Our Celebration

Sweetwater is going to celebrate in great shape on June 24 and 25.

The particular reason for this jollification is that on or before said dates, actual construction work will have begun here on the K. C. M. & O. Ralroad. This will make a new era in the development of our town and county. We feel that our furture is assured, hence have cause to celebrate. Now, we are going to give the biggest blowout here ever seen in West Texas. What do you think of forty beeves, hogs, and muttons, and $2000 in cash? Don't you think that ought to furnish enough to eat?

Then there will be other animals kept in readsness to be slanghtered for the second day's provender, if needed. So far as the problem of something to eat is concerned that is fully settled.

"But what else is there?" you may ask. Well we are going to have some of the best orators in Texas here, such as Culbeason, Prince, Hall. That's not all.

There will be delightful music from both brass and stringed justruments, dancing. There'll be barrel races, three logged races and eight miles from town was in a ty, an old time friend of W. jumping contests. It is also expected that there will be several perses of $100 each hung up for owners of the We have forgotten the names of fast horses. Then there'll be a match game of base ball ter. You will do well to see him each day, a first class game, such as devotees will enjoy.

Then you may have a chance to make your fortune. The Orient short line people have purchased 350 acres of land just north of town, and will cut it into lots and offer them for sale.

Come, and let,s have a good time.

He purchased some arsenic and mixed it with some wheat brand, flour and molases, and scattered it about the edge of the field and in about two days Mr. Hammock returned to his field and found that the hoppers were about gone and on looking around he found many dead hoppers laying around under bushes and weeds. It seems that if the farmers were to try this method they might destroy the hoppers and save their

While the attention of stockbreeders is being justly attracted to the wonderful possibilities offered for the successful production of sheep for mutton and wool upon the fertile, virgin soils of the cheap, cut and burnt-over lands skirting the lines of the Wisconsin Central railroad in Northern Wisconsin it should be borne in mind that the same region offers essentially practical inducements to the swine raiser. The corn belt, with its magnificent yields of golden grain-corn that by reason of its treasures of starch and oil furnishes the best possible material for the production of animal fathas given rise to a breed of swine noted the world over as "the lard hog." This, surely, is a fitting name for the Poland China, which, with the trotting horse, lays claim to American origination and has brought credit and cash galore to its producers. But even corn, like other kings, has its failings and the lard hog is not the criterion of conformation, constitution, or quality. Corn is an incomplete foodsuperlatively rich in fat formers but correspondingly poor in bone and muscle making materials-hence animals produced generation after generation upon corn as a well nigh exclusive diet become similarly incomplete. Like corn they abound in fat; like corn they lack the corresponding constituents of protein-they are deficient in vim, vigor, bone and muscle. To these hogs cholera has proved a scourge. Their debilitated constitutions and sluggish blood have offered the germ of the disease its most suitable habitat and proliferating place; thus the annual ravages of the fell disease have sadly offset the profits of marketing corn in the shape of the lard hog. In Canada the lard hog has not been extensively bred; nor could it originate in that colder, higher land where corn is not the cheapest, most prolific grain. Where legumes luxuriate there the bacon hog thrives pest. His frame is strong in bone; his muscle well developed; his constitution rugged and hardy; his blood pure and his whole system healthy, hence cholera and kindred diseases rarely find in him a breeding place. Nowhere do legumes flourish better than in Northern Wisconsin. Clover springs up wherever sown, drowning unsightly stumps in billows of succulent green forage. One seeding is enough, for clover here neither winter kills nor throws out with frost. Crimson, red, white and alsike clover, cowpeas and beansthese are the legumes, while supplementary nitrogenous food is near at hand in the cheap wheat screenings to be had from the great flour mills of Minnesota and used with profit for hog

When to high altitude, pure water, nvigorating atmosphere and abundance of oats and other protein-rich feeding material cheaply produced and procured is added the fact that swine disease has never invaded this region, it surely becomes apparent that here is to be found Nature's sanitarium for the production of healthy swine. Here in the opinion of the Farmers' Review could be bred and reared to a fattening age hogs of perfect constitution and vitality, to be killed for well-mixed bacon or fattened on cheap corn farther south, with no loss from cholera or other disease.

Co-Operation in Egg Seiling.

In egg production, Denmark is forging to the fore, her exports having doubled in the last five years. This has largely been brought about through the combination of the farmers into syndicates. The farmers form local associations, the officers of which in turn elect central officers to control the management of the whole corporation. Each egg, as it is gathered is stamped with the mark of the local association and the number of the individual in the association. Eggs so marked are taken to the central point when they are shipped to Copenhagen. If any bad eggs are found at Copenhagen, a fine of about $1.00 is imposed upon the person sending the same, and repetitions will force one out of the association .- Prof. W. A. Henry.

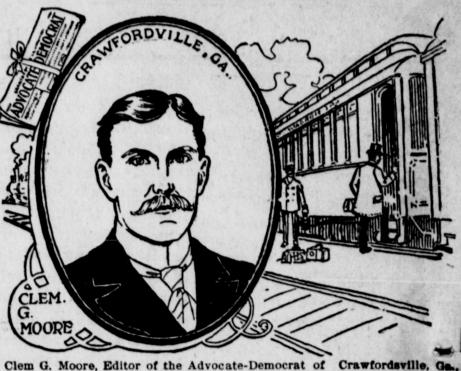

The Age of Eggs.

The age of eggs may be approximately judged by taking advantage of the fact that as they grow old their density decreases through evaporation of moisture. According to Siebel a new-laid egg placed in a vessel of brine made in the proportion of two ounces of salt to one pint of water, will at once sink to the bottom. An egg one day old will sink below the surface, but not to the bottom, while one three days old will swim just immersed in the liquid. If more than three days old the egg will float on the surface, the amount of shell exposed being increased with age. If two weeks old only a little of the shell will dip in the liquid.

What Affects Clover Seeding r

From the Farmers' Review: In the mind of thoughtful, intelligent farmers very interesting problems are continually presenting themselves for solution. The amount of general knowledge possessed by them is not usually sufficient for their guidance in seeking answers to the questions arising. For this reason they are apt to ascribe incorrect causes for effects which they observe. An illustration of this is found in the popular theory that the season, more than the time of cutting the first crop of clover, affects the yield of seed on the second crop. To understand this problem we must draw upon a knowledge of agricultural chemistry and plant feeding and the elaboration of elementary food in the plant. Seeding is the effort of the plant to reproduce itself when it has reached a certain period of growth. As the elaboration of seed depends upon the presence and action of phosphoric acid in the plant, the movement of phosphorus in it furnishes the key to the solution of the problem.

Take the plant in four stages of growth. As a young plant in full health about 6 to 8 inches tall, from 22 per cent to 25 per cent of the total phosphoric acid necessary for full development of the matured crop has been taken up from the root, and about 50 per cent of this amount is found in the upper leaves. After it has obtained about one-third more growth, over 40 per cent of the phosphoric acid has been brought up, of which from 60 per cent to 65 per cent is found in the heads and stems and leaves close up to the heads. When the plant has grown still larger and reached full bloom, 70 per cent to 75 per cent of the required phosphoric acid has been received from beneath the ground, and 80 per cent of this has found its way into the head and blossoms. Finally, when the seed has been perfected, fully 90 per cent of the total phosphoric acid taken by the plant has passed from the structure to the seed. If the crop is cut when 40 per cent and upwards of the phosphorus needed for full development and reproduction has been taken up and from 60 per cent to 80 per cent of this reached the upper parts of the plants it will require a very rich feeding of phosphate to enable it to repair damage, and, besides building a new plant provide nourishment for seed. Few soils are equal to such a strain, but as farmers like to get as much maturity as possible in the hay crop so as to provide a good article of fodder, they must be careful to look well to the phosphatic feeding of clover fields. This will be more fully appreciated if we bear in mind that two tons of clover hay on a meadow calls for 40 per cent more phosphorus than thirty bushels of wheat, sixty-five bushels of corn or fifty bushels of oats.

Any effect of the season on the seed evelopment of the second crop must generally be ascribed to the rapid growth of the first crop deceiving the farmer into the belief that the large growth . had attained corresponding maturity. In such cases a chemical examination of the hay of the first crop would show it to be lacking in feeding value in full proportion to its bulk and weight.

While on this question it is interesting to observe that the researches of Dr. Wagner emphasize most decidedly the necessity of the phosphate and potash manures for clovers grown for manurial purposes. Ordinarily eighty pounds of nitrogen supplied to the soil from an acre of two tons of clover is good work, but it is found that over 250 pounds of nitrogen can be obtained on an acre from the atmosphere by supplying abundant phosphoric acid in addition to potash. On heavy soils the potash has not generally to be supplied as manure, but on said soil deficient in potash we are called upon to supply it as well as the phosphate.-Thomas Wallace.

The money value of the crop approximates $6,-000,000 annually, or about $670 for each man, woman, and child in the district.

It has been calculated that there are in Italy 5,400,000 orange trees which yield on an average 1,600,000,000 oranges per year, or 300 oranges per tree. In the province of Seville, in Spain, where the largest quantity of oranges is grown in Europe, the average annual yield per tree is estimated at 600 oranges. The island of St. Michael, in the Azores, produces on an area of 265 acres 350,000,000 oranges, which are almost entirely shipped to England. In 1899 the total export of oranges from Spain exceeded 1,000,000,000. Greece exported in 1899 some 50,000,000 oranges.

THE poet writes his simple lay.
The builder lays bricks by the day, The carpet man lays carpets too, So all are "laymen," good and true. The hen lays eggs for all mankind, Which daily in their nests we find. But the funniest sight we ever saw, Was Paddy "laying down the law."

Pat boasted to a friendly "Cop," Who often visited his shop, That he'd a lion tamer been-The fiercest lions ever seen-And claimed in manner rather fresh, That he'd oft eaten lion's flesh. The officer joined in to say That he "drank" Lion every day.

What's that ye say?" then Paddy cried, "Ye spalpeen; shure Oi think ve lied." The cop said "you're too fresh I think, It's LION COFFEE that I drink-It's pure and strong, and healthy too, And helps a man his work to do. I take a cup or two to meet The trials of my weary beat!"

The last word just seemed to suggest A thought to Pat; he did the rest. lis fist flew out, the cop fell down, While Paddy's face assumed a frown. "Ye fooled me, did yez!" he exclaimed As still another blow he aimed.

Frank and Sharles Crabtree, for the murder of Alice Stallion, the woman's 16-year-old daughter. Hearing is being held in a grove, the two justices sitting at a table under a tree and two thousand people attracted from points for miles around forming a circle about the court and defendants. Notwithstanding no overt act has yet been attempted threats have been made against the Crabtrees by many of the strangers in town, and the county officials are taking all the precaution at their command to protect the prisoners. Galena is off the railroad and the fact that 2000 people would care to come miles to attend the hearing is considered significant. It has been decided to exhume the body of the girl that it may be examined by the doctors to investigate a theory of he prosecutor that a criminal assault was made upon her by one or both of the Crabtree boys, and that they killed her to hide the crime.

Stockmen and Farmers Between Whose Familles Trouble had Arisen-Twenty Shots in One Minute.

Houston, Tex., June 8 .- A desperate street fight occurred in the business center of Houston Friday morning, resulting in the killing outright of two men, th ewounding of a taird probably fatally and the wounding of a fourth. The dead are:

Tom Payue, a stockman; Lew Echols, stockman and farmer. The wounded: James Perkins, ex-deputy chief of police: Dave Echois, butcher. All of the participants excepting one are said to have used pistols. The shooting was at close range and some fifteen or twenty shots were fired. There was great excitement in the immediate vicinity. Pedestr:ans dashed to cover behind telephone poles, into stores and some of them fell flat on the sidewalk in their eagerness to evade the leaden missiles which were flying so thick and fast. The firing did not last longer than a minute, but was fast and furious. As the cloud of smoke lifted and as people drew near to the scene they found three men lying within eight reet of each other, two of them motion:ess and the third struggling to get into a sitting posture. A fourth participant in the deadly encounted was standing leaning against a pole, besmeared with

The bodies were taken to different undertaking establishments. Perkins was shot through the right breast with a 44-caliber bullet, it passing through the right lung. Several hemorrhages followed and it was thought at first the wound would prove speedily fatal. The patient, however, rallied and this evening the attending physicians believe he has a chance of recovery.

Dave Echols, who received a flesh wound, was taken to the police station.

Tom Payne was shot three times, any one of which would have proved fatal. One wound was just above the heart, one just beneath it and one entering the back of the head.

Lew Echol's body was prerced with two bullets, one entering his right breast and the other the abdomen.

ires into a Mob to Defend a Conden Negro-One Man Killed.

Carrollton, Ga., June 8. The nerve of an obscure Georgia sheriff, whose name is Joseph Merill, last Friday upheld the law of the state and saved the life of a negro from a mob. In protecting the negro, who was saved from the gallows only a few hours before through the efforts of his lawyers, one life was lost and two men woundaed. The arrival of the state malitia averted threatened trouble Friday night and at midnight a special train bearing the negro, whose crime was the murder of a little white boy whom he found fishing alone, and his guard was speeding toward Atlanta. The man killed in attacking the jail was George Bennett of Carrollton and the wounded men are Thomas Smith, also of Carrollton, and an unknown man, presumably a farmer. Thomas S. Word, father of the boy, who was in the front rank of the would-be lynchers, was, strange to say not hit. After ennett fell Mr. Word jumped up on the window and exciaimed dramatical-

"Shoot me, Mr. sheriff. I would as soon die now as any time."

Only nine shots were fired and the walls of the jail showed the marks of the bullets. None of the sheriff's posse were hit.

Williams, the negro who caused the trouble, was tried and found guilty of killing Otis Word and was sentenced to be hanged Friday. He was refused a new trial by Judge Harris, but his lawyers filed a bill to the supreme court. A large crowd of people had come to town to witness the hanging, and when it was learned that an appeal had been taken to the supreme court, delaying the execution, there was much excited talk, which crystallized soon after in the formation of a blood and a stream of blood gushing mob. At noon the mob made an assault on the jail. They battered down the outside iron door, despite the warning of the sheriff, and entered the building. They made a demand on the sheriff and the few deputies which he had been able to summon to his aid. They were told to stop or they would

SEA LIONS SUCCUMB.

Five of Them Die While Crossing the Scorehing Sands.

El Paso, Tex., June 10.-Six huge sea lions were brought here by the Wells-Fargo Express company. They came from Santa Barbara, Cal., and were consigned to parties in New Orleans, but five of the big fellows could not stand the trip across the scorching sands of the Arizona deserts and died before reaching El Paso. It became necessary to remove these monsters of the deep from the car, and upon reaching this city Commissioner of Sanitation Lyons was notified. He procured a vehicle and went to the train. The carcasses of the huge beasts were loaded into the wagon and hauled out to the suburbs, where they were cremated.

In accordance with your recommendation, as made in your favor of this date, authority is hereby conferred upon you to raise the quarantine now being enforced against the city of San Francisco on account of the bubonic plague, and also to discontinue the inspections that have been in force for several months at Texline, at El Paso and at the Red river crossing of the

Killed His Mother-in-Law. London, Ont., June 10.-Crazed by love for his young wife whom, it is said, he had driven from his home in Chicago, Robert Fulton, a prosperous Chicago contractor, killed his mother-in-law, Mrs. Jennie McCord, and then blew out his brains. The tragedy occurred on the McCord farm at Ilderton, near here. The victims were first cousins. Fulford married Gertie McCord seven years ago, his first wife having secured a divorce from him. Three weeks ago Fulford and his wife had a dispute and she returned to her parents. Fulford followed Saturday. He drove to the McCord farm and demanded that Mrs. McCord, who was milking in the yard, tell him where his wife was. She refused and he fired four shots from a revolver into her body, killing her instantly. He then turned the weaon on himself, blowing out his

Will Appeal.

Guthrie, Ok., June 10.-Frank Spear, r. V. Addington et al. vs. the Farmers National Society is the title of a case appealed from the district court of Custer county to supreme court Saturday. This is the case wherein the plaintiffs, representing the Cattlemen's association, sought to enjoin the farmers from interfering with their cattle running at large, and secured an injunction in Custer, Dewey and Washita counties which prevented farmers from driving cattle off their farms or protecting crops in any way. Judge Irwin dissolved the injunction, declaring the free range law unconstitutional, and the cattlemen now appeal to the supreme court in an effort to have the injunction made perpetual.

Heavily Fined.

Waxahachie, Tex., June 10.-Bill Tapp, the young man arrested several days ago charged with killing three mules and wounding two others at Bristol, this county, last week, pleaded guilty in five cases and was fined $125 in each case. The fines and costs in the five cases amount to $801.55, and it is estimated that it will take him five years on the county farm to work out the fines, costs and clothing furnished during the time.

JUDGE BURKE DEAD.

Oled at Ris Home in Dallas-Congressman From the Sixth District.

Dallas, Tex., June 5.-Hon. Robert Emmet Burke died at his home in this city at 1:50 o'clock Wednesday morning. Yesterday he rallied, but his physicians held out no hope and notified the family that the end was only a question of a few hours. During | ties. the afternoon Senator Culberson and Congressman Lanham were at the b. Aside of their stricken colleague and friend and messages came from men of prominence and of all political parties, in all sections of the country, expressing deep solicitude concerning the condition of the stricken congressman.

During February while he was attending the session of congress he was taken severely ill with an attack of grip and was confined to his room for several days.

He suffered a stroke of paralysis last Saturday night and since that time has never rallied sufficiently to give hope for his recovery.

Robert Emmet Burke was born in Tallapoosa county, Alabama, Aug. 1, 1847. He attended the common schools of Alabama and Georgia until he was 16 years old. At that time he voluntcered in the Confederate service, enlisting in Company D, Tenth Georgia cavalry. His regiment was assigned to Hampton's corps, Butler's division. He served until the close of the war and was at Greensborough, N. C., at the time of the surrender. He sustained one wound in battle, a slight one in the arm.

In January, 1866, he moved to Texas and located at Jefferson, Tex., where he began the study of law, teaching school in the meantime. He was admitted to the bar in 1870 and in the following year removed to Dallas, where he opened an office and began the practice of his profession.

He was a member of the city council in 1874-5; was elected county judge in 1878 and re-elected in 1880 and 1882; was elected district judge in 1888 and re-elected in 1892 without opposition. He was elected to the Fifty-fifth congress in 1896, re-elected to the Fiftysixth congress in 1898 and to the Fiftyseventh congress in 1900.

He was married at Jefferson in 1870 to Miss Mary L. Henderson, daughter of Judge J. B. Henderson. To them were born three children, Robert Emmet, Jr., Albert C. and Lucile.

A Strange Tragedy

Decatur, Tex., June 5 .- Late last Friday evening an old man named William Durham was found hanging to a tree near Boonville, in the south part of this county. The jury in the inquest held over Durham's remains decided that the cause of his death was unknown.

Durham was about 70 years old and at the time of his death was living with a family named Poutter, consisting of a widow and her three sons. He had disappeared on Monday morning, May 27, and when found his body was terribly swollen. The body was found only about 300 yards from the Poulter home. The affair was reported to the officers of this place last Saturday and County Attorney Ford, together with Deputy Sheriff W. H. North, went immediately to the Boonville neighborhood to investigate the matter. They returned, having in their custody John, Walter and Ed Poulter.

Durham came to this county from Hobart, Ind., about one year ago and has been living in the Poulter family ever since. He had some property in Hobart and is said to have willed it all to Mrs. Poulter, who was his sister-in-law. There is much excitement platform of the Pullman sleeper atover the matter.

THE DENT CASE.

The Forger of the Release Must Serve 8 Life Sentence.

Austin, Tex., June 6.-The court of criminal appeals affirmed the Dent case Wednesday. This is the famous case that was tried in Cherokee county after Dent had been tried and acquitted of swindling in Travis and Dallas coun-

The capture of Dent, after forging the issaes pardon, was accomplished in New Mexico after most exciting circumstances. Dent secured the release of George Isaacs, a life convict for murder, by a forged pardon.

The court was not unanimous in affirming the life sentence given Dent by the lower court. Justice Henderson dissented from the conclusions reached. The court at the outset say: "The evidence shows that appellant Dent forged the pardon. The indictment for accessory to murder is predicated upon the forging state of acts, in that by said forged appellant aided Isaacs to evade the execution of his sentence."

The main issue in controversy in this case was as to the effect of the introduction of the judgement convicting George Isaacs, who was the principal in the crime, Dent being charged as an accessory. The majority opinion holds that this evidence is prima facie evidence as against Dent of the guilt of Isaacs. And they further hold that the charge instructing the jury that the judgment was conclusive was harmless, because there was no evidence controverting the judgment.

The opinion was written by Judge Brooks nad the following is near the conclusion: "We can not close this opinion without testifying to the very able and matchless way in which the appellant's counsel and the able assistant attorney general have presented their respective side of this case. Their research has been tireless and all of the authorities have been reviewed by them in a painstaking effort to solve the many vexing questions involved in this record, and we can not too strongly commend them."

Geologist's Opinion New Orleans, La., June 6.-The Picayune's Washington special says:

Hill of the department of geological survey will say in his official report on the oil district of the southwest that he believes oil to exist from New Orleans to the Rio Grande, and that Louisiana and Texas are in the direct line of depost-

Prof. Hill only recently returned from the oil fields. He spent two weeks making the survey, and is now in Washington making up his official report, which will be printed and given to the public in a few days.

The maps and information in the report will be of graet value to persons interested in the oil deposits. Prof. Hill spent ten years of his professional life in Texas and he knows the country with which he is dealing in describing. He says it must not be inferred that oil drillers will find oil everywhere they bore; there will be many "dusters" and some sections will not give forth the coveted treasure, but, taken as a field, he predicts that it will extend from New Orleans and the Mississippi river all the way to Taumaulipas, Mex., which is beyond the Rio Grande.

I thought I would write once more but you seem to be having a good deal of news from our town latly.

Prof. Garry and wife started for their home in Besque County last week.

Mr. Wm. Billingslea and wife went to Buffalo Gap this week where they will spend a few days visiting their brother, Mr. Asa Garry.

We had a very good rain here last Thursday. But just south of us they say it did'nt rain any. We weuld be glad to have a good soaking rain.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Christain are visiting Mrs Christain's mother and brother. We are glad that Mrs Christain is able to be among us, and would be so glad to see her entirely well so they could come back home and have their children in Sunday School.

I would have every body in Sunday School and especially the children. Mr. Ed, I was surprised and made serry, when I heard that the Sunday School at Union had closed out. Oh! for a consecrated people to carry on the work of the dear Saviour, I can't see how Christains who have been washed in the blood of Lamb and who have been studing of the death, resurection and assension and the gift of the Holy Spirit all for themselves and us, to lay down the Sunday School work when we know this work is to teach the children and all people the plan of Salvation. My dear Bretheren at at Union I do hope you will consider your action and by the Grace of God and for the Salvation of your children and your neighbors children you will tegin this good work anew and carry it on over the head of every thing that may come in the way, all for the Glory of Him who loved as and gave Himself for us.

Mr. S. S. Odom and wife came to Rock Springs Sunday to hear Brother Clark preach, but he didn't come.

Mr. E. C. Rawlings has been buying what unsold Steer yearlings we had here. I think Mr. Clift sold him ten head at $12 or

Mr. Bert Cosper has sold his crop and rented his place. I thank Bert is going out West.

Corn is looking very well, so is most of the cotton. I hear some complaint about the grasshoppers eating up the corn and cotton. If we could have a pretty fair crop this year our people would be alright financially. As you have several corspondants from our town I will not write very often during the busy times but will say success to the Rustler and its readers.
