WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

By Edward C. Wayne

Protection of Lend-Lease Shipping Is Extended to 'Ships of All Flags' By U. S. Warships as Far as Iceland; Conflicting Reports Mark War News

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

SHOOTING WAR:

Recapitulation

Repercussions among the non-interventionist opponents of President Roosevelt's general foreign policy were surprisingly calm, following his address in which he told U. S. naval skippers to shoot first and ask questions afterward. Beyond seeing it "as a step toward war," there seemed to be an utter unwillingness on the part of the White House's opponents to sail into the President tooth and toenail.

The request of Captain Halliday of the sunken Steel Seafarer "give us guns and we will shoot, too," brought the discussion of arming of merchantmen into the fore. In this the pattern of the last war was being sharply paralleled.

The declaration by Germany of unrestricted submarine warfare was closely followed in those days by the arming of merchantmen, which, in turn, was followed by the country's active entrance into the war.

However, it was not immediately apparent that any such move was being sponsored on Capitol Hill.

'For All Flags'

Later the trend of U. S. policy became more clear as Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, in a speech before the national American Legion convention in Milwaukee, indicated that U. S. warships would "provide protection . . . for ships of every flag carrying lend-lease supplies between the American continent and the waters adjacent to Iceland."

While he avoided the use of the word "convoy" this appeared to be the plan for providing the promised protection and to most observers it looked like the logical follow-up to the President's former "shoot on sight" edict against German or Italian raiders.

REYNOLDS NIPPED:

A Repercussion

Cancellation of an address scheduled by Sen. R. R. Reynolds of North Carolina before the Advertising club of Newark, N. J., was another repercussion which bid fair to be a typical reaction of the times following the President's "shooting" speech.

The senator had been booked to speak September 24 "many months ago," and the statement made public by the club declared: "and the club directors at that time felt that, regardless of the senator's decidedly isolationist position, the club should continue its policy of listening to both sides of every question.

"However, because of the recent Nazi sea incidents and the recent clearly definite speech of President Roosevelt, we feel now that Senator Reynolds' talk might be in a definite conflict with the national defense program.

"The withdrawal is in no sense an indictment of the eminent senator. He is entitled by the Constitution of the United States to express whatever viewpoints he chooses to indorse.

"Nevertheless I feel sure that the people of New Jersey, one of the thirteen original States of this country, are 100 per cent against Hitler, and, in my opinion, are solidly opposed to the views expressed by Senator Reynolds."

A foreign correspondent was substituted.

RUSSIANS:

Hold and Advance

Conflicting reports from the Russo-German front continued to paint, as near as it was possible to determine, a general picture of the Russians holding out in the siege of Leningrad, and making a steady and fruitful advance against the Nazis in the central sector around Smolensk.

Whether this was the natural sagging of a salient due to the removal of Germany's best troops to the Leningrad front, or whether, as the Russian communiques insisted, the Red victories were against the Reich's crack legions in full force, was of course a matter of conjecture.

Two names emerged from the daily dispatches—those of Marshal Semeon Timoshenko, general commander on the central front, and that of Gen. Jacob Kreuzer, leader of the Russian blitz forces who were doing much of the driving ahead.

The Russian daily claims of 7 to 10 miles advanced might be discounted, but the names of places where fighting was reported showed definitely that there was an actual advance, and of no inconsiderable proportions. Three towns easily locatable on detailed maps of Russia which lie well "behind Smolensk" were reported captured.

Absence of any further German claims on the Kiev and Odessa fronts were accompanied by simple Russian statements that the battles there were "continuing." One Russian commander said "Stalin's order not to yield Kiev is being complied with."

Many military observers believed that the long, waving line of the Nazi front was fraught with exceeding danger to the German campaign provided the Red army on the central front really has the enemy in an important retreat.

Perhaps the outstanding Russian claim was the recapture of several points on the west bank of the Dnieper. This, if true, did much to bear out the feeling that the second great Nazi blitz against Russia again was bogging down.

Ivestia stated "the Napoleonic record of 83 days from Warsaw to Moscow still remains unchallenged by Hitler."

IRAN:

Sends Nazis Out

Eighty Nazis were reported expelled from Teheran in carrying out the terms of the British-Russian-Iranian armistice, and that eight of them were sent to Siberia, "very glum"; the rest going to India.

The German legation had, by a variety of excuses, postponed the departure of the special trains for nearly 24 hours. The British and Russian diplomats had expected about 225 to be expelled, and were visibly disappointed when only 80 left.

The German legation was reported to be housing about 400 men, women and children rounded up in preparation for the expulsion.

A Man's Job

LONDON, ENGLAND.—Britain's man shortage is even felt in the post office department, where women have taken over duties of mail collecting. This pretty miss, wearing practically a "mailman's" garb, is one of the many additions to the British postal staff.

NORWAY:

Pays and Pays

Reports filtered through from Norway to neighboring Sweden by the simple method of couriers slipping across the border, to the effect that Norway's boundless courage and defiance of Nazis and Quislings were the cause of the uprising which swept the country and made the conquered people pay and pay again for their temerity.

The incident is said to have occurred at Oslo, when, during a British raid on the port, people thronged the streets, waving happily at the bombers overhead, regardless of their own danger.

From the throngs, also especially from school shelters, were heard strong voices singing Norway's national anthem and the king's hymn.

Suddenly the word came that one British bomber had been downed and that two men of the R.A.F. had been taken to an Oslo hospital.

The crowd surged toward the hospital, bearing flowers and cheering the men within to the echo. They demanded admittance. The demonstration grew to such proportions that the Nazi military dispersed it and from that time on labor troubles grew until the final outbreak.

Locomotives were sabotaged. Nazi troop movements were halted. Munitions factories were blown up. A general strike spread through the nation.

These troubles were simultaneously and apparently spontaneously occurring at other points in Nazi occupied countries. These were the developments:

1. Practical martial law declared by the Quisling government over most of Norway. A church "purge" expected.

2. A warning in Rumania that "Confminists" would be "shot on sight."

3. Reports from Yugoslavia that guerillas had slain 398 persons in one village, had sabotaged a freighter and had blown up an important highway.

FINNS:

Will They Quit?

The publication of anti-Nazi articles in Helsinki newspapers, plus the general national jubilation over the recapture of the capital of Karelia, former Finnish province lost to the Russians early in the war brought to the fore the question of whether the Finns would continue their part in the fight to occupy Leningrad.

The feeling was expressed in certain quarters that the Finns already have quit, and they cited the fact that the Germans had reported the entire encirclement of Leningrad and then, two days later, had admitted this was not true.

The "hole" they reported in the encirclement was in the Lake Ladoga region, the exact part of the front which the Finns were working in predominantly.

LINDBERGH:

Loss of Support

A recent speech by Lindbergh, leading orator of the America First committee, instantly lost him the support of the Hearst newspapers, which had been enthusiastically printing everything he had been saying.

Lindbergh was booed and hissed, as well as applauded in Des Moines, Iowa, when he made the statement, among other things, that the only groups really pulling for American entry into the war were the British, the Jews and the Roosevelt supporters.

President's Farmer Tenant Has Trouble All His Own

Newsman Quoted Mose Smith, Who Works 140-Acre Hyde Park Farm, and He Doesn't Like It at All.

By BAUKHAGE

National Farm and Home Hour Commentator.

WNU Service, 1343 H Street, N.W., Washington, D. C.

I suppose the landlord-loving tenant is as much a piece of news as the dog-biting man. So when a famous landlord made the following remark about a certain farmer, I decided the matter ought to be looked into:

"I don't know whether I like being called a landlord," said the landlord. "I say this, though, that if I have to be a landlord, and if he has to be a tenant, I would rather have Moses (Smith) as a tenant than any man I know . . . he has not cut down the trees; he has not burned up the house; and the fields are in better condition than the day he came. And, incidentally, from my point of view, all the time that Moses has been here, he has never given me a headache."

That is what President Roosevelt said about Moses Smith.

So I dropped in and had a talk with Mr. Smith when I was up at Hyde Park recently.

This is what Mr. Smith said to me:

"The President is the best landlord in the United States. I've rented from him for 22 years and he has yet to find fault. Whenever he gets a chance he comes over here to say 'hello' and 'good-by,' but he doesn't find fault. And I've made mistakes, too. Nobody is perfect."

And Smith sounded sincere. There is nothing self-conscious about his relationship with the President—to Smith, Franklin Roosevelt seems simply the son of a landlord who has grown up to inherit the functions of his mother and who, purely incidentally, has become President.

When I got out of the car in the driveway beside the neat little white farmhouse with its pillared porch, Smith walked out to meet me. He is a typical up-state New York farmer. He was dressed in two-piece overalls—he told me he had just "dressed three fowls" and I knew that morning he had been spreading fertilizer. Bright brown eyes looked out under the wide brim of his straw hat—the kind "Ding's" farmers wear. He took it off and I saw that his hair was not gray as I judged his years would indicate, but weathered a bit, like good lumber that has been exposed to sun and wind and rain.

House Expands Backward.

We did not walk over the 140 acres which make up the place. They are typical of that part of the country, some pretty hilly, some flat—soil that is spread not too deeply over the hard rock, of the sort that makes the Palisades. Flat field stone has provided the stone walls and material for the buildings.

Smith asked me in out of the sun which was filtering through the great trees in the yard. We went in the back door which was handiest.

"It's a long way," he said, "from the parlor to the kitchen." It was. The house had expanded backward evidently instead of spreading out. Convenient in winter though, not so long a path to have to shovel to the barn.

We sat down in the parlor and the conversation started on the landlord-tenant subject. Smith had reached the point where he was telling his side of the story:

"Now the President drove over here a little while back, Smith went on, "with the Princess Juliana. He told her about this house being over a hundred years old and I told him about the well-water. It had gone bad. So he said to go ahead and dig a new well."

Smith showed me the new well. It is 140 feet deep, drilled through the rock. Smith was proud of it. Up Dutchess County way they have a pride in old things that are good. "It will last a hundred years," Smith said with obvious satisfaction.

Two Things Worry Him.

Smith does general farming—raises wheat, oats, corn, potatoes and vegetables and keeps 14 cows. He has a good home market close by and he raises enough vegetables for himself.

There were two things which were worrying Smith when I talked to him. One which every farmer worries about these days—getting help. And another which is the particular worry of a tenant of a President.

Every year the Home club meets on the Smith lawn, a group of some four or five hundred Hyde Parkers (incidentally I understand these people are really the ones the President likes the most). This year something happened that worried Smith.

As host he made an introductory speech. He told me that he looked around and saw there weren't any microphones and concluded that as long as this was a home gathering he could say what he pleased without being quoted in the papers.

He got a little excited, he told me, and said something about wishing the interventionists would go up on a mountain and talk themselves to death. Next day he was shocked to see his words in print. And he got a lot of letters protesting.

He explained to me very earnestly that he didn't mean to say that anybody could not say what they wanted to under the Constitution.

"I suppose it's all right that they should," he said, "but it just seemed to me that when these people talk that way and show dissent in the country they just encourage those people in Europe to prolong the war."

"That's all I meant to say," he concluded, "I never had any idea a reporter would go and put it in the paper."

Smith does not think they should have put it in the paper at all—even if he is the tenant of the landlord that he is.

Rusting Rail Look Quite Attractive Now

Since Uncle Sam has turned junkman and is crying for scrap iron, attention of the defense agencies is turning toward some of those rusty rails which used to be bright and shiny before the flivver and the truck took away their business.

A quarter of all the iron scrap which goes into the manufacture of steel normally comes from the railroads and scrap makes up 50 per cent of the basic raw material of steel. According to recent reports, 98 per cent of all traffic is carried on 70 per cent of the mileage of the railroads of the country. The roads would be glad enough to get rid of the rusty rails which carry little or no traffic and the government would be glad to tap this source for tanks and ships and guns if it were available. However, when formal steps are taken to abandon a branch line there is usually a strong protest from the citizens of a community through which it passes.

Recently a representative of the Interstate Commerce commission was holding a hearing at a town distant from Washington. Many persons from the community were present as witnesses protesting the abandonment of a branch road which went through it.

There was a dispute as to how much the road was used by the community so the ICC representative asked all those who had come to protest against the abandonment of the line who had come to the meeting by auto, truck or bus to raise their hands. All the hands went up. None had used the railroad.

With the call for more steel for national defense, Washington is looking with hungry eyes at the rusting rails

Nazi and Fascist Blandishments Fail in Wooing Chile and Peru

U. S. Backs Its Good-Will Gestures With Orders for War Materials; Geographical Position Eases Fear of Attack; Leaders Are Popular

The following article by Mr. Tomlinson, author and lecturer, who has studied South and Central America for eighteen years, is timely and interesting. We will publish additional authentic feature articles dealing with significant personalities and fundamental institutions of Latin American countries whose newspaper publishers are cooperating with Publishers' Reciprocal Program (Inter-American) by publishing in their newspapers feature articles backgrounding and interpretative of our 'way of life' in the United States.—Editor.

By EDWARD TOMLINSON

IN SPITE of great numbers of active Germans and Italians, Nazi-Fascist pressure has had less effect in the Andean republics of Chile and Peru than in the countries of the east coast. Italians in Peru have tried to court favor with government through influential nationals in that country. Their Fascist friends from Spain have attempted to woo the aristocratic conservatives by harping on the importance of cultural ties with the Old World. Although ardent in its support of the fatherland, the large German colony in Chile has exerted little or no influence upon the political policies of President Pedro Aguirre Cerda and his government.

Geography and local politics have been among the chief stumbling blocks to non-American political activities in these countries. Unlike the countries to the east, the Pacific coast nations are not particularly worried about an Axis attack by force. Ingenious Nazis and Fascists may conceive of the possibility of attacking Brazil and Argentina and maintaining seabound transportation to them, but it is hardly possible that any of them can see a way of getting sufficient naval forces to the west coast of the continent to carry out a successful attack, or back up any coup d'etat they might help to effect.

Liberal Trend in West

They also find in western South America a strong tendency toward liberal and even radical government. The Leftist, or Popular Front, administration and Congress in Chile are just the opposite of a Fascist regime. Peru, under the administration of President Manuel Prado, is experiencing the most liberal and democratic regime in twenty years.

But Nazi propagandists continue to battle us on the economic front in Chile and Peru. Here as elsewhere they lose no opportunity to play up the difficulties of trade with the United States. They point to the copper industry as the great example of now the Yankees get control of the great national resources of a country, the products of which the United States does not need and cannot buy.

Many Chileans themselves remind us of this situation and its results. "You own," a Chilean official told me recently, "the world's largest copper mine, located 10,000 feet up in the Andes, at Chuquicamata, Chile. Your copper investments in this republic alone run into the hundreds of millions. You also built up the great copper industry in Peru. Copper is the largest industry and the largest export from each of these two countries. Yet in normal times practically none of this product can be sold in the United States. Markets must be found for it in other parts of the world."

When reminded that in the emergency the United States is purchasing large quantities of nitrate and iodine from Chile, great quantities of copper from both countries, and is likely to continue to do so for some time, they reply, "Yes, but we are thinking not only in terms of the present crisis but of our future economic welfare."

The Nazis repeat and amplify the same sentiments and add that with the coming of peace (and of course with a victorious Germany) the nations of the "New Order," all under the leadership of the Nazis, will need copper and many other Chilean products. "When this war broke out," they say, "Germany had, through its trade, become a tremendous factor in Chile's economic life. She was buying minerals in increasing quantities. More important still, she was buying wool, wines, timbers and beans, an important export, all of which put profits into the pockets of native Chilean farmers and peasants, instead of the coffers of rich foreigners."

The solution to the problem of our commercial relations with both Chile and Peru, or the possibility of relieving them from European economic pressure, is by no means easy. Fortunately, we will still be a large market for nitrate of soda and iodine. Chile also possesses important deposits of manganese of the finest grade. Like Argentina and Uruguay, if assured a steady market she could increase the production of carpet wool and sheep and lamb skins, as well as animal furs. Chile is one of the original homes of the chinchilla, one of the rarest of all fur-bearing animals. There are possibilities for the increased purchase in this country of Chilean fruits. In December, January and February, during the dead of our winter, she produces the finest of peaches, apricots, plums and melons.

Peru Vanadium Source

To the Peruvians, Nazi agents point out that when the war is over, the United States will buy practically none of their copper; on the other hand, Germany and all Europe will need it and can buy most of Peru's exports. Fortunately, for us, Peruvian economy is much more diversified than that of her neighbor, Chile. She possesses, or is capable of producing a number of important materials which we buy from non-American countries. Aside from copper and oil, she is a large producer of silver and gold and has the world's leading source of vanadium. Peru alone could supply us with our entire needs of vanadium in the years to come. She also has considerable zinc resources and antimony, both at present strategic products. She has recently gone in for the production of fiber flax, an industry which is receiving encouragement and expert advice from the United States Department of Agriculture. Our own production of fiber flax is rather small, so that the larger portion of our annual consumption of 7,000 tons has come from Europe. Peruvian tea compares favorably with that from the Far East.

Although we are the world's greatest producer of short-staple cotton, long-staple for the manufacture of the finest textiles, particularly the type out of which stiff collars and certain fine grades of thread are made, comes from the outside world, mostly from Egypt. Peruvian long-staple cotton, ample to supply us with most of our imports, is among the finest in the world. Last year we imported 31,899,910 pounds from Egypt and only 393,670 pounds from Peru and the other countries of this Hemisphere.

Practical Novelties For You to Cut Out

MISCELLANEOUS cutout designs are here to tempt hammer and saw into use. At top, left, is a very practical item—the "Leave a Note" bungalow. Inch wood makes this, and it is to be placed beside the front door. Pad and pencil inside the hinged door invites friends to leave word if they call when you are away. Practical, too, are the doorknockers—the red-headed woodpecker and the horse. And kitchen or dining room will welcome this clever cottage flower holder and the matching shade pulls.

Jig, coping or keyhole saw may be used to cutting these articles from wood—bright enamels for painting them. Pattern Z9310, 15 cents, gives outlines and complete directions. Send your order to:

Made Most of Opportunity To Illustrate His Point

The prisoner charged with assault had been severely cross-examined by the prosecuting attorney, but still maintained he had just pushed his victim "a little bit."

"Now," said the prosecutor, "for the benefit of the jury, will you please step down here and, with me as a subject, illustrate just what you mean by 'a little bit'?"

The prisoner descended and the spectators were astonished to see him slap the lawyer in the face, seize him bodily, lift him from the floor and hurl him prostrate across a table.

Turning to the jury, he explained mildly, "Gentlemen, about one-tenth that hard."

My wife says: "Fuller, if you don't quit eatin' Kellogg's Pep we're agoin' to hitch an anchor to you to keep you from flyin' over the neighbors' fences."

Which is a darn exaggeration because you have to get all your vitamins to feel as good as I do. And Pep has only the two that are least plentiful in ordinary meals—vitamins B<sub>1</sub> and D.

PEP's a goshamighty fine cereal, though, that lots of people eat just for its taste. Why not try it?

WAFFLES AT NIGHT—GUESTS' DELIGHT!
(See Recipes Below)

OUT OF THE WAFFLE IRON

Waffles! Um'm! Crisp and browned to suit the taste—a queenly dish, whether you're a homemaker who delights in calling in your friends—a "home body" who caters only to the family—or a lone eater who simply likes nice foods.

It's fun to make 'em... it's fun to bake 'em. And waffle baking has made so many homemakers—young and old—waffle-party conscious, that we've included in this week's column games especially suitable for waffle parties.

So why not be a hostess who is different! Invite the "gang" in for a neighborhood "waffle feed." Your new deal in entertaining—whether your guests be club-women, daughter's pals, the high school basketball team, or hubby's cronies—will go down in social history. Mark our words!

Waffles.
(Makes 5 waffles)
2 cups sifted flour
1 1/2 cups milk
3 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
3 eggs
4 to 6 tablespoons melted shortening

Separate the eggs and beat the yolks with the milk. Add the sifted dry ingredients, then the melted shortening, and last, the stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into hot waffle iron and bake until iron stops steaming.

Variations for Standard Recipe.
Pineapple Waffles—Reduce milk in plain waffle recipe to 1 cup and add 1/4 cup well-drained crushed pineapple.

Ham Waffles—Add 6 tablespoons minced cooked ham to plain waffles.

Nut Waffles—Add 1 cup finely chopped nuts to standard waffle recipe.

Spiced Waffles—Add 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/4 teaspoon cloves and 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg to batter for plain waffles. Nuts may be added to this.

Fruit Sauce for Waffles.
1/2 cup butter
2 cups powdered sugar
1 cup crushed berries
1 egg white
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cream butter, add powdered sugar and when well creamed, stir in white of egg and vanilla. Mix thoroughly and add berries. Chill. Makes a delicious topping for waffles

LYNN SAYS:

Care of the Waffle Iron. Most modern electric waffle irons should not be greased, but extra richness must be put into the waffle batter. This should be poured on the pre-heated iron from a pitcher or with a large spoon.

With continued use, the cooking surface is apt to become brown, and it is a mistake to remove this unless it becomes burned or too thick. During the occasional scourings, great care must be taken not to get water into the connection plug or heating element. A damp cloth or a soft brush should be used to free the iron from excess batter or crumbs.

Gingerbread Waffles.
(Makes 6 waffles)

1 1/2 cups pastry flour
1/4 cup sugar
1/2 cup molasses
2 eggs
1 cup sour milk
1 teaspoon ginger
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
6 tablespoons melted shortening

Beat eggs until light. Add sugar, molasses and sour milk. Sift dry ingredients together and add. Beat until smooth. Add shortening and bake 3 or 4 minutes. Serve with ice cream.

Chocolate Waffles.
(Makes 4 waffles)

1 1/4 cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
6 tablespoons sugar
2 eggs
1 cup milk
2 squares chocolate
4 tablespoons butter

Mix and sift dry ingredients. Add milk, beaten eggs, fat and chocolate which has been melted over hot water. Preheat iron 8 minutes and bake waffle for three minutes.

Apple Waffles.
(Makes 6 waffles)

1 1/2 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 egg
2 tablespoons butter
1/4 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup milk
1/2 cup chopped apples
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Dash of nutmeg

Chop apples, add lemon juice and nutmeg. Let stand for 15 minutes. Sift flour, measure, add dry ingredients and add apples and butter. Heat waffle iron 6 to 8 minutes, pour on batter and bake two to three minutes. Serve with butter and brown syrup.

Here's a good game for your next waffle party. It's called CONSEQUENCES and is played as the old familiar Consequences. Paper and pencil are needed. Each person draws the head of a beast, bird or man, folds the paper over and passes it to the neighbor on his left. Each person then draws a body of beast, bird or man, according to his fancy, and again folds the paper over. The last item to be added is the legs and feet. The paper is to be folded again and passed to the neighbor on the left, then all are opened. The results may be astonishing.

AROUND THE HOUSE

The flavor and vitamin content of cooked white squash are improved by sprinkling grated cheese over it just before it goes to the table.

Bacon will not curl up on the edges if the edges are notched with scissors before putting on to cook.

Before cooking rice place it in a colander and pour boiling water over it. Save this water, as it makes excellent starch for blouses, muslin, laces, et cetera.

White beating egg whites see that the bowl and beater are perfectly clean and dry. Also, have no yolk in the white. Otherwise the whites will not beat up to their full volume. If any yolk drops into the white, remove it with a piece of eggshell.

You should wash and clean thoroughly spinach, lettuce and celery as soon as delivered. Then cover with a clean cloth and put where it is cool. They keep longer and are ready to use at a minute's notice.
