nov. 18

The Caprock Dental Assistants' Society met Thursday night, November 18, 1965 in the Flame Room of the Pioneer Natural Gas Co. Guest speaker was Dr. R. R. Pitts of Plainview. The topic of his discussion was "Asepsis". There were 12 members and 2 guests present at the Plainview meeting.

make one pound — or about four cups — of nut meats.

When you buy pecans, remember that the way they are packed and treated affects the length of time they remain high in quality. Nuts in the shell keep longer than shelled ones. Nuts packed in vacuum containers remain fresh longer than those in film bags. Whole meats keep longer than chopped nut meats, and unsalted nuts retain their flavor longer than salted ones.

If you choose nuts in the shell, look for those which are clean and free from scars, cracks and holes. They should be well-filled so the kernel will not rattle.

Fall is in the air and thoughts are turning once again to cool-weather clothes. There are some interesting origins to many items in a man's winter wardrobe.

For example, why is a blazer called a blazer, this type of jacket called a blazer? This type of jacket was first worn aboard the British ship HMS Blazer. It seems the ship's captain got tired of the unkempt appearance of his crew.

He decided to spruce up their appearance by equipping them with metal-buttoned blue jackets. Even now, the metal buttons are the earmark of this style jacket.

The cardigan sweater that you're apt to put on when there's a chill in the air, has an interesting origin. The commander who led the famous charge of the Light Brigade during the Crimean War was James Thomas Brudenell, 7th Earl of Cardigan. Having tired of yanking a sweater over his head in order to wear it, the industrious earl came up with the button-front style that could be slipped on easily without disturbing a single strand of hair.

Did you ever notice the little baseball caps? Although it's now used to hide the sections of cloth where they meet, in the 15th century, it was used to fasten flaps that could be unbuttoned and let down to cover the wearer's ears during cold weather.

Cuffs on trousers and slacks date back to about 1880. Since men wore their pants rather long in those days, they got into the habit of turning them up when trudging through muddy areas. Eventually a permanent cuff became the vogue.

Ever notice the little ribbon bow inside a man's hat at the back of the leather sweatband? It's a remnant of the days when hats were made in one size and drawstrings were used to adjust the hat to fit the head of the wearer. Today it is just used for decorative purposes.

Advertising really can help consumers in these ways.

There should be pecans a-plenty this season. The current pecan crop is estimated to be the second largest on record.

This large crop should result in more attractive price tags on pecans — and this should be a boon to homemakers who like to use them in many desserts and dishes.

To shell or not to shell pecans may be a concern of homemakers. You will save time and effort by buying shelled nuts, but you will most likely save pennies by shelling them yourself.

Pecans are about half shell and half meat by weight. It takes two pounds of nuts in the shell to

Nazareth FHA Banquet Featured "The Cinderella Ball" As Theme

Annual Nazareth FHA banquet was held Saturday night with approximately 90 in attendance. Theme of the banquet was "The Cinderella Ball." As any Cinderella ball, this affair had its Prince Charming and Cinderella to rule over the subjects. Prince Charming or the FHA beau was Ricky Gerber. He was crowned by Raelene Schulte, toastmistress. Ricky's Cinderella was Joy Wilhelm. She was selected as the girl who has done the most this year for Nazareth FHA. The two reigning monarchs presided over the banquet and ball. Pam Pohlmeier was presented a white jacket with Nazareth FFA emblem as she was selected sweetheart of FFA. Dr. R. E. Cogswell was guest speaker for the gala occasion. He spoke to the young people on "Total Education." He said, "Total education consists of three parts, physical, mental and spiritual." Under the first subheading, physical, Dr. Cogswell asked and answered the following questions: Who am I? Why am I here? AND Where am I going? Dr. Cogswell told the young people that the only reason people are put on this earth is to glorify God. In order to glorify Him, the speaker said we must praise Him, show good works, be fruit-bearing, have spiritual unity and be entirely consecrated. On the second point of the speech, Dr. Cogswell said, "True wisdom is not gained without prayer." He declared, "Go as high as you can go in your chosen field, but never go without God." Dr. Cogswell said, "Wisdom is knowledge properly applied." In the third and final part of the speech, the speaker warned of 3-D parents. These parents are doped, drunk or divorced. He talked of the need of a new type of 3-D parent; dedicated, devoted to truth and determined to do right at all costs. Menu for the banquet was turkey and dressing with all the trimmings. The menu program was Magic Spell, Humming Bird Wings, Nectar Sauce, Emerald Spears, Coin of the Realm, Touch of Magic, The Queen's Bread and Honey, Crown Glory, Royal Burgundy and Salted Pumpkin Seed. Nazareth FHA officers are Raelene Schulte, president; Joy Wilhelm, first vice-president; Joan Acker, third vice-president; Sandra Gerber, fourth vice-president; Nancy Drerup, fifth vice-president; Pam Pohlmeier, reporter; Shirley Acker, secretary; Maggie Birkenfeld, parliamentarian; and Steve Birkenfeld, treasurer. People meeting these requirements could be better served if they file their claim now he stated, rather than waiting until the deadline to file. Gelson said that anyone receiving old-age assistance from the State Welfare Department only should wait until they receive word from the Welfare as to when to file for these benefits. "As mentioned on previous occasions, any person age 65 before 1966 needs to file a claim in this enrollment period and decide whether to elect the voluntary medical insurance supplemental benefits. This means persons who are still fully employed and who have no idea of retiring in the near future," Gelson said. The address of the local social security office is 1006 Adams St., Amarillo, Texas. ### Farm Operators Over 65 Should File SS Claims

All farm and ranch operators who are age 65 or over and all farm and ranch workers who are also that old, are reminded by Hal Geldon, Amarillo social security district manager, that the 1965 changes in the law make it imperative for them to file their social security claims immediately. This applies even though they are still active on the farm and ranch.

The hospitalization insurance, which is automatic, and the medical insurance, which is optional at a $3 per month premium beginning next July, require that social security claims be filed before those provisions can apply. Persons already 65 need to take such action now. Those who do not file in the current enrollment period will have only one other chance to enroll, and that will be at a higher cost in the October-December 1967 enrollment period. Geldon urges all persons affected by the above information to talk with a representative of the Amarillo social security office when he visits in Dimmitt on Nov. 24 and Dec. 8, Wednesdays. The representative will be in the Courthouse from 8:00 to 10:00.

Even though a person's earnings may be too high to permit immediate payment of monthly retirement benefits, Geldon wants to feel sure that no eligible persons have lost out on the health insurance program because of lack of information.

School Library Has 360 New Books Available

This year the library has in circulation 360 new books which cover a large variety of subjects including biographies of recent noted people, history, and English. One new series, Chronicles of America, has fifty-six volumes that give a general history of the United States up to the time of the New Deal. Some other new books pertaining to history are about the Constitution, Communism, and all the "isms"; an interesting book if The Story of Berlin — Capital Without Country.

Many of the new English and literature books are references: Brewer's Dictionary of Phrase and Fable, The Oxford Companion to American Literature, Historical Dictionary of the Novel, and Dictionary of Classical Mythology. There are also some Shakespeare writings, collective biography, and some books on individual writers. Burn's Yearbook of Plays is a collection of the outstanding plays in recent years. For the speech department there is a reference book on scenery and make-up.

Of special interest to teenagers are these books about careers: Seventeen Million Jobs, What Does An Astronaut Do?, and Your Career If You Are Not Going To College. There are some books on improving personality and one book, 101 Ideas for Clubs, gives many ideas for programs and club symbols. One book that would be of particular interest to high school students planning to go to college is How To Prepare For College Entrance Examinations.

Recently the library showcase has enhanced our hall with a Thanksgiving display showing books concerning many important people and events in American history. We want to thank Mrs. Leeth for all the work she does in the library.

Seniors Enjoy Slumber Party

The G. L. Willis home was the scene of a senior girls' slumber party Saturday, November 13, after the Best Beau Banquet. Approximately fifteen senior and five sophomore girls were there—eating, drinking cokes, and having fun. Several boys were present also until about 2 a.m. for some strange reason.

The girls (and boys) entertained themselves by talking, jumping on the trampoline, and greeting the "plussers" as they arrived. Since Jack Bradford was in an especially exuberant mood, he decided to play with Jan's little puppy, but, strangely enough, soon gave up this idea and ran into the house to wash "it" off. Poor Jack! Why did Jan's mother have to hunt so desperately for her? It seems that Jan was having a party inside, and she was outside. She'll never learn.

Despite the fact that over half of the girls had fights with their dates, they still had a great time at the party. They retired at about 4:30 a.m. — exhausted. After all, the next day was Sunday, and most of the girls jumped up bright and early Sunday morning and headed for church or home to bed. This ended a joyful night of fun, frolic, and mass confusion.

Campus Chat

I am just a peace-loving pine cone, used to a quiet, uneventful life. I have lived all my life on a tree on one of the beautiful streets of Dimmitt. One day, a strange girl picked me and I little suspected what an exciting time I was in for. As I was put in the back window of a car I overheard talk of a football game. I was lucky enough to get taken to Olton to see the Bobcats beat the Mustangs, 22 to 17. Back in Dimmitt some that I saw celebrating the VICTORY were Johnna and Richard, Joe and Vickie, Sandra Bruegel and Ben Fought, Jean and Dan, Tommy and Christine, Donna and Tommy, Eva and Bruce, and of course, the football boys!!!

Saturday morning I found out the reason that I had been picked from my tree was to decorate the Best Beau Banquet which was to be held Saturday night. Mr. Fuquay came in to look things over and someone asked him how he liked to drive in cotton fields? Did you miss a turn, Mr. Fuquay? Then Mrs. Snider asked Mr. Fuquay where the teachers were to get their passes. It seems she had heard that Mr. Cooper called down Mr. Irlbeck and Mr. Wauson in the hall because they did not have a pass.

After lunch, someone asked where some of the basketball girls were. I found out that Wayland College was having a basketball clinic. Some of those who went were Sue Lust, Mary Hays, Debra Summers, Victor Hughs, and Coach Kountz. The girls who went with Coach Kountz went to Lubbock to see Texas Tech beat Baylor. Others who attended the ballgame were Robby Lindsey, Kent Lindsey, Bob Bradford, Claudio, and Vicki and Joe. Lubbock must have been a busy place because someone mentioned a Student Council Meeting. Jean and Dan, Donna Summers, and Patty Simpson were the ones whose names I heard as attending the meeting.

When the decorations were finished, I was on the head table with a perfect view of the banquet. Those wall decorations sure were beautiful, thanks to Evelyn Waggoner. When the couples started arriving, in all their finery, the ones whom I recognized were Diane and Steve, Sherlon and Dennis, Paula and Jack, Peggy and Robby, Molly and Claudio, Johnna and Richard, Benny and Sharron, Evelyn and Arnold, Vickie and Joe, A. D. and Barbara, Carolyn and Keith, Reba and Joe Bill, Susan and Steve Hunt, Ann Spencer and Terry, Darla and Brock, Johnnie and Mike, Carolyn and John, Beth and Jack, Kathy Leinen and Jay, Juanelle and Ronnie, Kathy Graham and Joe, Doricell and Joe Bob, Don and Penny, Kent and Mary, Al'an and Ronnie, Jan and Tony, Sue and Charles, Chris and Tommy, and Eva and Bruce. After a delicious meal, I overheard Bruce tell Eva what a hard time Gary Winkle had when he told his wife and daughter about the licks he got in chemistry class.

After a memorable time, the couples left to find their own amusement. When she left, the girl who brought me took me with her to Jan Willis' house for a slumber party. I thought I would never get to sleep. When I did it, it wasn't for long, because Sunday morning came bright and early. After church I was again put in the back window of the car, but the car stayed home all afternoon. I guess the

Student's Corner

The seniors of Mr. Newman's English IV classes have recently been writing themes. These themes help to stimulate the students' imagination and writing ability. The following theme written by Jack Flynt is an outstanding example:

MY LIFE AS A BIRD
Winging my way through the clear blue sky is more excitement than I could ever have conceived. Watching the treetops and countryside pass below me is a thrill greater than life itself. I can see the rivers flowing along their winding veins of infinity as I float in the urgent breeze of the breaking day.

I can loop and sail to my heart's content and enjoy freedom unknown to man. I may sing a joyous song and raise the spirits of the ones below, or play the games of the careless world.

I feed on the seed in the farmer's fields till I can hold no more and then return to the endless heavens for pleasures still in store.

As the day nears its end and I search out my nest, I thank the Lord for the many blessings which on me He has bestowed, for I can look forward to another day in which to sing and sail.

Basketballers Open Season

The Dimmitt Bobcats and Bobbies traveled to Channing for their first basketball game of the season Thursday night. Dimmitt took two of the three games played.

14 points. The Dimmitt Bobbies also won their game over the Channing girls by a 78-30 score. A'llan Webb led the scoring for Dimmitt with 25 points. Victor Gene Hughes was next with 20 points. The varsity boys played a fine game but lost by a score of 83-61. Leading the scoring for Dimmitt was Bob Bradford with 17 points. ### National Honor Society Meets

The National Honor Society met on November 18, 1965, with Donna Summers presiding. A project was discussed, but not decided upon. Also, the state convention, to be held in Bay City, Texas, on March 4-5, was discussed. It was decided that plans should be made to go if at all possible. Money-making projects were also discussed. The meeting was then adjourned.

Sand can't get through to destroy vital pump bearings when you sink a Jacuzzi lineshaft turbine with optional grease-packed bowls. These exclusive, patented Jacuzzi bowls were designed just for Sand Country. They seal out sand completely and actually extend the life of a pump 15 to 20 times. It means you can now set your pump and forget it, confident it won't breakdown during the times you need water and need it fast. And consider the money you'll save in fewer repairs and new pump purchases. These are the reasons Jacuzzi engineers developed the exclusive grease-packed bowl. Aren't they pretty good reasons you should ask for Jacuzzi lineshaft turbines with optional grease-packed bowls soon?

Nazareth Swifts Lose Heartbreaker To Happy

by Art Albracht
For the second year in a row, Happy came from behind in the last quarter to beat the Nazareth Swifts in Happy last Friday.

The Cowboys won the hard fought battle 15-13 with a three yard run by standout quarterback Randy Johnson after the Swifts had fumbled the ball to Happy at the three. Johnson's big tally put the Cowboys in the lead by a point and halfback Gary Cole then booted the conversion kick to give Happy a two-point lead, with three minutes left.

Nazareth jumped to an early lead of 13-0 but failed to add to their score in the second half while the Cowboys battled back to win the game in the final quarter. The Swifts missed a chance to tie for the district 1-B championship, as Bovina upset district leader, Vega, 8-6 last Friday. If the Swifts had won out over Happy, the race would've been a three-way tie. Now, however, Bovina represents the district in bi-district action, as it wins the honor, by virtue of its victory over the team it tied for the championship.

Six seniors saw action in their last high school football game for the Swifts. Starters Donald Braddock, Clyde Schulte, Ricky Gerber, Lorne Jones, Tony Birkenfeld, and Marvin Hoelting performed against the Cowboys. Nazareth finishes the season now with a 6-3 record and a district tie for third and fourth place with Happy.

It was apparent from the opening kickoff that the Pack was really fired up, as it was blocking well and hitting hard. In the early going, neither team could do much offensively until the Cowboys moved deep in the late stages of the first quarter. Happy moved for a first down at the Nazareth 30 but the fired up Pack defense held led by Donald Braddock and Tom Pohlmeier. The Cowboys went to the air twice failing both times and on a fourth and 21 tried a pitch out but the Swifts smothered the ball carrier.

Nazareth began a drive for its first touchdown with one minute left in the first quarter. It took the Swifts 14 plays to go 70 yards for the marer. The Pack stayed mainly on the ground with halfbacks Gerald Brockman and Gerber doing most of the rushing. Brockman, who rushed for 66 yds. in 17 carries in the hard fought skirmish, picked up a big part of the yardage with a 12-yard sweep. A big pass interference call against the Cowboys at the Happy 27, gave the Pack a first down. On a second down play, halfback Gerber hit quarterback Marvin Hoelting on a 25-yard scoring shot. Hoelting added the extra point and Nazareth held a 7-0 margin.

The opening score came with 13 minutes left in the second quarter. Happy could do nothing with the ferocious Nazareth defense led by Gerald Aberant, a sophomore defensive lineman. The Cowboys failed to penetrate Swift territory the remainder of the second quarter. After the Pack buried Happy on an 18 yard loss to the Cowboy 15, the Swifts took a short punt at the 38 of Happy. In just two plays, the Swifts moved for another tally. Hoelting tossed an aerial to Brockman for 37 yards and then the speedy Brockman dived in for a touchdown from the one. This time Hoelting missed the conversion attempt as the Cowboys partially blocked the try.

Nazareth offense in the final half, especially on passing, as Hoelting received a big rush in the later stages of the game. The Pack moved into Happy territory on a fourth down situation, when the Swifts faked a punt and passed for a first down. Hoelting connected with end Tom Pohlmeier for 16 yards and the first down at the Cowboy 30. A big clipping penalty ruined a first down by Brockman inside the Happy 20. Nazareth then punted and Brockman killed the ball at the Cowboys' six yard stripe. After Happy sputtered on offense, Hoelting took a punt at the Cowboy 42. Nazareth failed to make use of the fine field position but again buried the Cowboys on a punt at the Happy 15. Aberant smacked the Cowboy's mark Maynard for a six yard loss and as the third quarter ended, Happy was forced to punt.

The Cowboys got the big break they were waiting for early in the final stanza when a Hoelting aerial was intercepted and returned to the 50. In just six scrimmage plays, Happy had a score. The biggest play of the drive came when quarterback Johnson hit Mark Maynard for a 30-yard gainer. Happy marked for the first time when halfback Culp shot a four yard touchdown pass to Johnson. A pair of big conversion points came when Johnson rammed over right tackle to cut the Swift lead to 13-8.

With 8:17, the Pack set up shop at its 48. Quickly, the Swifts moved deep into Happy land only to fall short of a first down by inches at the Cowboy 35. This fourth down proved to be a big one and probably cost the Swifts the game.

Johnson exploded a 41 yard pass to Culp, who was wide open at the Nazareth 24. Brockman seemed to save the day for the Pack, as he intercepted on the next down at the Swift two. The Cowboys were not to be denied, as the Happy line belted Hoelting and recovered his fumble at the three. Johnson slammed in for the game clincher and the Swifts last ditch effort to win went up in smoke, when the Cowboys intercepted a pass with seconds remaining.

Though that loss to rival Happy, was tough to swallow, the Swifts can be proud of their showing in 1965 football competition. The season had its ups and downs and who's to say they're weren't a lot more ups. In their first season under new head Coach Wayne Potter, the Pack fashioned a fine 6-3 season including an upset victory over Bovina.

The Swifts upset of favored Bovina came before a thrilled homecoming crowd in the Swift Stadium. Nazareth, with a spirited defensive effort won the clash 13-8 and gained prominence for the first time in Class B eleven man football. By only two points, the Pack lost a chance to represent district 1-B in bi-district action, when Happy upset the Swifts Nov. 19.

A week after the monumental upset of Bovina, the Swifts readied for a battle against the highly touted and favored Vega Longhorns. A fired up effort in the first half saw the Pack trail by only a 14-13 count at the half. The much bigger and more experienced Longhorns came back to overwhelm the gallant Pack in the final stanza. Despite the loss, the Swifts turned in a tremendous showing and scared the confident Longhorns to death. If the success of a football team, were determined by hustle, the Pack of 1965 certainly would have never lost a game this season. No small part of the credit for the tremendous determination shown by the Swifts, can be directed to the coaches. Coach Don Stulting and head coach Wayne Potter instilled a big part of the desire in each member of the 1965 version of Nazareth football. The Pack will lose six valuable seniors including quarterback Marvin Hoelting, halfback Ricky Gerber and rugged defensive standout Donald Braddock. Hoelting's spot may be the toughest to fill but the line both offensively and defensively will need mending. Consistent performers Clyde Schulte, Lorne Jones and Tony Birkenfeld will be gone after graduation. The three bolstered the Nazareth line which played a large part in the Nazareth victories and losses, as well.

Dimmitt Dealer Sees '66 MM Line

Mr. H. A. Cooper and George Gross of Farmers Supply Company, attended the 1966 product preview of Minneapolis-Moline tractors and farm machinery at Plainview, Texas, November 5 according to M. M. Dillon, Minneapolis-Moline District Manager.

William F. Foss, President, and W. L. (Bill) Pringle, Vice President and Director of Marketing, introduced the new 1966 products with the assistance of Dallas District and Hopkins Home Office Marketing personnel.

"The new M G-1000, 110 horsepower, row-crop tractor was the hit of the show," Dillon said.

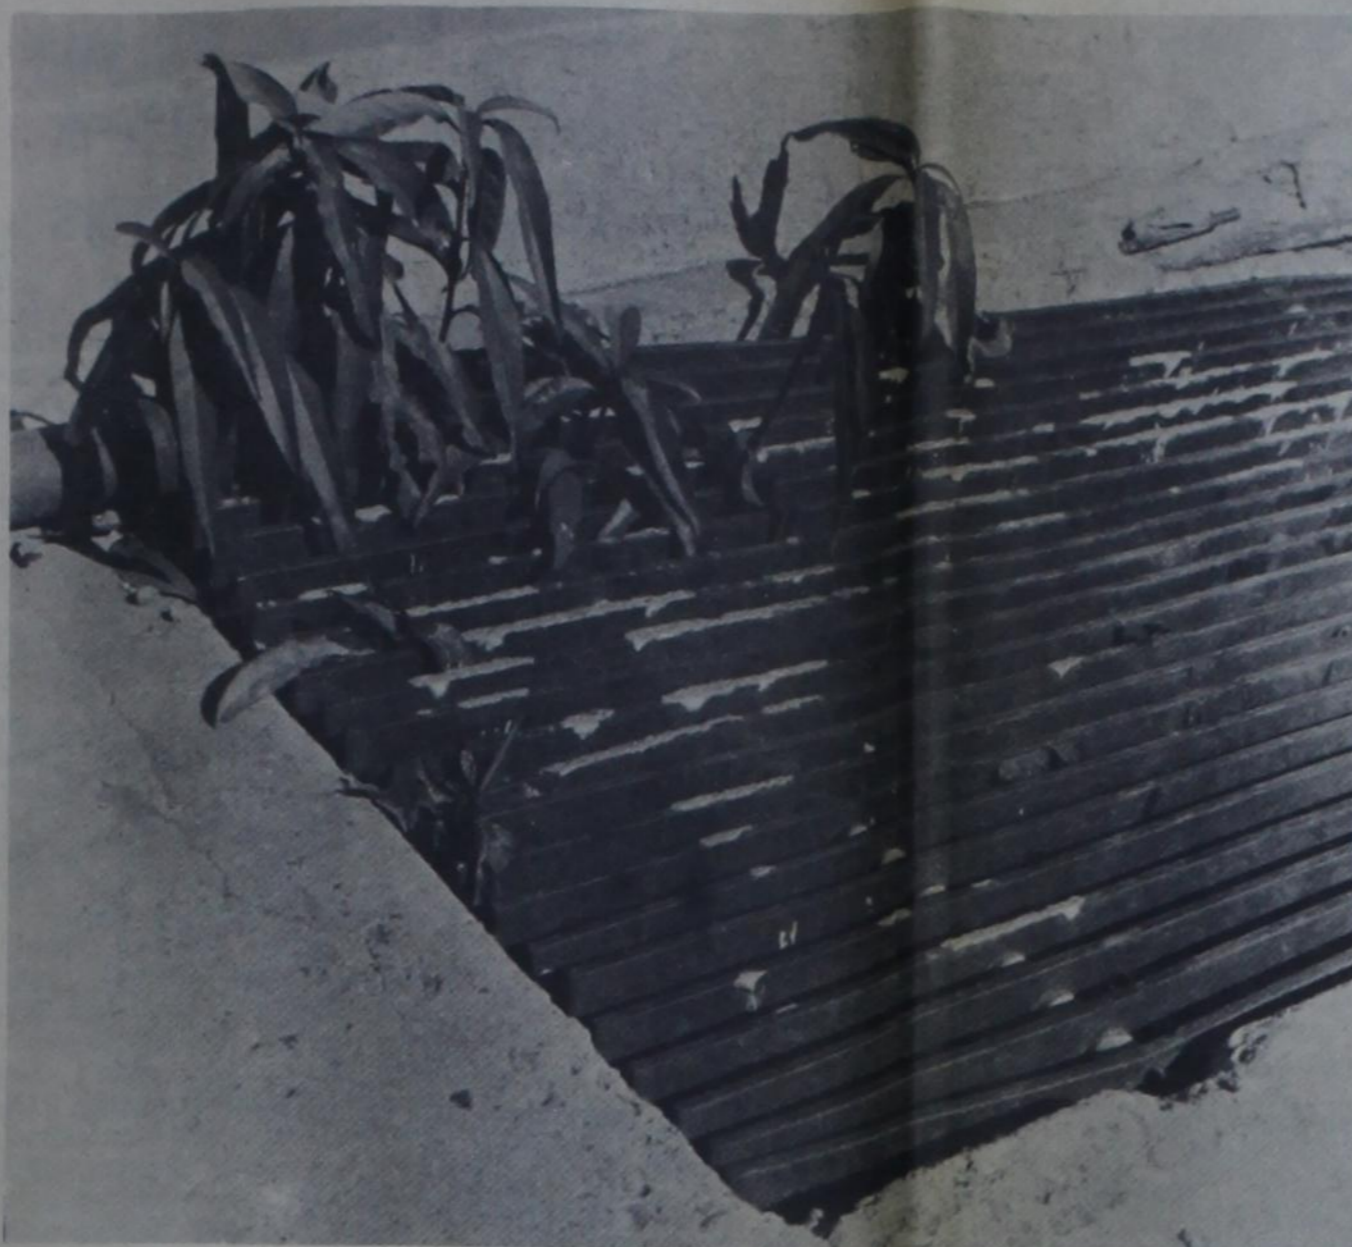

Foss called the new tractor "the best tested tractor in MM history." Pringle said, "Our new G-1000 had the greatest amount of market research in farm machinery history because our dealers and farmers actually operated more than one hundred pilot models from last spring until this fall under the most severe farm conditions."

"Dealers in Texas and New Mexico and in the rest of the country sent back to us at Hopkins the results of their experiences with these pilot models so that we came up with a tractor of unmatched superiority in the final design and production," Pringle continued.

"Now in production, the new tractors are being shipped to dealers in all parts of the country," Dillon said.

President Foss, at the Plainview Introduction told Mr. Cooper and

Pointers Given On Wild Game Care And Cooking

The quality of game meat depends on how the game is handled from the time of kill until served on the family table. If the hunter properly cares for the game after it is killed, the homemaker can prepare delicious and palatable game.

Game meat adds variety to meals and is high in nutritive value. It is an excellent source of high-quality proteins, fats, minerals, iron, copper and phosphorus and the B vitamins, thiamin, niacin and riboflavin.

Game meat can be cooked by dry or moist heat, determined by the quality and tenderness of the carcass.

Young and tender game is best cooked by dry heat such as roasting, broiling, pan-broiling and frying. Dry heat preserves flavor and insures tenderness. Basting with additional fat may be necessary if the meat is lean.

Old and less tender game is best when cooked by moist heat such as braising, stewing and pot roasts are cooked by braising. Add a small amount of liquid to the meat which is cooked in a covered container. Stews, fricassees and boiled game are prepared by simmering (not at boiling point) in hot liquid which partially or completely covers the meat. With moisture, the high temperature necessary to soften the connective tissues can be obtained.

For further information, call the county extension office (647-3455) for copies of "Wild Game - Care, Cooking," and also "Field Dressing a Deer."

Here are four tested recipes from "Wild Game - Care, Cooking":

VENISON ROAST
Season meat with salt and pepper. Place fat side up on a roasting rack. Lay beef suet or bacon strips across the meat. Do not add water and do not cover. Roast at 300-350 degrees F. 20 to 25 minutes per pound. If roast becomes too brown on top side, turn to aid uniform cooking.

VENISON SWISS STEAK
1 1/2 pounds round steak
3 large onions
1 medium stalk celery
1 cup tomatoes
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
Salt and pepper

Steak should be about 1 1/2 inches thick. Dredge with flour and season with salt and pepper; brown in fat on both sides. Add the other ingredients. Cover tightly

Local Librarians Attend Area Meet

Local county and school librarians, and friends of the library attended 17th District I Texas Library Association meeting at Wayland College Library, Plainview, Saturday.

The Governor's Conference on Libraries is scheduled next March 23 in Austin and has been called by John Connally for the purpose of hearing "Texans from all over our State... present their thoughts on ways and means to solve Texas' library problem," to quote Connally's telegram announcing the conference.

Connally said, "It is my belief that Texans are willing to do more about our inadequate libraries if a concentrated effort is made to make them aware of our plight.

After the general meeting in the morning at Wayland, the librarians enjoyed lunch in the cafeteria.

In the afternoon session, four groups were formed, public libraries, school libraries, college libraries and friends and trustees of the library.

Attending from Dimmitt were Mrs. Gladys Leeth, Miss Hazel Merritt, Mrs. Frank Easter and Mrs. Steve Taylor.

History Of SCD Development In Texas Given By Paul Walser

BY Paul H. Walser
Changes have taken place so rapidly in agriculture in the past quarter century that they may have obscured one of the all-time great events of the period—the birth and coming of age of soil conservation districts.

Not only you as district supervisors, but all the people of America need to be reminded of this event because of its importance to every one of us. And, to tell the whole truth, the people of the free world need reminding, because this event had so much to do with the application of principles of democracy to the solution of a major problem.

To get to the heart of the story I shall have to remind you of a sequence of happenings, beginning almost forty years ago.

Urged by Hugh Hammond Bennett, and sponsored by Congressman James P. Buchanan of Texas in 1929, Congress appropriated $160,000 to the USDA for investigations of damages by soil erosion. In Texas, experiment stations at Temple, Tyler, Bushland and Spur entered into the research and began gathering the first accurate measurements of soil losses under a variety of conditions of soil, slope, cover and degree of erosion. Almost before measurements could be evaluated, the early "dirty thirties", with soil from the Great Plains blowing to Washington and beyond, made action imperative. It was evident that individual, unorganized effort by landowners was ineffective, and this conclusion was important, and Federal government was drawn into the all-out effort to stop something that was suddenly recognized as being of national scope and importance.

In 1933, Congress, again with motivation from Congressman Buchanan and H. H. Bennett, set up 5 million dollars of emergency funds to establish the Soil Erosion Service as a temporary agency in the U. S. Department of Interior. In the fall of 1933 and first half of 1934, forty-five "demonstration projects" were set up in the United States — three of them in Texas, at Temple, Lindale and Dalhart. More of these projects were established in late the final national total to 176, plus 454 ECW Camps doing similar work.

The demonstration projects used research from the Experiment Stations and farmer-rancher experience to do several things that had not been done before in Texas. The projects served as laboratories to:

1. Develop an understanding of sound and use
  2. Develop principles of coordinated planning
  3. Train a corps of men in the new approach to conservation
  4. Show the public what a coordinated program was like
  5. Demonstrate its effectiveness
- As time quickly passed, the projects were also to show another all important fact, that the Federal government alone could not do the job of controlling erosion on the lands of the United States because of elements of cost, time, and the lack of owner interest in a plan which he did not feel was his own.

In April 1935, as a matter of record, the Soil Erosion Service was transferred from the Department of Interior and given Bureau status as the Soil Conservation Service in the U. S. Department of Agriculture. This was done under provision of Public Law No. 46 of the 74th Congress. SCS was to give leadership to a broad national program of erosion control and conservation.

1936 was a year of continuing research and work on the land. It was also a year of searching and study for the answers to the problem discovered the previous year—that a democratic government couldn't do the conservation job alone. It was the year when Under Secretary M. L. Wilson and Solicitor Philip Glick of USDA, Louis P. Merrill of Texas and other leaders contributed mightily to a new philosophy.

In late February 1937, President Franklin D. Roosevelt sent to the Governors of all the States a suggestion called "A Standard Soil Conservation Act" for consideration. This Act provided for something new in the field of relationships and responsibilities between landowners and their government. It called for voluntary local organization of landowners who would take the lead in the field of soil-water conservation, with Federal government as the assistant. The new organizations would be called "soil conservation districts" on boundaries to be determined locally, with a governing body of local landowners. The governing body would work with local people from all walks of life, in studying problems, evaluating resources, and determining how they wanted to direct those resources, individual, local, State and Federal, toward solution of their coordinated planning, with the landowner as planner with assistance from trained technicians.

The Texas Legislature of 1937 passed a Soil Conservation District Law but V. C. Marshall of Temple and his committee of one hundred illustrious Texans felt that it did not meet Texas' needs — So the Governor vetoed it.

The 1939 Legislature enacted a new law written by Texas farm and ranch leaders and signed by the Governor on April 20, 1939. First meeting of the State Soil Conservation Board was on May 29, 1939. The newly created Board visited Louisiana, Arkansas and Oklahoma to learn about districts already functioning in those states and came back home to hold hearings on newly petitioned districts. The first Texas districts received their Certificates of Organization from the Secretary of the State in April, 1940.

All of this historical background has been recounted in preparation for stating some facts which make your districts stand out in agricultural history. They are facts which I know make you truly proud of the subdivisions which you represent, of what they have already done, and of their mission for the future.

First, your districts were conceived in recognition of a need. Some of the great agricultural leadership of the State and nation contributed to the principles which became your law. Your law was written and rewritten, revised and improved many times before it met the standards held up by V. C. Marshall and his distinguished committee. Into your law were written some things that were different from other State laws, such as a State Soil Conservation Board composed of landowners elected by their fellows, and boards of supervisors similarly elected.

I've never heard soil conservation districts referred to as humanitarian organizations, have you? But the dictionary says humanitarian means "promoting the welfare of humanity." If the conservation of our soil-water-plant and related resources is essential to the welfare of mankind and if your districts are dedicated to that purpose, why should they not be named among the great humanitarian institutions? I believe they should be.

Second, your districts embody fundamental principles of democracy. Soundly administered districts have been described as one of the great strongholds of democracy today. Years ago you adopted as your motto "Conservation — Development — Self-government", all of which are necessary to a free people who would remain free. I suggest to you that your districts may have values as yet not plain to see that you will nevertheless want to guard very jealously. And the essence of democracy in soil conservation districts is not the least of these values.

Third, in their first 25 years, your districts have already been through one of the most, if not the most, exciting periods in agricultural history. There were many more farm units when you started, and more farmers. Then came World War II, followed by the big shift in population from rural to urban. Farm units changed hands — were consolidated — land use changed — once, twice, or more times. The changes brought canceled cooperative agreements, and the necessity for new conservation plans. Hundreds of man-years of conservationists' time were expended in the process of adjusting to the big change. Even so, records of June 30, 1965 show that your districts now have most 190,000 farms and ranches including 105 million acres.

The whole concept of watershed protection and flood protection has been made an integral part of your program. Conservation techniques have changed and improved. Some practices of 10 or 20 years ago are no longer used. This is part of progress. The fact remains, however, that there is more of the most effective conservation on Texas land than ever before in our agricultural history. And you have reason to be proud.

We know that ours is a nation of plentiful food and fiber and materials for manufacturing and commerce, in a world where scarcity is the rule. New production aids have contributed much.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE OF COUNTY'S INTENTION TO RECEIVE BIDS FOR THE PURCHASE OF CERTAIN ROAD MACHINERY

NOTICE is hereby given that bids will be received in the office of the County Judge until 10:00 A.M. on the 13th day of December, 1965 for the purchase of the following road machinery for the maintenance and improvement of the roads in and for said County, to-wit:

Two (2) Heavy Duty Diesel powered tandem drive Motor Graders of not less than 115 horsepower, with Electric Starter, Oil Clutch, 14 Foot Moldboard with Hydraulic Side Shift, Cab, Cab Heater, Lights, Windshield wipers, Defroster, 1300 x 24 ply tires both front and rear, Steering Booster and weighing not less than 22,000 lbs. SUCH PROPOSALS will at said time be publicly opened and read before the Commissioners' Court. IT IS THE INTENTION OF THE COMMISSIONERS' COURT to trade in 1 Caterpillar Motor Grader, Serial No. 8T12887 and 1 Allis Chalmers Motor Grader, Serial No. AD40-977, and to pay all of balance of purchase price of motor graders in cash.

Bids should be submitted as total bid on 2 machines and as separate bid for each machine. THE RIGHT is reserved by Castro County to reject any and all proposals or to waive all technicalities. ALL BIDS will be retained by the County and will not be returned to the bidders. Raymond E. Wilson County Judge Castro County, Texas 6-2tc and the skill and initiative of American farmers and ranchers are responsible in great measure. But how much credit can your soil conservation districts honestly and forthrightly claim? Have they not laid the foundation of good land use and conservation necessary for any continuing progress in agriculture? Is it too much to say that conservation is the key to the future of this essential part of our economy?

Fourth, with all the progress that has been made there is a tremendous amount of work in sight and needing to be done. Some 40,000 farm and ranch units involving about 63 million acres are not under district agreement. And years to come will certainly bring repeated changes in land uses as national and world needs grow. Equally important, they will bring new conservation methods which will demand new conservation plans and agreements with your districts.

Pointers Given On Wild Game Care And Cooking

The quality of game meat depends on how the game is handled from the time of kill until served on the family table. If the hunter properly cares for the game after it is killed, the homemaker can prepare delicious and palatable game.

Game meat adds variety to meals and is high in nutritive value. It is an excellent source of high-quality proteins, fats, minerals, iron, copper and phosphorus and the B vitamins, thiamin, niacin and riboflavin.

Game meat can be cooked by dry or moist heat, determined by the quality and tenderness of the carcass.

Young and tender game is best cooked by dry heat such as roasting, broiling, pan-broiling and frying. Dry heat preserves flavor and insures tenderness. Basting with additional fat may be necessary if the meat is lean.

Old and less tender game is best when cooked by moist heat such as braising, stewing and simmering. Swiss steaks and pot roasts are cooked by braising. Add a small amount of liquid to the meat which is cooked in a covered container. Stews, fricasses and boiled game are prepared by simmering (not at boiling point) in hot liquid which partially or completely covers the meat. With moisture, the high temperature necessary to soften the connective tissues can be obtained.

For further information, call the county extension office (647-3455) for copies of "Wild Game - Care, Cooking," and also "Field Dressing a Deer."

VENISON SWISS STEAK

1 1/2 pounds round steak
3 large onions
1 medium stalk celery
1 cup tomatoes
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
Salt and pepper

By—Vern Sanford

Many a hunter has left a deer to rot in the woods simply because he failed to check to see if his bullet hit the target.

Usually a deer falls or at least humps when struck by a high-velocity bullet. But there are many instances where mortally wounded deer ran spritely off after the shot, and didn't fall dead for as much as 100 yards. By then he has disappeared from view.

In his new book "Hunting the Whitetail Deer," Russell Tinsley points out that it is the obligation of every hunter to check thoroughly to determine whether or not he missed.

Even though no blood may be present, a bullet-struck deer always leaves a calling card. A bullet will knock loose some hair. With a little experience the hunter actually can determine where he hit the deer solely by the type of hair left on the ground.

The author, who is outdoors editor of the Austin American-Statesman, was raised in the small hill country community of Mason, in the very heart of Texas' prime deer range. He bagged his first deer when he was nine years old and has missed very few seasons since getting that initial whitetail.

"Hunting the Whitetail Deer" is published in both hardcover ($3.95) and paperback ($1.50) and is available in local bookstores. Or it can be ordered direct from the publisher (Harper & Row, 49 E. 33rd St., New York, N.Y. 10016). If there's a hunter in your family, this book would make a fine Christmas present.

Tinsley comprehensively covers all phases of deer hunting. He gives some background on the whitetail deer in the opening chapter, then delves into such things as rifle and sight selection, bullet placement, equipment, stand and stalk hunting, hunting the storm fronts, advanced deer hunting, field dressing the deer and caring for and cooking venison.

Also he discusses bow hunting and preserving the trophy. There's even a chapter on that dreaded thing called buck fever.

In his chapter on selecting the rifle, Tinsley points out that while there is no "best" deer rifle, his vote is for either the .243 Winchester or the 6 mm. Remington. He points out that these rifles shoot flatter and have more velocity. This means more knockdown power and surer kills.

As for a sight on the rifle, Tinsley recommends the telescopic sight.

He says a scope is much more than just a device for magnification. It also has the ability to gather and intensify light, making it easier to sight in early morning and late afternoon and on bleak overcast days. Furthermore, it has the ability to almost "see" through brush, making it much easier to place the bullet in a vulnerable area.

In bullet placement, the ideal shot, he says, is the so-called "high-lung shot." This is just behind the shoulder and gives the hunter much more margin for error. While the neck shot is fatal and ruins negligible meat, the neck of a deer is much smaller than most people imagine and is difficult to hit.

A heart shot also is, at best, a long-shot proposition, since the heart is set low in the body and any bullet placed in this region will destroy much meat.

One of the most neglected hunting methods, yet one of the most effective, is driving deer. Tinsley tells what it involves and how several hunters, working together, can make deer show themselves.

A drive needn't be an elaborate thing; two hunters working together actually can drive and intercept deer.

In field-dressing deer, "how-to" photos show the step-by-step procedure.

Two of the handiest items the hunter can have, Tinsley explains, are a short length of rope and a plastic bag.

First use of the rope is to tie one leg of the deer out of the way while dressing the animal. Then later it is used to hang the deer where it can drain.

The plastic bag can be used to transport the liver and heart to camp, to prevent clothing from becoming bloody.

Texas should be proud of this book written by one of their native sons. And also happy to learn that its sales already run into the thousands.

Measles Vaccine Needs To Be Used For Immunization

Dr. Bill Murphy, local physician submitted the following article for publication. It was taken from the November 8 issue of "Modern Medicine."

Total cases of measles up to Oct. 9 this year — 242,096 — was the lowest in the past decade, according to the Communicable Disease Center in Atlanta. Nevertheless, major epidemics are to be expected in the next six months in areas of the United States where attenuated virus vaccine is not used extensively to immunize susceptible children, CDC advises. Accordingly, the Public Health Service expects that the efficacy of the vaccine will be clearly determined next winter by comparison of incidence and mortality rates in well vaccinated and inadequately vaccinated groups of children.

Thanksgiving

We Gather Together In Thankful Spirit...

To meet with family and friends... to express our thankfulness for the many good things of life... these happy customs began with the first Thanksgiving Day. And may they long continue! At this season, it's our favorite custom to extend our thanks and best wishes to our friends and customers. To all of you, a happy, hearty Thanksgiving!

Thoughts at Thanksgiving...

The warmth of family and friends... the spiritual guidance of our house of worship... the security of living in a fine community... the abundance and richness of our great country, where we may live and worship and vote as we please... for all this and much more we offer thanks. From all of us to our loyal friends and patrons, a happy and healthy Thanksgiving.
