

Rainstorm spawns twister

HEY, IT WORKED!—While printing bumper stickers and window signs recently, Jimmie Chapman of the News staff made up a sticker of his own, with black lettering on fluorescent green paper. He printed only 13, and Tuesday of last week he passed them out to his most superstitious friends. The next day it rained—and since then rain has fallen twice more on our drought-parched land. In fact, it rained so hard over the weekend that Chapman had to replace his original, wrinkled sticker. He promises to call them all back in if it floods.

Thunderstorms that started last Wednesday brought welcome rain to the county's drought-parched land, but also spawned a twister east of Nazareth late Saturday night that destroyed a barn and killed two milk cows.

THE SMALL twister, accompanied by driving sheets of rain and small hailstones, touched down on the Florance Schacher farm. However, the barn and two cows were the only reported casualties, although the storm damaged cotton crops in the area.

The rains started gently last Wednesday afternoon and became heavier Friday. But by midnight Saturday, the weather was striking with a fury as lightning danced across the unsettled skies and winds up to 70 mph whipped the rain into driving sheets. A tornado watch issued for the area was cancelled shortly after midnight, but many residents stayed up until the furious storm subsided about 1 a.m. Sunday.

The heaviest rainfall report came from east of Hart, where almost two inches of moisture were recorded. However, only light showers were reported west, north and south of the city.

THE CITY of Hart received an official .93 of an inch from the week's rains, while US Weather Observer Howard Cook recorded an almost identical amount for Dimmitt—.91 of an inch.

Dimmitt received .25 of an inch Wednesday, a trace Thursday, .31 of an inch Friday and .35 of an inch Saturday, Cook reported. The new rains brought the city's 1971 total to a still-sparse 2.96 inches for the first five months of the year.

Friday's rains were heaviest in the western part of the county. Community Grain Co. at Easter reported .70 of an inch Friday afternoon, while Mrs. Jack Rister, Bethel correspondent, reported .62 of an inch from the same storm. Elsewhere in the county, Friday's rainfall seemed to be in the .30 of an inch range.

BUT THE news wasn't all good at Easter Friday. Hail accompanied the rain and quite a bit of crop damage was reported west of Community Grain. Hail also fell in Bethel and Flagg, but no significant damage was reported.

The southern part of the county, between Sunnyside and Flagg, did well in total rainfall during the week, receiving more than an inch.

Sunnyside received the best rainfall last Wednesday—.35 of an inch—but didn't fare as well as the rest of the county Saturday. The community received .30 of an inch Friday night, but got only .20 Saturday night while other parts of the county were recording up to half an inch from the same storm.

THE RAIN was just what the county's wheat needed, although hail damage may have offset the beneficial effects of the moisture in some parts of the county.

The moisture—rain, hail and all—was welcome on the county's grain sorghum, corn and cotton land. It was the first significant moisture the county had received in six weeks, and came at a time when drought conditions here had just been officially labeled "severe."

THE FINAL TEST—Life isn't a bed of roses even when you're getting out of school for the summer. When these children walked out of South Elementary for the last time Friday, they learned there was one final test they had to endure—trying to get along the sidewalk while balancing all their accumulated books, crayons, lunch pails and papers with only two arms and two hands. A few didn't make it, but those who failed got sympathetic help from their classmates.

Riley elected chairman of US Cotton Producers

Ray Joe Riley of Sunnyside has been elected chairman of the US Cotton Delegation to the Universal Cotton Standards Conference in Memphis, Tenn.

THE delegation represented the US Cotton Producers Organization at the conference last week.

The conference is held every three years to adjust and revise cotton grade standards. The standards apply to all countries that trade with the United States government and US producers. Ten foreign countries were represented at the conference.

The delegates voiced a mutual opinion that the cotton future is brighter now than any time in the past five years in both the US and world markets. World production is down, carry-over is down and consumption is up.

RILEY raises, develops and markets cotton varieties under the Ricot trade name. He serves as chairman of the research committee of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., is on the board of the High Plains Research Foundation, is a director in Water, Inc., and is a leader also in several commodity groups.

Swimming began Tuesday at the Junior High School pool. The pool will be open Monday through Saturday from 1 to 6 p.m. and Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m. It can be rented for $10 for after-hours parties.

Bob Askey, pool manager, will begin swimming lessons June 14. Lessons will be $1 per session, and can be arranged by telephoning 647-3357 or contacting him at the pool.

THE CASTRO County Country Club swimming pool will open Saturday. The opening was delayed because parts to repair the heating unit arrived late.

Everyone will be required to register for the summer before swimming, according to Kenneth Cleveland, pool manager.

The pool will be open Monday through Saturday from 1 to 7 p.m. and Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m., and will be available for parties at night by special arrangement.

Pets will get shots Tuesday

Pet vaccinations will be given Tuesday at 1 p.m. at the city fire station.

"WE'VE HAD an increase in the incidence of rabies around this area this year, so we urge everyone to have their pets inoculated," said Dr. W. J. Hill, veterinarian, who will give the "pet shots" Tuesday.

A one-year rabies vaccination will be $3. City animal license tags will be sold at the same time for $2.

Radar gets last initiation

County sheriff's officers tried out their new mobile radar speed monitor this week—and they found 10 out of 20 city drivers speeding on West Bedford Street. Another motorist ran a stop sign as they watched.

THE RADAR unit will be used within the city limits as well as on county highways, and radar evidence is accepted by the courts, according to Sheriff Jack Cartwright.

Get the hint?

Can you devise county slogan?

What do you think would be a good slogan for Castro County?

THE JAYCEES would like your opinion. They're looking for a slogan for our county, and they're offering a cash prize.

When they were the Dimmitt Jaycees, they helped publicize Dimmitt as "The Grain Sorghum Capital of the Nation," with the city's slogan emblazoned on their vests and stationery.

But now they're the Castro County Jaycees, and they're designing new vests and stationery, and need a slogan that would publicize the entire county.

JAYCEE President Harley Wilke of Hart has asked all interested county residents to submit slogan ideas by June 15. The Jaycees will give a $10 cash prize to the person submitting the slogan which they accept.

Entries should be mailed to Castro County Jaycees, PO Box 486, Dimmitt, 79027.

Mrs. Grace Loyd, sheriff-teacher, dies Wednesday

Mrs. Grace Loyd, 81, a former Lamb County Sheriff and retired school teacher here, died last Wednesday evening at her home in Dimmitt.

FUNERAL services were held Saturday afternoon in the First Baptist Church, with Dr. Raymond M. Perkins, pastor, officiating. Burial was in Littlefield Cemetery, directed by Gilliland Funeral Home of Hereford.

Her husband, Lamb County Sheriff F. A. Loyd, was killed in the line of duty in 1937. Mrs. Loyd finished her husband's two-year term as sheriff without missing a day. She was rearing her eight children at the same time.

Mrs. Loyd earned both her bachelor's and master's degrees in education from Texas Tech University in Lubbock. She and five of her children were enrolled at Texas Tech at one time.

SHE TAUGHT public school for 26 years and missed only one day. She retired in 1964. Her son, the late Owen T. Loyd was the principal of Dimmitt High School for more than a decade.

Survivors include five daughters, Mrs. Doris Hair of Hereford, Mrs. Wilma Colbert of Brownwood, Mrs. Lucille Bley of Oton, Mrs. Jeannine Orver of St. Joseph, Mo., and Mrs. Sylvia Adams of Lubbock; two sons, Aubrey of Borger and Tom of Lubbock; 12 grandchildren and 26 great-grandchildren.

Three blasts mean tornado

Early summer brings threatening weather. Every family should have a plan for taking shelter. Each family plan should be individualized for its needs.

BE ALERT to receiving any emergency warning signal available in your home. Radio stations, television stations, or some warning device such as a siren are available.

"Tornado Watch" means tornadoes are expected to develop. "Tornado Warning" means a tornado has actually been sighted.

Fire Marshal Guy Waldrop listed the local warning signals: TORNADO — three long blasts.

Fire — seven short, repeating blasts. Fire Practice (usually on Thursday night) — two long blasts.

When a tornado approaches immediate action is required. Seek inside shelter, preferably in a tornado cellar, underground excavation, or a steel-framed or reinforced concrete building of sturdy construction. Stay away from windows.

THE BASEMENT usually offers the greatest safety in your home. Seek shelter under a sturdy workbench or heavy table if possible. In a home with no basement, take cover under heavy furniture in the center part of the house. Keep some windows open, but stay away from them.

Mobile home owners should move to a community shelter. Mobile homes are very vulnerable to overturning during strong winds.

Industrial buildings should post a lookout when a warning is received. All workers should move quickly to the area offering the greatest protection in accordance with early plans. Workers in office buildings should stand in an interior hallway on a lower floor, preferably in the basement.

AVOID structures with wide, free-span roofs such as auditoriums and gymnasiums. In open country, move away from a tornado's path at a right angle. If escape is impossible, lie flat in the nearest depression, such as a ditch or ravine. Keep listening to your radio or television station for the latest tornado advisory information. Call the Weather Bureau only to report a tornado.

Mrs. Elizabeth Huckabay

Mrs. Faun Welker

Two long time teachers mark last days of school

School is out permanently now for Mrs. Elizabeth Huckabay and Mrs. Faun Welker, who have spent a combined 53 years in the classroom.

BOTH LADIES retired this week from teaching careers that started in one-room schools and ended in the special education classrooms of North Elementary.

Mrs. Huckabay has put in 19 years before the blackboards, 18 of them in Dimmitt. Mrs. Welker has taught 34 years, 11 of them here.

Both ladies have taught at every elementary and junior high grade level, in surroundings that ranged from primitive to ultra-modern. But both said their most demanding jobs held the fondest memories.

THEIR special education classes, although rigorous in their demands on the teacher, were the most enjoyable, both ladies said—mainly because the teacher has the thrill of overcoming the special problems of teaching retarded or "slow" children, and because the student's progress is more rewarding.

And both ladies have fond memories, too, of the one-room schools where they taught every grade from first through eighth. It may have been a tough job, but it was satisfying to teach all subjects to youngsters at all levels, they said.

MRS. HUCKABAY, who taught a year before coming to Dimmitt, started as a third grade teacher here. Several of her first students are teachers themselves now, and "all of them are good kids and have made good mothers, good fathers and good citizens in the community," she said.

She taught elementary subjects to both of the local government officials who collect her property taxes now—City Manager E. B. Noble and County Tax Assessor Kent Birdwell. Until two years ago she paid her school taxes to Mrs. Shirley Stephens, another of her former pupils.

Her former elementary students also include two of her own children—Bob Huckabay and Mrs. Harriet Goodwin.

MRS. HUCKABAY sandwiched a business career downtown between her years in the classroom. After teaching five years here, she worked eight years in the Federal Land Bank office, and also served many years in the forerunner of today's ASCS office.

She returned to teaching in 1958, and has spent the last 13 years in the third grade and special education classrooms.

"I think kids today get a better education," she said, "because the schools have to keep up with the times. In the past it was just the three R's, but I think children probably learned to read better then, and to enjoy reading more. I don't think children now realize the opportunities they do have."

MRS. WELKER agreed with Mrs. Huckabay.

"It's much easier for students to get an education today than before, if their attitude is right," she said. "We certainly have better facilities for teaching them."

For Mrs. Welker, this is actually the second retirement from public school teaching. She explained, "I taught second and third grade here for four years, then retired and gave private piano lessons for three years, then returned to teach special education. Officially, I've just been filling for the last seven years."

She still won't quit teaching, though. She has converted her garage into a music studio and plans to teach private piano lessons.

MRS. WELKER already had taught 23 years before coming to Dimmitt. She has witnessed the full range of new techniques and changing philosophies of the classroom.

"Modern math, for instance, isn't anything new," she said. "My mother used to teach it, but it went by another name..."

"Handwriting has declined in quality through the years..."

"Phonics have come in, gone out and come back in. I think students have to learn to read by actually reading—through practice. I've had children come into my classes who knew phonics, but hadn't been taught to read in the process."

DESPITE the changes in teaching techniques, Mrs. Welker said, "I think I've taught about the same way throughout my career. I've tried out the different methods as they came along—I've given them a fair try—but I usually got back to my basic methods."

Both Mrs. Welker and Mrs. Huckabay will continue to make Dimmitt their home.

Mrs. Huckabay plans to paint, "and I have a few things I want to write—not to be published, especially. I want to do a little traveling, too, if I can."

Mrs. Welker plans to "just do what comes up—daily living, working in my yard and house, teaching piano, visiting with my grandchildren."

At last!

She's a retiree, and a bride

Here's a question which many of Dimmitt's sixth graders can answer. Can you?

QUESTION: When is a retirement gift also a wedding present?

Answer: When it is presented to Mrs. Ruth Rosenau, recent bride, at her retirement party.

The party was given by Mrs. Rosenau's sixth grade students in North Elementary School last Wednesday. Their gift to her was a beautiful silver serving tray.

MRS. ROSENAU is retiring after more than 40 years of teaching, including the last four at North Elementary. Before coming to Dimmitt in 1967, she taught high school English and French for more than 20 years in Lubbock.

"After teaching the sixth grade here for a year, she told me, 'I wish I had been teaching the sixth grade all my life.'" Principal Emmett Broderson commented.

her former students for many years to come.

IT WAS during the Easter holidays that she married Sam Rosenau, her former college beau.

They had dated each other during their college days at Texas Tech, but after they graduated they went their separate, independent ways. He moved to Minnesota, where he became a successful farmer. She remained on the High Plains, teaching English, French and other subjects to thousands of high school students.

After Rosenau retired from active farming recently, their paths crossed again. Each learned that the other had never married. They renewed the courtship that dated back to their undergraduate days at Tech. He proposed; she accepted. During her Easter holiday break, they became Mr. and Mrs. Sam Rosenau.

The retired newlyweds plan to live in Minnesota during the summer and in Lubbock during the winter.

In fact, they're already en route to Minnesota.

By MYRTLE SHEFFY Mrs. Ray Joe Riley attended the National PTA Convention at Oklahoma City last weekend. The main speakers were Ralph Nader and Art Linkletter. Mrs. Riley says Mr. Nader is an angry man, at so many things—pollution, advertising, the waste of the war. That may be good—may be bad. She says Art Linkletter is a good speaker. You listen too. There were many PTA people there and many educators. Mrs. Riley is president of PTA in two counties. Ray Riley (the dad) is in Bonham this week, seeing to the cows and fences. They have had much rain there. The grass is good.

The 15 teachers baked a cake for the ladies then gave them birthday cups with their zodiac signs. Carol says she is 40 again. Betty just doesn't say, but they do say this was a fun party to help end the school year. Both birthdays were May 26 and Sunday the 30th was Shirley Wise's birthday. Her family from Paducah and the Wise kids made this a good day for Shirley.

Then Friday evening the Senior Class were hosts at a big party for the Junior class. This was at the big cotton compress. I didn't get names of sponsors or the musicians. They will miss the school routine and friends and are ready to start a new phase of their lives. But do enjoy it kids.

The TIE that Binds... Man and woman began their married life in church and according to God's holy word are joined together. With the Bible as the basis for the beginning of a new life together, it seems only reasonable that a continued study of God's word would strengthen and serve as a guide to any couple. The Bible can truly serve as a tie that will bind two together in accord. The church as God's agency on earth can help you in Bible study, and with the guidance of the Holy Spirit can help you to understand God's will in your life. "And the Lord shall guide thee continually, and satisfy thy soul in drought, and make fat thy bones; and thou shalt be like a watered garden, and like a spring of water, whose waters fail not." Isaiah 58-11

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God. Mr. and Mrs. Waide at home in Tulia

Wedding vows were exchanged May 15 in Hart by Miss Brenda Gail King and Bobby Lynn Waide.

THE BRIDE is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oford King. Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Waide are the parents of the groom.

The ceremony was performed in the First Baptist Church with Rev. C. T. Cunningham officiating, assisted by Rev. J. M. Phillips.

Vows were exchanged before an altar decked with baskets of gladioli and a candelabra with white tapers.

Mr. and Mrs. Preston Upshaw sang special music, accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Weldon Davis, who also presented the traditional wedding music.

THE BRIDE, escorted by her father, wore a formal length gown of ivory satin, fashioned with an Empire bodice, slim skirt and detachable chapel train. Antique lace adorned the bodice cuffs and train. Her elbow length veil of silk illusion was held by a lace satin petaled headpiece enhanced with seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of gladioli and gardenia.

Kathy King, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor, and Margaret Swindle was the bridesmaid. They wore formal length gowns of blue mist styled with Empire bodices and short puffed sleeves. Lace daisies accented their waistlines and sleeves. They carried nosegays of gladioli.

Rex Henderson served as best man and David Algaki was the groomsman. Richard Murray of Tulia and Garland Frazier of Dimmitt were ushers and lighted the candles.

THE RECEPTION was held in fellowship hall of the church. The bride's table was covered with a lace cloth over blue. Serving were Mrs. A. D. Crawford, Mrs. Claudia Dodson, Kathy Crawford and Pat Waide. Pamela Shive presided at the guest register.

For a wedding trip to Carlsbad, N.M., the bride wore a baby blue double-breasted coat dress with white accessories, and a corsage from her bridal bouquet.

New HD group studies crafts

By MARY JO SMITH

Mrs. Verletta Witt hosted the meeting of the Town and Country Home Demonstration Club last Thursday morning at Mrs. Patricia Fowell's home. Members and their guests, Charlene Reede and Edna Cochran, exhibited creations.

THE NEW rage of crocheted beads and rings were present. Edna Cochran brought several decoupage items and suggested chalk paper be used to line boxes instead of velvet or felt contact.

Pat Forson told how to make a little girl's drawstring purse from a soft margarine cup. Sewing accessory carriers were made from felt to resemble high-button shoes. A Clorox bottle, plastic flowers, some ribbon and Nylon netting will make a lovely feminine bonnet.

Now ladies, help prevent litter—turn those plastic containers into something decorative and useful. Save the various size caps and make a three-dimension picture. It's amazing what can be created with a little imagination.

Patricia Powell demonstrated her knitting machine. It was fascinating to see how you can push a button, use a back and forth motion and turn out beautiful designs. Sweaters we buy marked "hand made" were made on this type machine.

The club will meet again today (Thursday), with 4-H as the program topic.

Baumans honored on anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bauman of Hart were honored recently with a 40th wedding anniversary dinner in the home of their daughter, Mrs. Lyndall Warren, and family.

ATTENDING the surprise dinner were Mrs. Cornelia Annen, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Annen, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Huseman and son Leon, Mrs. Gladys McLain and family of Nazareth, and the couple's grandchildren, Cathie, James and Bill.

Following the dinner, the group enjoyed reading an old Hart newspaper clipping of the Bauman wedding.

Keith and Dera Kay Lowe and children were here this week for a visit with their parents Ethel Lowe and Jack and Betty Cartwright. Keith and Dera Kay are in the process of moving from Denton back to Lubbock where Keith will be manager of the National Life Insurance Co.

'HAPPY RETIREMENT'—Mrs. Ray Bearden, Agricultural Conservation Program clerk in the county ASCS office since 1953, was given a surprise retirement party by her co-workers last Wednesday. Here, County Office Manager Charley Hill serves Mrs. Bearden the first piece of cake while County Chairman Jim Elder looks on. In foreground is Mrs. Bearden's retirement gift, an ornate silver serving tray engraved, "Lottie N. Bearden, 1953-1971, Dedicated Service, Castro County ASCS Personnel." More than a dozen ASCS office workers, committeemen and former employees were on hand for the retirement party.

Lowe completes insurance course

Keith Lowe, agency manager in Denton for the National Life & Accident Insurance Co., has just completed an intensive one-week field management course given by the Life Insurance Agency Management Association, an international cooperative research organization of over 500 life insurance companies.

THIS 112th Management Orientation School was conducted at the Inn of the Six Flags, Arlington, May 17-21. Part of a unique management training program, the school is devoted to agency planning, recruiting, selection, training, and supervision.

Lowe, a Dimmitt native, is the son of Mrs. Ethel Lowe.

ERNEST SAMMANN of the Big Square community, who was named Castro County's "Conservationist of the Year" by the Running Water Soil and Water Conservation District earlier this year, received visible proof of the honor when he was presented this beautiful plaque at last week's meeting of the Hart Lions Club. Boss Lion Bill Rich presented the plaque on behalf of the Lions and the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce, co-sponsors of the statewide recognition program.

The view from your library

By MARY EDNA HENDRIX
We have had several registers for the Texas Reading Program for the summer. The Nazareth schools closed earlier than Hart and Dimmitt, so some of those students have already registered.

Each student who reads 12 books will receive a certificate at the end of the reading program. Remember, the dates are from June 1 until Aug. 14, when the Friends of the Library will sponsor a party at the First State Bank community room.

Once again, here is a schedule of our Library hours:

Monday: Closed.
Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday: 10 to 12 and 1 to 6.

Saturday: 10 to 12 and 1 to 4.
Why not clip this out and keep it so you will know when the library is open?

MRS. BIRDWELL brought one group of the children in the "Head Start" program to the library last week and I read a story to them. They were really interested in the story that I read, "Curious George," by H. Rey.

We received a new set of Childcraft reference books last week that are as modern as our times. They are so colorful and interesting. The subjects in each volume are: 1. Poems and Rhymes, 2. Stories and Fables, 3. World and Space, 4. Life Around Us, 5. Holidays and Customs, 6. How Things Change, 7. How We Get Things, 8. How Things Work, 9. Make and Do, 10. What People Do, 11. Look and Learn, 12 and 13. People to Know, and 14. Places to Know.

Sylvia Calzado helped in the library the two weeks that she was home from college. She plans to major in library science, and I think she will make a good librarian since she already has four years' experience.

Research Foundation gets grant to study soybean variety blends

According to Dr. Douglas Owen, senior agronomist, the High Plains Research Foundation has received a grant to study various soybean blends to determine if a blend of soybean varieties would perform more consistently than a single pure variety.

THIS GRANT is a matching funds agreement made available by the Texas Soybean Producers Board and a local seed firm.

"In areas where soybean blends have been used, certain blends have proven better over a number of years, and we think this could be the case here," Dr. Owen said.

In other areas of research, Dr. Owen said that the soybean program will be altered in 1971 to include three new procedures. The early maturing variety test containing varieties of Group IV maturity will be planted double row on 40-inch beds since these varieties tend to perform better under close row spacing.

In addition, a variety test will be initiated using only one post-plant irrigation with the object of finding varieties that might produce 25-35 bushels per acre under limited water conditions.

THE SOYBEAN program at the High Plains Research Foundation is one of the largest in the state and includes the USDA regional variety tests for maturity Groups IV, V, and VI.

Highest yielding soybean variety in the 1970 USDA regional tests was Kent with a yield of 61.9 bushels per acre. The highest yield recorded was 70.3 bushels per acre from an unreleased strain in the USDA Regional Group IV test.

Dr. Owen said the 1970 soybean tests indicated that area farmers could get good results by planting varieties of HP-963, Hill and Hood soybeans. He said newcomers that showed promise for area production were varieties of York, Kent and Delmar.

AMONG the soybean strains to be studied in the 1971 HPRF advanced strains test will be 10 selections from the 24 strains in the 1970 study, and 79 of the 200 strains in the 1970 preliminary strains test.

Full details on the HPRF soybean tests are reported in the 1970 Research Report now available to High Plains Research Foundation members.

Veterans need the right papers

Veterans will receive faster service on veterans' benefit claims if they bring a copy of their separation or discharge papers, including the DD 214, with them when coming to Veterans Administration offices for service, according to Jack Coker, Waco VA regional office director.

ALSO, Coker added, veterans applying for education benefits, which vary with marital status and number of children, should bring their marriage certificate and children's birth certificates.

Legislation renewing GI loan benefits, and release from service brought large numbers of veterans into VA offices seeking benefits, and bringing such documents will mean speedier processing of veteran claims.

Veterans may apply for benefits at any VA regional office, contact office or VA hospital. In addition, the Texas Veterans Affairs Commission has authorized representatives in each county and most cities who can process claims for veterans.

CASTRO County's veterans' service officer is Bedford W. Smith, who is available from 10 a.m. to noon Wednesday, Friday and Saturday at the Castro County Library, 647-3532. For appointments or emergencies, he may be contacted at his home, 647-4368.

A stock is, for all practical purposes, a piece of paper that sits in a bank vault. Most likely you will never see it.

It may or may not have an intrinsic value. What it is worth on any given day depends on the confluence of buyers and sellers that day. The most important thing to realize is simplistic: the stock doesn't know you own it!

If you know the stock doesn't know you own it, you are ahead of the game. You are ahead because you can change your mind and your actions without regard to what you did or thought yesterday. You can start out with no preconceived notions. Every day you can cut your losses and let your profits run, and it doesn't even make your scar tissue itch because, being selfless, you are unscarred.

Land signs football pact with Buffaloes

West Texas State University has signed David Land of Dimmitt to a three-year football scholarship.

GENE MAYFIELD, new head grid coach at WTSU, said he has definite plans for the 6-2, 205-lb. Land in the Buffalo backfield.

Land, a former Dimmitt High School fullback, was named to post-season dream teams for three years and was courted by colleges and universities throughout the Southwest when he graduated here in 1969.

Land broke into the Bobcat starting lineup as a sophomore and was named all-district and honorable mention All-South Plains that year.

HE ALSO was an all-district performer in basketball, playing guard on the Dimmitt quintet that went to the regional finals in 1969.

He signed a football letter with the University of Texas at El Paso, but later changed his mind and accepted a basketball scholarship at Clarendon College.

He has just completed two successful years as a basketball guard at Clarendon. He averaged 14 points per game this year for the Bulldogs.

AFTER signing Land to a full athletic scholarship at WTSU, Mayfield said, "We're especially pleased to have David at this time, as he will provide us with a quality running back at a position where we badly lack depth."

When the Buffaloes finished spring drills recently, they were only two deep at all three running back positions, and three of those backs were converted players.

"I signed with West Texas State mainly because of Coach Mayfield," Land said. "I'm looking forward to playing for him."

Coffey now racing thoroughbreds

A thoroughbred race horse named Dimmitt's Dandy will be racing on tracks in the Pacific Northwest this year.

AND THAT name isn't just a coincidence. Dimmitt is owned and trained by Junior Coffey of Seattle, former all-state basketball player and all-American football running back at Dimmitt High School.

Coffey is now a running back with the New York Giants of the National Football League. But he's trying to break into the horse-racing game, and has four thoroughbreds already.

COFFEY and his horse-racing sideline were featured in a recent column in the Seattle Post-Intelligencer by Sports Editor John Owen. The column was clipped and sent to the News by another former Dimmitt lad, Dennis Cleaver.

Here's how Owen told the story: "Normally, it is this corner's policy never to offer advice on trout, women or race horses, on the premise that all three are unpredictable."

"BUT IF, in your normal rounds you should encounter a race horse named Dimmitt's Dandy at Longacres this summer, you might pay him more than a passing glance. Chances are when the bell rings he'll throw a head fake at the starter, and come high-kicking out of the gate, running for daylight.

"At least that's the hope of his trainer, another high-stepper named Junior Coffey, who was located yesterday in the Longacres backstretch, emerging from a dark stall with a curry brush and a face full of horsehair.

"The New York Giants running back is not the first professional athlete to succumb to the lure of thoroughbred racing. But Coffey is one of the few who ever preceded past the $10 window.

"NO, YOU don't find many of them in this end of racing," he admitted with a grin. "But I guess I know where my interest lies. Some nights I'll stay up too late playing pinocle or something, and the next morning I won't feel like getting up early. But I'll still be out here at 5:30 and once I start working I forget all about sleep.

"I guess I've always been interested in animals. We had some dairy cattle back home in Dimmitt, Texas, and I rode a saddle horse. It ran off with me a couple of times, but I learned that if I let him run a bit I could handle him very well after that."

"When Junior was playing football at Washington, he first seriously considered a career as a thoroughbred trainer. The past few years he has been visiting yearling sales, hanging around the backstretch, learning what he could about the anatomy of a horse.

"THIS YEAR I decided to try to get some experience while I was still playing pro ball, rather than waiting until I was out of a job. It's hard to get clients when you're inexperienced. This way, working with my own horses, it gives me a chance to prove I can get 'em up and do well."

"A friend, Herbert Moxley, has been working with horses since he was 9 years old, and agreed to help Coffey through the Longacres season. Junior is free to pursue his own philosophies on training horses, but Moxley advises him, if he thinks something is being done wrong.

"So Junior is out at the track each morning at 5:30, feeding, cleaning, hot walking his four thoroughbreds - Dimmitt's Dandy, Alice's Heart, Irish Soul and Star Melody Miss.

"Yeah," he admits, "Irish Soul ran once and didn't do too well. If Herb and I can have success where somebody else couldn't, it'd make us feel good. And if tender loving care will get him there, we'll get him there.

"It's a basic labor. But it intrigues me, watching animals change day by day. No, I haven't given up the idea that I might like to coach some day. It's the same thing, in a way, trying your ideas on the kids and seeing how they progress."

"Away from the track, Coffey spends part of each day lifting weights, and soon will begin running.

"I HAVE to be in the best shape ever when the Giants open camp," he says.

"Junior suffered a severe knee injury two years ago, while playing for Atlanta. It was operated on, but when he was traded to the Giants, team physicians ordered a second operation. Junior was scheduled to rejoin the team last fall. But after a few pre-season games, coaches decided not to risk further injury if they could afford to hold Junior out for the full season.

"I have a lot of respect for the Giants. It took lots of class to do that. I practiced with the team during the year, running the opponents' offensive plays. It's hard to come back when you've been out this long, and now Tucker Frederickson is in front of me. But I think I'll be able to judge my chances in the first few weeks.

"I have to prove myself, just like a rookie," he added.

"And he might have added, like a little horse named Irish Soul."

Plains Memorial's personnel policy is to maintain a fairly "lean" staff, but not to skimp on the number of trained people needed to provide complex health care and make the patient's stay in the hospital shorter.

NATIONALLY, hospitals require almost twice as many people today as they did two decades ago because of the advance in medical technology. But the result has been improved patient care, shorter hospital stays and more lives saved, West said.
