CHILD KILLED BY TRAIN.

Thought to Have Been Asleep on the Track.

Just before reaching Ballinger Tuesday afternoon the east bound passenger train ran over and instantly killed a little four-year-old girl by the name of Hobbs. The little one's body was completely mashed in two and otherwise horribly mangled.

The train was in charge of Conductor Cheney, with J. H. Barnett as engineer, and J. T. Cantrell fireman. A Bulletin man interviewed Fireman Cantrell when the train arrived in Brownwood. He said they were coming along at a moderate rate of speed and when near the river he saw the child raise up on the track. The engine was not more than seventy-five feet away, the emergency brakes were applied, but the train could not be stopped until the little one had been run down and crushed to death. He said the child did not realize any danger, in fact, was rather amused at sight of the train and threw up its little hands in enjoyment of the exciting moment. Neither Mr. Cantrell nor Engineer Barnett saw the child until too late to stop the train.

A telephone message was received from Ballinger, saying the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hobbs, live in a small rock house on the other side of the Colorado river, and while they were out in the cotton patch the little one strayed over to the railroad track, where a few minutes later it met with such a horrible death. — Brownwood Banner-Bulletin.

J. E. Greer, the popular lawyer and real estate man of Bronte, was in the city Tuesday and paid us a pleasant call.

Bronte Bazoo.

Miss Bycie Ryan, an exemplary young lady of our town, and her sister, Mrs. Callie Barnes, visited friends in Ballinger this week.

Miss Lou Wilkins deserves unlimited credit for the manner in which she elicits interest in her Sunday School class.

Quite a number of people from Robert Lee, among whom we saw the pleasant face of Miss Lora Hall, were in our town last Sunday.

The Ladies Aid Society will give an oyster supper at the school house Saturday night before the third Sunday in November. Everybody is invited to attend.

The unveiling of the monument erected to the memory of R. F. Cumbie, deceased, began at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon. We bare our head in honor and admiration of the superlative manner in which the Woodmen of the World, and acquaintances generally, exhibited their love and respect for their deceased sovereign and friend. W. L. Hayley eulogized the life and character of the deceased in a short and appropriate speech. People from the adjoining counties turned out in solid phalanx. The scene was very impressive. The hearts of the deceased's immediate family seemed bursting with grief, and we are at a loss to find words with which to express our conception of the solemnity of the sight. But we would say to those who are so near to him that life is short at best, and its cares are many. Although we live the full time allotted to man it is soon over. It has been said that "should man die in his youth he is not much cheated," so let us bow to the inevitable. J.T.

Judge J. D. Jowers attended the W. O. W. unveiling at Bronte last Sunday.

Some Fine June Corn.

John A. Stuart has in his office four stalks of June corn that have attracted considerable attention the past week. They were raised by R. M. Stephens on his farm at Cedar Lake.

This corn was planted the 13th of June and received only one good rain, that on the 8th of July, besides a few light showers. Each stalk is over 12 feet high, measures 6 inches in circumference, weighs 10 pounds and has two well developed ears of corn over a foot in length.

This conclusive evidence explodes the theory that corn can not be successfully raised in this section of the country, and also proves the fertility of Coke county land.

COLOR LINE IN SCHOOL.

Mandamus Used to Get Negroes Into White Schools.

Topeka, Kan., Oct. 11.—The state supreme court today issued a writ of alternative mandamus against the Board of Education of Kansas City, Kan., returnable November 7, requiring said board to show cause why negro pupils are not allowed to attend school at the same hours and in the same buildings as the white pupils.

We suppose the great kick raised by the kids of Kansas was because the koons and koonesses did not use the proper brand of cologne. Now that they have had frost and cool weather is approaching they will no doubt be able to settle their differences amicably.

"They Won't Stick."

Every farmer has heard the above quotation time and again. It has reference to the farmers, and more particularly to any effort on their part at organization for their own good. All the other fellows, bankers, merchants, speculators, mortgageholders and exchange men will tell you "They won't stick."

If this is a fact, there must be a reason, but the other fellows can't give that reason. One of the reasons for the failure of the farmers to stick is the fight waged against them by the other fellows. They get busy as soon as the farmers begin to organize and do all in their power to thwart the organization. They discourage the work by declaring they won't stick, and if the farmer does organize they make it warm for him whenever the opportunity presents itself.

It is not every merchant that may be classed with the other fellows, but they are numerous. And we find some farmers who are industriously urging their brother farmers to beware for they won't stick. Despite these efforts the farmers are organizing and sticking and are getting better results from their calling than ever before. They are in a position to demand more respect and they get it.

The men who make up this organization have been sticking two years and they give no evidence of a desire to "wont," as the other fellows say. They are in earnest and are hanging on with a tenacity which augers success.

Don't let the other fellows patient case, "they won't stick," let them from getting in with the other element of farmers working for the betterment of the community. They will stick out are in earnest.

who failed to give a... is feeling... the greatest county on earth, but even here we find farmers giving mortgages on their crops from year to year. The shame of it! Our system of distribution is at fault. Let's change it, what say you?

Don't be afraid of the drones and the man who would do great injury to this great organization. Our people are dead onto them wherever they be, if such they be. When a man wabbles on the spindle spot him.

Are your wives and daughters joining the union? If not, why not? They should be members by all means; they make better and truer membeas than the balance of us.

Let us hope that no union man will imagine that he is the whole thing. When a man gets such a notion in his head his days are few, very few, and full of trouble.

GEO. SIDES, Secretary of Bronte Union, No. 2026.

Weigher's Report.

Steward's Meeting.

Steward's meeting for Robert Lee charge will be held in the Methodist church in Robert Lee on Saturday before the first Sunday in November at 1 p. m.

Brethren, let's do what we can at once, giving every member an opportunity to meet his financial obligation. The Lord has graciously blessed us during the year, and let each one see to it that his or her part of the obligation is met, so that Robert Lee charge will have no deficit, and have a full report on all lines of church work. We can't, as a people, afford to fall behind any of our sister charges. We have the brains, the financial ability, and should have church pride, desire of heart and willingness of mind enough to measure up to the best.

Let all the stewards be present, that we may also lay our plans for another successful year's work.

They All Want it

R. L. McCaulley of the Orient passed through the city Friday afternoon on his way to Sweetwater. Mr. McCaulley did not reach the city until after the noon hour and left on the afternoon train for Fort Worth. He stated in the few minutes he had to talk that the people of Sonora and Del Rio were after the Orient in earnest and that they all wanted the road to build that way.

"We are alright south of San Angelo and the road will go through, that is a certainty. I have never seen the people so enthusiastic on a proposition in all my life as the people are down there. They are determined to have the road and get it. Sonora has nearly raised her bonus and Del Rio was the same way when I left. The people down south of San Angelo are hustlers and when they start after anything they usually get what they want."

"The country south of here is in fine shape and couldn't be better than it is now. Grass is good, cattle are fat and all are happy and chasing the almighty dollars in the same old way and that is what counts. West Texas from one end to the other was never better."

Mr. McCaulley stated that he would have some mighty good news for the people of San Angelo in a few days, but was not able to give it out right away. He said he would do so upon his return sometime within the next ten days.—San Angelo Standard.

Bronte Letter No. 2.

The writer would like to know what has become of Maud since she married. Does she go by the title of "It" now?

Cotton pickers are very much in demand about Bronte. Hickman & Butler have installed a phone in their hardware store.

W. L. Hayley and Howard Wilkins attended the W. O. W. oyster supper at Robert Lee, and report an exceedingly good time.

The unveiling was quite a success and was witnessed by a large crowd. A great many attended from the surrounding country. The reader, Miss Lou Wilkins, could not have been excelled by any one. The manner in which she gave the selection was simply grand. The orator, W. L. Hayley, did himself justice in his eulogy on the deceased sovereign and his chosen craft. The officers did admirably well. The Whitaker place, which was thought to be sold to a Ballinger man, is reported to have fallen through, but Mr. Whitaker will get the forfeit of $1000.

The Bronte gin is now using Beaumont oil and are hauling water for gin use.
