1889 - OUR GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY YEAR - 1939

VOLUME 49

ROBERT LEE, COKE COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 1939

NUMBER 32

CITIZENS OF ROBERT LEE

The following petition was presented to the City Council at its last meeting, to-wit:

To the City Council,
Robert Lee, Texas,
Gentlemen:

We, the undersigned citizens of Robert Lee find that chickens running loose within the bounds of the town are a public nuisance and a detriment to those of our citizens who desire to improve their property with flowers and shrubs and also to those who would raise vegetables.

Therefore we do petition our City Council to pass an ordinance requiring that all chickens be confined to the premises of their owners.

Respectfully submitted:

The foregoing petition has been signed by over fifty (50) citizens of Robert Lee.

As it is the desire of your City Commission to enact such ordinances as the people of Robert Lee want, the above will be enacted at the next meeting of the Council, unless it is shown that the contrary is desired.

In order for the above ordinance to have the desired effect it will be necessary for a penalty to be prescribed and enforced against those violating the same.

Therefore please communicate your desires in this matter to the City Commission, as after the ordinance is passed it will be too late to complain.

Signed City Commission,
Robert Lee, Texas.

Lions Club Meets

Following are resolutions adopted by the Robert Lee Lions Club at their regular meeting held Tuesday night.

Whereas, there has been an influx of transient people into Coke county within recent weeks; and

Whereas, six months residence in Coke county is sufficient to force the county into the responsibility of providing work and food for these people; and

Whereas, this influx has the tendency to force established residents out of work; and

Whereas, dwellings that are unsightly in appearance, hazardous to fire, and a menace to health are being put up by these aforementioned people; therefore, be it

Resolved, First, That persons without visible means of support be discouraged by the citizenry of Coke county from attempting to establish residence here.

Second, That local persons be given preference in the hiring of all kinds of help.

Third, That property owners be discouraged from selling real estate where buildings not in keeping with surrounding buildings might be erected.

Fourth, That the City Commission of Robert Lee be urged to do what it can to cope with this situation by the establishment of proper zoning restrictions, or a building permit ordinance, or other means that it deem fair and proper.

Fifth, That a copy of these resolutions be transmitted to The Robert Lee Observer for publication therein.

Amarillo Boy Gets High Musical Honor

BUDDY MEYER

Texas breaks into the national radio spotlight on Sunday, February 12, at 2 p. m., CST, when a 16-year-old Amarillo saxophonist will be awarded a gold medal for musical excellence in the "Parade of Prodigy" on Dr. Frank Simon's Armco Band broadcast. The program will be heard on 42 stations of the NBC Blue network, including KGKO, Ft. Worth-Dallas and KXYZ, Houston.

The young Texas prodigy is Buddy Meyer, who directed his own orchestra when he was 10. Since 1932, he has gained highest ratings in annual state and national scholastic contests. Buddy's orchestra became associated with the Texas Federated Music Clubs in 1933.

Two years ago he appeared as a soloist in Ft. Worth and at the Texas Centennial. He holds scholarships in music at Bales Military School, Jacksonville, Fla., the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music and the Interlochen, Mich., National Band Camp.

"Valley of the Giants" and Other Good Ones Coming to Alamo

Friday and Saturday, 10 and 11, "Valley of the Giants" in Technicolor will be shown at the Alamo.

Forty years ago the region right around the town of Crannell in Northern California was a giant redwood forest. It isn't now. Alder trees cover the hills and high above them, now and then, towers a black snag, wooden monuments to trees that were saplings when the pyramids were built. Now it is a deserted country.

But one day last spring there were people everywhere. They swarmed along the railroad right of way, something out of the ordinary was taking place. A motion picture company was getting ready to wreck a train.

Do not miss the many thrills in the "Valley of the Giants," A truly great picture.

Sunday and Monday "Spawn of the North" comes to the Alamo. This is another fine picture, filmed in Alaska.

Although Alaska is the most important outpost of the United States and has captured the imagination of writers and adventurers ever since the fabulous days of the Yukon gold strike in 1896. "Spawn of the North" marks the first motion picture ever to spend so much time and money glorifying the Territory. The film took over three years to make, and its cost equaled one-seventh the sum paid to Russia for the purchase of Alaska in 1867.

This picture is headed by a great cast and you will enjoy every bit of it.

Also comedy and news. Wednesday only, "Off the Record," an exciting newspaper story that will keep you "on your toes." Don't miss it. A good comedy.

Activities in the Legislature

By Penrose B. Metcalfe

Both branches of the legislature passed a bill abolishing the office of the tax commissioner and transferring his duties to the comptroller's department.

The senate passed a bill which would make the state auditor appointed by legislative committee, instead of by the governor, and enlarging his duties. I proposed that the entire office be abolished to save the state $75,000 a year, but the proposal was tabled.

The standing committees of both houses swung into the routine of hearings and really got down to work. Both the senate finance and house appropriations committees began working on emergency appropriations for the various departments, schools, and other state agencies.

One of the most interesting occurrences of the week was the action of the senate in rejecting the confirmation of Carr P. Collins of Dallas for state highway commissioner. There is apparently very strong sentiment in the senate to continue the custom of long standing that the highway commissioner should come from various sections of the state, and inasmuch as the one whose term now expires comes from East Texas, evidently the senators felt that the new one should come from that same section, and two years hence the appointee should come from West Texas.

Legislators Have No Bed of Roses

People who think legislators have an easy life should be forced to serve a term at Austin.

The average legislator begins his day about 8:30 when he comes down to answer his mail and perhaps to dictate letters pertaining to his business back home. At 10 o'clock the Legislature convenes with debates and voting lasting until noon.

About 2 o'clock the legislator must attend hearings before the committee of which he is a member. These hearings usually last all afternoon.

At night he frequently has to attend other committee meeting, or some of his constituents from back home are in town, expecting to be entertained like royal visitors.

Almost every letter a legislator receives comes from some person back home who wants a favor. Usually it is a job, often it is a request that the legislator vote such-and-such a way on a bill, and frequently it is a request for information on some out-of-the-way subject about which the legislator knows nothing.

People back home are not gentle in their requests. In other words, they "turn the heat on," and many of them bluntly threaten the legislator with political destruction if he does not do their bidding.

And at all times there are lobbyists for one interest or another ---perhaps the W. C. T. U. or maybe the out-of-state brewers ---and each one wants to tell the facts about his business.

The result is that Mr. Legislator has almost no time to himself, no time to really study legislation and gradually he finds that his vote on a measure is determined by the arguments in committee or on the floor rather than by any personal research.

The average legislator stays "on duty" about 14 hours a day, and in every hour he is concerned with public business. And for this effort he receives about $2000 for his two year term. Most observers feel that the people of Texas get far better legislative service than they pay for. ---State Observer, Austin.

A Present Problem and Its Solution

In last week's Observer an unsigned letter appeared that dwelt at some length on the Mexican problem and rumor was spread after its perusal by readers of the paper that I was the writer, which is an error. As to my endorsement of the sentiment of the letter I will say that the motive expressed or implied was to arouse interest in the solution of a very serious problem and on the presumption that some of those who might make some effective move are indifferent, the letter would merit approval. But I do not know who has been indifferent about the matter, in fact I was unaware that anyone was. Personally, I do not quickly pass judgement adversely and am abiding the time when if evidence is presented to prove anybody's dereliction before criticising anyone.

As to the problem, itself, a recent announcement in these columns by our County Judge has my full endorsement, and I venture to say the approval of the majority of the people here. As he indicated, the invitation to these people to come here by offering them Quit Claim Deeds to vacant lots is at least one of the causes of the trouble, and on that point if the Quit Claim Deed results in giving them title to the property they can only be dispossessed by outright purchase and there is certainly no disinclination as to race, color or nationality. I have done some of the research work that has been done leading to the designation of a section of town for the purpose of colonization of this group of citizens, and have found it very difficult, if not impossible, to find a desirable location large enough to accommodate the number that have already moved in. It would require more than one block, probably at least three, to adequately take care of the situation, and I have been unable to find three isolated blocks in Robert Lee on the market. But if the amount of space could be provided it would be necessary to first buy the property they now hold and then sell them property in the new location. On the first point they cannot be made to sell, they can only be presented with an offer, which they may either accept or reject. If they reject all offers there is nothing else to do. If they accept the offer to buy them out they may reject the offer to sell to them in the designated district and any owner of vacant lots in any part of town may sell to them which might even make matters worse than they are now. As to the relief and PWA authorities the granting of direct relief or the giving of employment is certainly not an arbitrary matter. It must depend on a written analysis of each case, and the amount of assistance given either in the form of a dole has no relation to color or nationality, notwithstanding it is the opinion of some of the people that Mexicans are given the preference over white people. I am of the opinion that if the last statement is true that it would be a small matter to provide a suitable successor to the guilty official For us to jump to the conclusion that these officials are following such practices because of some rumor is not commendable and does not lead us in the direction of a solution of the problem.

Now as to the solution, I am of the opinion that nearly all of the real estate owners in town realize that the sale of the property in the manner that has created the problem is an unsound business practice and should be discontinued. Here the wisdom of the suggestion made by the County Judge is apparent, that citizens should refrain from making such sales. To carry the proposition forward I am offering for acceptance or rejection a written agreement signed by myself which embodies the principles set forth in the County Judge's recommendation, that sales be made only to desirable citizens. No doubt most of the property owners and real estate dealers will sign the agreement and unless some of the signers object it will be submitted for publication in the near future.

Laundry Helps

To keep clothes from freezing in winter, on the line, add handful of salt to rinse water. Also helps clothes dry more quickly. By adding a little salt to starch it prevents the starch being blown out of clothes on a windy day. If it rains on the starched clothes let them remain on the line until they dry again and the stiffness will remain. However, if a heavy downpour, the clothes must be restarched. If very cold, soak clothes pins in salt water to prevent them freezing to clothes.

Pay your water bill by 10th of each month or have your service discontinued.

Last Word in Convenience

The desire to make a car reflect its owner's individuality is a potent factor in the average motorist's choice of accessory equipment. And it would be hard to find a more thoroughly "personalized" car than this new Chevrolet in which Mary Pickford is shown applying a touch of makeup. As if the handy illuminated vanity mirror were not enough, the car has a special kit of Miss Pickford's famous beauty aids on the market under her name. The container, holding lipstick, rouge, powder and cream, folds neatly up into the glove compartment when not in use. Inset shows close-up of vanity case.

The Octopus Unmasked

Reaching upward, the Spider frees himself, and then shoots his way to freedom. The enraged Octopus slays the henchmen he holds responsible and then prepares to murder the imprisoned Nita and Jackson. As Blinky McQuade, Wentworth loots a prominent business man's safe and escapes safely, despite the surprise attack of a watchman, with a high-intensity tube. Checking reveals a similar tube installed in a certain building. Convinced this is the Octopus' stronghold, Wentworth hurries there and swiftly reconnoiters.

He places hidden smoke pots in the building's entrances. Pedestrians call the fire department and Ram Singh and Jenkins, posing as firemen, raise a high extension ladder which Wentworth, in Spider's garb, promptly climbs. The Octopus, cruelly gloating, is about to slay Nita and Jackson when the Spider crashes thru a window, his guns blazing. Rallying gunmen blast at the Spider, who quickly subdues them all. The Octopus whips out a concealed gun, but the Spider's shot kills him. The Octopus, unmasked, proves to be "???"

Wentworth tells Nita the Spider's next assignment, beginning at once, will be their long-delayed honeymoon.

This is the 15th and last episode of the Spider's Web.
