R. E. Douglas Dead.

R. E. Douglas, one of Coke county's oldest and most beloved citizens, died at his home at Fort Chadbourne Tuesday, of cancer, and the remains were interred in the Bronte cemetery Wednesday at 4 o'clock. The funeral services were held at the Presbyterian Church at Fort Chadbourne, which he was a member of, and were conducted by Rev. H. D. Smith, of Brownwood. The funeral services were attended by almost the entire population of the town besides a good representation of the Robert Lee Masonic Lodge, which he was a member of, and numerous friends of the family from a distance. The remains were then carried to Bronte, where they were interred in the Bronte cemetery with Masonic honors. The Robert Lee Lodge A. F. & A. M., assisted by the Bronte Lodge, conducted the burial.

The deceased was in his 76th year and had been a citizen of Coke county since before the county was organized. He was elected one of the first Commissioners of Coke county and served two terms. During his administration, the county site was moved from Hayrick to Robert Lee, and our present Court house and bridge across the Colorado at Robert Lee, were built. He was also the first postmaster, of Fort Chadbourne, and served in that capacity until a few years ago, giving it up and retiring to private life.

No man was better known and more universally loved than R. E. Douglas. He numbered his friends by the score and was known as a high-toned Christian gentleman.

He was a charter member of Hayrick Lodge A. F. & A. M. at Robert Lee and was also a Confederate veteran, having served the full four years in the Confederate army.

He leaves a loving wife and six children to mourn his loss besides a great host of friends: The children are Aus H. Douglas, of Magdalena, N. M., Mrs. W. T. Hazlewood and R. E. Douglas Jr., of Silverton, and Misses Kate and Ala Douglas and Watson Douglas, of Fort Chadbourne.

The Observer extends condolence to the relatives and friends in their sad hour.

Basket Ball at Paint Creek.

The Paint Creek boys vs the Paint Creek girls, in a spirited game of basket ball, played at the Paint Creek school grounds Saturday afternoon resulting in a tie score of 6 to 6.

After this game the Paint Creek boys played outside boys, resulting in a score of 10 to 6 in favor of the Paint Creek boys. After this game another game was matched between outside girls and outside boys, which resulted in a score of 16 to 8 in favor of the young ladies.

The citizenship of Wild Cat, Edith and Paint Creek, was well represented, there being a large crowd of enthusiasts.

Miss Jessie Newton, the accomplished teacher of the Paint Creek school had previously arranged a tempting menu consisting of fruit salad, cake and coffee, which all enjoyed after the sports. Everyone enjoyed the occasion hugely.

Colds Quickly Relieved.

Many people cough and cough--from the beginning of Fall right through to Spring. Others get cold after cold. Take Dr. King's New Discovery and you will get almost immediate relief. It checks your cold, stops the racking, rasping, tissue-tearing cough, heals the inflammation, soothes the raw tubes. Easy to take, Antiseptic and Healing. Get a 50c bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery to-day. "It is certainly a great medicine and I keep a bottle of it continually on hand," writes W. C. Jessemann, Franconia, N. H. Miss Effie Puett, who has held a responsible position in the First National Bank for some months, left Tuesday for Dallas where she will take a course in the Metropolitan Business College.

Take Herbine for indigestion. It relieves the pain in a few minutes and forces the fermented matter which causes the misery, into the bowels where it is expelled. Price 50c. Sold by P. D. Coulson & Son. Adv.

J. C. Rabb was a visitor to Sterling City, his former home, last Monday, to enjoy Trades' Day. Rabb said that during the day there was a dust storm and one of his friends accused him of bringing it but he told them not guilty, that everything from dear old Coke, had grit in it and there was no grit in that dust storm--just fine dust.

PREPAREDNESS!

In time of life, prepare for death. In time of peace prepare for war. In time of leisure, prepare for work. Now that the farmers are up with their work, is a good time to come in and look over our stock of Implements, and select what tools they will need during the year.

The Implements most needed right now, are the Drag Harrow, the Planter and the Cultivator. In planters, we have the well known Canton No. 12, also the Lister, and double row planters. In Cultivators, we have the P. & O. Wiggletail in four and six rows, both single and double row. If you don't like the Wiggletail, we have the straight beam P. & O. The P. & O. line of implements have never yet been equaled. When you buy, you buy for long years of use. Then why not have the best?

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Cañon, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good.

I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without its tiring me, and am doing all my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of continuous success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today.

Write to: Chattanooga, Nebr., for Ladies' Advisory Dept., Cardui Tonic, for Special Instructions on your case and for a 50c trial bottle. Send to plain wrapper.

AFTER LEASE ON HARRIS RANCH

Offers to Spend $10,000 on Well for Lease of 1,000 Acres—Site is Same on Which Oil was Struck Some Time Ago

A proposition from a South Texas oil man, who has bored forty-five wells in Texas and Oklahoma fields, to sink a well to a depth of 2,000 feet on Harris Brothers' ranch in Coke county, is being considered by Ralph H. Harris. It was learned Friday afternoon. Randall Silverman, at present at Houston, is the operator who wishes to make the test in west Texas.

Mr. Silverman visited San Angelo the first of the week and made a trip to the Harris ranch, 25 miles north of the city, and six and one-half miles south of Robert Lee, the County Seat of Coke county, which was struck in 1913. It was 150 feet deep and has been struck in quantities in the well a year and a half ago. Harris became enthusiastic over prospects for oil and offered to sink the well to the 2,000 foot level for a consideration of $10,000, provided the owners of the property would lease him 1,000 acres adjoining the tract on which the well is located.

Ralph Harris stated Friday afternoon that he had received a wire from Mr. Silverman, and had informed him by telegram that he would deliver his answer when he went to Houston to attend the Texas Cattle Raisers' Association convention—March 21 to 25, inclusive.

The first proposition which was made by the owners of the ranch by Mr. Silverman was that he should lease the ranch of 20,000 acres and develop it in payment of one-eighth royalty of the returns of the proceeds. This plan was turned down immediately. Mr. Harris asserts that he is going to retain control of the land and if any oil is forthcoming to receive the benefits from it.

According to the south Texas driller, the formation of the land on the Harris ranch very much resembles that at Glenpool, Okla., one of the country's greatest petroleum fields. At the time oil was struck in 1914, a flow of water was the object of the driller. At the 163-foot level, oil was brought to the surface. It was classed as high grade, having a paraffine base. The flow, however, did not average more than two or three gallons per day and Harris Brothers never continued operation.

Report that oil has been struck in quantities in the well of Cup Brothers, of California, three miles from Carlsbad, is current in San Angelo Saturday. Big leases have been in negotiation this week and interest in oil developments has been growing.

Full particulars of the situation will be given in Sunday morning's Standard.—San Angelo Standard.

A GAME OF HEARTS

By CLARISSA MACKIE.

The Willow Plate Tea Room was a cozy little bungalow with gayly striped awnings and verandas set with many little tables, and a great room inside all done in blue and white, with a border of willow-pattern plates. The growing purr of a high-powered motor came through the open casement window. It slowed down and stopped at the gate of the Willow Plate Tea Room.

"Oh, bother!" pouted Elsie, as she went into the little kitchen and returned to the room to discover a solitary man seated at one of the white-enamelled tables. He was far from being an ill-looking specimen of masculinity, although his clean-cut features were sternly set. He did not glance up when Elsie placed a glass of water before him.

"You may bring me," he said deliberately, "a poached egg on toast," and, turning away his head, he looked out of the window.

Elsie hesitated and then marched stilly off to the kitchen. Once there she shook her fist at the back of the unoffending stranger.

"Poached egg? And it's the one particular thing that I can't make!" she groaned.

Three trips she made into the tea room—once to set tempting pats of butter and the pot of tea before the patron, again to serve him with the burned bit of toast on which was sprawled the yellow, leathery-looking egg. The third trip was in answer to his summons.

"Please bring me another egg," he said in a tone of polite weariness. "This one seems—er—rather overdone."

Elsie Wayne always remembered that August afternoon as a perfect nightmare of eggs that refused to be poached and of endless trips into the tea room to present her trophies to the grim-visaged young man at the table.

Invariably he waved her offerings away, always with that look of bored patience.

From a distant table Elsie brought the plate of pink-and-white heart-shaped cakes. These delectable morsels were favorites with Mrs. Burton's patrons.

"These look very tempting," he said smoothly. "You did not make them."

"On the contrary, I did make them," she affirmed spiritedly.

"Indeed?" His tone was amused. He picked up the top cake and broke it in two.

"A broken heart," he said in a teasing tone. "Easy to break, but impossible to mend."

"It is not worth mending—near as all these dishes, she did think. "You are the best cook I have ever known," she said.

She cleared a place on the table, set the egg poacher in its receptacle of boiling water, broke an egg into it, closed the lid and carefully toasted a slice of bread.

She almost shrieked with joy when she laid the buttered toast on the white plate, and slipped the pinky, white-filmed poached egg, speckled with pepper onto the toast.

"She had achieved a triumph. It was even more beautiful than anything Susanna had ever accomplished. The kitchen door swung behind her little young form; in her outstretched hands she carried the silver tray and set before him the perfect poached egg.

"I think I've discovered the knack of doing it," she said.

"That's good," he said.

"Hain't you better eat it while it's hot?" she suggested.

He proceeded to eat slowly, Elsie watching each morsel as it vanished between his well-set lips.

"Is it good?" she would ask, and always he nodded. When the blue platter was cleared he looked up suddenly.

"Once upon a time I was engaged to marry a girl. She was studying domestic science, and I thought I knew something about cookery. I've camped a lot. She couldn't manage a poached egg, though. We quarreled."

"Ah!" cried Elsie, pulling the cake plate away from his restless fingers.

"You have broken another heart!"

"Are hearts so precious?" he asked.

"A tear fell from her eyes and splashed on the cracked heart cake. 'Tears will mend a broken heart,' he said, taking Elsie's hand and holding it closely.

"Oh—Dick!" she sobbed softly.

"I'm sorry we quarreled," he whispered; "that's why I came. Mrs. Burton telephoned she was going away and you were to keep shop for her—and I couldn't stay away!"

"But the motor races—"

"Pshaw!" Taking her other hand, "I believe I can make a perfect poached egg now, Dick," she smiled through her tears. "You shall have them every morning for breakfast."

"Heaven forbid!" he groaned tragically.

"Why?"

"I loath 'em! Don't ask me why I sent you back with your dreadful samples, darling! I just wanted the exquisite pleasure of ordering you around—because—" He paused to kiss her.

"Why?" she asked again.

"Oh, because I know I shall be your slave the rest of my life!" he asserted.

TOO MUCH "LEGALISM" GUILT CHEAPER THAN INNOCENCE.

Lawyers Responsible for Legal Feints.

(Editor's note.—The following is the second of a series of articles by J. S. Cullinan, Chairman of the Texas Economic League, on the subject of "Legalism," to which subject the League is now addressing itself.)

By J. S. Cullinan.

Continuing the discussion of the Administration of Justice, let us inquire "What is Justice?" One of the greatest thinkers of antiquity is credited with saying that justice was the treatment of persons according to their deserts. James Madison said that Justice was the end of government; Alexander Hamilton said that injustice was a capital crime; Benjamin Franklin government and Benjamin Franklin said that injustice was plunder. President Wilson, in discussing Justice recently, said: "I do not know that the United States by its judicial procedure in many decades behind every other civilized government in the world, and I say that it is an immediate and imperative call upon us to rectify that; because the speediness of Justice, the expediency of Justice, the ready access of Justice is the greater part of Justice itself." The President's conclusions are especially significant, as our government was formed for the avowed purpose of establishing Justice, yet today many a citizen voluntarily accepts injustice as more speedy, inexpensive and ready of access than Justice.

Honest Men Fear the Law. If, in the course of human events, we have reached a point in government where speedy injustice is more desirable than delayed Justice, where the penalty of guilt is cheaper than the reward of innocence, where the certainty of wrong is preferable to the uncertainty of right, and where good citizens tremble in the Temple of Justice like children on a stormy night, then we have traveled a long way from the tradition of our forefathers. Whose government is this, that honest men need fear it? If we have reached a point in government where any good citizen must cringe and cower before the law like vassal slaves before their master, and dicker for Justice as though it were a special privilege, then if we are true to the teachings of Washington at Annapolis, it is not only the right, but the duty of the citizen to abolish it.

The men who signed the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States were forming a government for the people and for the people.

It is not worth mending—near as all these dishes, she did think. "You are the best cook I have ever known," she said.

She cleared a place on the table, set the egg poacher in its receptacle of boiling water, broke an egg into it, closed the lid and carefully toasted a slice of bread.

Sheriff's Sale.

The State of Texas, County of Coke, by virtue of a certain Order of Sale issued out of the Honorable District Court of Tom Green county, on the 9th day of February, 1916, by Stephen Elmore, Clerk of said court against Chas. W. Fields, for the sum of Eighteen Hundred Nine and Six-tenths hundredths ($1809.62) dollars and costs of suit, in case No. 2783 in said Court, styled Mrs. Alice Allen versus Chas. W. Fields and placed in my hands for service, I, J. H. Burroughs, as Sheriff of Coke county, Texas, did, on the 12th day of February, 1916, levy on certain real estate, situated in Coke county, described as follows, to-wit: All of survey No. two (2), in Block 2, Certificate No. 2-279 issued to the C. C. & S. F. Ry. Co., containing 640 acres of land; All of survey No. two (2), Certificate No. 1-49 issued to the C. C. & S. F. Ry. Co., containing 640 acres of land. And levied upon as the property of said Chas. W. Fields and on Tuesday, the 4th day of April, 1916, at the Court house door of Coke county, in the city of Robert Lee, Texas, between the hours of ten A. M. and four P. M., I will sell said land, at public vendue, for cash, to the highest bidder, as the property of said Chas. W. Fields by virtue of said Order of Sale.

And in compliance with law, I give this notice by publication, in the English language, once a week for three consecutive weeks immediately preceding said day of sale, in the Robert Lee Observer, a newspaper published in Coke county.

Witness my hand, this 12th day of February, 1916.

J. H. Burroughs, Sheriff, Coke county, Texas.

At the Methodist Church.

We will begin our protracted meeting, March the 12th, the second Sunday in March. Bro. T. E. Bowman, of Winters, Texas, will do the preaching for us. I announced at the close of the preaching service last Sunday evening, February 27th, that the Methodist meeting would begin next Monday night. But the announcement was incorrect. I had in mind that Bro. Wallace would continue until the 2nd Sunday in March, and I was one week ahead of time.

CALOMEL WHEN DELICIOUS? NO! STOP! MAKES YOU SICK AND SALIVATES

Dobson's Liver Tonic is Harmless to Clean Your Stomach and Bowels.

Ugh! Calomel makes you sick. It's horrible! Take a dose of the dangerous drug tonight and tomorrow you may lose a day's work.

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel, when it comes into contact with your bile cracks into it, breaking it up. This is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you are obliged to eat, it will knock you out. If your liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is bad or stomach sour, just try a successful remedy—Dobson's Liver Tonic tonight on my guarantee.

Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store and get a 50-cent bottle of Dobson's Liver Tonic. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous I want you to go back to the store and get your money. Dobson's Liver Tonic is destroying the sale of calomel because it is real liver medicine, entirely vegetable, therefore it can not salivate or make you sick.

I guarantee that one spoonful of Dobson's Liver Tonic will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your bowels of that sour bile and constipated waste which is dragging your system and making you feel miserable. I guarantee that a bottle of Dobson's Liver Tonic will keep your entire family feeling fine for months. Give it to your children. It is harmless, doesn't give you any of the pleasant taste.

PREPAREDNESS VS. PENSIONS

ECONOMIC LEAGUE FAVORS FREEDOM OF SEAS.

"Cannon is the Voice of Nations."

By J. S. Cullinan,
 Chairman, Texas Economic League

It is the mission of the Texas Economic League to discuss all public questions of economic interest, and there is no subject of more importance at the moment than preparedness. The League is not concerned in the theoretical phases of the discussion, and with all due respect to those who believe that the pen is mightier than the sword, I want to suggest that our government has had some of the mightiest pens going that civilization ever produced, during this war, and while we have been writing the words of Europe have been running our citizens and our commerce off the seas. International law in the end is not enforced by nations which have the most facile pens, but by the country that has the biggest guns, for unfortunately the cannon is the voice of nations.

League Stands for Liberty.

Likewise, there may be interesting political and military phases of the subject, but the League is only concerned in the patriotic and business side of the discussion. The League stands for liberty and freedom of the people, and the products of their toil at home and abroad, and is opposed to tyrannical land or sea by friend or foe; favors a governmental policy, both domestic and foreign, that enlarges life, liberty and freedom of an American citizen, and opposes any conduct or concession on the part of government that denies or limits those rights. Any citizen who subscribes to these principles must, to be consistent, favor preparedness, for this war has certainly demonstrated the disadvantages of an inadequate Navy and the penalty of military weakness. The only difference of opinion that can arise among us is in the degree of preparedness, and on this subject I will express my personal views.

In my estimation preparedness is a good business investment. During the first year of the present war the Southern cotton farmer, according to the estimates of the Farmers' Union, lost nearly $500,000,000 on cotton, and this is only one item of destruction in values that this country has suffered as a direct result of the war. This amount would build a Navy superior to our present one, and had this money been invested in battle-ships, no power would have classified us as a contraband. It will be recalled that Russia placed cotton on the contraband list during the Russo-Japan war, just as England has done in the present war, but the British government forced her to recede from that position, so that cotton from English colonies could go to Japan. England had the guns.

A Good Business Investment.

Preparedness is good business economy. During the past forty years we have spent in pensions over $4,500,000,000, and during the past fiscal year we paid out $165,000,000 in pensions alone. The annual expenditure for pensions during the past forty years is nearly equal to the total annual average appropriation for our Army, Navy, and Rivers and Harbors during this period. When we consider that one-half of the soldiers who fought in the civil war are not eligible to the pension rolls, and had we been fighting a foreign foe, our appropriations would probably have been double this amount, we get some idea of the enormous expense of war. Economists estimate the productive value, (that is, the surplus above what he consumes, again meaning the wealth he adds to the nation), of a normal male American citizen during the term of an average life at $4,000 to $6,000, the average being $5,000. Assuming this figure to be correct, our pension rolls for the fiscal year 1914 absorbed the value of approximately 34,000 lives, who, in the main, are the heads of families. For the forty-year term mentioned above approximately 1,000,000 people gave their lives to bear the burdens of the Civil War since peace was established, and for almost the next half century we will be paying pensions on account of this war. The total casualties in the Civil War are reported at nearly 750,000, and the cost of the war approximately nine billion dollars, which held the world's war record on loss of men and money up to the present conflict. The war of the past forty years ago, but we are still paying out pensions on account of that war. In my estimation the most practical method of avoiding an appalling outlay for pensions in the future is to prevent war, and I know of no better way of preventing peace than an impregnable deterrent.

The President's policy of Preparedness will, I am sure, meet with the hearty approval of a majority of our thoughtful citizens, and in a future article I will discuss preparedness plans, and the methods of raising revenue from the Chinese opium, as I see them.

ANOTHER DAY

By HOPE BROWNING.

"If you could give me just a day's option, Mr. Betz," Marian frowned slightly, looking around the big, rustic studio longingly.

"I'm sorry, but I must give myself a chance to think it over. I'll phone early in the morning."

She went out into the square and sat down near the fountain, trying to make up her mind. It had been eight months since she had left there. Seabury had received his appointment as staff artist at the seat, and it had meant so much to his whole career. They were engaged. Sometimes it seemed to her that they had always been engaged ever since she had taken the studio below his and he had dropped roses on her window sill.

"Go up to mother's and stay with her until I get back. You can write all you want to, and she'll love to have you. She has me all dead and buried already, and it will brace her up to have you laugh at her. Go along, Marian."

And Marian had gone. Up into the heart of Vermont to a great, rambling old farmhouse perched on a spur of land that overlooked mountains and valleys for miles. Seabury's mother was a good little old lady, cheerful and motherly—too motherly. Marian, after seven months, began to feel like a penitentiary duck with a hen parent.

Settled after town environment and the incentive to work. Her stuff was flat and she knew it. Seabury was on the point of sailing when he got an offer from an English paper and wrote he would wait three months longer if she did not mind if she did not mind. Marian packed furiously and sent back a cablegram: "Going back to work."

That night she dined out with friends of the Quarter down at a little Italian place on West Eleventh street, and someone spoke his name.

"You know that Seabury was back, didn't you, Miss Earle? Made a smashing record for himself, too. Looks awfully fit. I met him up at Nannie Bell's last evening at dinner."

"Nannie Bell?"

"Yes, Mr. Abbot's return, but she was so proud of his success. He was always such a clever, nice boy."

"I'd like to see him marry Nannie Bell."

"Sent on her right hand partner at the table. She's just the sort of girl to develop and supplement the gifts of a man like Seabury."

"Yes?" Marian's tone was sweetly interested and impersonal. "Are they engaged?"

"I don't know, but I—oppose so. He's been around everywhere with her since he got back."

Marian slept little that night. Wrapped in a kimono, she sat by her window thinking. And here she had been ready to even take back the old studio for sentiment's sake. It was all very well to tell herself that she just wanted to be back where they had first met and been so happy together.

The following morning she was rather late, but determined. Mr. Betz stood on the basement steps, talking to the janitor, when she came along.

"Go right up, Miss Earle. I'll be there in a minute," he called to her, and she went up the long flight of stairs. The door was ajar. She passed through the high, narrow passageway into the studio and stopped short. Over by the window, looking down on the little patch of garden, stood Seabury.

He turned around at her step, and gave a quick exclamation, brimful of the boyish, explosive happiness she loved in him.

"By Jove, it dragged you back, too, didn't it?" he cried, catching her hands in a grip that hurt. "I've been trying to rent the place from old Betz, but he's put me off, telling me he had another party after it, and I'd have to wait another day. Lord it's good to see you again, Marian."

"You're looking well," said Marian, trying to draw away.

"I am not. I'm sick and disgusted and miserable, and I can't eat or sleep—"

"No? I thought you were dining rather regularly."

"What do you mean? Oh, with Nannie Bell? That's only business. She's doing the writing end of my series for the Dispatch. I didn't think you'd mind."

"Why should I mind?"

"Why?" He glanced beyond her to be sure of privacy and caught her suddenly in his arms. "That's why," he told her, after a minute. "Because you happen to be the only woman that can upset my life for better or worse, don't you see? I dropped everything when I got your cable and came over. I understood how you felt. And when I got here I couldn't find you, so I did the next best thing. I was going to rent the old studio because I knew you'd come back here some time."

"Let me go," she said, struggling.

"Nobody's coming."

Mr. Betz whistled jovially as he approached, perhaps as a kindly signal of warning.

"Well," he asked, "what do you think about it?"

Seabury beamed on him, his hands deep in his pockets.

"We are going to take it directly after the wedding, Betz. Fix up your

As Reflected in a Mirror

—You see in your local paper each week all the news of events taking place around you—among the people you know and love. You'll also find the more important happenings of the world chronicled in this paper—yes, this is your paper in every sense of the word. It leads the fight for everything that will make this community a better place in which to live; it's looking after your interests all the time and right now we have arranged to offer you double value for your money.

Brain Against Brawn

Why do some farmers prosper and enjoy many luxuries, while others, who work just as hard, are always hard up? The answer is simple: one has used his brains and kept posted on up-to-date farming methods, while the other has felt that there is nothing for him to learn. He will not even read a first-class farm paper because he thinks no one can possibly tell him how to run his farm. FARM AND RANCH is prepared especially for farmers, gardeners, live stock and poultry raisers and fruit growers of the Southwest—the home builders. It has been the Southwestern farmer's right hand man for more than a third of a century.

Double Value This Year

This Year Holland's Magazine is just as large and much more interesting than ever before and the publishers are entering all subscriptions TWO FULL YEARS for the same price you formerly would have paid for a one year subscription. The short stories and special articles are clean, snappy and timely. The departments for the house-keeper are many and complete; the fashion pages show the late styles, and the children have a corner of their own. Holland's is truly a Southwestern Home Magazine of sunshine and good cheer which, in ten years time, has become indispensable to more than three quarters of a million people in the Southwest.

Send us your order for these three publications—our paper one year, Farm and Ranch one year and Holland's Magazine TWO YEARS—right away; also show this BIG VALUE OFFER to your neighbor who is not a subscriber to this paper. New and renewal subscriptions will be accepted at the rate advertised, so bring or mail your order now and get the benefit of the combination price.

Mrs. D. E. Martin Lost.

Mrs. D. E. Martin, who resides in the Graham Valley section and who was ill, suddenly lost her reason Saturday night about dark, and wandered from home. The alarm was given Sheriff Burroughs and inside of two hours, there were at least two hundred men on the ground and searching the pastures and fields in that section. The peculiar shape of one of the shoes worn by the lady was the evidence and the grounds on which to follow her trail. The neighbors and friends searched all night Saturday and Sunday the crowd was augmented by about a hundred more men. The trail was taken up near the residence and followed through the Rabin pasture, towards Hayrick, where the search was continued throughout Sunday and where she was found on the mountain east of Hayrick mountain, Sunday afternoon about 5 o'clock by Willie Payne and Nile Benningfield, two of the searchers. The people of Hayrick threw open their homes to the searchers and prepared breakfast for them Sunday and dinner and also joined in the search. There was about 25 autos in the search Saturday night and several more including M. E. Trimble's feed-truck, containing about 25 men joined the party Sunday morning.

Dangers of Draft.

Drafts feel best when we are hot and perspiring, just when they are most dangerous and the result is Neuralgia, stiff Neck, Sore Muscles, or sometimes an attack of Rheumatism. In such cases apply Sloan's Liniment. It stimulates circulation to the sore and painful part. The blood flows freely and in a short time the stiffness and pain leaves. Those suffering from Neuralgia or Neuralgia Headache will find one or two applications of Sloan's Liniment will give grateful relief. The agonizing pain gives way to a tingling sensation of comfort and warmth and quiet rest and sleep is possible. Used for Neuritis, too. Price 25c at your Druggist. Advertisement.

Tom Green's Oil Boom.

The largest oil boom the San Angelo country has ever known is making strength throughout west Texas today. Dozens of deals involving purchases and leases of large tracts in the North Concho river valley were reported on the streets Saturday, stories of the refusal of recent buyers to sell their holdings at profits ranging as high as $3,000 were in circulation, and "deals pending" would have been a suitable sign to have been hung from all real estate and land offices.

To a rumored oil strike in the well of Culp Bros., California men, near Carlsbad, 15 miles north of San Angelo, is credited the boom. Culp Brothers were in the city Saturday afternoon, however and declined to talk on the subject. The substance of the reports reaching San Angelo, is that a vein of oil has been struck at a comparatively small depth and that the casing is now being removed for the purpose of reaming the well for further drilling.

Another unconfirmed report is that no one is being allowed to visit the well site, but this was tabled as incorrect Saturday afternoon, when it was asserted on good authority that dozens of local people in automobiles had visited the scene of operations during the day. That no information relative to the progress which has been made, is being given out is a certainty. The Pacific Coast operators have come into the San Angelo country upon their own resources, believing that there is oil beneath the surface of this section, and have solicited no local capital in forwarding their work. Hence, they vouch safe no reports whatsoever.

Whether the present boom, apparently ever increasing in strength, is the result of a carefully laid plan on the part of land owners or real estate men or both to boost the prices on property, or whether there is behind the movement an underground knowledge of what is really transpiring, is largely conjecture so far as the general public is concerned. It is a known fact, however, that expert oil men from California, exclusive of the men who are drilling the Carlsbad well, have been making investigations in this section for months and that leases have been made in practically all quarters from the Colorado to the Pecos. Geologists from time to time have asserted that there should be oil in this section, and small quantities have been struck in many wells. A paying flow has however never been developed.

The reported closing of more than half a dozen important deals—leases and sales—was the summary of the investigation work done by the Standard Saturday.

Information from Dr. J. B. McKnight of Carlsbad, late Saturday afternoon was to the effect that the oil excitement around Carlsbad was increasing. —San Angelo Standard.
