There's plenty of water . . . it's just a matter of transportation from where it is to where it ain't. Wes Anthony, who lives out at Big Square, loves figures and he just took part in a tour through western stock feeding operations. While enroute we presume he must have visited Grand Coulee Dam because he came back with the following information:

According to the Bureau of Reclamation, 29,835,452,790,000 nearly thirty trillion gallons of water passed through the gigantic dam in 1961.

"If we in the Plains irrigation belt," Mr. Anthony says, "have 27,000 wells pumping an average of 800 gallons per minute, 60 minutes an hour for 24 hours a day, 30 days a year, there was enough water went through the dam last year to furnish us irrigation water for ten years.

"If we have 180,000,000 people in our nation, there was enough water went through the dam for every person to have 454 gallons of water a day every day in the year." Mr. Anthony didn't say so, but we believe this is about the average national consumption per human per day in the United States counting what industry uses and everything. Anyway, that's a lot of water. Wish we had part of it.

★ Texas brags of its wide open spaces, its eccentric millionaires and its oil and bigness. Seldom, if ever, do Texans expose themselves to the revealing glare of critical self-analysis. While the state lives up to its name of rugged individualism less than essential welfare programs, states rights and big government antagonism, there is also the taint of hypocrisy in many places.

For instance, Texas is number 15 in the amount of federal welfare money accepted by states, yet it provides less state and local money for taking care of its own welfare cases than 39 other states. Texas also is 32nd from the top in spending for education. The Republican-dominated north Panhandle, which follows its Pied Piper, the Amarillo Daily News in sarcastic condemnation of federal grants, holds out its eager hands for a $3 million largesse to help pay for building a dam on the Canadian River for municipal water and pleasure purposes. ($10 million was granted for this purpose by the federal government several days ago, although all but $3 million is supposed to be paid back.)

These same people bitterly denounce any plan to clean up some of our human despair, with the result that Texas ranks 42nd in old age assistance, 42nd in aid to the needy blind, 45th in aid to dependent children, and 39th in aid to the permanently and totally disabled.

While many Texans say they want the federal government to stay out, that they will take care of their own problems, there seems to be little consistency when the time comes to put up or shut up. Texans, on the average, spend only about half as much local and state money toward public assistance programs as do average Americans in the other states.

Texas welfare workers carry heavier case loads than any other state in the union, 351 to the average 145.

During 1960, according to the Texas Department of Public Welfare's annual report, Texans spent $5.10 per capita on public assistance programs, versus a national average of $10.25. Colorado was highest, with $26.86; and Virginia the least with $11.71.

While many Texans were arguing against federal spending, they were accepting more federal money for public assistance than all but ten other states.

Despite what you may think of modern Texas, we have often had nothing but a bald-faced larceny for state government, and some of our local level operations have gotten in such a mess they had to be bailed out by the federal government.

Many conservative Texans we have talked to would say that welfare cases should go soak their heads. "We're going to have these people, there's nothing you can do to solve the problem, so why try at all?"

Few of us stop to realize what goes on around us sometimes. There are thousands of people in this state needing mental treatment they can't afford from private institutions. In San Antonio there are children suffering from malnutrition who look like European and Chinese youngsters you used see pictures of during the war. In Austin today there are people begging on the streets, many of whom are amputees, blind, or otherwise disabled. In Dallas there are pensioners living on $40 a month.

Texas has gained a lot of practice in looking the other way. The milk of human kindness has clattered in this state. This is one of the indictments against those who say we'll look after our own problems.

RAY JOE RILEY

Ray Joe Riley Named by Jaycees As County's Top Young Farmer of Year

Ray Joe Riley, 26-year-old lifelong resident of Castro County and the Sunnyside community, has been selected by the Dimmitt Jaycees as winner of their outstanding young farmer award for 1962.

The award is made annually by the Jaycees to the young farmer of the county who is making "unusual and notable progress with his agricultural career."

"We had to choose from a tremendous group of nominees," Jaycee President Pete Wright said this week. "We were startled by the outstanding accomplishments of these young men. I feel confident many of our nominees should have easily won a similar award in most other agricultural counties of the state. We chose Mr. Riley partly because of his outstanding work in developing new hybrid cotton and grain strains, and his work on all agricultural levels from community through state, and partly because of his record in a set of basic considerations:

1. Progress made in farm crop and livestock production as compared with what the young farmer had to work with when he started.

2. Progress made in livestock practices.

3. Investment increases.

4. Extent of good soil and natural resource conservation practices.

5. Contributions to community, state and nation.

Runners in the selection of Mr. Riley were Bob DuLaney and Bob Anthony. Others nominated for the honor were Donald Wright, Dale Maxwell, Melvin Barton and George Sides.

The committee selecting the outstanding Young Farmer was composed of Charles Hottle, J. G. Davis, Ewing Mathis, and Pete Wright.

Hottle, who is county agent, was spokesman for the group. "This selection required a lot of thought and effort on the part of the selection committee. It was a difficult task to finally single it down to one man. We would like to take this opportunity to congratulate the winner and the nominees and thank them for their cooperation. It's too bad the entire group could not receive the award."

Riley will be entered in statewide competition for recognition as the Outstanding Young Farmer in Texas at a meeting in Greenville, Texas on February 17.

Irrigation Gas Users' Legislation Is Approved

Before the Texas House of Representatives for final passage Thursday was a bill which would put natural gas used for irrigation purposes under the price jurisdiction of the Railroad Commission so long as the seller is already regulated.

The measure won preliminary approval in the house Wednesday by a vote of 83 to 59 while scores of High Plains irrigation farmers stood watching from the galleries.

The bill had already passed the Senate, but must be returned for re-approval since the house tacked on an amendment. Time is the problem for the irrigation farmers since the special session ends no later than next Thursday.

There were three hours of debate and five amendments were proffered but turned down, while the sixth one stuck. Sponsored in the Senate by senators Andy Rogers of Amarillo and Grady Hazelwood of Amarillo, the bill passed there with only a brief discussion and no protest.

The bill is the result of a long series of efforts by area farmers to make it more difficult for gas suppliers to increase prices. The efforts have been aimed primarily at Pioneer Natural Gas company. It was introduced in the house by Rep. H. G. Wells of Tullia.

A delegation of forty-one Panhandle and South Plains farmers representing the Plains Irrigation Gas Users Association were present for a hearing before the state Senate Agriculture Committee and also visited with Governor Price Daniel Tuesday afternoon, according to a statement by Jay Boston of the Association.

According to Mr. Boston, a large group of Panhandle and South Plains farmers—all members of the Association—have for several weeks been making plans to try to secure state legislation which would give farmers the same right of appeal to the Railroad Commission in case the seller and purchaser cannot agree upon a rate. Cities and towns already have this right under present law. An estimated 200 farmers swarmed over the capitol in an effort to support their cause before legislators.

Under provisions of the bill, any gas company who is a public utility by virtue of activities other than sales to farmers would be the only ones affected, and in such a situation the sales of gas by a company already a utility, would be subject to the regulation of the Railroad Commission in the same manner as sales to towns and cities.

"The bill, if enacted, would affect a great savings to irrigation farmers all over the Panhandle and South Plains who are using gas as a fuel," Mr. Boston said.

Stiffest opposition to the bill came from Rep. J. W. Buchanan of Dumas who first tried to raise a point of order against it, then tried to recommit it and finally tried to remove his four-county Panhandle district from its jurisdiction. He failed on all counts.

Buchanan was quoted as saying his farmers did not want to do anything to jeopardize their getting gas. "All we want to do is buy gas. We'll get down on our knees to buy gas at any price," he pleaded.

Rep. Will Ehrle of Childress was also quoted as saying farmers in his area are also concerned about getting gas service, although he had no irrigated farms in his district.

The concern may have come from a statement by C. I. Wall of Amarillo, president of Pioneer Natural Gas Company, who reportedly told the house agricultural committee that his company would have to take a long look at requests for service to additional farmers if the bill becomes law.

Wall also said he believed the supply of irrigation gas should be unregulated because of its tricky nature. He said peak demand is dependent on the weather making the use unpredictable as in the case of municipal consumption. Present rates were set in February, 1961, Mr. Wall said, and are at the lowest possible cost.

The bill is an outgrowth of legislation passed eight years ago as an attempt by High Plains farmers to secure natural gas as a fuel for their irrigation engines.

This fuel, where available, had proven much cheaper and less troublesome than butane, gasoline or other combustibles. The legislation removed an objection by Phillips Petroleum Company and others to sale of gas for irrigation purposes. These producers felt the sale would subject them to regulation as public utilities. The 1954 legislation stated clearly that such sale would not cause the producer to come under public utility regulation. All gas has since been free of regulation when sold for irrigation purposes.

Irrigation Gas Users Association attorney John D. Alkin of Hereford said the same result could be obtained by going through the courts, but that it would take much more time than clarifying legislation.

Sign-Up Period Set for Grain Sorghum Farmers

Producers who wish to comply with the 1962 feed grain program will sign up between February 5 and March 30, reports C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist.

Provisions of the 1962 program are very similar to those for 1961. One change is that idle and fallow land for the years 1959 and 1960 will be considered in the soil conserving base for farms. This will give less flexibility in the use of land diverted from feed grains, explains Bates.

Payment rates for diverted acres will be in line with those for 1961 because support prices for feed grains have been set at identical levels. The rates are again based on the normal production of the farm times the county support rate. The minimum acreage reduction (from the 1959-60 base) is 20 percent, which will earn a payment based on 50 percent of the local support price. For diversion of between 20 and 40 percent the payment will be figured at 60 percent of the local support price.

Barley, which was not included in last year's program because of late passage of legislation, is included in the 1962 program. A producer having barley plus grain sorghum or corn can participate in barley reduction independent of the other crops. If he wishes to comply on barley alone however, he must stay within his 1959-60 base on corn and grain sorghum if he wants to receive price supports. On the otherhand, if he wishes to comply on the corn and grain sorghum he must not exceed his base acreage for barley.

Cooperating farmers will be eligible for price supports on their 1962 crops of corn, grain sorghum, the base yield limitations, Bates continues. Also, they are permitted to draw one-half of their total diversion payment at the time of their sign-up.

Non-cooperating producers will not be eligible for price supports on feed grains, but they will receive the market price for them. Since no acreage will be diverted they will not receive payment for any additional conservation use.

Grain producers should study carefully their individual alternatives in these programs. Decisions should rest on the estimated outcome for each operator, based on the goals he is seeking, says Bates. Producers having questions about the effects of varying levels of compliance on their 1962 operations should contact their local County ASCS office manager or their local county agent.

High Plains Research Foundation Gives Grain Sorghum Test Results

Good yields of grain sorghum have been produced in the High Plains area with a wide range of planting dates. But, with the many hybrids available to producers, more and more information is needed concerning the response of different maturity date hybrids to planting date. This test was initiated in 1961 to determine the effect of planting date on early, medium, and late maturing hybrids.

Included in the test were six different hybrids, classified with respect to maturity as early, medium and late. The early hybrids, Texas 502 and Northrup King 120, are two of the earliest hybrids available. The hybrids medium maturity, Texas 610 and DeKalb E56a, have been very popular for several years. The late hybrids, P. A. G. 665 and Lindsey 788, represented the latest maturity group.

All six hybrids were planted in replicated plots on April 20, May 15, June 1, and June 25. Seeding rate was 10 pounds per acre.

Nitrogen was applied uniformly to all plots in the test at the rate of 100 pounds per acre.

Irrigation water was applied to each date of planting as needed to insure adequate moisture for growth and development. The April planting was watered five times with a total of 18.5 acre inches. The May 15 and June 1 dates of planting required four irrigations which totaled 14.8 acre inches. The June 25 planting was watered only three times with a total of 11.3 acre inches.

Bloom dates were recorded for all hybrids as they began blooming. The height of each hybrid on each planting date was measured at maturity. All plots within each planting date were harvested on the same date, when the latest maturing hybrid was dry enough to thresh. The grain from each plot was weighed and moisture percentage determined immediately after harvest. Yields were then calculated on the basis of 14 per cent moisture.

The results of this test are not conclusive because of bird damage to plots that matured early and midge damage to plots that bloomed late.

Birds began feeding on the early hybrids as they ripened and consequently the earliest plots were damaged most. There was no other grain in the surrounding area at the time these plots were ripening which resulted in heavy bird feeding on a small area.

Estimates of bird damage varied from 10 to 85 percent on the April 20 planting and from 0 to 35 percent in the May 15 planting. A large field of grain sorghum would certainly not have been affected by birds to the extent that these small plots were.

All hybrids planted on June 25 were infested by midge. This resulted in estimated yield reductions of from 15 to 85 percent. The late blooming hybrids were the most severely affected by midge.

The midge is a tiny insect which lays its eggs in the bloom of grain sorghums and other grasses. Larvae emerge from the eggs within a short time and feed on the seed embryo. This prevents the grain from developing and produces a head with little or no grain produced. The extent of damage depends on the percent of grains affected.

The midge is a new problem in this area and presents a serious threat to grain sorghum production. Insecticidal control is impractical because it is necessary to spray on three day intervals from the time the head emerges until after the blooming period. Although only those hybrids planted June 25 were affected by midge in this test, this is no indication that earlier plantings will not be affected in another season.

The June 1 planting was the only planting date in which none of the hybrids were affected by birds or midge. Yields on these plots ranged from 5,003 with North King 120 to 8,429 with Lindsey 788. Five of the six hybrids produced their highest yield of P.A.G. 665 was produced on the May 15 planting.

Planting date greatly influenced both the length of time from planting to bloom and plant heights of all hybrids as shown in Table 2. The average time from planting to bloom was 24 days longer for the April planting than for the June 25 planting. From this standpoint the early planting was less favorable because more water was required to grow the crop to maturity. However, from the standpoint of plant height, the early planting was more favorable because the hybrids averaged 12 inches shorter when planted on April 20 as compared with June 25.

There was no advantage in the April planting with respect to early harvest. There was very little difference in the moisture content of the grain from the April and May plantings which were both harvested on the same date. The high moisture readings for the early hybrids planted in April were due to tillering following the bird damage to these hybrids.

The effect of planting date on yield of grain sorghum was nullified in 1961 by bird damage to the early maturing plots and midge damage to all hybrids planted June 25. The June 1 planting was most favorable for all hybrids except P. A. G. 665 which produced its highest yield on the May 15 planting. Because of the damage to three of the four planting dates in this test, no conclusions can be drawn from these results, regarding the effect of planting date on yield of the different grain sorghum hybrids.

Tabulations of the results are available from High Plains Research Foundation Box 1267, Plainview, Texas.

Divert Only Productive Acres

Charlie Hill, ASC secretary, said this week that farmers could not count as diverted acreage land taken out of production and replaced by newly-broken ground. Only acreage in normal production may be diverted according to the USDA regulations which reads: "The number of acres of non-cropland which is planted for harvest in 1962, excluding non-cropland planted to perennial grasses and perennial legumes on which no nurse crop is harvested for grain or oilseed, shall be subtracted from the acreage otherwise eligible for payment to the extent that an equal acreage of cropland on the farm is not retired to permanent cover of trees, perennial grasses or perennial legumes. Any acreage so retired to non-crop use shall not be eligible for designation as diverted acreage or considered as meeting the normal conserving acreage requirements for the farm in 1962."

Mr. W. A. Hunter of Hereford is confined to Deaf Smith Hospital and would like for friends in Dimmitt to visit him there.

Walter Rogers' WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER

THE BUDGET

On January 18th the Congress received the budget Message of the President of the United States for Fiscal Year 1963. The Budget Message reflected a balanced budget for 1963. However, it is well to note that very few budgets have ever been presented to the Congress in which balance was not claimed. It might also be noted that the final result was an unbalanced budget. In the past 16 years there has been a deficit 10 times. Deficit spending has been the order of the day 8 years out of the past 11. The year 1959 produced the highest peacetime deficit in the history of this country. This, together with prior deficits, continued to push up the public debt to near the three hundred billion mark. Another increase in the national debt will be requested. We cannot continue to operate on a deficit. It should not have been permitted as many times as it occurred in the past. There are times when deficit spending is necessary for the protection of our country. But in peacetime when we have the abundance that we enjoy in this country, recovery should be made to offset the deficits created during wartime. This has been a controversial issue every step of the way, and will continue to be a controversial issue. An analysis of the Congressional votes on spend matters will reveal that a substantial minority has consistently voted for an actual balanced budget rather than a proposed balanced budget. Had those of us who have strongly advocated an actual balanced budget every year been successful, there would be no need for a requested increase in public debt. One of the main reasons that we in this country have suffered from deficits is the age-old problem of greed. There are too many people who are willing to cut Federal expenditures so long as it does not personally affect them, their community, or their State. The result is deficit spending. If it is to be cured, every area of this country and every segment of its economy should take a long, hard look at its past fiscal policies, its requirements, and its demands, and come forward with some realistic and effective reduction proposals. The Congress should, in my opinion, authorize the appropriations committees to assign employees of the committees to work along with the bureaus, boards, and the agencies when they are preparing their budgets. These employees should be able to produce a documentary story that will result in measurable cutbacks in many of the departmental areas. If the appropriations committees cannot or do not desire to so proceed, a separate budget committee should be created to make a continuing and constant evaluation of the requests of the many, many departments of the government in their budget request. It is my opinion that a full and complete story on this subject would afford the Members of congress with sufficient information to effectively save several billion dollars a year. In addition to this, the Congress should adopt legislation requiring a fixed fund to be set aside out of revenue each year and to be paid on the public debt. It must be realized that to be effective, such a practice presupposes a balanced budget.

As for the present proposal, you will be interested to know that in the 1962 Federal Budget, which was the last budget of President Eisenhower, the tax dollar was divided as follows:

Where it comes from . . .

- 55 cents Individual Income Taxes
- 25 cents Corporation Income Taxes
- 12 cents Excise Taxes
- 8 cents All Other Receipts

Where it goes . . .

- 57 cents Major National Security
- 11 cents Interest
- 6 cents Veterans
- 6 cents Agriculture
- 18 cents Other
- 2 cents Debt Retirement

It is interesting to note that the "2 cents Debt Retirement" item above referred to did not come into being, because that budget had a paper balance and not an actual balance. Hence, the so-called debt retirement feature was wiped out by the deficit.

The first Budget Message of Services Sunday with them. Mr. and Mrs. Troy Blackburn and girls visited Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Gid Howell and family of Muleshoe. The Adult II Sunday School Class enjoyed a class dinner in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Russell Sunday. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Milburn, Mr. and Mrs. Kobert Paschal and family, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Elkins and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Widner and Jaton, and Rev. and Mrs. M. D. Durham and Marvalynne. 71 attended Sunday School with 52 in Training Union Sunday. Rev. and Mrs. M. D. Durham and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Phelan left Monday morning for Dallas to attend the Evangelistic Conference. Marvalynne will stay in Dimmitt with Mrs. Ernest Sandel. Rita Holcomb was home from Amarillo Sunday. Geraldine Matlock of Springlake was a Sunday dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Bradley and family. She was a guest in the morning worship service.

President Kennedy divides the income and expenditures as follows: Where it comes from

- 53 cents Individual Income Taxes
- 28 cents Corporation Income Tax
- 11 cents Excise Taxes
- 8 cents All Other Receipts

Where it goes -

- 63 cents National Defense, international, and Space
- 10 cents Fixed Interest Charges
- 6 cents Veterans
- 6 cents Agriculture
- 6 cents Health and Welfare
- 9 cents All other.

The difference in allocations is not unusual, as there are no definite fixed divisions of expenditures. There are fixed divisions of income because all of the income is from Taxes. Each President has a different way of allocating expenditures. The major point is, however, that substantially 70 cents out of every tax dollar is earmarked for defense and associated purposes. The fact is that a substantial part of the interest charges could be allocated as defense requirements because most of the national debt was created during World War II. This charge alone could be measurably reduced if we would pursue a policy of reducing the public debt systematically, rather than increasing it each year.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

By Boyce House

I am not a mighty hunter. My greatest hunting exploit was when I was not yet 13 years old. I was visiting my Uncle Lonzo's farm in Missouri. My proudest possession was a singleshot .22 rifle. Several of us boys were out hunting. We had seen no game and so we took turns shooting at cans on top of fence posts, bottles placed on logs and paper targets on trees. At last we actually sighted a squirrel. But by this time, our supply of ammunition was used up. So I volunteered to remain and keep an eye on the squirrel while the others went for more shells. This suggestion was not received with enthusiasm but after all I was the owner of the rifle and furthermore was providing the capital. A package of cartridges was a quarter. These were the black powder kind; the smokeless variety was more expensive - But I didn't mind swabbing the barrel with a bit of rag. Also the 25-cent box was rim-fire; there was another kind which was supposed to be more accurate but they cost more. The full facts are given as every effort is being made to make the account of this exploit absolutely accurate. However, the state of my finances was such that I had only a nickel in cash. With that, three shells could be bought. So the other boys hastened to the general store, which was a half mile - and was substantially the same distance back. I kept an eye on the squirrel and, as he would circle the tree, I would do likewise but at a distance and in a casual fashion so as not to alarm him. (The insinuations of pseudo-friends that I was smart enough to keep away from a squirrel are passed by as unworthy of notice.) The strain of watching the creature had me almost exhausted when my colleagues returned. In a matter of seconds, the gun had been loaded; I took dead aim - (I had agreed to take the first shot) and at the crack of my trusty rifle, the squirrel fell to the ground. One squirrel does not provide much meat but it was enough to flavor a large amount of dumplings - and dumplings are the best part of a squirrel, anyhow.

IN THE BEGINNING

Have you ever wondered about where banquets originated? Have you ever looked it up? Well, "here 'tis."

It was the famous Mr. Boswell who first defined man as the cooking animal, yet it is not known when the human animal first learned to cook. It is highly improbable that this secret was known to prehistoric man. He ate his food raw, and washed it down with pure water until he learned that it was more pleasant to satisfy his hunger after the food had been subjected to heat.

Our few records show that the art of feasting was practically contemporaneous with the Egyptians and the Hebrews.

Among the Jews all festive repasts were held toward the close of day, after all matters of business had been concluded. If the feast was to be one of great ceremony, guests were not only invited long before the occasion, but again on the day and as near to the appointed hour as possible.

Guests at Hebrew banquets were required to bring their cards of invitation and these were presented to servants stationed at the entrance door. Upon being admitted the guests were conducted to the receiving-room where water, oils, and perfumes awaited them. If the host desired to exhibit a great mark of courtesy, he provided each guest with a richly embroidered garment, light and showy and cut in a flowing fashion, which all were required to wear during the feast.

In the earliest days, as is shown by the habits of the Israelites, guests sat cross-legged around a low table and the custom of reclining while eating was not introduced until about the last of the Old Testament days. In Ancient Egypt and Persia the tables were arranged along the sides of the room and guests faced the wall.

At this time such articles as spoons, knives, and forks were unknown and those who ate obtained the morsel they desired by dipping their slices of bread in the dish before them, folding the meat, or other food substance, within by the use of the thumb and two fingers. Later centuries saw the invention of the spoon but many hundreds years elapsed before any other substitute for the fingers was suggested. Naturally the hands became smeared with grease, but they were cleaned by being rubbed on bread kept for that purpose. This bread was then thrown to the dogs who waited beneath the tables for just such morsels from the feast. If the fingers became too badly soiled, however, servants would appear with water and assisted the guests to wash by pouring water over the hands into a basin.

When the party was a large one it was the custom for two persons to eat from one dish and the host often showed the height of hospitality by dipping his hand into his own dish, lifting a portion of the food, and offering sop to his guest. To decline such an attention was a breach of etiquette that stamped one as being extremely ill-bred.

After the adoption of the reclining posture, guests lay with their faces toward the table, the left arm resting upon a cushion and the feet stretched out behind, while during the progress of the banquet, both head and feet were frequently sprinkled with perfume to overcome any unpleasant odor that might arise.

The food served at these ancient banquets consisted of flesh, fish, fowl, melted butter, bread, honey, and fruit all of which were brought to the table at one time. All this food was either prepared in liquid or with a sauce and was conveniently cut into small pieces before being served.

It is scarcely necessary to trace the history of the banquet—rich

Bright and Early

The F. H. A. held a short meeting Wednesday 8:30 a.m. to discuss their plans for the Best Beau Banquet, the plans for the January night meeting, the new officers for the organization, the Candidate for the "Best Beau" for this year. Those members who want to hold an office for the year, 1962-1963 submitted their names to be considered by the nominating committee. The results found by the committee will be announced at the next meeting so that they can vote on the final nominees and also nominate their candidates for "Best Beau" at that meeting.

Carole Norris announced that they would have a talent show on January 29, to entertain the grandparents. If the members' grandparents can not come they are encouraged to bring some other elderly couple.

All those couples who wanted to sit together at the banquet were admonished to tell Sharon Thomas to make arrangements in the seating plan.

Senior Boy of the Week

It was very difficult for Gene Bradley, our Senior of the Week, to find enough time to tell us about himself. But at last, he interrupted his busy schedule enough to give us some information.

Gene, also known as "Shorty," told us that he was welcomed by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dent Bradley, on July 16, 1943. (The stork was very happy to get rid of this noisy "bundle of joy") Although he's been trying to grow for all these years, Gene has only made it to 5' 7".

"The Searchers" is the movie Gene enjoyed most, while John Wayne and Elizabeth Taylor rank Number One as actor and actress. His favorite food is steak, and red is his favorite color. "Big Bad John" is the best song he has ever heard, and he also told us the Ford is the car he likes best. Horseback riding is his hobby, but he also has a pet peeve. It is snobby people.

During Gene's years in high school, he has been in football, basketball, F. H. A. Best Beau, Courtesy king, Personality King for two years, and Class favorite for four years.

Gene's ambition is to own a ranch, and it is evident that he will succeed.

Royal Suspense

In the tradition of D.H.S., the queens have been nominated to represent the football and basketball teams. As usual, lovely, talented, versatile candidates have been nominated. It seems as though the nominees ranked extra high on such qualities as charm, beauty, popularity, and personality, which rated heavily in their favor.

But who will be the lucky girls chosen? Will the basketball queen be talented Doris, cute Ina, sweet Sharon or lovely Sandra? Will the girl chosen to represent the Bobcat football squad be pretty Wanda, witty Sue, smiling Janiece or vivacious Sharon?

I leave the answers to these questions to your own opinion and imagination. The queens will be revealed in March at the Athletic Banquet. Don't you hope you are at the banquet so that you will be one of the first to know??

THE SHADOW

The shadow this week followed Gary Steven Wesson, the Great. Monday night found Steve at home watching television. Tuesday night Steve went to the ballgame. He took a pretty little freshman girl named Arlene Reid. Wednesday and Thursday Steve decided that he would study "a little." Friday Steve had a date with Arlene and they went to the show with Clay Gabel and Greta Nelson. Saturday Steve stayed around the house and didn't do much of anything. Saturday night Steve was seen riding around in Dean Lilley's new car.

Sunday, Steve went to church and Sunday night he had another date with Arlene. I hope next time the shadow will have some one easier to follow than Gary Steven Wesson, the Great.

AT LAST

At last the annual staff can sigh a breath of relief. At least for a little while. Last Tuesday was a hectic day for our annual sponsor and editors. Especially the last two periods. The man came to take the rest of the pictures that were missed last time. The pictures that were taken last Tuesday are the FHA, Pep Club, Library, Thespians, the Bobcat Tales staff and last, but not least the annual staff.

The class-favorites and all-school favorites pictures were taken Wednesday by the Boyd's from Clovis. We know you will be proud of your annual when you get it next May.

CAMPUS CHAT—MEET THE PRESS

Hi I'm Casey the Clown. Of course you've heard of me, cause nobody could help knowing who Casey the Clown is!!! Well let me tell you.

I was practicing on my unicycle Friday night when a big wind caught me. It blew me right to a little town called Dimmitt. Boy, were things happening there I peddled around. I saw a lot of interesting people, even if I do say so. There was Wanda and Mike G., Deborah and Darless, Penny and Donnie L., Steve and Arlene, Clay and Greta were out that night too.

Well, Saturday I said to myself, "Casey, your nose isn't as bright and red as usual, you've got to work out on a trampoline." Well, it seems that the closest trampoline is in Hereford. Well, I went over there and bounced a while when, right in the middle of a double somersault, I saw Mike and Sheri. I fell flat on my little red nose, so I decided I'd had enough of that.

I hopped on my pogo stick and pretty soon I was back in Dimmitt. I almost got run over by Dean's new car, it's a red 1962 convertible. Steve, Clay, Ronnie H., Bill C., and Larry B. were riding around Saturday. I'll tell you, a clown on a pogo stick isn't safe in Dimmitt with all those cars zooming around!

I thought I was sure I saw Dean and Steve riding around with two Dimmitt girls, but Steve is going steady with someone else.

So well, also out that night were Roy and Sue, Janiece and Kelton, Louise Carson and Ronald Young, Cathy Gollehon and Donnie Heston and Gerald Summers and Sharon Lilley.

Carole and Eugene chaperoned Sandra's slumber party Saturday night. Well by this time you can imagine I was pretty tired so I hopped down to D.H.S. and found a nice flag pole to sleep on.

Sunday I felt like I just had to get in a little time walking a lightrope. I was pretty interested in that Dimmitt crowd by this time so I just decided to practice on the telephone lines down town. There certainly were a lot of people on the street that night. I was glad I was in a safe place away from those cars. I saw someone called Kitty with Harley D. I saw Mike B. and Georgene B. Wanda and Michael, Larry B. and Kay B., Steve and Arlene, Mike G. and Sheri W., Janiece and Kelton. I hopped down and went to that drive-in that has that big red sign, on account of my suit is red and white striped. There I saw Suzanne and Dwight, Linda McCollum and Jimmy, Roy and Sue, and Marika and Jim A.

Well, by this time I knew my T. V. fans were calling for me. I hopped on my unicycle and headed for home. As I passed through Hereford I saw Carole and Eugene heading for the show.

Well, thanks for a great time in Dimmitt. If you ever get lonesome to see your old pal Casey the Clown just watch that T.V. set, till you see my big red nose and baby blue eyes.

Points, What Points?

Points! What points! You mean today, this very minute! are some of the remarks that could be heard last week, coming from the auditorium. The reason was fairly simple, all the members had to record the points they had earned in F. T. A. Each member has to have a certain number of points in order to attend the State Convention. The members have earned their points by grading papers, baby-sitting for the P.T.A., working on committees and various other things. (If any teacher has papers to grade, I bet he could find some P. T. A. er that needs to pick up a few points.) After the members had recorded their points, the meeting was ended.

—SPORTS—

The Bobcats started off their week defeating Canyon 61-60, in a close ballgame which required an overtime. The "B" team played Canyon also and won 59-49. The high scorers for the Bobcats Tuesday were Calvert and Ratcliff. The girls played Canyon also and defeated them 60-27. The "B" team Bobbies came through to win 34-25. The girls sitting in the high score spotlight were Doris McDermitt, LaDawn Kemp, and Ina Messenger.

Friday night the Bobcats took a trip north to Dumas, Texas. The Varsity was defeated 41-61; the old "B" team played also and they lost, too. The high point men for Friday were again Calvert and Ratcliff.

This Friday the Bobcats play Tulia here. Let's all be there and back the Bobcats. Incidentally, the fans can show some good sportsmanship, too.

Another very important responsibility of the staff, besides just gathering news and writing it is to be positive that all of the information you have is correct-names, dates, places, events, ect. and not misleading. During the process of gathering the facts, writing the article, and having it typed, there are bound to be some mistakes—mostly typographical. Any mistakes that are made, however, should be caught and corrected by the proof-reader. The chances of having a more nearly perfect newspaper are even greater if there are at least two or, better still, three proof-readers. It is pretty easy to accidentally let a few mistakes slip by if there is only one proofreader, but these "little slips" can and should be eliminated because some one could be hurt in some way by an error. A newspaper should build good will and gain the respect of its readers by being a good servant to the people. Therefore, it is up to the reporter to see that only truth is printed, and be cognizant of the readers' feelings and reputations. This is why the staff must be extra careful to print only that which is meant to be printed, because once the news of one department is proofread and sent out to the main News office, that's all

Q Club

Wednesday, January 17, the Q Club met, the president Suzan Yodits opened the meeting. During the meeting Mrs. Robinson talked about the Science Fair on March 1. Then she talked about the Q club getting to go to the Amarillo Helium Plant. Then we talked about what the Q club was going to enter in the Science Fair, and it was decided that we would work with osmosis. Suzan closed the meeting.

there is to it for that day, or week; for once the news is turned in to the main News office, it cannot be changed. The reason for this is quite logical; once the type is set for the newspaper, nothing can be changed unless it is absolutely necessary. It is too difficult to reset the type for a page just to make minor changes.

"Well, my time is running out, so I will continue next week and each week thereafter until I have acquainted you with the entire staff. Next week, you will meet the editor and co-editors, and learn of some of their many duties and responsibilities.

Looking into the Future

The first semester of school is finished. The school term is half gone. About this time every year, in the halls of Dimmitt High School there are people with a worried frown or a questioning look on their face. These people are called Seniors. You ask, "Well what are they so worried about?" The answer is, "The Future."

At this time of the year the poor seniors receive literature in the mail telling the advantages of different colleges. The poor seniors' heads are full of questions - "Shall I go to college? Which college shall I go to? When are the tests? How do I apply for entrance?"

Mr. Newman, our student counselor, has set about answering these questions.

Last week the seniors learned when the tests are to be given. Earlier we learned about grade points. The seniors were also given information concerning entrance information that must be turned in before anyone is accepted.

Last week some D.H.S. exes-Patsy Woodell, Tommy Allen, and Jean Hilburn-spoke to the seniors about college. All the seniors appreciated this look into the future and learned more about what to expect.

In Mr. Newman's office there is available literature and information for anyone interested.

With all this excellent help and direction, we are sure the seniors will survive this first step into the future.

Limelight Lad—

Tall and blonde are adjectives that go to describe our Limelight Lad for this week. He may be seen during school hours walking a cute Senior to her classes, or after school hours, he will probably be studying. All this studying must be good for him, for he is a member of the National Honor Society and has been voted by his classmates as Most Likely to Succeed his freshman and Junior years. He is also good in Latin, and belongs to the Junior Classical League. He likes to play football, and was number 20 on the Bobcat team this year.

As his favorites, the car-Mercury

Word of the Week—

What would you do if your boyfriend or girlfriend said that he or she was going to give you a kiss for your birthday? Donna Stokes - Eat it. Wanda Stine - Hide it. Suzanne Davis - O.K. Wanda Hrabal - Tell him he was crazy. Sharon Lilly - O. K., I guess. Bonita Honea - Shout for joy. Earnestine Waggoner - I'd be real happy. Linda Harlan - O Boy! Arlene Ewing - I don't know. Linda Shepherd - Ask him what it was. Gene Bradley - say give me another. Donny Nelson - I think she already has.

Thelva Morgan - Thank him, I guess. Kathy Gollehon - Thank you very much. I'll wear it always. Harley Wilke - Just keep it. Pat Rials - Thank him and look dumb. James Falkner - I don't know. Sharon Morrison - Jump for joy. Zandra Singer - Eagerly await my birthday. Linda George - Ask him what it is. Gaynell Tate - I'd be thrilled. Martha Nell Taylor - I think I'd take it. Janet Hathaway - Slap him. Ceceila McSpadden - I don't know. Reba Wally - I'd exchange it. Janiece Currier - O boy! Jackie Nichols - Give it water and see if it would grow. Kiosk - A Turkish summer house.

food-riest beef, and color-blue, rank high. Also Clark Gable and Elizabeth Taylor suit his fancy. This lad enjoyed the movie, "Guns of Navorone" and the book, "The Unvanquished". He dislikes people who think that they are so much better than anyone else. His past-time would have to be listed as studying, since that's what he does all the time!

Olvis Spencer was born on June 26, 1945 in the town of Commanche, Texas. Since the time he has been in Dimmitt Schools he has been a real asset.

Snoopin Around With Snoopy

Ho Hum, six weeks tests and mid term exams are over. Ready to start a new semester. Every one at old D.H.S. seemed to enjoy the holidays, the only complaint was the holidays passed too fast. Well, lets see whats happening among the troops.

Wonder why Donna Carmichael Jan Brown and Paula Howell don't want their Mamas to know about their trip to Hart and Nazareth New Years Eve?

George Wall says he had a blast with a certain little gal from Oklahoma. Better watch these Okies, George Connie Magnus had fun with her Pat from Hereford during the holidays. He is a dear sweet boy, she says.

Wynette Wilde says she will never go honky tonkin again, she says Linda George never knows when to come home.

Sharon Corica says Santa Clause was good to her. She received a beautiful jewelry box from Tuffy and some jewelry from Colorado to go in it.

The romantic Gene Bradley is on the loose again. He's been seen lately with Sandra McCollum, Sharon Thomas and Sheri Walker.

Donnie Nelson has been doing some horse and cattle trading in Lubbock. I understand a new breed of two legged cows and horses are on the market.

Note to Don Scarborough! Check Earnestine Waggoner's interest at Springslake lately. Could the interest be Clayburn Stewart?

Ah yes, Young love is wonderful. Louise Carson, finally accepted Ronald Young's ring. Seems as if the flame for Carl Bradley has finally gone out.

Are the rumors true about Dean Lilley being engaged to a certain Tullia girl? Better watch it, Steve Wesson - You've been going to Tullia quite frequently.

I'm yearning for learnin' to do the twist, that is-says Ronnie McAfee. Beth Beecher would be my ideal teacher.

Glenn Hobratch and Monty Dollar tell me they are confirmed bachelors, but I notice their ears get pointed when Bonita Honea and Connie Goodwin pass by.

Valeria Millsap has been singing "Hello Young Lovers" ever since she went with Gary Calhoun. The only thing wrong though, she says he chews tobacco and squirts it between his teeth.

Carl Bradley can't seem to make up his mind between the Springslake project and the Hopson Project.

Garry Huntingford has been carrying on the good neighbor policy. He's teaching Anna Gabel the art of shooting pool.

Kay Williams says it is better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all. Seems as if Steve Wesson is too much of a travelin' man.

Congratulations to the following who received credit cards for Christmas:

Wayne Meacham
Kelton Cates
Dean Lilley
Lowell Neumayer
Steve Wesson
Mike Goodwin

Mike Patterson has his romantic spells just like the seasons of the year. This summer it was Glenda Smiley, this fall, Linda Hrabal and the winter - Alice Acker. Wonder what spring will bring?

Karen Howell says her "Snack Shack" romance is more wonderful than ever. She's engaged again. Seems as if the wandering one finally came home.

Janet Hathaway and Johnny Stamford still occupy their place at the top of the stairs. Drop by sometime and watch those long good byes.

Wonder what happened to the budding romance between Janis Davis and Paul Easterwood? It certainly sizzled during summer Driver Education. I also notice that Kay Hilburn and Robert McLean are not seeing each other anymore. They were such a lovely couple.

Marikay McSpadden can't seem to make up her mind between hand some Gerald Summers and muscular Jim Aldridge. They both showed up at once, and to keep'em happy, off they went into the wild blue yonder.

Alvin Cates and Mary Curry were seen coming to school early Monday morning at first the snooper thought it was a two headed driver. How wrong I was when I finally recognized Alvin and Mary.

Well, the damage has been done, but wasn't it fun?

See ya next week! Be careful for I'll be snoopin!

Love, Snoopy

Thought for the Week—
"Do unto others as you would have them do unto you."

Many people have written, and will continue to write, this eleven word passage as their philosophy of life, but do they truly know its meaning and live by it?

Analyze this thought in your mind. Does it mean that one should wait to see how another treats him before he does a kind deed for someone else? No, it means that you should be the first to do something special for the other person.

It has been said that a person will give someone a gift that he, himself, would like to have. The same truth applies with the way you treat others. "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you."

It's a good philosophy of life for everyone.

Slang Expressions
No Skin off one's nose - In today's slang, nose is often replaced by ear, elbow, or back, but the meaning is still the same. If one doesn't stick his nose into an affair that is none of his business, he is not likely to suffer abrasions upon his nose, elbow, back, shoulder, or the like.

To stick one's neck out - Today this means to take a chance, especially an extremely risky one. It began in the nineteenth century when it was "to get it in the neck" or to get it where the chicken got the axe.

To keep one's eye on the ball - You know that this means to be alert, alive and kicking, on one's toes, or to sit up and take notice. It is said to have come from the

Senator YARBOROUGH'S REPORT

Dear Fellow Texan:

President Kennedy's address to the joint session of the 87th Congress was a true State of the Union message. In a little less than twelve pages, it contained a documentary report on our national strength and the areas of that strength that the President believes must be built up by legislative action.

Broadly the President called for a strong economy and a strong defense for our nation. There is no likely argument with the broad goals set forth in this speech. But, as for the ways to achieve them, which the President also set forth, there will be debate, for where there is no freedom of opinion, there is no effective legislative branch, no independent judiciary and no freedom.

This is the fifth time that I have sat in joint sessions of Congress to hear the annual State of the Union message delivered by an American president, since you first sent me here to take my oath of office as a senator in April of 1957. The first four of those annual messages were by President Eisenhower.

Each time the annual address, the location and the traditions that have grown up around it, are as deeply stirring to me as they must have been to the men who received George Washington's first State of the Union message on January 8, 1790.

The annual message is now delivered by the President in person, where formerly his message was read by another person, and it is always delivered in the House of Representatives - the larger of the two legislative chambers. First the members of the House assemble. Next the senators march over to the house from the Senate side, under the great dome of the capitol in rows of two, but our marching steps are attuned to the age of some of our members and not to the beat of drums. After the 100 senators are in place, in the House side, in the Hall of Representatives, the ever-increasing number of ambassadors from foreign nations enter. They now number about 100 nations and some of the ambassadors are dressed in European clothes and some in the long, flowing robes of the lands from which they come.

Then the President's cabinet arrives, taking seats in a row immediately in front of the senators. A doorkeeper heralds the arrival of the senators, ambassadors and cabinet members in a loud tone of voice. The Joint Chiefs of Staff enter unannounced by a side door.

By tradition, a place is reserved in the House Gallery for the President's wife. Mrs. Kennedy entered quietly and unannounced, but her arrival was noticed by the people around her and there was a tremendous, spontaneous outpouring of applause for her both from the gallery and from the House floor, with a standing ovation by the citizenry and by officialdom there. It was a great tribute to the First Lady's conduct and achievements in the United States and abroad.

President Kennedy spoke in clear understandable words without flig flights of oratory. I agree with his view that our military readiness must, continue to be maintained and improved. I'm for a strong standing military force and also for a strong ready citizens reserve. In the first State of the Union message, more than a century and a half ago, George Washington said: "To be prepared for war is one of the most effectual means of preserving peace."

This is true today, too, fellow Texans. Already the study and debate have begun on the President's proposals. From it I am confident there will come a program of strength and progress for the people of the United States.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

I enjoyed reading your article in this morning's Amarillo paper entitled "Beauty in Beholder's Eye." It brought back to memory how beautiful the prairie was before it was plowed.

I used to wish it could have remained a cattle country instead of farming but had it been it would not be very thickly populated now.

My folks moved to Pahrhandle in June, 1888 and Dad plowed the first farm I know of that year.

Dad was elected the first county judge of Carson County.

Three years before going to Pahrhandle in 1885 we moved from Burlingame, Kansas to the old shoe ranch West of Memphis, Texas.

I still love the plains and think I will stay with it the rest of my days. I will be eighty my next birthday.

Yours truly,

A highway policy matter which has plagued both Houses of the Legislature for 10 years was settled when the House of Representatives passed a Farm-to-Market road bill introduced by Sen. Neveille Colson of Navasota and Rep. Grainger McIlhany of Wheeler.

A highway policy matter which has plagued both Houses of the Legislature for 10 years was settled when the House of Representatives passed a Farm-to-Market road bill introduced by Sen. Neveille Colson of Navasota and Rep. Grainger McIlhany of Wheeler.

At first, it looked like the House Agriculture Subcommittee, dominated by rural representatives, would succeed in pushing through a modified version of the bill by Rep. Max Carriker of Roby. His proposal was to space out the switch of funds from farm-to-market road construction to maintenance over 10 years.

House Agriculture Committee approved Carriker's bill unanimously until Gov. Price Daniel attended a final hearing with President J. H. West of the Texas Farm Bureau Executive Vice President Callan Graham of the Texas Good Roads Association, Highway Chairman Herb Petry Jr. and a dozen members of the County Judges and Commissioners Association.

After their urging, the House Committee reversed its original decision and voted 10-9 to table the Carriker version and submit the Club was an educational tour to Lubbock Jan 17th where the club members visited several furniture stores to learn of construction and design of modern furniture. Club members who made the trip were Mesdames James Welch, Curtis Beavers, Houston Lust, Elbert Smith, Donald Gilreath, Glenn Lust, Carl Bruegel, Roy Dale Underwood, Junior Goolsby, Dicky Finney and George Sides. Also guests of the group were Mesdames C. C. Graef and Freeman Davis of Lazbuddy.

Colson bill, which reduces the annual appropriation for rural road construction by about $17,500,000.

When the Farm-to-Market road bill becomes effective about May 1, it will make these provisions:
1. Restoration of the $15,000,000 appropriation from general State taxes to the Colson-Briscoe farm-to-market road program for the year starting Sept. 1, 1962.

2. A flat instruction for the State Highway Department to build $23,000,000 worth of newly-designated farm-to-market roads a year from now on, using the $15,000,000, plus Federal aid of $10,000,000 a year.
3. Allocation of half the surplus in the road bond assumption fund—which comes from one fourth of the gasoline sales tax — to maintenance of farm-to-market roads in the State system. That will be $17,500,000 the first year.....gradually increasing as gasoline sales tax revenues rise.

4. Freeing an equal $17,500,000 in the State Highway Fund, now being used for rural road maintenance, for construction and improvement of secondary and primary highways.
5. Application of the balance in the farm-to-market road fund (between $17,500,000 and $20,000,000 in the 1962-63 fiscal year) toward improvement of existing F.M. roads, which need some 11,000 miles of repairs.

6. Agreement by the State Highway Commission to raise its goal from 25,000 to 50,000 miles of farm-to-market roads.

This legislation accomplishes the long-time goal of the Highway Commission and Good Roads Association: To give annual construction boosts — starting at $17,500,000 a year — to the highways in the State system above the F.M. classification and below the Interstate classification.

Where's the money coming from? Gov. Price Daniel's proposals that that the 57th Legislature approve appropriations of $300,000 for tourist advertising, $100,000 expansion in the juvenile parole system and $150,000 for repair to the San Jacinto Monument seemed to be in danger when Rep. James M. Colton of Weatherford got the House to endorse appropriation of $220,000 for special session expenses.

According to the State Comptroller's estimate, this would leave less than 300,000 for the governor's projects. But Governor Daniel Powered with Speaker James A. Thurman and Senator Charles Herring, as well as State Treasurer Jesse James.

He reported that James' first report on anticipated income from the Escheat Enforcement Act, submitted since the Comptroller made his estimate, lists more than $2,000,000 in reports tabulated to date.

"I have asked the Comptroller to consider this," Daniel said, "and I believe it will be possible for him to raise his estimate enough to take care of the recommendations before the Legislature.

The Senate Finance Committee came up with a compromise bill authorizing $200,000 for tourist advertising, $75,000 for monument repairs, $65,000 for the juvenile parole system, plus $79,500 for a marine laboratory at Seabrook.

DORMITORY SUITS ANSWERED Two motions to dismiss a dormitory integration case involving the University of Texas were filed in the U. S. District Court at Austin.

First one was filed by Attorney General Will Wilson, whose office requires him to represent the State university in court. Second came from Edward Clark and Franklin W. Dentfus of Austin and Leon Jaworski of Houston, attorneys employed by UT's board of regents. Board Chairman Thornton Hardie of El Paso said the regents hired additional attorneys since Wilson is a candidate for governor and may be unable to give the case the attention it deserves. Wilson referred to Hardie's statement as "arrogant," and vowed he'll defend the case as his constitutional duty. Integration suit was filed in November by three Negro students at the University. They asked that racial segregation in university dormitories be abolished with "all deliberate speed."

LOCAL PROBLEMS PRESSING Several legislators who voted to adjourn the second day of the special session have decided to stick around awhile since the governor opened the session for local bills.

Bills considered most pressing include water bills — such as one to create an Alice Water Authority, one to authorize construction of a water treatment plant for Lubbock and six other communities which participate in the Canadian Municipal River Water Authority.

Sen. Andy Rogers of Childress presented a bill to allow purchasers of gas for irrigation from utility companies right to seek rate regulation from the Railroad Commission, as cities do. Rogers said companies selling irrigation gas often charge farmers a higher rate than set in nearby towns.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson told the Supreme Court that if it sustains riparian irrigation rights for Spanish and Mexican land grants on the lower Rio Grande, "the vast orchards of the Lower Rio Grande River will die for lack of water because the upstream riparian can, in times of shortage, absolutely deprive the downstream owner of the right to water."

Towery Joins Lake — Secretary of State P. Frank Lake has acquired a new director for the corporation division. He is Robert L. Towery, 29, of Austin.

Towery was one of former District Attorney Les Proctor's assistants. He replaces Pat Cain who resigned to run for the House of Representatives in Travis County. The Texas Municipal League reports that nine states — including Alabama, Arizona, California, Louisiana and Mississippi — allow cities to levy sales taxes, in addition to state sales taxes. Internal Revenue District Director R. L. Phinney reminds farmers and ranchers that they must file self-employment tax forms, even if they owe no income tax for last year.

Marshall Formby has officially opened his race for governor. Sen. Crawford Martin of Hillsboro announced for lieutenant governor. Waggoner Carr, former Speaker of the House, paid his $1,000 filing fee as a candidate for attorney general, and Austin attorney Les Proctor vacated his post as Travis County District Attorney to run for the same post.

Water Board Chairman Joe D. Carter spoke at "Federal Study Commissions" at the fourth annual meeting of the Interstate Conference on Water Problems in Dallas. Supreme Court appointed Bigson

R. Randle of Austin to succeed the ailing Judge Mallory B. Blair on the State Board of Law Examiners. Governor Daniel reappointed E. M. Decker Jr. of Jacksonville to the Texas State Railroad Board, and reappointed C. B. Godbey of college Station, Dr. A. W. Young of Lubbock and Emmett Harper of Martindale to the State Seed and Plant Board.

About Your HEALTH

A weekly public service feature from: HENRY A. WOLFE, M.D., Commissioner of Health, The Texas State Department of Health.

Sooner or later, everyone needs a family health record. Dr. J. E. Peavy, state health commissioner, suggests you start yours now if you aren't already keeping one. Kept accurate and current, it can be of permanent value for the children's school records, for insurance data, and for your family doctor's use, the health official says.

Revisions Proposed For U.S. Standards For Grain Sorghum

Because of the change in character of the grain sorghum crop due to the adoption of new varieties, the U. S. Department of Agriculture has announced a proposal to revise the Official Grain Standards of the United States for grain sorghum.

The proposed changes include the elimination of the class Red Grain Sorghums and all the subclasses in the classes of Yellow Grain and White Grain Sorghums. Since the new varieties and hybrids are heavier than the old ones, it is proposed that the test weight per bushel be raised from 55 to 58 pounds for No. 1, from 53 to 56 for No. 2, from 51 to 54 for No. 3 and from 49 to 51 for No. 4.

Also, in order to provide for better keeping quality, a proposal has been made to lower moisture content from 14 to 13 percent for No. 1 from 15 to 14 for No. 2 and from 16 to 15 for No. 3. It is also proposed to eliminate dockage and substitute a factor for fine foreign material in the grade table. Alternative proposals provide for dockage as now applied and a special grade "Tough" instead of moisture as a grading factor.

Informal public hearings to consider these proposals have been scheduled for Lubbock on January 29 at 1:30 p. m. in the MacKenzie Terrace, 407 E. Broadway and January 31 at 9:30 a. m., Continental Hotel, Kansas City, Missouri.

Interested persons may also submit written data, views or arguments to the Director, Grain Division, Agricultural Marketing Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C. not later than February 15, 1962.

The proposals are scheduled to appear in the January 13 Federal Register. Copies will be available from the AMS Grain Division.

A school note pad makes a good record book, but don't use it for anything else. And remember it has to be carefully kept if it is to be of full value.

You can start by jotting down the basic information you already have at hand concerning the inquiry and illness history of each member of your family.

Start it off with a brief listing of family history. Enter the date and place of birth of each person, and the place and date and cause of death of any deceased. Also enter pertinent information and the medical facts about each family member, such as the presence of chronic illness or physical handicap.

Next, start a section for dates of immunizations, being sure to provide space for each member of the family. Allow room for entering dates of immunizations against whooping cough, polio, smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus, and typhoid fever. Don't forget to include the date of booster shots.

In a section of general information, list such things as the type of blood each member of the family has, and the drug sensitivities or special allergies of each. If the RH blood factor is known to be present in anyone, be sure to record it prominently.

The health record ought to include a check list of who in the family has had the more common diseases of childhood—chicken pox, measles, mumps, whooping cough, scarlet fever, diphtheria. Most of these are diseases of childhood, but sometimes an adult is exposed. German measles is a serious threat to expectant mothers, and mumps is a dangerous disease in any adult.

Dates of physical examinations, with a line or two for notes of special advice or instructions that followed the check-up should be noted in the health record. So also should illnesses requiring hospitalization, listing the nature of illness or injury, name of physician, hospital and dates of entry and discharge, length of illness, and type of surgery, if any.

Finally, list the family's health and accident insurance information for quick and easy reference when needed.

RETURNS HOME

Mrs. Bill Harwell has returned to her home at Allen, Oklahoma after a visit here in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Elmer Youts and family.

Through a hard-hitting, Conscientious Advertising Program

Competition is a demanding taskmaster—but it can also be the greatest rewarding factor in merchandising or servicing. It is a taskmaster when competition defeats, when it sets the rut that engulfs the businessman. Competition is rewarding when the merchant forces it to become his tool, when he knows he has a thriving, growing business that will never want for customers. Business goes where it is invited—and competitive prices, outstanding courteous service with a good selection, and promotional advertising will do the most inviting.

Do yourself, your customer, and your community a favor by using the pages of the Castro County News to sell your goods and services. It is not only good business but it will help you gear your operation to today's quickly changing trends and increasing competition.

Success stories of large businesses almost always hinge around concentrated advertising and other sound business practices. Start a campaign now—you'll be amazed at how quickly you will feel the difference. Just telephone 647-3488 and a salesman will call on you at your convenience.

Ted Wood Is Recognized for Water Work

An official State Health Department citation was awarded this week to Ted Wood, superintendent of the Dimmitt municipal water department, for proficiency in the management of a public water supply.

The impressively designed certificates of competency, signed by the state commissioner of health and authorities of the Texas Water and Sewage Works Association, credit recipients with having demonstrated "skill and knowledge" of water treatment plant management and an understanding of the public health importance of the work.

Under the State Health Department's operator certification program, operators are carefully examined on their technical ability and on their knowledge of their work's influence on community health. Each must pass a stiff written test to qualify for certification.

The Texas general sanitation law requires that at least one plant operator per shift be certified by the state health agency, but other plant personnel and persons in related fields frequently seek certification on their own time and at their own expense to advance themselves professionally and to increase their efficiency as vital public servants.

"The recipients of these certificates are a credit to their profession and to their communities," sponsors of the certification program said.

Points toward certification are earned through actual work experience and by attendance at annual district and state short schools sponsored and conducted by the Texas State Department of Health, the engineering extension service of Texas A and M College, and the Texas Water and Sewage Works Association.

Learning the business from the "Grunt" up

Working as a "grunt" digging holes for telephone poles has been the starting point for many a key telephone man. They know it's the start of an important life's work—and they stick to it.

Their dependability is good reason why American telephone service is the most reliable in the world.
