Resolution of Respect

TO THE WORSHIPFUL MASTER WARDENS AND BRETHREN OF
HAYRICK LODGE NO. 696
A. F. & A. M.

Whereas, it has pleased Almighty God, to remove from the walks of Life our dearly beloved brother, J. E. Roane, We, the Committee implore the Lodge to submit with reverence to the will of the all-wise Master in this sad hour of sadness.

In our shortsightedness we are not able to understand why we are called upon to suffer such bereavement. It has been said that man is the noblest workmanship of God. We feel that we have lost one of the noblest of them all. Gentleness and kindness blended in him with the many virtues that make the strongest and bravest of men.

Therefore, be it resolved:

1st. That Hayrick Lodge has sustained an irreparable loss, a brother whose character and memory will ever be loved and cherished by all who knew him.

2nd. That the brothers and sisters have lost a brother, whose life and character, and true devotion will ever stand out as bright as the noon-day sun, as a man of honor and integrity.

3rd. That the wife, daughter and son, have lost a loving husband, a kind and indulgent father, whose warm heart and generous soul, knew no refusal to their slightest wish.

4th. That the community has lost one of its most useful citizens, who was ever ready to answer the call of charity or distress.

5th. That this Lodge extend to the family of our deceased brother their heartfelt sympathy in this the saddest hour of their lives, and trust that we with all his friends may so live that when we are called from labor, that we will be permitted to meet him around the Throne of God, where there will be no more death and no more parting.

6th. That a copy of these resolutions spread upon the minutes of the Lodge, a copy furnished the family of our beloved brother, and a copy sent the Robert Lee Observer for publication.

Faternally submitted,
W. B. CLIFT,
W. M. MILLICAN,
G. C. ALLEN.

Methodist W. M. S.

Christian Missions as a Leaven was the topic of the monthly mission study when the Methodist W. M. S. held a no-hostess meeting at the church Monday afternoon. Members taking part on program were Mesdames W. E. Wilbanks, W. C. McDonald, Dollie Wylie, J. K. Griffith and Marvin Simpson. Other members attending were Mrs. E. B. Creech, Mrs. G. L. Taylor and Mrs. Joe Long Snead.

Mrs. Wilbanks will be hostess to the society next Monday.

School Bond Election

In the bond election Saturday, June 12, the property owning voters of the Robert Lee school district voted 94-33 in favor of $30,000 bonds for community school improvement. A transcript of the bonds is being made and if approved by the attorney general, bonds will be printed and sold.

Supt. Taylor stated Tuesday that it is possible the work on the building will begin within 30 days.

The Wheat Outlook

Government forecasts now assure us that, barring unforeseen difficulties, the wheat crop in the U. S. for 1937 should be the largest for many years. The Department of Agriculture estimates it now at 654,000,000 bushels. Added to this will be the spring wheat crop which, though there is no certainty about the prediction at this time, may amount to 200,000,000 more bushels. So as things now stands the nation's wheat crop this year is going to be larger than at any time since 1919.

There are to be found, no doubt, some to contend that a bumper wheat crop does not mean better times for the reason that it will serve to drive down prices and producers will be no better off. Government experts, however, point out the falsity of such claim by stating that for the last three years the crop has been 50,000,000 bushels below domestic needs each year and this country has been forced to import wheat. They say a crop of 854,000,000 bushels, as now predicted, will still be short of domestic demand, thus insuring a good price for the growers. If there should be more than is needed for home consumption, there is always an export market to take up the excess production.

It's cheering news, this prediction of a bumper wheat crop for 1937, and here is hoping that it comes true.

Happy-Go-Lucky Club

A group of girls recently entertained by the Ariel Club met Tuesday afternoon at the W. H. Bell home to perfect the organization of sub-junior study club. Happy-Go-Lucky Club was the name chosen and officers elected are Zelma Slaughter, president; Katie Sue Good, vice-president; Alta Bell Bilbo, secretary-treasurer; Bryce Stewart, parliamentarian; Nina Gramling, reporter.

Alta Bell Bilbo, hostess of the afternoon, and Mrs. G. L. Taylor, sponsor, directed games and contests and served refreshments. Members present other than those mentioned were Geraldine Sparks, Prudie Ann Creech, Maxine Craddock, Dorothy Hodnett and Maxine Slaughter. Gwendolyn Brown of San Angelo was a guest.

Larkin Gets Life Term

L. D. Larkin, tried under the habitual criminal law, at Henrietta in Clay county, Monday, was given a life term in the state penitentiary. The jury was out only 40 minutes.

Larkin, given a penitentiary term in district court here last April, escaped from the county jail about a month ago and made a get-away with Sheriff Percifull's car. He was captured at Henrietta. He has served two penitentiary terms for offenses in Clay county and has been sentenced four times within the past six years.

Mr. Percifull went to Henrietta Sunday to be present for the trial. He returned Monday night.

Miss Oakes Becomes Bride of Mr. Wojtek In Candlelight Ceremony

From The Santa Anna News

To the mellow strains of the organ under an arch of soft candlelight, Miss Charlotte Oakes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Oakes of Santa Anna, became the bride of Otto A. Wojtek of Robert Lee Thursday evening June 10 at 8 p. m. at the Presbyterian Church. Rev. M. L. Womack performed the impressive ring ceremony.

The church was beautifully decorated with white lilies and large ferns and around the altar was a profusion of flowers. Over the altar was an arch, beautifully lighted by candles.

The bridal music was played by Mrs. Jasper McClellan, sister of the bride, who presided at the organ. Mrs. Carl Shannon sang the pre-nuptial music, "I Love You Truly."

The bridal party entered the church to the soft strains of Lohengrin Wedding March. The officiating minister, Rev. Womack, entered by the choir door, taking his place behind the altar and was followed by the groom and his brother, Victor, who was the best man. They waited at the altar for the bride.

The maid of honor, Miss Louise Oakes, another sister of the bride, entered the church from the outer vestibule and came down the aisle. She wore a delicate pink moire chiffon gown and carried an arm bouquet of deeper pink gladiolas. Immediately following her was the flower girl, Miss Novelle McClellan, who scattered blossoms in the pathway of the bride.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father. Her gown was of white embroidered chiffon over satin. Her white tulle veil was styled in halo fashion and was caught at either side with orange blossoms. She carried a bridal bouquet of white carnations and lilies of the valley. She met the groom at the altar where the two were united in the beautiful ring ceremony. After repeating their vows, the couple knelt for the prayer.

During the recessional of the wedding party, the organist played Mendelssohn's Wedding March.

Immediately following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Wojtek left for a trip into Mexico.

The bride, who is a graduate of the Santa Anna high school, attended John Tarleton and for the past six years has taught school. During the past four years she has taught in the Robert Lee vicinity.

Mr. Wojtek is a son of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Wojtek of Robert Lee. He has spent his life there, where he received his education. With his brothers, he is partner in the ownership of the Alamo Theatre in Robert Lee and the Texas Theatre at Bronte.

Coke County Achievements

The Bronte road celebration marks one achievement of a united county. Other achievements have been the building of city lakes at Robert Lee and Bronte, the terracing of much land in the past two years, the designation of two highways, much highway work already done on Highway 208 and the voting of bonds in Precinct 3 to open up the Sterling City road and improve others.

The big improvements, however, have been going on by individual land owners and home owners.

It is pitiful how ignorant much of West Texas has always been about Coke County, but while they were cracking rabbit jokes and holding their sides laughing at them, some people learned what this country would do, got hold of the land, and now they won't sell it or lease it.

You can't beat these old-timers. They have let other counties have their joke while they improved their places, and got hold of a few sheep and goats. Now when they go to town with a load of big sacks stuffed with fleeces, nobody can remember any rabbit jokes, or else they are mighty polite when they tell 'em. The fellow who still remembers all the rabbit twister jokes has his fun, while the Coke county citizen folds up his check.

The reason we haven't any Coke county citizens in the Legislature or Congress is that those who have the ability to run the government have got too much sense to leave Coke county, and those who can't run the government have got sense enough to know it. The ones that have left would be back in twenty-four hours if somebody would lease them 160 acres of land and lend a thousand dollars.

It is a pleasant land, a good place to live, peace and hope crown its hills.

By a native of Coke County.

Bluebonnet Bridge Club

Mrs. Chism Brown included seven guests when she was hostess to the Blue Bonnet Bridge Club last Thursday afternoon. Miss Lois Vowell scored high for guests and Mrs. Freeman Clark took high for members. Guests other than Miss Vowell were Mesdames DeWitt Snead, Drue Scoggins, Jo Ramsey, T. A. Richardson, Joe Long Snead and Miss Pauline Roe. Members attending were Mesdames J. S. Craddock, Dollie Wylie, Paul Good, Fred Roe, W. B. Clift, P. E. Mahon, Cortez Russell, Marvin Simpson, Lamont Scott, Houston Smith and Miss Mettie Russell.

Robert Lee attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Wojtek, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Wojtek, Mr. and Mrs. V. V. Wojtek, Frank and Victor Wojtek, Miss Boots Summers and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Wiginton.

State Health Department

The season of the year when the most complaints are received on account of diarrhea and dysentery or "Summer Complaint" is here and the Texas State Department of Health has issued a warning to parents in regard to this, and offers the following suggestions to prevent its occurrence among babies. The chief causes of diarrhea include impure milk, water and contaminated foods, overheating, fever from any cause, too much sugar or cream in the diet, overfeeding and underfeeding.

Mother's milk is the safest food. However, if other milk must be used, the supply should be clean and pure. The water should be clean, pure and boiled. Any other articles of food should be fresh and clean and no unsuitable articles of food such as cake and candy should not be given.

If a feeding formula is used, it should be one prescribed by a physician and it must be prepared with extreme attention to cleanliness and kept cold until used. The baby should be fed at regular intervals and should not be forced to eat when he is not hungry. The baby should be kept cool and comfortable and cool in hot weather, should not be overclothed and should be given plenty of clean water to drink. Any infections which develop in the nose, throat, ears or other organs should receive prompt attention from a physician.

If diarrhea develops, feedings should be stopped or greatly diminished and an abundance of water should be given. Cathartics should not be given except on the advice of a physician. If the diarrhea does not improve within a short time, a physician should be called and a complete examination should be made.

The three F-s, flies, fingers and food are the three sources of danger to the baby. Flies carry disease germs to the baby and to its food. Fingers and hands that are not thoroughly washed before preparing the baby's food are likely to be germ carriers also. All milk and water that is intended for the baby should be boiled for five minutes, then carefully covered and kept in a cool place until used.

Building New Home

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Brey are building a modern rock veneer home and a two-car garage in the north part of town. The outer walls of the house and garage will be of irregular shaped native stone set in block mortar. There will be four rooms, bath, plenty of closets and a sleeping porch. Compactness and convenience are key notes of the structure and Mr. Brey, whose hobby is cabinet work, will do the built-in fixtures at his leisure. He is also building the framework.

Mr. and Mrs. Brey expect to move to the new home in early July.

Another Advice

You may disregard advice, but listen to it. Don't sneer it, no matter who the person is that offers it. Even the worst advice presents one side of a question. A clever and successful merchant once said that he always wanted advice--not necessarily to follow it, but to help him make up his mind. If you have time, listen to anything that is presented earnestly and intelligently, whether or not it agrees with your present opinion. You may find it necessary to change your opinion some day. Above all things--never scoff or make light of the criticism--with its implied advice--of any enemy. It is therefore that your weakest points are exposed. If you are wise you will be thankful for the opportunity to strengthen them.

Boys and Crime

Parents of Robert Lee boys who have neglected to encourage them to affiliate with the Boy Scouts or a like organization wherever it is possible for the boys to do so, will be interested in an announcement by federal secret service authorities on the subject. They say the percentage of juvenile crime in America is far less in communities where Boy Scouts and similar organizations are maintained than in those communities which either discourage such organizations or fail to take any interest. "If we are to prevent crime," says one federal investigator, "we must begin with the high chair instead of the electric chair." Combatting crime is a responsibility of all citizens, and not merely of law-enforcement officers. Those who help the boys of this country to grow up into useful, law-abiding citizens are helping to prevent crime, and there can be no doubt but aiding and encouraging the Boy Scouts and like organizations is an excellent way to go about it.

Another Crusade

The action of the women of Virginia in sounding a battle-cry of freedom against unsightly billboards along motor highways gives promise of developing into a great national crusade, and before the summer is over you need not be surprised to find the women of Texas enlisted in the fight. They declare that the signs not only mar the natural beauty of miles upon miles of highways, but that quite often they set up a serious hazard by attracting the attention of a motorist at the very second his whole attention should be devoted to the road ahead. In their fight for laws that will sweep away the objectionable signs with which practically every highway is now cluttered they have the support of thousands of motorists who feel just as they do about it. Heartened by this support they are lining up for battle, and Virginia's legislative halls will be the battleground. It will be a battle, too, that will be watched with deep interest in every part of the country.

Aiding Crime

It is generally understood that the people of this country expect their officers to rigidly enforce the law. However, many are today doing everything in their power to break down the work of juries and judges. Through petitions and political pressure thieves and murderers are being turned loose every day to prey on their sentimental benefactors, and the parole laws of this country have become little more than a sham. Far more than one-half of the criminals now being arrested are found, on investigation, to have been guilty of earlier crimes and to have gained their liberty thru parole. It is not often that citizens are asked to attach their names for parole, but when they are it would be a good idea for them to weigh the matter carefully. Sentiment is a fine thing, but sentiment becomes dangerous if it leads to the release of still another menace to the peace and welfare of the general public.

Philadelphia, June 3.--The closing of 80 stores by the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company was the immediate reaction to the signing by Governor George H. Earle this week of a bill taxing chain stores. The law assesses $500 on each store above 500 operated by a chain.

A. & P. officials said that probably 600 of its 2,000 in Pennsylvania will be abandoned. Other chains indicated they will take similar action, with closing reaching nearly 4,000.

Abe Mayer loaded out, May 28, 1,400 yearling ewes to San Angelo buyers at $6.00 a head. The sheep came from his ranch 25 west of San Angelo.

Nolan County is producing more and more feeder lambs. During the month of May, Edwin Aiken delivered some 1,100 mixed lambs which averaged 104 pounds. These lambs were shorn and produced about 11 pounds of wool each.

It is estimated that during the month of April, some 396,000 head of sheep were shipped out of Texas.

L. M. Stephens, with Henry Stallings & Company, has purchased in recent days, in Lampasas, Brown and Mills counties, some 200,000 pounds of 12 months wool, at around 32 cents. He purchased this wool for his own account and also purchased some 65,000 pounds of mohair.

County agent Houston Smith reports that a number of cases of sore mouth among farm horses have been reported to him recently. Eight cases of one to ten horses had been reported up to Tuesday morning.

In cases under observation the tongues swell, coat over and become raw. Mr. Smith called Dick Ramsey of San Angelo, Tuesday, to work with him in a study of the disease. He advises that farmers check on the condition of their horses' mouths and report on any indication of soreness.

Mr. Smith, with Mr. Ramsey of San Angelo, examined several head Tuesday afternoon and found the cause of sore mouth among horses to be caused by a fungus on the vegetation. The growth, Dr. Ramsey said, is prevalent over a wide area, due to an uncommon rainfall.

NOT in cash, of course. We're speaking of its equivalent. But here is something for you to consider: Every year this newspaper brings you at least three outstanding novels in serial form. Purchased as books each would cost not less than $2, making a total expenditure of at least $6 per year.

Like yourself, we could find plenty of uses for that $6. Some member of the family is always in need of a new pair of shoes or some other necessity. But at the same time your requirements for good reading material must be met. By accepting these three novels each year we feel you are treating yourself to real enjoyment, at the same time giving your purse a substantial boost.

These novels are a source of constant pride to us. Every year we select them from the season's most outstanding best sellers, offered in serial form by a large newspaper syndicate organization. We'd like to feel that you—as a subscriber—always look forward to reading the coming installment in the next issue. FIVE small boys have just about disrupted Hollywood. They are the youngsters who played on the stage in New York in "Dead End" and who now are in Hollywood playing the same roles in the picture.

They don't like Hollywood, they think acting in movies is pretty silly, and their complete lack of reverence for glamorous stars frequently makes the girls furious or tearful. One of them will go up to a famous star, and out of kindness let us call her "Miss X," and say politely, "Is it true that you get paid two thousand dollars a week?" At her nod of assent, the little tough will look her over critically from head to foot, and say "But why?"

"This Is My Affair," a Twentieth Century-Fox picture, has Barbara Stanwyck and Robert Taylor as its stars, which is enough to cause a stampede at the box office any time, but in addition this has some gripping historical scenes. It must be thrilling enough to the old folks who can remember Teddy Roosevelt and Admiral Dewey to see them represented on the screen, but for those to whom these two great historical figures are just a legend, it is downright throat-choking. Barbara, as usual, gives a beautifully sincere and moving performance.

Barbara Stanwyck

If you like Navy pictures with lots of gold braid, humming engines, wonderful marine views, and terrific drama, there is "Wings Over Honolulu" for you. It is a Universal picture with Wendy Barrie, Ray Milland, and Bill Gargan and it is so exciting that I just had to stay and see it a second time.

Incidentally, Bill Gargan is now making a picture on the Universal lot called "Reporter Missing" and he has been taking the thrills of the picture so seriously, that when a burglar-alarm salesman walked into his house he found Bill a willing customer. Bill had an electric eye also installed so that anyone entering the house in the dark late at night would pass it and set gongs and bells to ringing an alarm.

Any week now Don Wilson may have to break down and sing a few songs on the Jack Benny radio program. When Jack had to bow out of his usual Sunday night radio appearance because of flu, Wilson subbed for him and threatened to sing. Phil Harris, Kenny Baker and the rest implored him not to—and a few days later protests by the bushel poured in from Detroit listeners. They didn't realize it was all kidding and they resented it. They remember, you see, that Don Wilson used to sing with a vocal trio at a Detroit station and they know that he has a glorious voice.

Gracie Allen has a perfectly wonderful idea for raising a lot of money for charity. She wants to send her husband, George Burns, and his bridge-playing cronies, Tony Martin, Bert Wheeler, and Benny Rubin on a tour of the country to stage bridge games in public. She maintains that they play the worst, the loudest, and the funniest bridge and that everyone ought to have a chance to see and hear them.

ODDS AND ENDS . . . Folks who scribble on the tablecloths in the Paramount studio restaurant are now fined thirty-five cents. Jack Benny's debt ran so high that Mary Livingstone gave him a few old tablecloths from home to use on his table at the studio . . . When Dick Foran was given a new contract and told that he was going to graduate from Western into big, spectacular, expensive productions, he asked wistfully if he couldn't make a Western now and then. "Don't you want to be a big, important star of the best pictures?" he was asked. "No," he said, "I want to ride my horse" . . . "Death Over Miami"
 By FLOYD GIBBONS
 Famous Headline Hunter

HERE'S a tale of the high seas, of "Sparks," as the seamen call the radio operator who sits day and night over his set, picking up messages that may mean life or death to some hapless souls.

In this case, thanks to Ray Hutchens of Long Island City, N. Y., it meant life to the victims of a hurricane which had just swept a path of death and destruction over Florida!

Ray tells me the Ward Line passenger ship Siboney, with him on board as chief wireless operator, and a chap named Milton Kitchen as junior, pulled out of Havana, bound for New York, on September 18, 1926. Just before they left the dock at noon, they received a hurricane warning from a station in New Orleans whose call letters were WNU.

Now Ray says such warnings were a dime a dozen, and most of them came to exactly nothing. So when they ran into a gale with moderate sea on passing Morro Castle, they thought little of it. All unsuspecting they turned toward Key West.

Somebody Called the Siboney.

Ray tells us that at 10 p. m. that night he was on watch. Static was bad, the sea was running a bit more heavily, and the wind at gale force threw clusters of spray against the radio-room ports so forcibly it sounded like hail. The passengers, their vacations over, were asleep or preparing for bed, secure in the thought of the trained men in whose hands they had entrusted their welfare. Ray, watching with anxious eyes the rising storm, could think only of the helplessness of even these trained men when Nature goes on a rampage.

Idly running through the 600-meter band, Ray found things dull, with little traffic. At ten-thirty, against a rasping background of static, some fellow called WRN (the Siboney, Ray's vessel) slowly and repeatedly.

"Shucks," Ray thought to himself. "This'll be some two-by-four tanker about to ask for a relay."

Unable to send their messages the full distance because of lack of power, the smaller ships occasionally asked help from a ship with better equipment. Ray was certainly justified in jumping to this conclusion, for what else would be sending a signal that was not the clear, musical note of the shore stations, but a weak, straggling sputter, "like someone shaking a bucket of pebbles," as Ray puts it.

But when this puny station signed WAX, which was the shore station at Miami, Florida, Ray was shocked into action! Miami, whose high, clear note always rang with ample volume through the thirty miles of static that separated them. Something was radically wrong, Ray was sure of that. Hurriedly he snapped back a brief "Go ahead." Ray knew the shore station must be able to hear the Siboney much better than Ray could catch the thin signal that trickled in from Miami.

"Ham" Told of Miami Hurricane.

And WAX, Miami, came back with the hottest row of dots and dashes Ray ever had directed toward him in his life! A pitiful appeal for food, clothing and medical supplies for the victims of the Miami hurricane, which had just swept a path of death and destruction across Florida!

There was not a second to be lost! Out there in those waste stretches, battered and swept clean by the fury of a Nature gone mad, were helpless men, women, yes and little children, their homes destroyed, their last link with the world this little ship's radio room, where a horrified man sat over a delicate instrument and relayed the tale of their disaster to the world.

Ray jumped to his feet, ran into their quarters, slapped his junior, Kitchen, on the stomach. For the next twelve hours, while Kitchen stood by and tended the arc and spark transmitters, Ray alternately received from Miami and sent to WSA, in East Moriches, Long Island. A pal of Ray's, Al Kahn, who was on the Orizaba, near Hatteras, helped to keep other ships' signals off the air while Ray was slowly trying to pound through the thousand miles between the Siboney and WSA.

Static Made It Almost Impossible.

You fellow-adventurers who are "hams," as the radio amateurs call themselves, will know what Ray was up against trying to pick up the faint code of WAX with static buzzing, sputtering, crackling, crashing, drowning out the almost inaudible signal that meant aid and succor to thousands of souls. Ray sat there glued to his chair for twelve hours, straining his ears to catch the pitiful appeal, receiving under almost superhuman conditions. "So bad was the static," Ray tells me, "that each dot was a drop of sweat and each dash a moan."

Captain F. L. Miller hove the ship to so as to keep the operators within range of WAX's low-power transmitter. He had been asked to bring his ship into the harbor with food and medicine, but the ship's draft would not allow it even in calm weather.

And all the time Ray was racking his brains wondering how the Miami operators, whose big station was obviously out of whack, were getting even this faint signal through. "Those boys certainly deserve credit," Ray says proudly, "all their towers were down; the roof was blown from their quarters, power and telegraph lines were all out; they were sheltering one hundred men, women and children in the control-room, and even then they rigged up an emergency transmitter, powered with batteries stolen from wrecked cars, to get the first word of the hurricane to the outside world! "So far as I know," Ray says, "it was the first time a land station ever sent an SOS to a ship!"

I guess we can sympathize with Ray when we imagine the feelings of that operator at WAX, who called the ship so slowly and prayerfully with that pathetic little sending shebang, knowing that the Siboney was due to pass and had continuous watch. Those boys got very little credit in the papers at the time, but Ray will always remember them with pride in his profession.

How CARDUI Helps Women

Cardul is a purely vegetable medicine, found by many women to ease functional pains of menstruation. It also helps to strengthen women, who have been weakened by poor nourishment, by increasing their appetite and improving their digestion. Many have reported lasting benefit from the wholesome nutritional assistance obtained by taking Cardul. If you have never taken Cardul, get a bottle of Cardul at the nearest drug store, read the directions and try it.

Sentinels of Health

Don't Neglect Them!

Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure. When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feet tired, nervous, all worn out. Frequent, scanty or burning passages may be further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbances. The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed the country over. Insist on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

Lesson for June 20

JOSEPH'S KINDNESS TO HIS KINDRED

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 46:1-7, 28-30; 50: 24-26.

GOLDEN TEXT—And be ye kind one to another, even as God for Christ's sake hath forgiven you. Ephesians 4:32.

PRIMARY TOPIC—When Joseph Saw His Father Again. JUNIOR TOPIC—Joseph Honoring His Father.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Kindness in the Family. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Mutual Helpfulness in the Family.

A happy ending—yes! Modern writers may look with disfavor on it (and perhaps rightly so, for most of them write about life apart from fellowship with God) but to those who trust God and who seek his will, the story of life has a bright and joyful conclusion.

But someone may object that the lesson for today closes with the last words of the book of Genesis, which are "a coffin in Egypt." Is that a happy ending? It is, because even that forbidding emblem of death pointed in faith toward the day when God was to keep his promise and bring his people into the promised land.

Our lesson centers around the last of our patriarchs, Joseph, and his kindness to his father and his family. The highest official in the land of Egypt (save for Pharaoh himself) proves his inherent greatness by forgetting position and power, except as they enable him to be a loving son and brother. We consider his kindness as it is centered in his devotion to God, shown forth in thoughtful provision for others, expressed in affectionate deeds, and as it imparted itself by faith to others.

I. Founded on Fellowship (Gen. 46:1-4).

Jacob, having heard from his sons that Joseph was in Egypt, and having thus learned of their treachery and deceit, came at last to realize that his beloved Joseph is alive. He has been urged to go to Egypt but he hesitates about leaving Canaan. How shall he know whether to believe in and respond to Joseph's invitation. He asks God, the One who is the joy and center of Joseph's life, and of Jacob's as well, and he has his answer.

Real family life and devotion center around a mutual fellowship with God. There may be little else to share, but "little is much when God is in it." Has God been honored in your home? Has He been made the center of family life? These are vital questions.

II. Evidenced by Thoughtfulness (vv. 5-7).

Joseph had arranged for Pharaoh to send wagons to bring his aged father, the women, and the little ones.

Many men in our day glory in being "hard-boiled." In their relentless pursuit of fame and riches they ignore and even trample on the members of their own families. They are ashamed of the broken bodies, the humble apparel, the uneducated speech of their parents, fearing lest their new-found friends in the circle of wealth and position may ridicule them. There is a crude but apt expression that describes such persons as "stuffed shirts."

III. Manifested in Love (vv. 28-30).

Joseph kissed his father whom he had gone out to meet, and held him close and wept for joy. Again he showed his true greatness by being his natural self.

We are not all demonstrative in showing our affection. Furthermore, we would not plead for more of that sham public expression of affection which is so distasteful to right-thinking people. But may we not suggest that there is room for improvement in our loving consideration for our kindred. Let us ask ourselves how long it is since we did something to show that we really love our mother, our father, or a faithful wife, son, or daughter? How long is it since you wrote home to mother, or went home to visit?

IV. Imparted by Faith (50:24-26).

Jacob had been gathered to his fathers; time had gone on its relentless way, and Joseph is about to die. What shall be the heritage to his family? Money, property, position? No; he leaves them something infinitely more valuable—a forward-looking faith that will keep alive in their hearts the expectation that God will in due season bring them into their own land. Joseph had spent most of his years in Egypt, he had attained high position and great honor, but he never lost his vision of the promised land. He imparts to them by faith that hope.

Charming Panel to Crochet

Pattern 5790.

There's the charm of Grandmother's time in this lacy panel-inset, a luxurious bit of dress-up for your "best" bedspread! In string it measures 24 by 35 inches, but goes quickly, for the background is in lace stitch. It would also be effective as a door panel. The stunning panel running lengthwise of the bolster may also serve as a scarf. Crochet this beautiful design of humble, durable string or in finer cotton for smaller panels. In pattern 5790 you will find detailed instructions and charts for making the panels shown; illustrations of the panel and of the stitches used; material requirements.

To obtain this pattern send 15 cents in stamps or coins (coins preferred) to The Sewing Circle Household Arts Dept., 259 W. Fourteenth St., New York, N. Y. Please write your name, address and pattern number plainly.
